England's Tories Win
Mussolini Marches On
2 Chimpanzees Call
Hitler's Latest

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate Inc., International Copyright and all other rights reserved.)

RAMSAY MACDONALD, a British workman who became union labor prime minister, discovered, once in office that other things besides union labor are important in managing a big nation and acted accordingly.

Now labor defeats him for reelection to parliament by 20,000, defeats his son, also. That will end his political career for the present, unless King George makes him a peer and a member of the house of lords.

Welsh voters proved their intelligence by reelecting Lloyd George, his son and his daughter Megan, the father by a majority bigger than ever.

Considering that, but for Lloyd George and Clemenceau, one of the Kaiser's son might now be living in Buckingham palace, and making speeches from the British throne, electing Lloyd George seems the least that England could do.

THE ELECTION, as a whole, shows Britain conservative, and "opposed to Socialism." The fly in the ointment for the Tory side is the election to parliament of W. Gallagher, a Communist. Mr. Gallagher will be the second Communist ever to sit in parliament. The first was Shapurji Saklatvala, who served during the years 1922-1929.

ALSO THE RESULT of the election means public approval of England's attitude in the war between Italy and Ethiopia, England's fleet in the Mediterranean, etc. But what voters would think, if war in Europe really did come, and Mussolini began dropping bombs on London, Liverpool, and Manchester, is uncertain.

MUSSOLINI'S MEN expect soon to capture Harar, second biggest town in Ethiopia, and the railroad from Addis Ababa to Djibouti. If Italy gets the railroad and Haile Selassie decides to leave he will have to fly, ride a camel, a mule or walk.

In this most rapid Italian advance, the Ethiopians seem to have continued their policy of retiring, which the Emperor calls "luring the Italians on."

MR. MAURICE LEVIN, who interests himself in selling train loads of molasses and everything else under creation, in the work of analyzing the mental processes of chimpanzees, sent two of the strange creatures to the newspaper office to have their photographs taken.

Printers and reporters stopped work, the apes were photographed, and then made a polite call on the editor, being introduced as "Adam and Eve." One was dressed in a striped suit of men's clothing, the other, "Eve," in a brilliantly colored cotton gown.

"Adam saw a plateful of grapes; instantly he and "Eve" swallowed them all. Then she obliged by stamping absent-mindedly with her left foot to "show the gentleman how Greta Garbo expresses emotion;" he, perfunctorily, stamped with both feet to show how another actor does something else. Then they went off to visit other newspaper offices.

BARELY HALF the height of a man, the backs of their knuckles touching the floor as they walked, awkwardly on short legs, their hands longer than a man's, the thumb as small as a child's, their resemblance to human beings, though distant, was horribly impressive.

For a sensitive human being to see them thus dressed would be to have the strange, sad pair walk through his dreams for weeks afterward.

The chimpanzees' sad eyes, deep sunken under low foreheads, made

CLAUSE OF FARM MORTGAGE ACT IS DECLARED ILLEGAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Ruling that congress had exceeded its power under the bankruptcy clause of the constitution, the United States court of appeals for the seventh circuit today held the redemption clause of the re-enacted Frazier-Lemke act unconstitutional.

The decision against the clause, which provided a three-year redemption period under farm foreclosure, was unanimous.

The case which brought a new blow to the New Deal act involved a mortgage given by Bertha A. Lowman, owner of a 240-acre Indiana farm near Hammond, to the Lafayette Life Insurance company, the insurance company had foreclosed and bought the farm at a sale. The owner had sought to enjoin the sale.

The original Frazier-Lemke act was ld unconstitutional by the United ates supreme court in May, 1935 e "new Frazier-Lemke statute," one involved in the Lowman case, enacted last August to replace it.

STRONG GAINS SCATTERED ON WIDE FRONT AT CLOSE

More Than 900,000 Shares Change Hands In Last Hour Of Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Stocks spurted to new 4-year highs in today's brief market session as bullish traders, envisaging another "boom" in response to the growing volume of "good" news, made a rush for their favorite equities.

Gains of $1 to more than $3 a share were scattered over a wide front at the feverish close which put the ticker tape several minutes behind floor transactions on the stock exchange. More than 900,000 shares changed hands in the last hour, with the greatest part of this turnover appearing just before the final gong.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected issues advanced 30 cents to $55.50, the highest level for this composite since September 9, 1931. The rail average rose to within a shade of its 1935 top.

The flow of favorable earnings, dividends and sales statements continued and financial interests seemed to be still under the influence of administrative assurances that the "breathing spell" for industry would be maintained.

Steels, merchandise issues and specialties made the best showing on the stock list. Among the more active

FOOTBALL SPECIAL TRAIN HITS TRUCK

Vernon Arrant And B. F. Kitchens, Jr., Of Near Girard Are Injured

Vernon Arrant, 22, and B. F. Kitchens, Jr., 13, both of near Girard, miraculously escaped death at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning when the truck in which they were riding was struck at the Girard crossing and completely demolished by the Illinois Central football special, returning from the Northeast Center-Southeastern game at Hammond.

Both were thrown clear of the wreckage, which was strewn for 25 yards by the impact. The train was traveling about 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred, it was said.

The train backed up to the scene of the crash and the youths were placed aboard and brought to Monroe, where they were met by a local ambulance and rushed to St. Francis sanitarium.

An examination of their injuries disclosed that the Kitchens lad had a fractured lower jaw, while Arrant suffered nothing more serious than lacerations of the scalp.

The half-ton Chevrolet truck was splintered into bits and parts of the machine were found many yards up the track from the crossing.

The engineer of the train was A. P. Richardson, of Monroe, and the conductor was J. J. Cuthbert, of Shreveport.

First aid treatment was administered the two youths by John Devereaux, trainer of the Northeast Center football team.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ENTERS RED SPAT

Says Some One Should Define Ruling Against Communistic Teaching

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt came into the row over a ruling that capital teachers may not teach communism today by citing two examples, which, laid end to end, conveyed the idea that she thought it would be hard on the teachers.

She refused, however, to express an opinion on the ruling by Comptroller General McCarl that teachers must sign a statement that they had not taught or advocated communism before drawing each pay check. But she said she thought it important that someone in authority define what the ruling might mean.

Mrs. Roosevelt laid down two theses:

(1) To teach does not mean to advocate.

(2) Teachers here are due for difficulties when they meet Russia in geography and economics classes.

Her own definition for the verbs "to teach," which she drily commented would be quite valueless to the District of Columbia teachers, Mrs. Roosevelt gave as follows:

"To teach, I think means to tell people about something. I do not think it means to advocate anything. I teach or tell my child if he puts his fingers on the stove he will be burned. I do not advocate that he put his fingers on the stove to have them burned."

Mrs. Roosevelt said some interesting situations might arise with both younger and more advanced pupils, citing:

1. A geography class, with the teacher saying: "Here is an area two times the size of the United States. It is lived in by people called Russians." A bright child conceivably asking, "What form of government do they live under?" The teacher possibly having to say, "My dear child, I can't tell you."

2. An economics class, with teachers informing: "There is a place two times the size of the United States in which 150,000,000 people are living. I'm very sorry, but I can't tell you anything about it."

Mrs. Roosevelt said the teacher would be in a somewhat difficult position unless someone in authority clearly defined what they were to do.

FIRE INSURANCE RATE CUT SEEN

16 North Louisiana Towns May Get Reductions Under New Plan

A possible five cent reduction on the basic rate of fire insurance is in prospect for 16 north Louisiana towns as the result of arrangements recently completed at Baton Rouge, whereby representatives of the fire departments in the various towns will be given an opportunity to attend fire drill classes to be conducted in Monroe and to receive efficiency ratings from the fire rating bureau.

Fire Captain J. W. Faler of Monroe, who will assist in conducting the classes here, returned from Baton Rouge Friday after meeting with other drill masters from the various districts in the state. While there he assisted in compiling and revising the fire department manual which will be used in all district centers for teaching members of the various fire departments in district centers, and thus enable their respective depart-

ANOTHER CONCERN JOINS RED CROSS 100 PERCENTERS

The Weaks Supply company joined the 100 percenters in the annual Red Cross drive, it was reported yesterday by group enrollment leaders. This makes a total of ten business houses whose employes have all joined. They are:

A. & W. Sandwich Shop, Standard Office Supply Co., E. Jack Selig, Inc., Green Mill Inn, Interstate Gas Co., Munholland-Danwitz Furniture Co., Southern Hardware Co., Sig Haas & Sons, and T. L. Morris Plant, La-Oil Refining Co.

Group enrollment leaders predict that this total will be more than doubled during the coming week.

Progress is also reported from the house-to-house drives on both sides of the river which are in charge of Mrs. Jonas Selig, for Monroe and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf for West Monroe.

Joe Isaacman is general chairman of the drive and Lloyd Warren is directing the West Monroe activities.

7 LONGSHOREMEN ARE WOUNDED IN FIGHT AT ORANGE

ONE VICTIM IS CRITICALLY INJURED AS GUNS BLAZE

Six Suspects Are Arrested And Held For United States Officers

ORANGE, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Seven non-union longshoremen were shot and one critically wounded late today when about twenty men attacked the non-union workers at the docks here.

The attackers fired about 150 shots. Taken by surprise, the non-union men were pulled from automobiles and trucks in which they were leaving the docks, kicked and beaten.

Six men were arrested a short time later. All but one said they were members of the International Longshoremen's association. The men were held for federal officers, since the striking dock workers were enjoined a week ago by Federal Judge Randolph Bryant from interfering with the handling of ships or intimidating workmen.

Sheriff W. P. Brown carried a riot gun in his roundup of the men held, but none resisted. Other arrests were expected.

Robert Monic, of Buna, about 25, was wounded critically. He was in the Orange hospital tonight with bullet wounds in the hip, back, left arm and head. Marks on his head and body indicated he also had been beaten.

The others shot:

C. P. Hughes, about 22, of Newton, in the left arm.

Vories Guillory, 25, of Orange, in back.

Henry Healy, 22, of Thomasville, Ga., arm and back.

A man whose name was not learned, in the back.

The men had been working the French steamer, San Mateo. The fusillade occurred at the gates of the dock.

Fascists Rap Penalties At Council Meet

Monday To Be Remembered As 'Day Of Ignominy And Inquity'

ROME, Nov. 17.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The fascist grand council, after a lengthy meeting to chart Italy's course after application of League of Nations economic sanctions tomorrow, declared early today that Italy henceforth will remember Nov. 18, 1935, as "the day of ignominy and iniquity in the history of the world."

The council, highest body of fascism, called on all Italians to observe Monday as the signal "for implacable resistance" to the sanctions that will be put into effect on that day by 51 nations.

The nation was ordered to observe the day as a national holiday, with all public buildings and most private houses flying the tri-color.

The council meeting was held shortly before midnight last night, after Premier Mussolini had given indication to the world that he would pursue determinedly Italy's campaign in Ethiopia.

Vigorously denouncing the sanctionist nations, Il Duce's grand council resolved "that sanctions, which never

CARNEY IS GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

Is Sentenced To Serve 20 Years For Burglary Of Filling Station

H. J. Carney, charged with the burglary of the Circle S No. 2 filling station at 1516 DeSiard street, last December, was found guilty and sentenced yesterday to serve 20 years in the penitentiary as a third offender.

Other sentences imposed in the district criminal court yesterday were:

Harrison Davis, negro, who plead guilty to the killing of Charlie Davis, another negro, sentenced to life imprisonment.

John S. Price, convicted of burglary, sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Clyde E. Kennedy, convicted of burglary, sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary as a second offender.

Selvin Brisco, negro, convicted of shooting with intent to kill, sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Brisco had previously been sentenced to the penitentiary from Richland parish, and was therefore considered a second offender.

Willie Calloway, negro, convicted of wounding less than mayhem, sentenced to serve from one to three years in the penitentiary.

E. C. Welch, convicted of issuing a bogus check, sentenced to serve six months in the penitentiary.

John Pierce, negro, convicted of possessing stolen property, was sentenced to serve from eight months to two years in the penitentiary.

Roberta Sims, negro woman, convicted of advising the use of drugs in an illegal operation, sentenced to six months in the penitentiary.

Sam Lewis, negro, convicted of stealing a yearling, sentenced to six months in the penitentiary.

Jessie Riley, negro, convicted of striking with intent to kill, sentenced to serve six months on the parish road gang.

PRETTY BABY GIRL IS FOUND DEAD BY SHREVEPORT BOYS

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Wrapped in three shirts and a piece of brown paper and lying in a pasteboard box in a shallow, uncovered grave, the body of a pretty baby girl, fully developed, was found by four young Shreveport boys today while they were on a camping trip.

A dog belonging to young Robert Embrey discovered the body and with barks attracted the four boys to the scene.

Coroner Willis P. Butler, who viewed the body after the boys had notified police of their find, said no clues were left behind to indicate who left the baby in the grave some time during the preceding night.

TWO BARKSDALE FLIERS UNHURT IN SHIP MISHAP

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16.—(AP)—An army attack plane nosed over this afternoon in landing near Pompano, 50 miles north of here, but its two occupants, Lieut. Richard Livingstone and Staff Sergeant Stephenson were not injured.

The plane was part of a flight of 12 winging to Miami from Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., for gunnery practice.

FOUR AMERICAN MUSICIANS ARE BEATEN IN ROME

Blackshirts Attack Group For Laughing As Funeral Passes By

VICTIMS ARE APPARENTLY MISTAKEN FOR BRITISHERS

Quartet Explain They Were Unaware Of Nature Of Procession

ROME, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Four American musicians were beaten by blackshirts here, friends said today, after they laughed and failed to salute when a fascist funeral passed by.

The Americans composed the "Manhattan string quartet" and were scheduled to play Monday under auspices of the Rome Philharmonic society. Instead, they cancelled their engagement after the incident and left for Paris.

Acquaintances said after the funeral procession went by, indignant blackshirts approached the Americans and asked them what was "funny."

One of the foreigners replied, "We only speak English." He attempted to explain that the musicians were joking among themselves and did not know that the procession was a funeral march.

Apparently the Italians mistook the Americans for Englishmen and pounced upon them.

The quartet was composed of Rach-Mael Weinstock of New York, Oliver Edel of Yonkers, Harris Danziger, who

GERMAN PROTEST MADE TO BRITISH

Nazis Object To Regulations On Goods Exported To Great Britain

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The German government protested to London today against British regulations on German goods exported to England after November 18.

An official communique said the requirement that these products must be accompanied by certificates of origin "is not in harmony with certain provisions of the German-British trade agreement."

Britain's action, to take effect the same day that economic and financial sanctions against Italy go into force, was considered an attempt to prevent exports from Italy entering Britain through a nation not joining in the League of Nations' sanctions.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler, it was said in diplomatic circles, had already given verbal assurances to both Britain and France that he would not permit the assembling of foreign goods destined for Italy in Germany.

Diplomats were represented as feeling Hitler's pledge strengthened the German embargo on exportation of important foodstuffs and raw materials, which generally went into effect at midnight. The embargo on iron exports, however, will not be applied until November 25.

Coal, which has been Germany's largest export to Italy, was not on the list of products which cannot be exported, nor was copper.

Among the products which will be held in Germany were nickel, magnesium, manganese, bauxite, hides, yarns, potatoes, oils, cooking fats and all raw materials used by the iron, metallurgical and rubber industries.

LOSES POST

General Emilio de Bono (above), commander of the Italian military forces in Ethiopia, yesterday was removed by Mussolini and replaced by General Pietro Badoglio.

CARRIERS REPORT BETTER BUSINESS

Important Signs Of Improvement Shown By Transportation Systems

An important indication of the general economic improvement in the Monroe trade area is given in reports from the various transportation systems in this area, showing marked increases in business this year, as compared with the same period a year ago.

The reports come from the Missouri Pacific railroad, the Illinois Central, Monroe Transfer company and the Commercial Transportation company.

All of the systems show substantial increases in volume of business besides notable additions in the payrolls.

The reports are significant for the reason that recovery in transportation carries with it a direct indication in all other avenues of business. As President L. W. Baldwin of the Missouri Pacific, in his visit to Monroe last Monday said, "Railroads cannot do business unless other lines are also doing business. The transportation systems afford a definite barometer of general economic conditions throughout the country."

Figures for the Missouri Pacific in the Little Rock and Louisiana divisions were given by H. E. Roll, superintendent, as follows, covering the first ten months of 1935, as compared with the same period of 1934:

Local loadings (cars)	78,205	71,889
Receipts from connections (cars)	26,218	25,851
Bales of cotton loaded	258,191	170,031
Station earnings	$11,315,967	$10,972,046
Payrolls	2,198,860	2,070,426

The Missouri Pacific payrolls show an increase for the entire year, Mr. Roll pointed out. In addition, he said, the seasonal payrolls—that is, the expense involved in haulage of cotton at this season of the year, shows an increase of approximately $10,000 a month. Much of this will continue, Mr. Roll believes.

In his statement Mr. Roll added: "Business as a whole is better. We find sentiment considerably improved. It might be interesting to you to know that the prospects for vegetable production in our Rio Grande valley territory along our lines indicate that

DE BONO LOSES POST AS LEADER OF ROMAN ARMY

Dictator Summons Fascist Grand Council Into Midnight Session

ITALY PREPARES PROGRAM TO RESIST WAR SANCTIONS

First Major Battles Of Conflict Are Reported Brewing In Africa

(By Associated Press)

Premier Mussolini switched his military leadership in Africa Saturday and all Italy braced to resist an economic noose to be thrown around her neck Monday by 51 nations.

Il Duce "swapped horses in the middle of the stream" by removing his friend, white-beared little Gen. Emilio de Bono, 70, from the supreme command in Africa.

At the head of the Fascist invading forces he placed Gen. Pietro Badoglio, chief of the general staff, who previously has had differences with the dictator.

Fascism's supreme body, the grand council, was summoned into a midnight session.

League of Nations' sanctions go into effect Monday and a program reaching into every Italian home has been mapped to resist their pinch.

The keynote of it is to "buy and eat Italian." Mussolini hopes to make Italy self sufficient economically and to strike back at sanctionist nations by refusing to buy their goods.

These 51 nations comprise 70 per cent of Italy's foreign market—and they are pledged to buy none of her goods.

The removal of Gen. de Bono was not regarded as a slur upon him. Il Duce proposed to King Victor Emmanuel that de Bono be promoted to the rank of marshal and telegraphed the veteran his thanks "for having achieved your mission."

Reports from the war zones indicated the first major battles of the undeclared war are in the making on both the northern and southern fronts.

Italian officers encamped at Makale said they learned Emperor Haile Selassie has told his forces south of there that there is to be "no retreat." Ethiopia's northern army is reported massing only a short distance south of Makale.

Thousands of warriors from British Somaliland are crossing the frontiers to aid the Ethiopians defend Jijiga and Harar against the rapidly advancing southern Fascist army, said a dispatch from Diredawa.

American correspondents in Addis Ababa were startled and amused when they heard an Ethiopian band play "Dixie" and the St. Louis Blues" as 10,000 warriors marched past Emperor Haile Selassie before departing for the front.

SEYMOUR WEISS TO POST $10,000 BOND SOON IN TAX CASE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Seymour Weiss, one of three men indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government and to defeat the payment of sums in income tax allegedly due the government, will appear Wednesday or Thursday to post bond of $10,000 before United States Commissioner Reginald H. Carter, Jr., Weiss' attorneys announced today.

Weiss was charged along with Mike M. Moss and Joseph C. Meyers, who federal officials said would be allowed ample time in which to post similar bonds.

Frank R. Reid, of Illinois, former United States senator, and William C. Orchard, local attorney, are counsel for Weiss.

ANTI-BRITISH RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN EGYPT

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Anti-British rioting broke out in Egypt again today as the death toll in previous disorders was raised to six.

A government communique said police fired at the legs of students with whom they clashed at Zagazig, and that two students were sent to a hospital. Six policemen, it was stated, were injured as the students hurled stones during the melee.

Police broke up a demonstration in Cairo by firing into the air.

Two students, wounded when they fought police Thursday, died today.

BILBO ILL

MERIDIAN, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo was taken ill here today and was unable to attend a meeting of state postal employes he was scheduled to address. His condition was said not to be serious and he planned to return to his home in Poplarville tomorrow if he felt better.

Wide Business Improvement Seen By Monroe Merchants

A general improvement in business in Monroe and a decided note of optimism for the future were voiced by business leaders of the city in a series of interviews Saturday. All lines of trade report a marked upturn, with indications that the improvement is substantial and brought about by the general satisfactory trend of business here.

The following are typical statements of some of the leaders who were interviewed yesterday:

Albert Horuff, vice-president of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Co.: "Monroe merchants are looking forward to the biggest holiday trade ever done in the city and are preparing for the rush by stocking plentifully in all lines. A general review of business here inclines me to the belief that the situation in the Monroe territory is not only improving, but that it will continue to do so during the next year."

F. F. Millsaps, president of the Ouachita National bank: "Business unquestionably looks better, and there is a decided optimism in financial circles. Some claim that the improvement is due to the New Deal, and some declare it is coming about, in spite of it, but all are unanimous in stating that conditions are getting better."

P. M. Atkins, president of the Monroe Hardware company: "I feel very optimistic over the future prospects of business, as a steady improvement has been noted during the past year. The farmers in the territory are more prosperous than they have been for some time, and with the continued advance in the price of farm products, I look for 1936 to be our best year since 1928.

Five weeks from next Wednesday is Christmas day!

None too early to begin thinking of your part in helping to make the Yuletide season happy for hundreds of children in Monroe and West Monroe who would have no "merry Christmas" were it not for the Good Fellows of the Twin Cities, who annually take it upon themselves to spread cheer on this important anniversary.

For many years the News-Star and Morning World have sponsored the Good Fellows fund. Through this agency hosts of children have come to realize what a real institution Santa Claus is. And without the Good Fellows they would never know anything about the jolly old elf, whose mission is to bring joy to the hearts of little folks.

Already Good Fellows of Monroe and West Monroe are beginning to think of their opportunity and privilege in helping others at the Christmas time. The office force at the Monroe Wholesale Drug company were talking about it the other day, and forthwith they "chipped in" to the fund. Their names are at the head of this story—the first Good Fellows for the 1935 Christmas season.

This fund last year realized nearly $1,200, which went toward providing winter comforts for children who otherwise would have been deprived of the necessary clothing for the cold

FOOTBALL SPECIAL TRAIN HITS TRUCK

Vernon Arrant And B. F. Kitchens, Jr., Of Near Girard Are Injured

Vernon Arrant, 22, and B. F. Kitchens, Jr., 13, both of near Girard, miraculously escaped death at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning when the truck in which they were riding was struck at the Girard crossing and completely demolished by the Illinois Central football special, returning from the Northeast Center-Southeastern game at Hammond.

Both were thrown clear of the wreckage, which was strewn for 25 yards by the impact. The train was traveling about 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred, it was said.

The train backed up to the scene of the crash and the youths were placed aboard and brought to Monroe, where they were met by a local ambulance and rushed to St. Francis sanitarium.

An examination of their injuries disclosed that the Kitchens lad had a fractured lower jaw, while Arrant suffered nothing more serious than lacerations of the scalp.

The half-ton Chevrolet truck was splintered into bits and parts of the machine were found many yards up the track from the crossing.

The engineer of the train was A. P. Richardson, of Monroe, and the conductor was J. J. Cuthbert, of Shreveport.

First aid treatment was administered the two youths by John Devereaux, trainer of the Northeast Center football team.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ENTERS RED SPAT

Says Some One Should Define Ruling Against Communistic Teaching

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt came into the row over a ruling that capital teachers may not teach communism today by citing two examples, which, laid end to end, conveyed the idea that she thought it would be hard on the teachers.

She refused, however, to express an opinion on the ruling by Comptroller General McCarl that teachers must sign a statement that they had not taught or advocated communism before drawing each pay check. But she said she thought it important that someone in authority define what the ruling might mean.

Mrs. Roosevelt laid down two theses:

(1) To teach does not mean to advocate.

(2) Teachers here are due for difficulties when they meet Russia in geography and economics classes.

Her own definition for the verbs "to teach," which she drily commented would be quite valueless to the District of Columbia teachers, Mrs. Roosevelt gave as follows:

"To teach, I think means to tell people about something. I do not think it means to advocate anything. I teach or tell my child if he puts his fingers on the stove he will be burned. I do not advocate that he put his fingers on the stove to have them burned."

Mrs. Roosevelt said some interesting situations might arise with both younger and more advanced pupils, citing:

1. A geography class, with the teacher saying: "Here is an area two times the size of the United States. It is lived in by people called Russians." A bright child conceivably asking, "What form of government do they live under?" The teacher possibly having to say, "My dear child, I can't tell you."

2. An economics class, with teachers informing: "There is a place two times the size of the United States in which 150,000,000 people are living. I'm very sorry, but I can't tell you anything about it."

Mrs. Roosevelt said the teacher would be in a somewhat difficult position unless someone in authority clearly defined what they were to do.

7 LONGSHOREMEN ARE WOUNDED IN FIGHT AT ORANGE

ONE VICTIM IS CRITICALLY INJURED AS GUNS BLAZE

Six Suspects Are Arrested And Held For United States Officers

ORANGE, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Seven non-union longshoremen were shot and one critically wounded late today when about twenty men attacked the non-union workers at the docks here.

The attackers fired about 150 shots. Taken by surprise, the non-union men were pulled from automobiles and trucks in which they were leaving the docks, kicked and beaten.

Six men were arrested a short time later. All but one said they were members of the International Longshoremen's association. The men were held for federal officers, since the striking dock workers were enjoined a week ago by Federal Judge Randolph Bryant from interfering with the handling of ships or intimidating workmen.

Sheriff W. P. Brown carried a riot gun in his roundup of the men held, but none resisted. Other arrests were expected.

Robert Monic, of Buna, about 25, was wounded critically. He was in the Orange hospital tonight with bullet wounds in the hip, back, left arm and head. Marks on his head and body indicated he also had been beaten.

The others shot:

C. P. Hughes, about 22, of Newton, in the left arm.

Vories Guillory, 25, of Orange, in back.

Henry Healy, 22, of Thomasville, Ga., arm and back.

A man whose name was not learned, in the back.

The men had been working the French steamer, San Mateo. The fusillade occurred at the gates of the dock.

16 North Louisiana Towns May Get Reductions Under New Plan

A possible five cent reduction on the basic rate of fire insurance is in prospect for 16 north Louisiana towns as the result of arrangements recently completed at Baton Rouge, whereby representatives of the fire departments in the various towns will be given an opportunity to attend fire drill classes to be conducted in Monroe and to receive efficiency ratings from the fire rating bureau.

Fire Captain J. W. Faler of Monroe, who will assist in conducting the classes here, returned from Baton Rouge Friday after meeting with other drill masters from the various districts in the state. While there he assisted in compiling and revising the fire department manual which will be used in all district centers for teaching members of the various fire departments in district centers, and thus enable their respective depart-

Fascists Rap Penalties At Council Meet

Monday To Be Remembered As 'Day Of Ignominy And Inquity'

ROME, Nov. 17.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The fascist grand council, after a lengthy meeting to chart Italy's course after application of League of Nations economic sanctions tomorrow, declared early today that Italy henceforth will remember Nov. 18, 1935, as "the day of ignominy and iniquity in the history of the world."

The council, highest body of fascism, called on all Italians to observe Monday as the signal "for implacable resistance" to the sanctions that will be put into effect on that day by 51 nations.

The nation was ordered to observe the day as a national holiday, with all public buildings and most private houses flying the tri-color.

The council meeting was held shortly before midnight last night, after Premier Mussolini had given indication to the world that he would pursue determinedly Italy's campaign in Ethiopia.

Vigorously denouncing the sanctionist nations, Il Duce's grand council resolved "that sanctions, which never

Is Sentenced To Serve 20 Years For Burglary Of Filling Station

H. J. Carney, charged with the burglary of the Circle S No. 2 filling station at 1516 DeSiard street, last December, was found guilty and sentenced yesterday to serve 20 years in the penitentiary as a third offender.

Other sentences imposed in the district criminal court yesterday were:

Harrison Davis, negro, who plead guilty to the killing of Charlie Davis, another negro, sentenced to life imprisonment.

John S. Price, convicted of burglary, sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Clyde E. Kennedy, convicted of burglary, sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary as a second offender.

Selvin Brisco, negro, convicted of shooting with intent to kill, sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Brisco had previously been sentenced to the penitentiary from Richland parish, and was therefore considered a second offender.

Willie Calloway, negro, convicted of wounding less than mayhem, sentenced to serve from one to three years in the penitentiary.

E. C. Welch, convicted of issuing a bogus check, sentenced to serve six months in the penitentiary.

John Pierce, negro, convicted of possessing stolen property, was sentenced to serve from eight months to two years in the penitentiary.

Roberta Sims, negro woman, convicted of advising the use of drugs in an illegal operation, sentenced to six months in the penitentiary.

Sam Lewis, negro, convicted of stealing a yearling, sentenced to six months in the penitentiary.

Jessie Riley, negro, convicted of striking with intent to kill, sentenced to serve six months on the parish road gang.

PRETTY BABY GIRL IS FOUND DEAD BY SHREVEPORT BOYS

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Wrapped in three shirts and a piece of brown paper and lying in a pasteboard box in a shallow, uncovered grave, the body of a pretty baby girl, fully developed, was found by four young Shreveport boys today while they were on a camping trip.

A dog belonging to young Robert Embrey discovered the body and with barks attracted the four boys to the scene.

FOUR AMERICAN MUSICIANS ARE BEATEN IN ROME

Blackshirts Attack Group For Laughing As Funeral Passes By

VICTIMS ARE APPARENTLY MISTAKEN FOR BRITISHERS

Quartet Explain They Were Unaware Of Nature Of Procession

ROME, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Four American musicians were beaten by blackshirts here, friends said today, after they laughed and failed to salute when a fascist funeral passed by.

The Americans composed the "Manhattan string quartet" and were scheduled to play Monday under auspices of the Rome Philharmonic society. Instead, they cancelled their engagement after the incident and left for Paris.

Acquaintances said after the funeral procession went by, indignant blackshirts approached the Americans and asked them what was "funny."

One of the foreigners replied, "We only speak English." He attempted to explain that the musicians were joking among themselves and did not know that the procession was a funeral march.

Apparently the Italians mistook the Americans for Englishmen and pounced upon them.

The quartet was composed of Rachmael Weinstock of New York, Oliver Edel of Yonkers, Harris Danziger, who

GERMAN PROTEST MADE TO BRITISH

Nazis Object To Regulations On Goods Exported To Great Britain

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The German government protested to London today against British regulations on German goods exported to England after November 18.

An official communique said the requirement that these products must be accompanied by certificates of origin "is not in harmony with certain provisions of the German-British trade agreement."

Britain's action, to take effect the same day that economic and financial sanctions against Italy go into force, was considered an attempt to prevent exports from Italy entering Britain through a nation not joining in the League of Nations' sanctions.

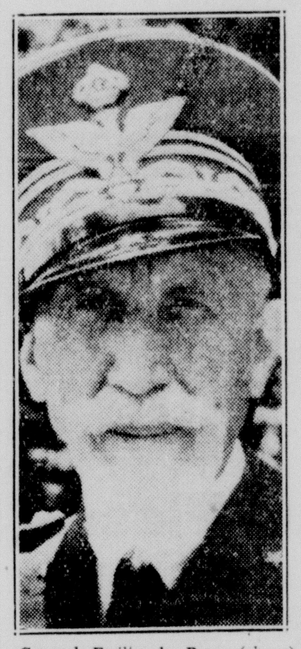
Reichsfuehrer Hitler, it was said in diplomatic circles, had already given verbal assurances to both Britain and France that he would not permit the assembling of foreign goods destined for Italy in Germany.

Diplomats were represented as feeling Hitler's pledge strengthened the German embargo on exportation of important foodstuffs and raw materials, which generally went into effect at midnight. The embargo on iron exports, however, will not be applied until November 25.

Coal, which has been Germany's largest export to Italy, was not on the list of products which cannot be exported, nor was copper.

Among the products which will be held in Germany were nickel, magnesium, manganese, bauxite, hides, yarns, potatoes, oils, cooking fats and all raw materials used by the iron, metallurgical and rubber industries.

LOSES POST



General Emilio de Bono (above), commander of the Italian military forces in Ethiopia, yesterday was removed by Mussolini and replaced by General Pietro Badoglio.

CARRIERS REPORT BETTER BUSINESS

Important Signs Of Improvement Shown By Transportation Systems

An important indication of the general economic improvement in the Monroe trade area is given in reports from the various transportation systems in this area, showing marked increases in business this year, as compared with the same period a year ago.

The reports come from the Missouri Pacific railroad, the Illinois Central, Monroe Transfer company and the Commercial Transportation company.

All of the systems show substantial increases in volume of business besides notable additions in the payrolls.

The reports are significant for the reason that recovery in transportation carries with it a direct indication in all other avenues of business. As President L. W. Baldwin of the Missouri Pacific, in his visit to Monroe last Monday said, "Railroads cannot do business unless other lines are also doing business. The transportation systems afford a definite barometer of general economic conditions throughout the country."

Figures for the Missouri Pacific in the Little Rock and Louisiana divisions were given by H. E. Roll, superintendent, as follows, covering the first ten months of 1935, as compared with the same period of 1934:

	1935	1934
Local loadings (cars)	78,205	71,889
Receipts from connections (cars)	26,218	25,851
Bales of cotton loaded	258,191	170,031
Station earnings	$11,315,967	$10,972,046
Payrolls	2,198,860	2,070,426

The Missouri Pacific payrolls show an increase for the entire year, Mr. Roll pointed out. In addition, he said, the seasonal payrolls—that is, the expense involved in haulage of cotton at this season of the year, shows an increase of approximately $10,000 a month. Much of this will continue, Mr. Roll believes.

In his statement Mr. Roll added: "Business as a whole is better. We find sentiment considerably improved. It might be interesting to you to know that the prospects for vegetable production in our Rio Grande valley territory along our lines indicate that

Dictator Summons Fascist Grand Council Into Midnight Session

First Major Battles Of Conflict Are Reported Brewing In Africa

(By Associated Press)

Premier Mussolini switched his military leadership in Africa Saturday and all Italy braced to resist an economic noose to be thrown around her neck Monday by 51 nations.

Il Duce "swapped horses in the middle of the stream" by removing his friend, white-beared little Gen. Emilio de Bono, 70, from the supreme command in Africa.

At the head of the Fascist invading forces he placed Gen. Pietro Badoglio, chief of the general staff, who previously has had differences with the dictator.

Fascism's supreme body, the grand council, was summoned into a midnight session.

League of Nations' sanctions go into effect Monday and a program reaching into every Italian home has been mapped to resist their pinch.

The keynote of it is to "buy and eat Italian." Mussolini hopes to make Italy self sufficient economically and to strike back at sanctionist nations by refusing to buy their goods.

These 51 nations comprise 70 per cent of Italy's foreign market—and they are pledged to buy none of her goods.

The removal of Gen. de Bono was not regarded as a slur upon him. Il Duce proposed to King Victor Emmanuel that de Bono be promoted to the rank of marshal and telegraphed the veteran his thanks "for having achieved your mission."

Reports from the war zones indicated the first major battles of the undeclared war are in the making on both the northern and southern fronts.

Italian officers encamped at Makale said they learned Emperor Haile Selassie has told his forces south of there that there is to be "no retreat." Ethiopia's northern army is reported massing only a short distance south of Makale.

Thousands of warriors from British Somaliland are crossing the frontiers to aid the Ethiopians defend Jijiga and Harar against the rapidly advancing southern Fascist army, said a dispatch from Diredawa.

American correspondents in Addis Ababa were startled and amused when they heard an Ethiopian band play "Dixie" and the St. Louis Blues" as 10,000 warriors marched past Emperor Haile Selassie before departing for the front.

SEYMOUR WEISS TO POST $10,000 BOND SOON IN TAX CASE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Seymour Weiss, one of three men indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government and to defeat the payment of sums in income tax allegedly due the government, will appear Wednesday or Thursday to post bond of $10,000 before United States Commissioner Reginald H. Carter, Jr., Weiss' attorneys announced today.

Weiss was charged along with Mike M. Moss and Joseph C. Meyers, who federal officials said would be allowed ample time in which to post similar bonds.

Frank R. Reid, of Illinois, former United States senator, and William C. Orchard, local attorney, are counsel for Weiss.

ANTI-BRITISH RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN EGYPT

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Anti-British rioting broke out in Egypt again today as the death toll in previous disorders was raised to six.

A government communique said police fired at the legs of students with whom they clashed at Zagazig, and that two students were sent to a hospital. Six policemen, it was stated, were injured as the students hurled stones during the melee.

Police broke up a demonstration in Cairo by firing into the air.

Two students, wounded when they fought police Thursday, died today.

BILBO ILL

MERIDIAN, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo was taken ill here today and was unable to attend a meeting of state postal employes he was scheduled to address. His condition was said not to be serious and he planned to return to his home in Poplarville tomorrow if he felt better.

CLAUSE OF FARM MORTGAGE ACT IS DECLARED ILLEGAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Ruling that congress had exceeded its power under the bankruptcy clause of the constitution, the United States court of appeals for the seventh circuit today held the redemption clause of the re-enacted Frazier-Lemke act unconstitutional.

The decision against the clause, which provided a three-year redemption period under farm foreclosure, was unanimous.

The case which brought a new blow to the New Deal act involved a mortgage given by Bertha A. Lowman, owner of a 240-acre Indiana farm near Hammond, to the Lafayette Life Insurance company, the insurance company had foreclosed and bought the farm at a sale. The owner had sought to enjoin the sale.

The original Frazier-Lemke act was held unconstitutional by the United States supreme court in May, 1935 the "new Frazier-Lemke statute," one involved in the Lowman case, was enacted last August to replace it.

Wide Business Improvement Seen By Monroe Merchants

A general improvement in business in Monroe and a decided note of optimism for the future were voiced by business leaders of the city in a series of interviews Saturday. All lines of trade report a marked upturn, with indications that the improvement is substantial and brought about by the general satisfactory trend of business here.

The following are typical statements of some of the leaders who were interviewed yesterday:

Albert Horuff, vice-president of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Co.: "Monroe merchants are looking forward to the biggest holiday trade ever done in the city and are preparing for the rush by stocking plentifully in all lines. A general review of business here inclines me to the belief that the situation in the Monroe territory is not only improving, but that it will continue to do so during the next year."

F. F. Millsaps, president of the Ouachita National bank: "Business unquestionably looks better, and there is a decided optimism in financial circles. Some claim that the improvement is due to the New Deal, and some declare it is coming about, in spite of it, but all are unanimous in stating that conditions are getting better."

P. M. Atkins, president of the Monroe Hardware company: "I feel very optimistic over the future prospects of business, as a steady improvement has been noted during the past year. The farmers in the territory are more prosperous than they have been for some time, and with the continued advance in the price of farm products, I look for 1936 to be our best year since 1928.

"If people will quit talking hard times and go to talking good times, it

ANOTHER CONCERN JOINS RED CROSS 100 PERCENTERS

The Weaks Supply company joined the 100 percenters in the annual Red Cross drive, it was reported yesterday by group enrollment leaders. This makes a total of ten business houses whose employes have all joined. They are:

A. & W. Sandwich Shop, Standard Office Supply Co., E. Jack Selig, Inc., Green Mill Inn, Interstate Gas Co., Munholland-Danwitz Furniture Co., Southern Hardware Co., Sig Haas & Sons, and T. L. Morris Plant, La-Oil Refining Co.

Group enrollment leaders predict that this total will be more than doubled during the coming week.

Progress is also reported from the house-to-house drives on both sides of the river which are in charge of Mrs. Jonas Selig, for Monroe and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf for West Monroe.

Joe Isaacman is general chairman of the drive and Lloyd Warren is directing the West Monroe activities.

TWO BARKSDALE FLIERS UNHURT IN SHIP MISHAP

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16.—(AP)—An army attack plane nosed over this afternoon in landing near Pompano, 50 miles north of here, but its two occupants, Lieut. Richard Livingstone and Staff Sergeant Stephenson were not injured.

The plane was part of a flight of 12 winging to Miami from Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., for gunnery practice.

Annual Good Fellows Fund For Twin Cities Is Started

FIRST GOOD FELLOW GIFTS

Morning World and News-Star	$25.00

R. E. Marionneaux	1.00
Alyne Newsom	1.00
Beatrice Burgoyne	1.00
Total to date	$29.00

Five weeks from next Wednesday is Christmas day!

None too early to begin thinking of your part in helping to make the Yuletide season happy for hundreds of children in Monroe and West Monroe who would have no "merry Christmas" were it not for the Good Fellows of the Twin Cities, who annually take it upon themselves to spread cheer on this important anniversary.

For many years the News-Star and Morning World have sponsored the Good Fellows fund. Through this agency hosts of children have come to realize what a real institution Santa Claus is. And without the Good Fellows they would never know anything about the jolly old elf, whose mission is to bring joy to the hearts of little folks.

Already Good Fellows of Monroe and West Monroe are beginning to think of their opportunity and privilege in helping others at the Christmas time. The office force at the Monroe Wholesale Drug company were talking about it the other day, and forthwith they "chipped in" to the fund. Their names are at the head of this story—the first Good Fellows for the 1935 Christmas season.

This fund last year realized nearly $1,200, which went toward providing winter comforts for children who otherwise would have been deprived of the necessary clothing for the cold

LEGION PLANS TO OBTAIN MEMBERS

Will Continue District Campaign To Reach Desired Number

While the quota assigned to American Legion posts in the fifth district was not quite reached in the membership drive which ended its first period on Armistice day, legionnaires were determined to forge ahead with the determination to make the quota or more by the next round-up on December 15.

A total of 1,276 members were enrolled in the fifth district while the quota established was 1,460. The complete report from each post in the district and the quota for each is given by W. G. McEnery, membership chairman, as follows:

Monroe, quota, 250, members enrolled, 264; Ruston, quota, 150, members enrolled, 160; Lake Providence, quota, 50, members enrolled, 50; Bastrop, quota, 90, members enrolled, 116; Oak Grove, quota, 90, members enrolled, 102; Delhi, quota, 20; Vidalia, quota, 20; Winnsboro, quota, 65, members enrolled, 34; Tallulah, quota, 50; Jonesboro, quota, 50, members enrolled, 32; Rayville, quota, 115, members enrolled, 67; Ferriday, quota, 50, members enrolled, 50; Farmerville, quota, 45, members enrolled, 50; Columbia, quota, 90, members enrolled, 50; Jonesville, quota, 30, members enrolled, 23; St. Joseph, quota, 50, members enrolled, 35; Crowville, quota, 20, members enrolled, 20; West Monroe, quota, 50, members enrolled, 60; Monterey, quota, 20, members enrolled, 12; Hodge, quota, 50; Sterlington, quota, 40, members enrolled, 33; Bernice, quota, 40, members enrolled, 63; Harrisonburg, quota, 25, members enrolled, 55.

A meeting of the L. B. Faulk post will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the legion home when a list of awards to be made in connection with the membership campaign will be announced.

Plans will be formulated to bring up the entire district to its quota by December 15. Also the award of the silver loving cup to the most valuable citizen of Monroe the past year will be considered. This award will be made in a short time, Bill Perhamus, post commander said.

OPERATIONS AT GOLSON WELL WILL BE RESUMED

Drilling operations at the Golson well, located in section 25-17-1 east, 16 miles southwest of Monroe, will be resumed some time between November 25 and December 15, it was announced Saturday by representatives of the American Liberty Oil company of Dallas. Difficulties over lease holdings, which had caused suspension of the operations several weeks ago, have been adjusted, it was stated. The well is 5,381 feet deep and is one of the deepest holes ever drilled in Ouachita parish.

SUREBEST BAKERY GIVING RECIPES

Seasonal Products Are Being Made In Plant Of Local Firm

The Surebest Bakery, 100 South Fifth street, makes several baking news announcements of interest to the public, and one that is of particular interest to housewives. The latter announcement is that the bakery is resuming its distribution of complimentary cooking recipes which are placed within the moisture-proof wrapper of Surebest bread.

The recipe series Nos A and B were distributed by the bakery some time ago, and due to the fact that a number of housewives requested that the distribution be resumed, a new series, No. C, is now being placed within the bread wrappers. The recipes are illustrated with colored pictures.

"Salt rising" bread is again seasonal and the Surebest Bakery will place its loaves of this bread on the market next Tuesday. The bread is considered a real treat when served toasted or plain during the winter months.

The Surebest Bakery also has started its seasonal making of fruit cakes, and is handling the well known Hostess fruit cakes. The latter cake is somewhat expensive, retailing for a dollar a pound, but is recognized as one of the finest cakes obtainable. It is necessary to place orders for this cake several days before delivery.

One of the feature products of the bakery, Surebest buttered biscuits, is in great demand at this time. This rich roll is delivered piping hot to groceries between 10 and 11 o'clock in the mornings.

Consistent with the Surebest Bakery's policy of keeping abreast of modern improvements in the baking industry, the firm has recently installed a celotex dough room where dough is kept at a scientifically exact degree of heat and humidity until it is ready to be baked.

C. P. Brogan, manager of the bakery, suggested that housewives compare the costs of biscuits and cornbread made in their kitchens with the cost of the fine Surebest lightbread and biscuits they can obtain at their grocer's.

Real Estate Transfers

The following transactions were recorded at the clerk's office yesterday:

W. R. Britt sold to N. P. Ledbetter, lot 6 of square 32 of the Cole addition, the price being $352.50.

Mrs. Della Malone sold to Sim E. Heisler, a house and lot at Calhoun, the price being $200.

W. U. Kilpatrick to A. K. Kilpatrick, leased the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter, section 14-16-1 east, comprising 40 acres, for the sum of $140 and also sold one-half of the minerals under the same property for $40.

Delia Mineyfield et al granted an option to George A. Schlosser on one-half the minerals under 130 acres located in sections 31 and 32-18-2 east, comprising 130 acres, the price being $130. The option expires November 25.

J. N. Knowles, trustee, sold to H. Y. Hunt of Henderson, Texas, 1-8 of the minerals under the north half of the northeast quarter; the north half of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the east half of the northwest quarter, section 3-16-1 east, comprising 180 acres, the consideration being $325.

TO EXTEND ROUTE FROM POSTOFFICE AT RAYVILLE

RAYVILLE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—An extension of the Rayville rural postal route No. 2, to become effective December 1, has been granted by postal authorities. The route, with the extension, will serve residents along roads from Rayville to Burke's crossing, from the crossing to the Zebedie postoffice, and from there to Rayville via the Burns road.

Residents of the route are requested to make arrangements soon for the delivery of their mail.

EDUCATIONAL WEEK OBSERVANCE ENDED

Students of the Barkdull Faulk grammar school ended their observance of "Educational week" Friday afternoon with a one-act play and the awarding of prizes for the best posters on education and ignorance.

The play, presented by the students of the 6-A grade, was a replica of country school life in the pioneer days, and readings and recitals from old textbooks were given.

Evelyn Ratchford, aged 11, was awarded first prize for the best poster made during the week. Two other students, Patricia Murphy and Cullen Kirby, tied for second place.

This week "Book week" will be observed at the school.

DOUGLASS COMMUNITY CHURCH HOLDS PROGRAM

The Douglass community church, in Lincoln parish, held a successful entertainment on Friday night to raise money for a piano. The sum of $50 was netted.

A cake was auctioned off and brought $23. Votes were polled for the prettiest girl which resulted in the award to Gladys Golden of Downsville. D. Leachman was awarded the prize for the best looking young man present.

Rev. R. V. Fulton is pastor of the community church.

Local Grocerman Like New Since He Began Gly-Cas

Severe Headaches, Neuritis Pains Easily Conquered By New Remedy; Mr. Michatto, Jr., Has Regained His Former Strength And Energy—Gly-Cas Again Unfailing.

Mr. Sam Michatto, Jr., 10th and Louise Anne Ave., Monroe, prominent grocerman and active young man of this city, is thoroughly convinced that the new vegetable remedy, Gly-Cas is the most remarkable remedy of the modern day. Read what Mr. Michatto had to say to the Gly-Cas man recently at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"I feel sure that a short trial of Gly-Cas will easily convince the most skeptical person of its merit," he said, "Indigestion and neuritis had made my life miserable for years. My system was filled with toxic poisons and I did not know what it was to pass a restful night of sleep. I lost my pep and felt hardly able to go about my duties at my store. The pains I endured were often unbearable, headaches continually and regardless of my diet all foods caused terrible distress after eating. It was so discouraging in my condition to be unable to find anything to help me in the least. I did not know where to turn next when friends began to tell me that it would be well worth my while to try out this much talked about Gly-Cas. I did just that and found it the very medicine I should have had all these years."

"I began to take this new Gly-Cas in earnest and in a short time it was amazing to me," continued Mr. Michatto," I was soon relieved of my severe headaches, the terrible pains caused from neuritis were quickly conquered and I soon regained my former energy. I can now eat the foods I wish at my meals without the dreadful distress following. My mother soon noticed the wonderful changes Gly-Cas brought about in my case and she too began taking it and likewise she is now enjoying the blessing of better health today. Gly-Cas made a new man of me and I wish sufferers to know that it is unlike the common-run of medicines there are absolutely no unpleasant effects or uncomfortable feelings caused therefrom like is so in taking so many of the present day medicines. Too much praise cannot be given Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, Monroe, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

DONATIONS ASKED FOR ORPHANAGE

Ruston Institution Is Declared To Be In Need Of Supplies

The West Monroe Hardware and Furniture company is receiving donations of foodstuffs for the Methodist orphanage in Ruston for the regular Thanksgiving offering. Mrs. J. C. Sadler, local chairman of the Monroe committee in charge, urges that as many as can do so make gifts of food, taking their offerings to the store in West Monroe which is furnishing its services as a place of reception of goods.

The Monroe Transfer company, in view of the inability of the railroads to furnish cars, has consented to operate two five-ton trucks to haul the goods donated.

One truck will leave Ferriday at 7:30 a. m. and another will leave Tallulah at the same hour on Tuesday, November 26, and will proceed on to Monroe on the way to Ruston, picking up donations.

Rev. Robert Vaughan, superintendent of the orphanage, stated that the needs of this charitable institution are greater this year than ever, and a stronger appeal is being made for assistance. He said the orphans must be fed and cared for, and friends of the home are urged to show their generosity. Everything in the way of food and feed stuff will be acceptable.

LEGION PLANS TO OBTAIN MEMBERS

Will Continue District Campaign To Reach Desired Number

While the quota assigned to American Legion posts in the fifth district was not quite reached in the membership drive which ended its first period on Armistice day, legionnaires were determined to forge ahead with the determination to make the quota or more by the next round-up on December 15.

A total of 1,276 members were enrolled in the fifth district while the quota established was 1,460. The complete report from each post in the district and the quota for each is given by W. G. McEnery, membership chairman, as follows:

Monroe, quota, 250, members enrolled, 264; Ruston, quota, 150, members enrolled, 160; Lake Providence, quota, 50, members enrolled, 50; Bastrop, quota, 90, members enrolled, 116; Oak Grove, quota, 90, members enrolled, 102; Delhi, quota, 20; Vidalia, quota, 20; Winnsboro, quota, 65, members enrolled, 34; Tallulah, quota, 50; Jonesboro, quota, 50, members enrolled, 32; Rayville, quota, 115, members enrolled, 67; Ferriday, quota, 50, members enrolled, 50; Farmerville, quota, 45, members enrolled, 50; Columbia, quota, 90, members enrolled, 50; Jonesville, quota, 30, members enrolled, 23; St. Joseph, quota, 50, members enrolled, 35; Crowville, quota, 20, members enrolled, 20; West Monroe, quota, 50, members enrolled, 60; Monterey, quota, 20, members enrolled, 12; Hodge, quota, 50; Sterlington, quota, 40, members enrolled, 33; Bernice, quota, 40, members enrolled, 63; Harrisonburg, quota, 25, members enrolled, 55.

A meeting of the L. B. Faulk post will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the legion home when a list of awards to be made in connection with the membership campaign will be announced.

Plans will be formulated to bring up the entire district to its quota by December 15. Also the award of the silver loving cup to the most valuable citizen of Monroe the past year will be considered. This award will be made in a short time, Bill Perhamus, post commander said.

OPERATIONS AT GOLSON WELL WILL BE RESUMED

Drilling operations at the Golson well, located in section 25-17-1 east, 16 miles southwest of Monroe, will be resumed some time between November 25 and December 15, it was announced Saturday by representatives of the American Liberty Oil company of Dallas. Difficulties over lease holdings, which had caused suspension of the operations several weeks ago, have been adjusted, it was stated. The well is 5,381 feet deep and is one of the deepest holes ever drilled in Ouachita parish.

SUREBEST BAKERY GIVING RECIPES

Seasonal Products Are Being Made In Plant Of Local Firm

The Surebest Bakery, 100 South Fifth street, makes several baking news announcements of interest to the public, and one that is of particular interest to housewives. The latter announcement is that the bakery is resuming its distribution of complimentary cooking recipes which are placed within the moisture-proof wrapper of Surebest bread.

The recipe series Nos A and B were distributed by the bakery some time ago, and due to the fact that a number of housewives requested that the distribution be resumed, a new series, No. C, is now being placed within the bread wrappers. The recipes are illustrated with colored pictures.

"Salt rising" bread is again seasonal and the Surebest Bakery will place its loaves of this bread on the market next Tuesday. The bread is considered a real treat when served toasted or plain during the winter months.

The Surebest Bakery also has started its seasonal making of fruit cakes, and is handling the well known Hostess fruit cakes. The latter cake is somewhat expensive, retailing for a dollar a pound, but is recognized as one of the finest cakes obtainable. It is necessary to place orders for this cake several days before delivery.

One of the feature products of the bakery, Surebest buttered biscuits, is in great demand at this time. This rich roll is delivered piping hot to groceries between 10 and 11 o'clock in the mornings.

Consistent with the Surebest Bakery's policy of keeping abreast of modern improvements in the baking industry, the firm has recently installed a celotex dough room where dough is kept at a scientifically exact degree of heat and humidity until it is ready to be baked.

C. P. Brogan, manager of the bakery, suggested that housewives compare the costs of biscuits and cornbread made in their kitchens with the cost of the fine Surebest lightbread and biscuits they can obtain at their grocer's.

EDUCATIONAL WEEK OBSERVANCE ENDED

Students of the Barkdull Faulk grammar school ended their observance of "Educational week" Friday afternoon with a one-act play and the awarding of prizes for the best posters on education and ignorance.

The play, presented by the students of the 6-A grade, was a replica of country school life in the pioneer days, and readings and recitals from old textbooks were given.

Evelyn Ratchford, aged 11, was awarded first prize for the best poster made during the week. Two other students, Patricia Murphy and Cullen Kirby, tied for second place.

This week "Book week" will be observed at the school.

DOUGLASS COMMUNITY CHURCH HOLDS PROGRAM

The Douglass community church, in Lincoln parish, held a successful entertainment on Friday night to raise money for a piano. The sum of $50 was netted.

A cake was auctioned off and brought $23. Votes were polled for the prettiest girl which resulted in the award to Gladys Golden of Downsville. D. Leachman was awarded the prize for the best looking young man present.

Rev. R. V. Fulton is pastor of the community church.

Ruston Institution Is Declared To Be In Need Of Supplies

The West Monroe Hardware and Furniture company is receiving donations of foodstuffs for the Methodist orphanage in Ruston for the regular Thanksgiving offering. Mrs. J. C. Sadler, local chairman of the Monroe committee in charge, urges that as many as can do so make gifts of food, taking their offerings to the store in West Monroe which is furnishing its services as a place of reception of goods.

The Monroe Transfer company, in view of the inability of the railroads to furnish cars, has consented to operate two five-ton trucks to haul the goods donated.

Rev. Robert Vaughan, superintendent of the orphanage, stated that the needs of this charitable institution are greater this year than ever, and a stronger appeal is being made for assistance. He said the orphans must be fed and cared for, and friends of the home are urged to show their generosity. Everything in the way of food and feed stuff will be acceptable.

Rev. D. C. Barr will visit the various communities before November 26, and contributors are urged to get in touch with him and ascertain the needs of the orphanage.

Sweetbreads are usually the pancreas or thymus of calves.

Real Estate Transfers

The following transactions were recorded at the clerk's office yesterday:

W. R. Britt sold to N. P. Ledbetter, lot 6 of square 32 of the Cole addition, the price being $352.50.

Mrs. Della Malone sold to Sim E. Heisler, a house and lot at Calhoun, the price being $200.

W. U. Kilpatrick to A. K. Kilpatrick, leased the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter, section 14-16-1 east, comprising 40 acres, for the sum of $140 and also sold one-half of the minerals under the same property for $40.

Delia Mineyfield et al granted an option to George A. Schlosser on one-half the minerals under 130 acres located in sections 31 and 32-18-2 east, comprising 130 acres, the price being $130. The option expires November 25.

J. N. Knowles, trustee, sold to H. Y. Hunt of Henderson, Texas, 1-8 of the minerals under the north half of the northeast quarter; the north half of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the east half of the northwest quarter, section 3-16-1 east, comprising 180 acres, the consideration being $325.

TO EXTEND ROUTE FROM POSTOFFICE AT RAYVILLE

RAYVILLE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—An extension of the Rayville rural postal route No. 2, to become effective December 1, has been granted by postal authorities. The route, with the extension, will serve residents along roads from Rayville to Burke's crossing, from the crossing to the Zebedie postoffice, and from there to Rayville via the Burns road.

Residents of the route are requested to make arrangements soon for the delivery of their mail.

Local Grocerman Like New Since He Began Gly-Cas

Severe Headaches, Neuritis Pains Easily Conquered By New Remedy; Mr. Michatto, Jr., Has Regained His Former Strength And Energy—Gly-Cas Again Unfailing.

Mr. Sam Michatto, Jr., 10th and Louise Anne Ave., Monroe, prominent grocerman and active young man of this city, is thoroughly convinced that the new vegetable remedy, Gly-Cas is the most remarkable remedy of the modern day. Read what Mr. Michatto had to say to the Gly-Cas man recently at the Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"I feel sure that a short trial of Gly-Cas will easily convince the most skeptical person of its merit," he said, "Indigestion and neuritis had made my life miserable for years. My system was filled with toxic poisons and I did not know what it was to pass a restful night of sleep. I lost my pep and felt hardly able to go about my duties at my store. The pains I endured were often unbearable, headaches continually and regardless of my diet all foods caused terrible distress after eating. It was so discouraging in my condition to be unable to find anything to help me in the least. I did not know where to turn next when friends began to tell me that it would be well worth my while to try out this much talked about Gly-Cas. I did just that and found it the very medicine I should have had all these years."

"I began to take this new Gly-Cas in earnest and in a short time it was amazing to me," continued Mr. Michatto," I was soon relieved of my severe headaches, the terrible pains caused from neuritis were quickly conquered and I soon regained my former energy. I can now eat the foods I wish at my meals without the dreadful distress following. My mother soon noticed the wonderful changes Gly-Cas brought about in my case and she too began taking it and likewise she is now enjoying the blessing of better health today. Gly-Cas made a new man of me and I wish sufferers to know that it is unlike the common-run of medicines there are absolutely no unpleasant effects or uncomfortable feelings caused therefrom like is so in taking so many of the present day medicines. Too much praise cannot be given Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, Monroe, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

MERCHANTS SEE BETTER BUSINESS

will turn the trick and everything will go back to normal."

Sig Masur, general manager of The Palace: "With the advent of seasonable weather, The Palace has done a nice business and looks forward to the next spring to surpass the same period last year. We have made preparations for this expected revival by installing one of the largest stocks of spring merchandise in years."

Discussing the real estate situation in Monroe, Mr. Masur stated that a healthy reaction has been noted in recent months and that property values are steadily increasing and will continue to improve.

H. K. Touchstone, secretary-treasurer of the Monroe Furniture company: "Our company has formulated its plans to take care of a considerable increase in business during 1936. Conditions, generally during the past two and a half years have improved, but this was brought about by forced capital. Today the improvement is being carried on from profits. The supply and demand has increased to such an extent that nothing can stop progress, short of a calamity."

Sam Rubin of the R. & A. Jewelry company: "We have sold more diamonds, and large diamonds at that, during the past week, than we have done since we started in business. That, in my opinion, is one of the best indications of improvement in general business. We are selling more jewelry than ever, and look forward to our biggest turnover during the holiday season, since 1929."

E. C. Apperson, manager of the Frances hotel: "Since I assumed the management of the Frances hotel, I have come to realize that Monroe is a city with a future, and I am very gratified with business as a whole. There has been quite a little activity recently and the hotel well patronized. I am happy to have come here."

M. C. Delarot, manager of the retail furniture division of the the Monroe Hardware company: "The outlook is lots better than heretofore, and we are looking forward to the best holiday business in years. Lots more people are selecting and putting aside purchases for the holiday season, and we have a larger stock of nationally advertised goods since 1929 to meet the increased demand."

D. Aubrey Haas of Sig Haas & Sons: "Business is decidedly on the upturn and we are prepared to take care of a big holiday trade, and feel certain that our judgment is justified. The outlook for a return to normalcy is very promising and the best evidence we have is the continued advance in prices; particularly is this true in clothing, which, from all indications, will reach the peak of 1929, during the coming year."

J. Bodan, manager for Liggett's Drug store: "Since we opened here recently business has been very good indeed. It has not taken me long to realize that Monroe is certainly an up and coming city, and I am happy that Liggetts has established a store here. The people have been very responsive, and I wish to assure them that Liggett's is here to help in achieving the return to normalcy. Monroe is a peppy town and I am sure that Liggett's will prosper here."

E. M. Steen, president of Louisiana Stores Co., Inc., operating seven Jitney-Jungle stores: "Business looks bright. We did experience a slight slump several weeks ago, but we've taken up the slack and have made up with a steadily increase in sales. From now until March we expect to do a good volume, and after that period, from present indications, we anticipate going right ahead. We believe in the future of Monroe and consequently are carrying out an expansion program, and spending our money, in the confidence that business is definitely on the upgrade."

J. J. Martin, manager of J. C. Penney Co.: "There is a decided upward trend in our business, and a tendency for higher prices in most lines indicate a healthy tone in the general dry goods trade. We've had a very satisfactory year and look forward with confidence for a continued improvement during 1936."

Herbert Fink, of Fink the Tailor: "Last Saturday we did more business than we had ever done since 1929. Woolen fabric prices are firm, the increase being from twelve cents to sixty-five cents a yard. To me this indicates a general improvement throughout the country, and we feel it will be reflected in Monroe."

J. B. Lindsay, president Home Furniture Co.: "We have experienced a gradual but substantial improvement in business. I'd rather see it like it is, than during the last three good years before the slump. The furniture market is strong. The year 1936 should be good for business.

B. B. Martin of Sur-Wa Stores: "Fall business is picking up. Judging from the predictions made by the larger industries, it would appear to me that conditions generally are on the mend and that more men will be put to work. I look for good business during the next sixty days, and feel confident that next year will see a great improvement."

A. Blumenthal of Field's Woman's Shop: "Business prospects should be good from now on. We are prepared to take care of a big holiday business, and next year should be very bright as undoubtedly a lot of government money will be spent in this area."

I. P. Sandman of Economy Drug Co.: "Business is very good. General conditions are improving and Monroe should feel the effects of a general trade revival. Our business this year has been much better than last year, and we look forward with confidence to 1936."

The day's transfers amounted to 1,639,480 shares, the largest for a Saturday since February 10, of last year.

Bonds, generally, were inclined to follow stocks. The volume in the loans division totaled $8,442,000, par value, the heaviest volume since February 23, last. Grains and cotton did not emulate securities, both finishing a trifle lower.

Bethlehem Steel was a feature of stock dealings, overtaking United States Steel and getting a little ahead of the major equity at $50.75 at one time. Profit taking reduced the quotations of distillery stocks and preventing a number of others from joining the upturn.

Tire replacement sales dropped from nearly 50,000,000 in 1928 to less than 30,000,000 this year, and is expected to be only about 29,000,000 in 1936.

ANNUAL REPORTS OF CLUBS GIVEN

Home Demonstration Council Accords First Honor To Claiborne

Annual reports of activities of home demonstration clubs of Ouachita parish were rendered yesterday afternoon at an "achievement" meeting of the home demonstration council and the Claiborne club was accorded the honor of first place among the clubs for having pursued the most complete schedule of activities. The Colony club was accorded second place.

A factor contributing to the Colony club's honor was the fact that its food preservation activities were more extensive than those of any other clubs.

The annual meeting, held at the courthouse, was attended by 34 council members, Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, parish home demonstration agent, and Miss Mary Louise Collings, district home demonstration agent, with headquarters at Baton Rouge. Mrs. H. D. Hale, of Calhoun, the council president, presided.

Miss Collings gave a talk on activities of councils over the state and commended the local council as being one of the most active. The council is composed of the president and two members from each club of the parish.

The next meeting of the council will be held in January. Officers will be elected then and a schedule of activities for 1936 will be outlined.

DEAR CALLS FOR HONEST VOTE IN JANUARY PRIMARY

DENHAM SPRINGS, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Congressman Cleveland Dear, candidate for governor on the "home rule" ticket, told a mass meeting here tonight he hoped that blood will "not have to be shed to force an honest election."

"It was on Louisiana soil that blood first was shed for freedom," Dear said, "and it may be shed again to force an honest election, but God forbid."

He declared it was up to Governor O. K. Allen to guarantee an "honest election" and to give both sides representation at the polls January 21.

The governor in a statement this week said equal representation would be given all candidates at the polls.

A new type of automobile bumper now being manufactured in England makes it impossible for a person being struck to pass under it to the wheels. It is lowered to the ground, and simply rolls the victim until the brakes can be applied.

A sustained production of 350,000 cars a month is being planned until the peak spring season of 1936.

there will be considerable improvement over last year in this movement. Something like 9,000 cars moved through this territory last year. Our normal movement ranges from 11,000 to 15,000 cars. The production was greatly curtailed last year on account of the heavy freezes. You understand that the movement of these commodities through this section of the country will help to increase the number of men employed and, incidentally, will throw more money in circulation in the immediate territory."

Detailed figures from the Illinois Central were not available, as these are compiled at the divisional headquarters in Vicksburg. J. F. Hardin, local commercial agent, however, stated that the business of the road at the Monroe station shows an increase of 22 1-2 per cent over last year. Approximately the same increase was recorded throughout the division, he said.

The Monroe Transfer company, which operates truck lines for the hauling of freight and commodities through this area, reported an increase of 28 per cent as compared with the corresponding period a year ago. Payrolls had also shown an increase in the same period.

No statistics were available from the Commercial Transportation company, which operates barge lines on the Ouachita river, though officers of the company indicated that substantial increases in business were in harmony with those of other transportation systems.

before have been applied, are denounced as a proposal to suffocate the Italian people economically, as a vain attempt to humiliate this people and to prevent the nation from realizing its ideals and defending its right to existence."

The council resolution eulogized the "tenacious discipline" by which the Italian people, it said, demonstrated themselves as recognizing "the historical trend of actual events."

It invited them to "oppose against sanctions the most implacable resistance by mobilizing through all organizations of the regime, all the moral energy and material resources of the nation."

Thousands of enthusiastic blackshirts jammed downtown streets as the council assembled to consider problems facing Italy.

Cheering throngs clustered outside the Palazzo Littorio, headquarters of the fascist party.

They followed the blackshirt banner, which was removed with an honor guard of militia to the Palazzo Venezia, scene of the council meeting.

The crowds chanted "Duce, Duce," and yelled "down with sanctions" and "viva reprisals!"

Shortly before the official communique denouncing the League of Nations action was issued, it was announced the council would hold another meeting Monday evening to discuss further the threats to Italy which are read into the application of sanction by the fascist authorities.

The per capita ownership of automobiles in the United States is one car to every five persons, while the ratio for the entire world is about one car to every 187 persons.

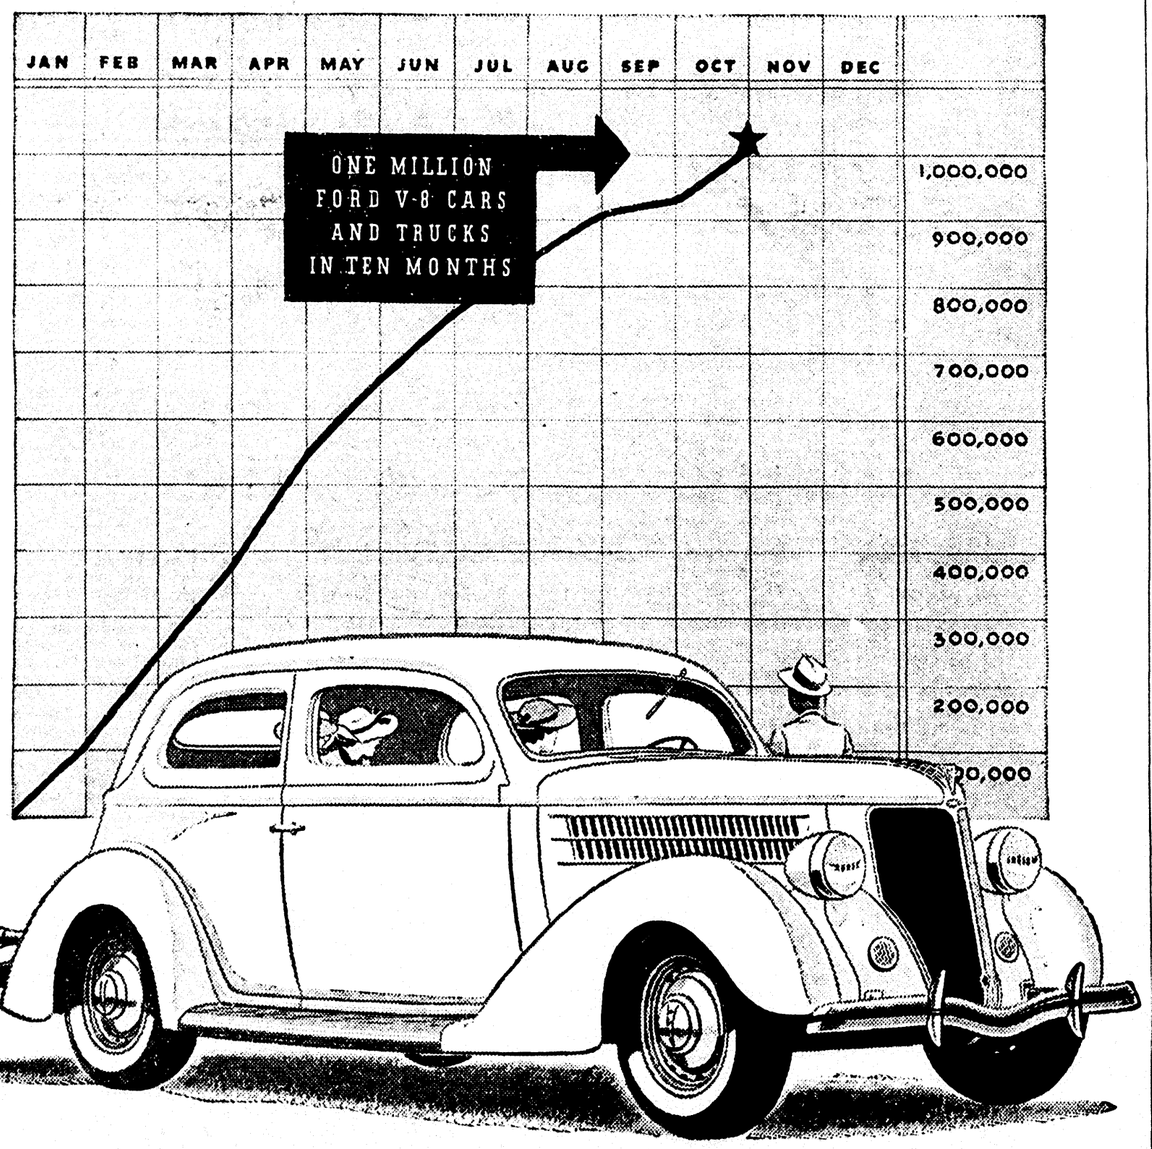
V·8 LEADERSHIP



ON OCTOBER 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year.

One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm.

These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out, in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.

MERCHANTS SEE BETTER BUSINESS

will turn the trick and everything will go back to normal."

Sig Masur, general manager of The Palace: "With the advent of seasonable weather, The Palace has done a nice business and looks forward to the next spring to surpass the same period last year. We have made preparations for this expected revival by installing one of the largest stocks of spring merchandise in years."

Discussing the real estate situation in Monroe, Mr. Masur stated that a healthy reaction has been noted in recent months and that property values are steadily increasing and will continue to improve.

H. K. Touchstone, secretary-treasurer of the Monroe Furniture company: "Our company has formulated its plans to take care of a considerable increase in business during 1936. Conditions, generally during the past two and a half years have improved, but this was brought about by forced capital. Today the improvement is being carried on from profits. The supply and demand has increased to such an extent that nothing can stop progress, short of a calamity."

Sam Rubin of the R. & A. Jewelry company: "We have sold more diamonds, and large diamonds at that, during the past week, than we have done since we started in business. That, in my opinion, is one of the best indications of improvement in general business. We are selling more jewelry than ever, and look forward to our biggest turnover during the holiday season, since 1929."

E. C. Apperson, manager of the Frances hotel: "Since I assumed the management of the Frances hotel, I have come to realize that Monroe is a city with a future, and I am very gratified with business as a whole. There has been quite a little activity recently and the hotel well patronized. I am happy to have come here."

M. C. Delarot, manager of the retail furniture division of the the Monroe Hardware company: "The outlook is lots better than heretofore, and we are looking forward to the best holiday business in years. Lots more people are selecting and putting aside purchases for the holiday season, and we have a larger stock of nationally advertised goods since 1929 to meet the increased demand."

D. Aubrey Haas of Sig Haas & Sons: "Business is decidedly on the upturn and we are prepared to take care of a big holiday trade, and feel certain that our judgment is justified. The outlook for a return to normalcy is very promising and the best evidence we have is the continued advance in prices; particularly is this true in clothing, which, from all indications, will reach the peak of 1929, during the coming year."

J. Bodan, manager for Liggett's Drug store: "Since we opened here recently business has been very good indeed. It has not taken me long to realize that Monroe is certainly an up and coming city, and I am happy that Liggetts has established a store here. The people have been very responsive, and I wish to assure them that Liggett's is here to help in achieving the return to normalcy. Monroe is a peppy town and I am sure that Liggett's will prosper here."

E. M. Steen, president of Louisiana Stores Co., Inc., operating seven Jitney-Jungle stores: "Business looks bright. We did experience a slight slump several weeks ago, but we've taken up the slack and have made up with a steadily increase in sales. From now until March we expect to do a good volume, and after that period, from present indications, we anticipate going right ahead. We believe in the future of Monroe and consequently are carrying out an expansion program, and spending our money, in the confidence that business is definitely on the upgrade."

J. J. Martin, manager of J. C. Penney Co.: "There is a decided upward trend in our business, and a tendency for higher prices in most lines indicate a healthy tone in the general dry goods trade. We've had a very satisfactory year and look forward with confidence for a continued improvement during 1936."

Herbert Fink, of Fink the Tailor: "Last Saturday we did more business than we had ever done since 1929. Woolen fabric prices are firm, the increase being from twelve cents to sixty-five cents a yard. To me this indicates a general improvement throughout the country, and we feel it will be reflected in Monroe."

J. B. Lindsay, president Home Furniture Co.: "We have experienced a gradual but substantial improvement in business. I'd rather see it like it is, than during the last three good years before the slump. The furniture market is strong. The year 1936 should be good for business.

B. B. Martin of Sur-Wa Stores: "Fall business is picking up. Judging from the predictions made by the larger industries, it would appear to me that conditions generally are on the mend and that more men will be put to work. I look for good business during the next sixty days, and feel confident that next year will see a great improvement."

A. Blumenthal of Field's Woman's Shop: "Business prospects should be good from now on. We are prepared to take care of a big holiday business, and next year should be very bright as undoubtedly a lot of government money will be spent in this area."

I. P. Sandman of Economy Drug Co.: "Business is very good. General conditions are improving and Monroe should feel the effects of a general trade revival. Our business this year has been much better than last year, and we look forward with confidence to 1936."

The day's transfers amounted to 1,639,480 shares, the largest for a Saturday since February 10, of last year.

Bonds, generally, were inclined to follow stocks. The volume in the loans division totaled $8,442,000, par value, the heaviest volume since February 23, last. Grains and cotton did not emulate securities, both finishing a trifle lower.

Bethlehem Steel was a feature of stock dealings, overtaking United States Steel and getting a little ahead of the major equity at $50.75 at one time. Profit taking reduced the quotations of distillery stocks and preventing a number of others from joining the upturn.

Tire replacement sales dropped from nearly 50,000,000 in 1928 to less than 30,000,000 this year, and is expected to be only about 29,000,000 in 1936.

Home Demonstration Council Accords First Honor To Claiborne

Annual reports of activities of home demonstration clubs of Ouachita parish were rendered yesterday afternoon at an "achievement" meeting of the home demonstration council and the Claiborne club was accorded the honor of first place among the clubs for having pursued the most complete schedule of activities. The Colony club was accorded second place.

A factor contributing to the Colony club's honor was the fact that its food preservation activities were more extensive than those of any other clubs.

The annual meeting, held at the courthouse, was attended by 34 council members, Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, parish home demonstration agent, and Miss Mary Louise Collings, district home demonstration agent, with headquarters at Baton Rouge. Mrs. H. D. Hale, of Calhoun, the council president, presided.

Miss Collings gave a talk on activities of councils over the state and commended the local council as being one of the most active. The council is composed of the president and two members from each club of the parish.

The next meeting of the council will be held in January. Officers will be elected then and a schedule of activities for 1936 will be outlined.

What Real Charity Means

She came in and, with a sigh, tossed a charity drive receipt on the table. "Well, thank goodness, that's over for a year," she said, and really seemed to mean it. She'd done her bit for this year and now she needn't bother any more. . . . She has plenty and, to do her justice, she didn't mean quite all she said, for she's one of those who give to every hat that's passed.

She can be counted on for a donation of some sort, from a letter to a shut-in to a dollar for a destitute family. But it's always as impersonal as that. She really believes she is very charitable and would be indignant if anyone suggested she doesn't know the meaning of the word. Or that she makes a gesture and that is all. Yet she writes a letter or gives a dollar (or ten or twenty) with the same indifference, and regardless of what the letter says or the deeper meaning of any collection. Then she sits back, content with herself, and pulls her neighbor's character to pieces, gossips unkindly, judges harshly and unjustly, refuses the beggar a crust, scolds her maid for shabby clothes she can't help, and is generally blind to the full meaning of real charity.

Charity is defined in the dictionary: "A disposition to relieve the wants and distress of others; kindness; love; benevolence; liberality to the poor; a disposition to think of or judge others favorably; supreme love of God and universal good will to man." It says nothing about going through the motions and calling it a day, and emphasizes that charity embraces many things besides mere giving. In full, it denotes the warm thing that is concrete charity and belongs to every minute of everyday life. She understands it in its coldest, most abstract form, blind to the fact that mere personal giving never can make her really charitable.

She is not alone, by any means. She has many counterparts and they all enjoy selfishly the prestige and awe with which they are regarded by thoughtless persons who estimate only by the gestures they observe. Yet, often real charity is found amongst the very ones they so condescendingly "help"—the wonderful among the poor, who live, know and practice actual charity, which really costs them something personally, who actually share their crusts, give part of their last dime to someone needier, ease the sick, help the old—and the stumbling young—beam kindness and love upon all, aren't as quick to judge the wayward as to help them, don't push the fallen further down and in general show leniency, love of God and good will to men, personally. That's being really charitable, and its worth is uncountable.

THE PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW

The decision of the Texas court of criminal appeals that newspapers have a right to publish court trial proceedings is a welcome reaffirmation of the right to a free press.

A prison farm convict was tried for murder in a Texas court some time ago, and the judge ordered newspapers not to print the testimony that was given, fearing that it might interfere with getting juries for the trials of two of the prisoner's associates.

The newspapers printed the testimony anyway, and the judge had six reporters and editors cited for contempt. The decision of the higher court clears them.

It is possible to admit that the judge's fears of the effects of publicity on the later trials may have been justified, and at the same time to insist that this is overshadowed by a larger principle.

Once you make it possible for a judge to conduct a trial as a star-chamber affair, you open the way to all kinds of abuses.

The newspaper reporter in the courtroom is, ultimately, the public's chief protection.

POLITICS GONE TOO FAR

The high price the public pays for permitting selfish machine politics to handle its state governments is apt to get a good deal higher, now that the states are adopting new functions which affect the lives of citizens more closely.

An example is the complaint recently registered by the American Association for Social Security, to the effect that Ohio's old-age pension system has been "perverted into a political instrumentality" by the state administration, with an increase of incompetency and waste in direction of its affairs.

We can endure political misgovernment in affairs that do not touch us closely. An old-age pension is different. It needs the most honest and efficient management that can possibly be applied.

Politicians who tamper with such things are exacting far too high a price for their services.

A distinguished French observer of our habits and customs says Americans think only of profitable investments. Doing so, of course, necessitates a heavy drain on the imagination.

Mr. Hearst threatens to leave California on account of high taxes. A great many struggling citizens would like a tip-off as to where he intends to go.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

SOUNDING AN S. O. S.

(By a man who could not resist the offer of a pet alligator.)

Dear Bill, will you take back your 'gator?
For a while he proved quite a nice pet.
He was playful and cute
And a good little brute,
His smile I can never forget.
But his wiles shortly ceased to amuse us,
He lost all his earlier charm
When he walked up one night
And endeavored to bite
A hole in my trusty right arm.

Then he started to raiding the closets,
He ate up a side of spring lamb,
Which was hidden away,
And he managed next day
To devour a Virginia ham.
And when we locked all of the closets
He waddled away down the street,
Keeping out a keen eye
For some strange passer-by,
Whom he thought might be pleasant to eat.

Enough is enough, my dear fellow.
People simply won't come to our place;
When they knock at the door
He gives vent to a roar,
And they leave at a double quick pace.
The S. P. C. A. will not take him,
No rifle could pierce his thick skin,
Come as soon as you can,
Bring ten men and a van,
It's the deuce of a pickle we're in.

Work Gains Rewards

By BRUCE CATTON

It is easy to do a great deal of hard, uphill work if the populace keeps standing around telling you what a great man you are while you are doing it. It is ever so much harder to keep plugging away without recognition, sticking on a thankless job whose importance hardly anyone but yourself ever realizes.

But some of the most important work in the world is done in precisely that way. And once in a while the chap who is doing it does come through, at last, to the recognition and the broadened opportunity which he deserves.

The daily newspapers have recently recorded two cases of this kind.

First there is the case of Hugh Hammond Bennett.

Mr. Bennett has been in the U. S. department of agriculture since 1905, or thereabouts. Away back in the early years of the present century he awoke to the menace of soil erosion and discovered that we were using our soil so carelessly that we would ultimately ruin the rich farm areas which have helped to make us a great and powerful nation.

So Mr. Bennett undertook a campaign to remedy matters. For many long years he toiled unheeded in the department of agriculture, striving to bring about a saner use of our land. He did it so long, without any recognition, that he must have felt sometimes as if his work were utterly useless.

But finally the government and the nation awoke and installed a soil erosion service with 21,000 employes and ample funds and publicity to carry the fight to victory. And the man who was put in charge of this vast job was Hugh Hammond Bennett.

Another case. Dr. William Hallock Park has been head of the laboratories of the New York City health department for something like 40 years. During that time he has saved heaven only knows how many human lives, kept epidemics from striking down children, and done more than a thousand ordinary men to extend the sum total of human happiness.

He has had the fearlessness characteristic of medical scientists; when a new infantile paralysis vaccine was devised, for instance, he boldly tested it on himself, to make sure that it had no ill effects.

All this time Dr. Park went practically unheard-of by the public at large. But the other day recognition came at last, with the award to him of the Roosevelt Medal for Service, tributes from distinguished citizens, and columns of eulogy in the newspapers. He had to wait until he was 72, but he finally got it.

These are just two sample cases—cases in which the "pluggers" who knew how to stick to thankless, unheeded jobs did at last come into their own.

SO THEY SAY

Before this administration came into power, with its philosophy of the economy of scarcity, America helped feed the world. After two years and a half of New Deal policies, the world is helping feed America.—Henry P. Fletcher, Republican national chairman.

A policy of isolation is called a "splendid isolation." Why is it more splendid to be by yourself than with others?—Stanley Baldwin.

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Although the news may break General Hugh Johnson's heart, the Frankfurter boys have marched in on the department of justice.

After the celebrated Dr. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School refused President Roosevelt's offer of the solicitor-generalship in 1933, hardly one of his numerous pupils entered the service of Attorney General Homer Cummings, though they poured into New Deal ranks nearly everywhere else except NRA.

Solicitor General J. Crawford Biggs and his staff sloshed around through the courts, making a sorry showing on nearly all fronts. The Frankfurter boys (whom General Johnson calls the "Happy Hot Dogs"), some of whom had written laws the inept Biggs was trying to defend, alternately jibed and groaned at the spectacle.

Even the supreme court apparently was "suffering," with the result that Biggs was moved to a soft and unimportant post.

Along came Stanley Reed of RFC to be solicitor general and to renovate the staff. In the last few weeks he has picked some of the brightes. of the ex-Frankfurter pupils here to help him defend New Deal legislation in a big winter of test cases.

They're On The Spot

Their friends and their enemies will be watching them closely. For they're now on the spot and, although their briefs and arguments will be more graceful and to the point, it's a question whether they'll have any better luck before the supreme court.

Among the group of Frankfurter's smart young men now working for Reed are:

Alger Hiss, former secertary to the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, former assistant general counsel at AAA and counsel for the Senate munitions committee, drafter of the Bankhead cotton and Kerr tobacco control acts, now preparing the supreme court brief defending the AAA in the Hoosac case.

Paul Freund, former secretary to Justice Brandeis, formerly with RFC, now specializing on TVA and PWA cases.

Charles Horsky, former secretary to Judge Learned Hand of New York, working on defense of the Bankhead act.

Arnold Raum, ex-RFC lawyer, specializing on processing and other tax cases.

One thing about the Frankfurter boys. So many of them have served as secretaries to supreme court and other justices that they ought to have a fairly good picture of the judicial mind.

The Dope's Against Italy

Perhaps it doesn't mean a thing. But correspondents at the State Department press room idled a half hour away the other day figuring out that Italy, by all precedent, stands to lose the Italo-Ethiopian war.

The idea being that wars are commonly designated by hyphenating names of the nations involved and that the nation mentioned first always gets licked. For instance, in the Franco-Prussian war it was France which was defeated. Other instances.

The Russo-Japanese war.
The Turco-Italian war.
The Spanish-American war.
The Sino-Japanese war.
The Bolivian-Paraguayan war.
The Austro-German war.

No one could think of any exceptions.

Huey Was Real Threat

Few but the innermost insiders realize even yet how badly Roosevelt was worried, up to the time of Huey Long's assassination, for fear that Huey would draw a large vote from him by running as a third party candidate. Point was recently given to this fear by evidence that certain interests were willing to provide Long with a large campaign fund.

Roosevelt, it is whispered by one or two of those he consulted about it, was making a personal survey of the vote Huey would be likely to get. He had given up Louisiana and Georgia (where he figured both Huey and Governor Talmadge would work gainst him), according to this tale, and was disturbed about Arkansas and South Carolina.

He asked a trusted Ohio politician about that state and was told Huey probably could poll 250,000 votes there.

At the time of Long's death, the administration was grooming Senator Bilbo of Mississippi, and outstanding rabble-rouser and vote-getter in southern rural regions, to take the stump against Long in the campaign.

"ONE SPEECH" HAMILTON—This nickname was applied to the Hon. William Gerard Hamilton (1729-1796), British M. P., for the only speech he is said to have pronounced in his entire political career. That speech, pronounced in the English parliament on November 13, 1775, lasted from 2 p.m. until 5 a.m. of the following morning, a total of 15 hours. It is described as the most masterly forensic and oratorical effort ever heard in the halls of parliament. Admiring contemporaries said that "like the Irish Rebellion, it suddenly broke out 80,000 strong, when no one in the least expected it." Hamilton was repeatedly reelected to the English and Irish parliaments, and eventually occupied the office of chancellor of the Irish exchequer. But his sensational maiden speech is said to have been his first and last.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

NEW YORK.—From a Columnist's Notebook: The climax of New York's fancy fall whirligig, it seemed to me, was the lavish opening of the House of Morgan (Helen's, not J. P.'s), as swank a salon as ever breezed into the Fifities. They came from social and financial turrets of the town to welcome piano-perched Helen back to night life and to crown her, indisputably, as the greatest queen of supper clubs since the late Texas Guinan.

If the fashionable to-do at the Horse and Auto Shows caused some personal grieving for your correspondent, the equine thrills and mechanical miracles of both pageants are not to blame for it. It was simply that I heard Major General Sir James H. MacBrien, head of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, admit between equestrian numbers, that 2700 mounties in the Great Northwest get around in automobiles and 300 cling to horses. Besides, they are not called mounties, but constables. Does the general realize how many Hollywood illusions he is shattering, how many two-reelers of the "They Always Get Their Man" stuff he's discredited? . . .

As a new and zealous member of the Stoopnocrats, a goofy but generous society, I eavesdropped on the club's first costume ball in the Biltmore. The affair was zany, madhouse to the finish and no wonder they called it the Destruction Brall when dispatching the invitations. But the evening's highlight was watching the socially prominent Mrs. S. Stanwood Menken pitching fast curves at the china smashing booth. That lady has Dizzy Dean speed at the crockery. The proceeds of the Stoopnocrats' soirees go to charity. . . .

Another mid-November nightmare lingering in my memory is the evening I spent watching rehearsals of the much-postponed musical chorus, "Jumbo." Of which the wildest moment was the lunge "Big Rosie," a ten-ton elephant, made at Jimmie "Schnozzola" Rurante. It turned out to be just an affectionate gesture.

One or two gentlemen recording Broadway's day-by-day activities have been mourning the passing of the Stage Door Johnny. Which seems to me a canard against the stagedoor loiterers, to judge by the crowds of males who wait backstage of "At Home Abroad," "Jubilee" and the other musicals, for the lovely ladies. The Stagedoor Johnnie will never go. Nor will the Stagedoor Janes, for the ladies who wait after the curtain's fallen, until their favorite actor emerges into the night air, outnumber the men, as a matter of fact. . . .

The old battle wages between the society debutantes and the poor working girls in the night clubs. Increasingly during the past few years, the blueblood daughters of Park avenue and other fashionable centers have usurped the jobs of young ladies who need the money by entertaining in the dinner and supper rooms. A competent singer with no pedigree has to withdraw, to let Miss Somebody warble. Naturally, night club proprietors are all for it. A society girl brings a following with her, with plenty of money.

The latest socialite to join the club ranks is Miss Alice Hathaway Burrage, of a prominent social family. The pity of it is, she sings excellently. . . .

Political Activities

WOOD THOMPSON TALKS AT CHATHAM

CHATHAM, Nov. 16.—(Special)—Wood Thompson of Monroe, independent candidate for state senator from the 29th district, spoke to a large audience here this afternoon in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Thompson in his speech said that he had "no personal interests to serve, no friends to favor, nor any enemies to punish."

"I am asking the support of the people solely on my own merits and my experience in public office, with the sole desire to serve the people of this district in the state senate."

The speaker pledged his efforts to the promotion of public education and the continuance of the free school books. "Taxes levied for public education but now paid into the general fund should be sacredly dedicated to and expended for this great cause," he said. Teachers should be selected by local authorities upon the basis of their ability and efficiency and not because of their political affiliation."

Mr. Thompson said he would do his utmost to obtain a law providing for old age pensions and another for exempting from taxation homes and farms up to the value of $2,000. He said he would endeavor to obtain legislation that would permit the government to take over unredeemed farms sold for taxes and throw the lands open for homesteading. He also promised to support labor in its just and proper demands for consideration.

HOME RULE CAMPAIGN STATEMENT IS GIVEN

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(Special)—R. N. Bauer, manager for the home rule state campaign, Saturday issued the following statement:

"The political record of the past week is important chiefly for the light it throws on the attitude of the Maestri-Allen candidates toward repeal of vicious laws which have sapped the foundations of free government in Louisiana. There has been widespread and insistent demand for repeal of these statutes. Gov. O. K. Allen answers this demand with the emphatic statement that not only will these laws not be repealed or modified, but 'they will be more stringently enforced.'

"Addressing a mixed audience of white and negro share-the-wealth illusionists at Ruston on November 9, Governor Allen is quoted in the press reports of the meeting as freely admitting that the laws giving the state machine control of the public school system were passed for that purpose and as stating that if the ticket sponsored by the state administration is elected, there will be no modification or repeal of the special session laws, but greater enforcement. Governor Allen is the titular head of the state machine and is chief spokesman for that organization—subject, of course, to the will of Mr. Maestri.

"There can no longer be any doubt of the intention of the 'Carry on the Waste Ticket' to bolt and rivet the shackles which a venal legislature has fastened on the independent men and women of Louisiana. What the machine candidate for governor says or doesn't say about the repeal or retention of the dictatorial laws is a matter of no consequence. What State Superintendent Harris says about depoliticalization of the public schools doesn't matter, either. Equally meaningless is the pledge that punitive and spite laws enacted to politically handcuff the city of New Orleans will be repealed. The offensive statutes are not going to be abrogated; they are to be given sterner application, according to the governor himself.

"Reports from every section of Louisiana disclose increasing opposition to the political overlordship of the chief representative of law-hating and law-defying elements of our population. The unconcealed dominance of 'Bob' Maestri in the civic affairs of Louisiana is repugnant to every sense of decency and manhood, and resentment is making itself felt everywhere in the state. The mothers of Louisiana are specially indignant over the blight that is sought to be put upon them. Nothing quite so bold as the dictation of a complete state ticket has ever been attempted by the forces of vice and lawlessness in Louisiana. The Maestri-Allen combination is so transparent a challenge to public morality and decency that political rebellion is manifest everywhere in the state.

"The sole hope of the people lies in the success of the home rule movement, and already they are giving it their approval and support in astonishing numbers. Only one meeting of the Cleveland Dear forces was held during the past week—at Shreveport, in the extreme northwestern part of the state. A crowded auditorium gave enthusiastic endorsement to the home rule ticket. It stamped with thunderous disapproval the policies and candidates of the state machine.

"From the home rule point of view, the state campaign thus far is all that could be desired."

NOE CAMPAIGNS IN JACKSON PARISH

Lieut.-Governor James A. Noe, who is a candidate for reelection as state senator from the 29th district, said Saturday that he has been conducting his campaign mainly in Jackson parish in the last few days.

"I have had fine reception wherever I have spoken," he said. "I have especially made the point clear that I am conducting my campaign as an administration candidate. The administration is supporting me 100 per cent and I am supporting the administration in the same way."

Mr. Noe, in his addresses, has dwelt on his record as a state senator.

"I have done more for Ouachita and Jackson parishes than any state senator ever did before," he said, "and based on that record I am asking the voters to send me back to the state senate to continue to serve them. I am fully in harmony with the program of the administration, both in the state and nationally, for a sharing of the wealth, as promulgated by our late leader Huey P. Long. I expect to continue my campaign in every part of the district."

Plans are being made for the opening of campaign headquarters in Monroe the early part of the week, it was announced.

MISSING MAN SOUGHT

Authorities at Meridian, Miss., have requested local police to be on the look-out for Sharman Caldwell, who is said to be suffering from a mental condition, and who has been missing from his home in Meridian for some days. Caldwell is described as being 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. At the time of his disappearance he was wearing corduroy trousers, blue zipper jacket and tan shoes, and was bareheaded.

What Real Charity Means

She came in and, with a sigh, tossed a charity drive receipt on the table. "Well, thank goodness, that's over for a year," she said, and really seemed to mean it. She'd done her bit for this year and now she needn't bother any more. . . . She has plenty and, to do her justice, she didn't mean quite all she said, for she's one of those who give to every hat that's passed.

She can be counted on for a donation of some sort, from a letter to a shut-in to a dollar for a destitute family. But it's always as impersonal as that. She really believes she is very charitable and would be indignant if anyone suggested she doesn't know the meaning of the word. Or that she makes a gesture and that is all. Yet she writes a letter or gives a dollar (or ten or twenty) with the same indifference, and regardless of what the letter says or the deeper meaning of any collection. Then she sits back, content with herself, and pulls her neighbor's character to pieces, gossips unkindly, judges harshly and unjustly, refuses the beggar a crust, scolds her maid for shabby clothes she can't help, and is generally blind to the full meaning of real charity.

Charity is defined in the dictionary: "A disposition to relieve the wants and distress of others; kindness; love; benevolence; liberality to the poor; a disposition to think of or judge others favorably; supreme love of God and universal good will to man." It says nothing about going through the motions and calling it a day, and emphasizes that charity embraces many things besides mere giving. In full, it denotes the warm thing that is concrete charity and belongs to every minute of everyday life. She understands it in its coldest, most abstract form, blind to the fact that mere personal giving never can make her really charitable.

She is not alone, by any means. She has many counterparts and they all enjoy selfishly the prestige and awe with which they are regarded by thoughtless persons who estimate only by the gestures they observe. Yet, often real charity is found amongst the very ones they so condescendingly "help"—the wonderful among the poor, who live, know and practice actual charity, which really costs them something personally, who actually share their crusts, give part of their last dime to someone needier, ease the sick, help the old—and the stumbling young—beam kindness and love upon all, aren't as quick to judge the wayward as to help them, don't push the fallen further down and in general show leniency, love of God and good will to men, personally. That's being really charitable, and its worth is uncountable.

THE PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW

The decision of the Texas court of criminal appeals that newspapers have a right to publish court trial proceedings is a welcome reaffirmation of the right to a free press.

A prison farm convict was tried for murder in a Texas court some time ago, and the judge ordered newspapers not to print the testimony that was given, fearing that it might interfere with getting juries for the trials of two of the prisoner's associates.

The newspapers printed the testimony anyway, and the judge had six reporters and editors cited for contempt. The decision of the higher court clears them.

It is possible to admit that the judge's fears of the effects of publicity on the later trials may have been justified, and at the same time to insist that this is overshadowed by a larger principle.

Once you make it possible for a judge to conduct a trial as a star-chamber affair, you open the way to all kinds of abuses.

The newspaper reporter in the courtroom is, ultimately, the public's chief protection.

POLITICS GONE TOO FAR

The high price the public pays for permitting selfish machine politics to handle its state governments is apt to get a good deal higher, now that the states are adopting new functions which affect the lives of citizens more closely.

An example is the complaint recently registered by the American Association for Social Security, to the effect that Ohio's old-age pension system has been "perverted into a political instrumentality" by the state administration, with an increase of incompetency and waste in direction of its affairs.

We can endure political misgovernment in affairs that do not touch us closely. An old-age pension is different. It needs the most honest and efficient management that can possibly be applied.

Politicians who tamper with such things are exacting far too high a price for their services.

A distinguished French observer of our habits and customs says Americans think only of profitable investments. Doing so, of course, necessitates a heavy drain on the imagination.

Mr. Hearst threatens to leave California on account of high taxes. A great many struggling citizens would like a tip-off as to where he intends to go.

More Truth Than Poetry

SOUNDING AN S. O. S.

(By a man who could not resist the offer of a pet alligator.)

Dear Bill, will you take back your 'gator?
For a while he proved quite a nice pet.
He was playful and cute
And a good little brute,
His smile I can never forget.
But his wiles shortly ceased to amuse us,
He lost all his earlier charm
When he walked up one night
And endeavored to bite
A hole in my trusty right arm.

Then he started to raiding the closets,
He ate up a side of spring lamb,
Which was hidden away,
And he managed next day
To devour a Virginia ham.
And when we locked all of the closets
He waddled away down the street,
Keeping out a keen eye
For some strange passer-by,
Whom he thought might be pleasant to eat.

Enough is enough, my dear fellow.
People simply won't come to our place;
When they knock at the door
He gives vent to a roar,
And they leave at a double quick pace.
The S. P. C. A. will not take him,
No rifle could pierce his thick skin,
Come as soon as you can,
Bring ten men and a van,
It's the deuce of a pickle we're in.

AN IDEA

Work Gains Rewards

By BRUCE CATTON

It is easy to do a great deal of hard, uphill work if the populace keeps standing around telling you what a great man you are while you are doing it. It is ever so much harder to keep plugging away without recognition, sticking on a thankless job whose importance hardly anyone but yourself ever realizes.

But some of the most important work in the world is done in precisely that way. And once in a while the chap who is doing it does come through, at last, to the recognition and the broadened opportunity which he deserves.

The daily newspapers have recently recorded two cases of this kind.

First there is the case of Hugh Hammond Bennett.

Mr. Bennett has been in the U. S. department of agriculture since 1905, or thereabouts. Away back in the early years of the present century he awoke to the menace of soil erosion and discovered that we were using our soil so carelessly that we would ultimately ruin the rich farm areas which have helped to make us a great and powerful nation.

So Mr. Bennett undertook a campaign to remedy matters. For many long years he toiled unheeded in the department of agriculture, striving to bring about a saner use of our land. He did it so long, without any recognition, that he must have felt sometimes as if his work were utterly useless.

But finally the government and the nation awoke and installed a soil erosion service with 21,000 employes and ample funds and publicity to carry the fight to victory. And the man who was put in charge of this vast job was Hugh Hammond Bennett.

Another case. Dr. William Hallock Park has been head of the laboratories of the New York City health department for something like 40 years. During that time he has saved heaven only knows how many human lives, kept epidemics from striking down children, and done more than a thousand ordinary men to extend the sum total of human happiness.

He has had the fearlessness characteristic of medical scientists; when a new infantile paralysis vaccine was devised, for instance, he boldly tested it on himself, to make sure that it had no ill effects.

All this time Dr. Park went practically unheard-of by the public at large. But the other day recognition came at last, with the award to him of the Roosevelt Medal for Service, tributes from distinguished citizens, and columns of eulogy in the newspapers. He had to wait until he was 72, but he finally got it.

These are just two sample cases—cases in which the "pluggers" who knew how to stick to thankless, unheeded jobs did at last come into their own.

The old battle wages between the society debutantes and the poor working girls in the night clubs. Increasingly during the past few years, the blueblood daughters of Park avenue and other fashionable centers have usurped the jobs of young ladies who need the money by entertaining in the dinner and supper rooms. A competent singer with no pedigree has to withdraw, to let Miss Somebody warble. Naturally, night club proprietors are all for it. A society girl brings a following with her, with plenty of money.

The latest socialite to join the club ranks is Miss Alice Hathaway Burrage, of a prominent social family. The pity of it is, she sings excellently. . . .

WOOD THOMPSON TALKS AT CHATHAM

CHATHAM, Nov. 16.—(Special)—Wood Thompson of Monroe, independent candidate for state senator from the 29th district, spoke to a large audience here this afternoon in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Thompson in his speech said that he had "no personal interests to serve, no friends to favor, nor any enemies to punish."

"I am asking the support of the people solely on my own merits and my experience in public office, with the sole desire to serve the people of this district in the state senate."

The speaker pledged his efforts to the promotion of public education and the continuance of the free school books. "Taxes levied for public education but now paid into the general fund should be sacredly dedicated to and expended for this great cause," he said. Teachers should be selected by local authorities upon the basis of their ability and efficiency and not because of their political affiliation."

Mr. Thompson said he would do his utmost to obtain a law providing for old age pensions and another for exempting from taxation homes and farms up to the value of $2,000. He said he would endeavor to obtain legislation that would permit the government to take over unredeemed farms sold for taxes and throw the lands open for homesteading. He also promised to support labor in its just and proper demands for consideration.

HOME RULE CAMPAIGN STATEMENT IS GIVEN

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(Special)—R. N. Bauer, manager for the home rule state campiagn, Saturday issued the following statement:

"The political record of the past week is important chiefly for the light it throws on the attitude of the Maestri-Allen candidates toward repeal of vicious laws which have sapped the foundations of free government in Louisiana. There has been widespread and insistent demand for repeal of these statutes. Gov. O. K. Allen answers this demand with the emphatic statement that not only will these laws not be repealed or modified, but 'they will be more stringently enforced.'

"Addressing a mixed audience of white and negro share-the-wealth illusionists at Ruston on November 9, Governor Allen is quoted in the press reports of the meeting as freely admitting that the laws giving the state machine control of the public school system were passed for that purpose and as stating that if the ticket sponsored by the state administration is elected, there will be no modification or repeal of the special session laws, but greater enforcement. Governor Allen is the titular head of the state machine and is chief spokesman for that organization—subject, of course, to the will of Mr. Maestri.

"There can no longer be any doubt of the intention of the 'Carry on the Waste Ticket' to bolt and rivet the shackles which a venal legislature has fastened on the independent men and women of Louisiana. What the machine candidate for governor says or doesn't say about the repeal or retention of the dictatorial laws is a matter of no consequence. What State Superintendent Harris says about depoliticalization of the public schools doesn't matter, either. Equally meaningless is the pledge that punitive and spite laws enacted to politically handcuff the city of New Orleans will be repealed. The offensive statutes are not going to be abrogated; they are to be given sterner application, according to the governor himself.

"Reports from every section of Louisiana disclose increasing opposition to the political overlordship of the chief representative of law-hating and law-defying elements of our population. The unconcealed dominance of 'Bob' Maestri in the civic affairs of Louisiana is repugnant to every sense of decency and manhood, and resentment is making itself felt everywhere in the state. The mothers of Louisiana are specially indignant over the blight that is sought to be put upon them. Nothing quite so bold as the dictation of a complete state ticket has ever been attempted by the forces of vice and lawlessness in Louisiana. The Maestri-Allen combination is so transparent a challenge to public morality and decency that political rebellion is manifest everywhere in the state.

"The sole hope of the people lies in the success of the home rule movement, and already they are giving it their approval and support in astonishing numbers. Only one meeting of the Cleveland Dear forces was held during the past week—at Shreveport, in the extreme northwestern part of the state. A crowded auditorium gave enthusiastic endorsement to the home rule ticket. It stamped with thunderous disapproval the policies and candidates of the state machine.

"From the home rule point of view, the state campaign thus far is all that could be desired."

NOE CAMPAIGNS IN JACKSON PARISH

Lieut.-Governor James A. Noe, who is a candidate for reelection as state senator from the 29th district, said Saturday that he has been conducting his campaign mainly in Jackson parish in the last few days.

"I have had fine reception wherever I have spoken," he said. "I have especially made the point clear that I am conducting my campaign as an administration candidate. The administration is supporting me 100 per cent and I am supporting the administration in the same way."

Mr. Noe, in his addresses, has dwelt on his record as a state senator.

"I have done more for Ouachita and Jackson parishes than any state senator ever did before," he said, "and based on that record I am asking the voters to send me back to the state senate to continue to serve them. I am fully in harmony with the program of the administration, both in the state and nationally, for a sharing of the wealth, as promulgated by our late leader Huey P. Long. I expect to continue my campaign in every part of the district."

Plans are being made for the opening of campaign headquarters in Monroe the early part of the week, it was announced.

MISSING MAN SOUGHT

Authorities at Meridian, Miss., have requested local police to be on the look-out for Sharman Caldwell, who is said to be suffering from a mental condition, and who has been missing from his home in Meridian for some days. Caldwell is described as being 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. At the time of his disappearance he was wearing corduroy trousers, blue zipper jacket and tan shoes, and was bareheaded.

COTTON FIGURES FOR STATE GIVEN

Total Production 516,113 Bales; Caddo Parish Leads With 40,326

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Cotton ginning in Louisiana up to November 1 had passed the half million bale mark, with Caddo parish leading with over forty thousand bales, it was reported here by the department of commerce today.

The exact figure was 516,113 bales, in increase of 59,843 bales over the same time last year, when the total was 456,270. Caddo parish's figure of 40,326 was an increase of over six thousand bales from that of 1934.

St. Landry parish ranked second in the state with a total of 32,952 bales, while Franklin was third with 30,819 bales ginned.

Other parishes which had ginned over ten thousand bales on November 1 are as follows: Acadia, 12,179; Avoyelles, 15,247; Bienville, 12,034; Bossier, 21,095; Claiborne, 13,806; DeSoto, 13,508; East Carroll, 18,396; Evangeline, 16,763; Lafayette, 15,865; Lincoln, 14,455; Madison, 11,227; Morehouse, 17,869; Natchitoches, 20,499; Ouachita, 12,048; Rapides, 15,061; Red River, 11,919; Richland, 25,267; Tensas, 17,808; Washington, 12,275; Webster, 10,574; and West Carroll, 12,702.

AMERICAN LEGION RALLY HELD AT HARRISONBURG

HARRISONBURG, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—An American Legion rally was held at the Harrisonburg High school here recently with state and district officials of the organization delivering addresses.

Among the speakers were Jack Sichterman, department commander, of Alexandria, E. L. Gladney, fifth district commander of Bastrop, F. M. Hendricks, department chairman of flag etiquette, of Alexandria, John Coates, fifth district adjutant, of Bastrop, Nathaniel Gallender, adjutant of the Jonesville post, H. C. Owen, commander of the Jonesboro post.

The Jonesville and Harrisonburg posts agreed to participate in a membership contest, the post winning the contest to be guests at a banquet at the expense of the losing post.

APPEALS FOR RED CROSS ENROLLMENT IN LASALLE

JENA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Mrs. B. T. Gallagher, chairman of the Red Cross roll call in LaSalle parish, has issued an appeal to the public to join the Red Cross in the annual enrollment. Mrs. Gallagher pointed out that the Red Cross gave assistance in the parish in 1935 when the crops of 500 farm families were destroyed by high water.

Local chairmen of the drive are: Mrs. Q. T. Hardtner, Urania; Mrs. M. L. Meador, Olla; Mrs. Benson, Tullos; Mrs. E. L. Miller, Jena; Mrs. Gallagher; Mayo Thompson, Francis Taylor, Trout-Good Pine.

Motor vehicle imports into the United States in 1934 totaled 589.

Solid Gold Spoon Handle Is Cut From Log At Mill

CLARKS, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—From the center of a log which was sawed last week at the mill of the Louisiana Central Lumber company at Clarks, a solid gold spoon handle of Spanish design was removed by Mill Foreman Ferree, where it was probably secreted more than a hundred years ago. But by whom and for what purpose can only be conjectured.

Persons who examined the gold handle declared the rest of the spoon had been cut off and carried to the conveyor from where it was carried to the burner.

The find opens a train of speculation as to the person who, more than a century ago, found it necessary to cut a hole in the young tree and hide which might have been part of the plunder of any of the bands of robbers and outlaws that roamed the northern section of the state at that time.

On the other hand, the manner in which the spoon was driven into the tree might have been a part of some dark necromantic rites performed by one of the secret sects that are said to have existed here. The spoon was driven by a spike, which apparently served as a marker and this fact might well indicate that the principle reason for hiding the spoon was that it should serve as a guide to buried treasure, of which, rumors claim, there is a goodly amount scattered throughout the state, the proceeds of robberies perpetuated by the gangs of bad men that roamed the southwest a hundred years ago.

The log in which the gold spoon handle was found came from the Ouachita river hills above Columbia on the west bank of the river. It was near the center of the log and at the bottom of an old square spike used many years ago in bridge construction.

Perhaps after all, it was the petty loot of some Indian or half breed, or even a negro slave who purloined it and hid it in the tree, driving the spike to serve as a marker for locating it. What happened to the individual who hid the spoon and failed to return for it, is a question that will never be answered.

LINCOLN PARISH WELL TO RESUME OPERATIONS

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—It is reliably reported that drilling operations on Arkansas-Fowler Well No. 1, located in section 19-17-4 west, Lincoln parish, will be resumed early next week following a shut-down of nearly a month.

Drilling was halted at 5,301 feet in order to set casing and to give the company officials time to clear up title discrepancy. Suit was filed in Ruston Friday clearing the title in question and drilling officials now say the way is open for the resumption of operations.

Approximately 2,000,000 motor vehicles were scrapped in the United States in 1934.

RECREATION MEET SLATED AT FARMERVILLE FRIDAY

MARION, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—A parish-wide recreation meeting will be held at the community auditorium at Farmerville next Friday night, it was announced here by Miss Marietta Nelson, home demonstration agent of Union parish. All recreation leaders of the parish are expected to be present.

A 4-H club council meeting also will be held at the courthouse Friday night. Officers will be elected for the coming year.

Piston-skirt pressures must be sufficiently uniform under all operating conditions not to break through the oil film and produce dry streaks in the cylinders.

Announcement

We are authorized to announce that Riley J. Wilson, of Ruston, is a candidate to succeed himself as Congressman from the Fifth Congressional District, subject to the Democratic Primary Election, to be held January 21, 1936.

A Baby in Your Home

SCIENTISTS now state that "complete unity in life depends upon sex harmony" and that the lack of it is the one greatest cause for unhappy marriages. Also that every woman "has the capacity for sex expression" but too often she is underdeveloped or suffering with general female disorders which rob her of her normal desires.

During an experience of more than 35 years specializing in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women, I developed a simple home treatment which has brought new hope, health and happiness to many thousands. I have seen hundreds upon hundreds who suffered from delayed, painful or irregular periods, lack of feeling and sterility due to functional weakness, become strong, healthy vigorous women enjoying the desires and activities of a normal life. Many who had been childless for years became proud and happy mothers. Husbands have written me the most glowing letters of gratitude and now I want every woman who is run-down or suffering from general female disorders, to learn about this splendid treatment and how she may use it in the privacy of her own home.

Get This Knowledge FREE

I have written two booklets in both of which I intimately discuss many important subjects relating to the female sex, that are vitally interesting to every woman. They are replete with valuable facts learned in my long experience during which time I have seen and successfully treated about every condition of female disorder known to medicine. They tell how you too may combat your troubles, as thousands of others have and often again enjoy the desires and activities of nature's most wonderful creation—a normal, healthy, fully developed, vigorous woman. I will gladly mail both booklets free, in plain wrapper to all who write me. If they help you, tell your friends. Just send name and address. Do this today as it may change your whole life.

Schools of Ouachita parish were in session Saturday in order to make up for the Thanksgiving vacation which will extend through Thursday and Friday, November 28 and 29.

W. C. Salley and Lee Ellis, local contractors, were Saturday awarded the contract for a new school building at Conehatta, Miss., for $17,195. The building will be of brick veneer and one story in height.

Dr. C. P. Gray, Sr., president of the Louisiana State Medical society, left, together with Mrs. Gray, for St. Louis Saturday to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Medical association to be held there on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. Many leading physicians will attend and a special banquet will be held for the presidents of various state associations in attendance. Dr. Gray has been honored by being selected to respond to the address of welcome at the presidents' banquet.

Miss Grace Ingledue, head of the speech department of Northeast Center of Louisiana State university, will attend the convention of the Louisiana State Teachers' association in Alexandria this week. She is scheduled to be one of the chief speakers on the program. Her talk will be on the subject of "Interpretation."

D. Ross Banister, senior of the law school of Louisiana State university is spending the week-end with his parents, Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. W. H. Banister of Monroe. Young Banister is completing an excellent scholastic record at the university. He is a member of the Gamma Eta Gamma fraternity, a national honor scholastic organization of law students.

A. P. Lassiter, WPA director for the fifth district was advised yesterday by Lyle Saxon of New Orleans, that the proposed writers' project will be started in this district shortly but that he will be unable to come to Monroe as originally planned. It had been the plan of Mr. Saxon to come to Monroe the past week to arrange the setup for the project but he said it would be delayed several days.

Miss Elvy Norsworthy and Miss Marie Thompson were named as delegates to the Southern Methodist Young People's conference at Memphis, Tenn., on December 27-31, from the Service union of Methodist churches of the Monroe district, at their meeting at Oak Ridge held the past week. The meeting was well attended by delegations from Monroe, West Monroe, Bonita, Bastrop, Collinston, Mer Rouge, Oak Ridge and Sterlington.

Mrs. Nancy Vinson, 75, of 501 Bres avenue, fell at her home and fractured her shoulder and pelvis bone Saturday morning. She was removed to St. Francis sanitarium where her condition was regarded as serious.

Mrs. L. N. Larche is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Sanders at Helena, Ark., and will be gone for two weeks.

you understand Carlyle's exclamation:

"Descended from gorillas! Then where is the place for a creator? Man is only a little higher than the tadpoles."

According to an intimate friend, Carlyle "spoke as if Darwin wished to rob or to insult him." Darwin, however, never said that man descends from any gorilla, or from those pitiful little champanzees either.

There is nothing the matter with the United States that good government will not cure.

you understand Carlyle's exclamation:

"Descended from gorillas! Then where is the place for a creator? Man is only a little higher than the tadpoles."

According to an intimate friend, Carlyle "spoke as if Darwin wished to rob or to insult him." Darwin, however, never said that man descends from any gorilla, or from those pitiful little champanzees either.

HITLER'S latest regulations according to Universal Service, say that "Jews with not more than two Jewish grandparents may retain German citizenship."

Perhaps that is a concession to Christianity, the founder of Christianity, the founder of Christianity certainly had two Jewish grandparents and no "Aryan blood relations that anybody ever heard of.

YESTERDAY was Nicholas M. Schenck's birthday, affording an opportunity to quote Mr. Schenck's saying at the beginning of the depression: "There is nothing the matter with the moving picture industry that good moving pictures will not cure."

What applies to moving pictures applies to all business and the depression itself.

There is nothing the matter with the United States that good government will not cure.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE Secretary of State Hull and Premier McKenzie King of Canada, signed a reciprocal treaty reducing tariffs between the two countries. Nobody knows details, but every body hopes for the best. Something was needed. In 1929 this country sold $900,000,000 worth of goods to Canada. Since then our exports to Canada have dropped to $300,000,000, a loss of $600,000,000.

SALINE PLANNING BIG CELEBRATION

Installation Of New Light System Will Be Observed There

Plans are now virtually completed for the celebration at Saline next Saturday when electric light and power from the Louisiana Power and Light company will be turned on for the first time in that town, A. O. Evans, division manager here, said yesterday. Mr. Evans expects that from 3,000 to 5,000 people will attend, a large delegation being expected from Monroe and West Monroe.

Not only will Saline be served with electric service but also the communities of Fryeburg, Lawhon, Jamestown, Castro, Alberta, Roytown and Ashland. The day's events will center at Saline high school auditorium, beginning at 9 a.m., and ending at 5 p.m.

Committees handling the event are: H. E. Suddeth, Eugene Rogers, E. M. Weaver, J. R. Adsit, Irene Lucky and Aubyn Lewis.

Among the entertainment features of the day will be a basketball tournament, with teams from every town on the new electric line. There will be a free moving picture show entitled, "Light for Living," and musical numbers by all schools located on the line.

During the day there will be a number of addresses by prominent men of the state, including Pierce Cline, president of Centenary college; Paul McBride, president of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce; Harvey C. Couch, president of the Louisiana Power and Light company, and others.

Visitors are asked to bring their baskets for a picnic lunch at noon or they can purchase their dinners on the grounds.

CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
Jackson at Wood Street
W. C. Scott, Pastor

Sunday marks the close of the conference year and the close of four years of service by our pastor. In an effort to have him returned to us for a fifth year, the official board adopted unanimously resolutions to that effect, which were sent to the bishop. We hope you will show your approval by attending church Sunday, thereby expressing your appreciation of the four years of service. "The Drooping Wing" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning. Evening services begin at 7:45. Conference convenes in New Orleans on the evening of the 20th. Committees are working hard to collect unpaid pledges and benevolences that we might be able to report in full all conference claims. We are depending on every member to cooperate. Church school begins at 9:30 a.m., in the children's division and 9:45 a.m. in all other departments. Epworth league meets on Sunday evening at 6:30 in the church annex. The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the church on Tuesday for a program meeting. There will be no mid-week prayer service on Wednesday, as the pastor will be in attendance at conference.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH
Stone Avenue and South Third Street
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

"Rest your spirit upon the spirit of God, and you will be strong and peaceful." At 9:45 a.m., we begin Sunday school, and there is a class for everyone. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p.m., Carter Martin, leader of meeting. Evening service at 7:30. Circle meetings as usual Tuesday afternoon. Choir practice Tuesday evening at 7:30. Mid-week Bible study and prayer service Thursday evening at 7:30. We are studying the Book of Revelation, one chapter each week. Come and bring your Bible. Get acquainted with your Bible, and thus learn of God's will concerning you.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
Corner of Gordon and Dixie

Church school 7:45 a.m. Morning service 11 o'clock. "The Present Challenge of Temperance" will be discussed by the pastor at the morning hour. The young people will meet at 6:30 p.m. Evening worship 7:30 p.m. The subject is "Christ's Great Exhortation."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Ernest Holloway, Pastor
Grammont at Catalpa

The Sabbath school continues to increase in numbers. Were you present last Sabbath in the class which has been organized for your religious training and spiritual uplift? If you will enroll with your co-religionists, you will not only boost the number present but you will stimulate and influence others to attend. Sunday morning our thoughts will be directed to the statement of Simon Peter, Acts 3:15, where he calls Jesus "The Pioneer of Life." Sunday evening we shall consider the "Mastery of Fear," aroused by death and the world to come. The Synod of Louisiana convenes Tuesday evening, November 19, at 7:30 o'clock, in Alexandria. The local congregation will be represented by Mr. J. Arthur Smith and pastor. The mid-week prayer worship will be conducted by Mr. Mark Stroud. Tuesday afternoon, November 19, at 2 o'clock, the first in a series of five studies on "The Holy Spirit" will be given. This meditation should prove interesting and educational. The young people of the church have their vespers at 6:30 o'clock. You are invited to worship with us. The door of our church is open to all people and we covet the active interest and enlistment of folk who are Presbyterian inclined.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Corner St. John and Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
L. A. Stulce, Educational Director

Sunday school begins promptly at 9:45 a. m., in all departments. Adult No. 1 and adult No. 2 departments will meet together for assembly in the new educational building ground floor. Adequate provision has been made for all the classes and we are expecting a record attendance. The pastor's subject for the 11 o'clock hour is "The Six Days of Restoration and Recreation," which is a continuation of the series of Sunday mornin messages on Genesis. A special number by the choir will be "When the Golden Leaves Are Falling," Havens, the solo by Mrs. Ruth Rasbury. The sermon topic for the evening service, "The Sword of Almighty God vs. the Penknife of a Puny King." The choir will sing "Softly and Tenderly," Will L. Thompson, Mrs. A. R. Doughty taking the solo part. Baptismal service will follow the church service. B. T. U. meets at 6:15 p. m.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

Open house was held last Thursday evening in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Cantrell, 3806 Lee avenue, from two until ten. A good time was reported by all and delicious punch was served to the many church folk and friends who attended. Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Worship service 11 a. m. The subject for the morning is "The Triumphant Church," B. T. U., 6:30. Evening worship at 7:30. The pastor will speak on "A Man's Value" at this hour. Choir practice every Wednesday night immediately after prayer meeting. Our capable leader, Mr. Foster, is doing splendid work along this line and every one with a musical voice is asked to come help in this part of the Lord's work. The church and pastor invites all citizens of this district to worship with us at both services on this Lord's day.

CLARK SPRINGS BAPTIST CHURCH
(Old Cadeville)
W. E. James, Pastor

The Clark Springs Choral club, which was organized a few weeks ago, will hold its meetings each Friday night before the first and third Sunday of each month. Everyone who is interested in singing, is requested to meet with them at the church. Sunday will be the regular meeting day at the Clark Springs Baptist church. Sunday school, under the direction of Tom Landrum, superintendent, meets each Sunday at 10 a. m. Everyone is invited to attend. At 11 a. m. Sunday, the pastor will bring a message on "The Consolation which is in Christ"; and at the 7 p. m. services, the subject will be "The Six Woes of Isiah." Everyone is invited to attend both services.

M'CLENDON BAPTIST CHURCH
Natchitoches Road
W. E. James, Pastor

O. E. Pettit, superintendent of the Sunday school and director of the B. T. U., was greatly encouraged by the fine spirit and attendance last Sunday at both the Sunday school and B. T. U. He hopes to see the interest kept up and the classes generally enlarged. Sunday school and B. T. U. will be at 10 a. m. and 6:30 p. m., respectively. Quite a number have expressed their interest, and increasing attendance is looked for by those who attend the Thursday night prayer service, at which time the pastor is expounding the book of Daniel. The fourth chapter will be the topic for next Thursday night at 7 p. m. The Brotherhood meets each Tuesday night at 7 p. m., with W. M. Evans in charge.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
South Second and Apple Streets

"But Jesus said unto him. No man having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God," Luke 9:62. Worship each Lord's day 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Young People's Bible drill 6:30 p. m. Ladies' Bible class Tuesday 2:30 p. m. Mid-week Bible study and prayer Wednesday 7:30 p. m. Each member of the church should feel great responsibility in this opportunity of obeying the great commission, as given by our Lord; but his promises are given only to the faithful. The Sunday school rooms are open all day Friday to those ladies of the church who can give time to the work which is now in progress. "But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition, but of them that believe to the saving of the soul." Heb. 10:39.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Corner Auburn and N. Second Street

Sunday services 11 a.m., Sunday school 9:30 a.m., Wednesday evening testimony meetings 8 o'clock. Reading room 1108 Ouachita National Bank building, open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room. "Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 17, 1935. Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord knoweth the days of the upright; and their inheritance shall be for ever. Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of the man is peace." (Ps. 37). The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In science, man's immortality depends upon that of God, good and follows as a necessary consequence of the immortality of good." (p. 81).

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth and Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Sunday, November 17th, is the day suggested by the national council of the Episcopal church as the day for "the every-member canvass." Accordingly, every member of Grace church will be given an opportunity to express his love and loyalty to Jesus Christ and his church. Systematic, regular giving was early taught by the Christian church. It is as much a part of the Christian's religion as his prayers. Almsgiving is a means of grace, being one of the three cardinal duties of a Christian, namely prayer, fasting and almsgiving. Many Christians might be humbled by comparing what they give to the church and its missions with the cost of recreation, cosmetics, tobacco, to name only these. Many Christians ought to rethink this whole question and ask themselves: What is God's will for my expenditures? The only service on Sunday is the Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m. The entire membership of Grace church is expected to be present to receive Holy Communion and place their pledge card on the offertory plate. The church school will meet at the usual hour, 9:30 a.m. All members are urged to be present. The rector will journey to St. David's, Rayville, and hold service at 11 o'clock. Please not change in hour of service from 4:30 p.m. Morning prayer will be said and the rector will preach. Let every member consider it a duty as well as a privilege to attend this service. The public is invited to attend all services in St. David's, Rayville. The church is always open. Come in, rest and pray.

SINGING CONVENTION IS PLANNED AT BALL

TIOGA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Louisiana Music club singing convention will meet for an all-day singing at Ball, La., in the Methodist church Sunday.

Singers from throughout the state are expected to be present, and there will be guest singers from Arkansas and Texas to entertain the large crowd that is expected to attend.

The public is invited to come and bring dinner and spend the day. The program will begin promptly at 10 a.m. Sunday, with the house being called to order by the president, Mr. Verna F. Waters. The program will then be turned over to Henry G. Riser, state director, and Todd Hollingsworth, chairman of the program committee, and Charles M. McCartney, secretary of the union.

NEW MARSHALS

BERNICE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Ed Hollis and George Wise have taken over the positions of day and night marshals, respectively, of Bernice. The former replaces L. D. Carroll and the latter replaces J. Knoles. The former marshals resigned.

ACCUSED OF THEFT

James Owens, negro, living on the Millhaven road, was arrested yesterday by the police and charged with being in possession of a bicycle said to belong to Dave Silverstein. Mr. Silverstein told officers that this is the second time Owens had stolen the bicycle.

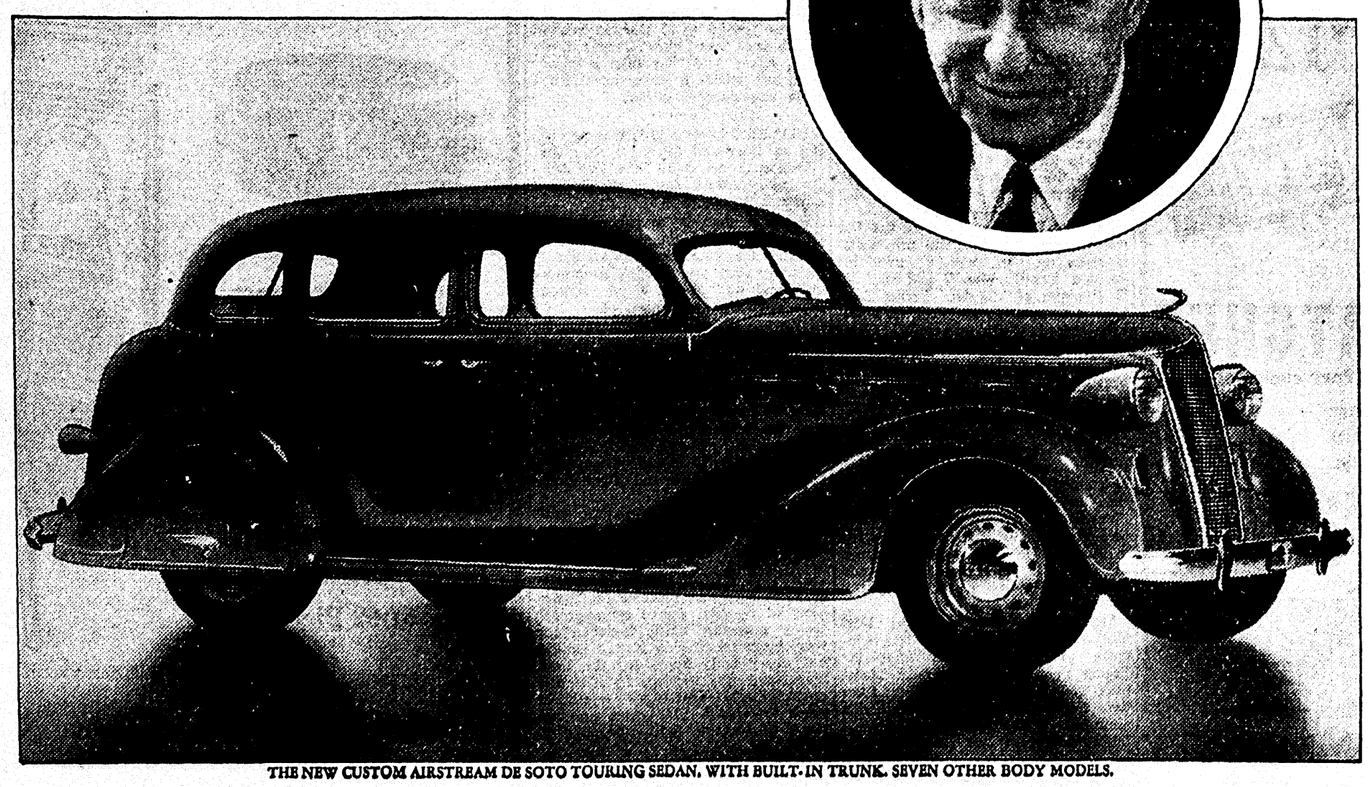
An Important Statement by Walter P. Chrysler

In which he Explains the Plan and Purpose Behind the New Lower-Priced De Soto for 1936 . . Companion Car to the New De Soto Airflow III



THE NEW CUSTOM AIRSTREAM DE SOTO TOURING SEDAN, WITH BUILT-IN TRUNK. SEVEN OTHER BODY MODELS.

TODAY WE ARE INTRODUCING the new De Soto for 1936. I believe you will be interested in the engineering thinking that went into this car—the planning behind it and how we visualized its market.

As you know, times are getting better. Today people are again thinking of automobiles in terms of style and beauty and excellence of appointments—not only transportation.

As buying power improves and people get more money . . . it is logical that they will want more style, additional room and greater beauty than the very lowest-priced cars have offered.

What we could plainly see for De Soto this year was a market of thousands of buyers who were eager to own a STYLE CAR . . . and could afford it, due to this upturn in business.

So we created for them a brand new De Soto—that is actually a custom-built car—to sell for only a few dollars more than the very lowest-priced automobiles made today.

In the last five years, we have learned how to build cars better . . . and we found ways to bring the luxury and appointments of two and three-thousand-dollar automobiles into this medium-price bracket.

I can say to you sincerely that this new De Soto has as many CUSTOM FEATURES as any car built in the finest custom-body shop.

THE NEW DE SOTO INTERIORS are most beautiful. The outside styling, you can see for yourself, is distinctive and pleasing. People who have seen this new De Soto have gone out of their way to tell me that they believe it will be the best-looking, most distinctive car of 1936.

In addition, it is a marvelous performing automobile. I can tell you, from hundreds of miles of personal experience, that it is a real pleasure to drive. It steers and handles easily, stops quickly, and the engine is one of the most powerful in its price class.

Furthermore, tests have shown that the new Gas-Saver Transmission is capable of giving the remarkable economy of 25 miles per gallon.

I want you to see this new car. It will be displayed this week at Automobile Shows all over America, and it is also being demonstrated by De Soto dealers throughout the country.

After you have seen it, write me your frank opinion of the car. The Chrysler Corporation is very proud to present this new De Soto, and I feel sure you will agree with me that it is destined to be an outstanding success.

NEW 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN

Ask for the new Official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Company 6% Time Payment Plan. You can figure it out for yourself:

1 Start with your unpaid balance.
2 Then add insurance cost . . . at conference rates.
3 Then multiply by 6%—for a 12-month plan. One-half of one per cent per month for period more or less than 12 months.

In some states a small legal documentary fee is required.
NO OTHER CHARGES.

Installation Of New Light System Will Be Observed There

Plans are now virtually completed for the celebration at Saline next Saturday when electric light and power from the Louisiana Power and Light company will be turned on for the first time in that town, A. O. Evans, division manager here, said yesterday. Mr. Evans expects that from 3,000 to 5,000 people will attend, a large delegation being expected from Monroe and West Monroe.

Not only will Saline be served with electric service but also the communities of Fryeburg, Lawhon, Jamestown, Castro, Alberta, Roytown and Ashland. The day's events will center at Saline high school auditorium, beginning at 9 a.m., and ending at 5 p.m.

Committees handling the event are: H. E. Suddeth, Eugene Rogers, E. M. Weaver, J. R. Adsit, Irene Lucky and Aubyn Lewis.

Among the entertainment features of the day will be a basketball tournament, with teams from every town on the new electric line. There will be a free moving picture show entitled, "Light for Living," and musical numbers by all schools located on the line.

During the day there will be a number of addresses by prominent men of the state, including Pierce Cline, president of Centenary college; Paul McBride, president of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce; Harvey C. Couch, president of the Louisiana Power and Light company, and others.

Visitors are asked to bring their baskets for a picnic lunch at noon or they can purchase their dinners on the grounds.

Natchitoches Road
W. E. James, Pastor

O. E. Pettit, superintendent of the Sunday school and director of the B. T. U., was greatly encouraged by the fine spirit and attendance last Sunday at both the Sunday school and B. T. U. He hopes to see the interest kept up and the classes generally enlarged. Sunday school and B. T. U. will be at 10 a. m. and 6:30 p. m., respectively. Quite a number have expressed their interest, and increasing attendance is looked for by those who attend the Thursday night prayer service, at which time the pastor is expounding the book of Daniel. The fourth chapter will be the topic for next Thursday night at 7 p. m. The Brotherhood meets each Tuesday night at 7 p. m., with W. M. Evans in charge.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
South Second and Apple Streets

"But Jesus said unto him. No man having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God." Luke 9:62. Worship each Lord's day 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Young People's Bible drill 6:30 p. m. Ladies' Bible class Tuesday 2:30 p. m. Midweek Bible study and prayer Wednesday 7:30 p. m. Each member of the church should feel great responsibility in this opportunity of obeying the great commission, as given by our Lord; but his promises are given only to the faithful. The Sunday school rooms are open all day Friday to those ladies of the church who can give time to the work which is now in progress. "But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition, but of them that believe to the saving of the soul." Heb. 10:39.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas and Richmond Streets
G. M. Akin, Pastor

Sunday Bible school will convene at 9:45 a. m., with Mr. S. P. Quiggley, superintendent, in charge. Mrs. G. M. Akin will preach the morning sermon. The Women's Missionary society will render an interesting program at the evening hour for worship. Mrs. Akin, the president, will have charge. The young people's societies will meet at their regular times and places. Mrs. S. P. Quiggley and Miss Madge Kelly will have charge.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Corner Auburn and N. Second Street

Sunday services 11 a.m., Sunday school 9:30 a.m., Wednesday evening testimony meetings 8 o'clock. Reading room 1108 Ouachita National Bank building, open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room. "Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 17, 1935. Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord knoweth the days of the upright; and their inheritance shall be for ever. Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of the man is peace." (Ps. 37). The lesson sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In science, man's immortality depends upon that of God, good and follows as a necessary consequence of the immortality of good." (p. 81).

GRACE CHURCH
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Sunday, November 17th, is the day suggested by the national council of the Episcopal church as the day for "the every-member canvass." Accordingly, every member of Grace church will be given an opportunity to express his love and loyalty to Jesus Christ and his church. Systematic, regular giving was early taught by the Christian church. It is as much a part of the Christian's religion as his prayers. Almsgiving is a means of grace, being one of the three cardinal duties of a Christian, namely prayer, fasting and almsgiving. Many Christians might be humbled by comparing what they give to the church and its missions with the cost of recreation, cosmetics, tobacco, to name only these. Many Christians ought to rethink this whole question and ask themselves: What is God's will for my expenditures? The only service on Sunday is the Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m. The entire membership of Grace church is expected to be present to receive Holy Communion and place their pledge card on the offertory plate. The church school will meet at the usual hour, 9:30 a.m. All members are urged to be present. The rector will journey to St. David's, Rayville, and hold service at 11 o'clock. Please not change in hour of service from 4:30 p.m. Morning prayer will be said and the rector will preach. Let every member consider it a duty as well as a privilege to attend this service. The public is invited to attend all services in St. David's, Rayville. The church is always open. Come in, rest and pray.

SINGING CONVENTION IS PLANNED AT BALL

TIOGA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Louisiana Music club singing convention will meet for an all-day singing at Ball, La., in the Methodist church Sunday.

Singers from throughout the state are expected to be present, and there will be guest singers from Arkansas and Texas to entertain the large crowd that is expected to attend.

The public is invited to come and bring dinner and spend the day. The program will begin promptly at 10 a.m. Sunday, with the house being called to order by the president, Mr. Verna F. Waters. The program will then be turned over to Henry G. Riser, state director, and Todd Hollingsworth, chairman of the program committee, and Charles M. McCartney, secretary of the union.

NEW MARSHALS

BERNICE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Ed Hollis and George Wise have taken over the positions of day and night marshals, respectively, of Bernice. The former replaces L. D. Carroll and the latter replaces J. Knoles. The former marshals resigned.

ACCUSED OF THEFT

James Owens, negro, living on the Millhaven road, was arrested yesterday by the police and charged with being in possession of a bicycle said to belong to Dave Silverstein. Mr. Silverstein told officers that this is the second time Owens had stolen the bicycle.

ENJOY OUTING

HARRISONBURG, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Future Farmers of America of the Harrisonburg High school enjoyed an outing at Basin creek recently. A fish fry and picnic lunch were enjoyed. The youths were in the charge of their sponsor, Joe Wedgeworth.

An Important Statement by Walter P. Chrysler

In which he Explains the Plan and Purpose Behind the New Lower-Priced De Soto for 1936.. Companion Car to the New De Soto Airflow III

THE NEW CUSTOM AIRSTREAM DE SOTO TOURING SEDAN. WITH BUILT-IN TRUNK. SEVEN OTHER BODY MODELS.

TODAY WE ARE INTRODUCING the new De Soto for 1936. I believe you will be interested in the engineering thinking that went into this car—the planning behind it and how we visualized its market.

As you know, times are getting better. Today people are again thinking of automobiles in terms of style and beauty and excellence of appointments—not only transportation.

As buying power improves and people get more money . . . it is logical that they will want more style, additional room and greater beauty than the very lowest-priced cars have offered.

What we could plainly see for De Soto this year was a market of thousands of buyers who were eager to own a STYLE CAR . . . and could afford it, due to this upturn in business.

So we created for them a brand new De Soto—that is actually a custom-built car—to sell for only a few dollars more than the very lowest-priced automobiles made today.

In the last five years, we have learned how to build cars better . . . and we found ways to bring the luxury and appointments of two and three-thousand-dollar automobiles into this medium-price bracket.

I can say to you sincerely that this new De Soto has as many CUSTOM FEATURES as any car built in the finest custom-body shop.

THE NEW DE SOTO INTERIORS are most beautiful. The outside styling, you can see for yourself, is distinctive and pleasing. People who have seen this new De Soto have gone out of their way to tell me that they believe it will be the best-looking, most distinctive car of 1936.

In addition, it is a marvelous performing automobile. I can tell you, from hundreds of miles of personal experience, that it is a real pleasure to drive. It steers and handles easily, stops quickly, and the engine is one of the most powerful in its price class.

Furthermore, tests have shown that the new Gas-Saver Transmission is capable of giving the remarkable economy of 25 miles per gallon.

I want you to see this new car. It will be displayed this week at Automobile Shows all over America, and it is also being demonstrated by De Soto dealers throughout the country.

After you have seen it, write me your frank opinion of the car. The Chrysler Corporation is very proud to present this new De Soto, and I feel sure you will agree with me that it is destined to be an outstanding success.

NEW 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN

Ask for the new Official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Company 6% Time Payment Plan. You can figure it out for yourself:

1 Start with your unpaid balance.
2 Then add insurance cost . . . at conference rates.
3 Then multiply by 6%—for a 12-month plan. One-half of one per cent per month for period more or less than 12 months.

In some states a small legal documentary fee is required.
NO OTHER CHARGES.

BLOW TO CHINESE THOUGHT AVERTED

Authorities Ordered To Put Down Activities For Independence

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Chinese sources said today a "death blow" has been given the movement to establish a separate government in north China, independent of Nanking.

Gen. Han Fu-Chu, governor of Shantung province, these sources stated, ordered provincial authorities to put down any activities for independence.

In Hopei province, however, supporters of autonomy continued their work and appealed to civic organization for support.

National government leaders in Nanking were represented as feeling the move for autonomy is premature and that it could not be successful unless backed by Japanese troops.

Tension in Shanghai, which has been high since a Japanese marine was slain on the street a week ago, was reduced today by the withdrawal of patrols of armed Japanese marines from the Hongkew area, where the killing took place.

Consequently, the evacuation of Chinese from native sections to the security of the international settlement almost stopped. Thousands had fled their homes.

A force of Chinese troops, n dispatch from Peiping said, is on the march in Hopei province while Japanese troops are concentrating near the great wall. Japanese and Chinese leaders are conferring in Peiping.

HOME SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BY FIRE IN WEST MONROE

The residence of W. B. Hancock, 113 Plum street, West Monroe, was slightly damaged yesterday afternoon by fire which firemen of that city said started from a hot water heater.

The fire burned through a wall to a clothes closet and damaged clothing.

ALL BUT THE AUTO ITSELF IS MADE TO DISAPPEAR!

Talk about your streamlined automobiles, America still has to go some to equal the radical innovations that appeared on some of the European cars at the Paris automobile show. Here, for instance, is a Peugeot not only with a body that flares off at an acute angle, but with a top that can be concealed within the rear end, and headlights that are hidden behind the radiator grill.

OBITUARY

H. S. BROWN

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 6.—(Special)—Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the family residence for H. S. Brown, 72, with Rev. R. V. Fulton officiating.

He died at 11:55 a.m. Thursday, after a lingering illness.

He is survived by his wife and six children, Walter Henry and Gordon Brown, Mrs. J. E. Sims, Mrs. J. Edwards and Miss Genie Brown.

Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery, five miles south of Arcadia.

REPORTS ROBBERY

Robert Lee Smith, negro, living at Eleventh and Grammont streets, reported that he was held up by two white men yesterday evening, and robbed of $13 in cash.

Twenty-six per cent of 1934 used car sales were 1929 models.

GOOD FELLOWS FUND IS BEGUN

season. It also provided food for the families where children might otherwise have been without nourishment during the Christmas season.

This year the need will be greater than before, because many of the families who were on relief a year ago are not so favorably situated this year. They must be cared for.

On the other hand, a larger number of persons are being employed than last year, because conditions are better. These will want to contribute to the Good Fellows fund this year, remembering their experiences during the depression, and having a deeper appreciation than ever before of the position those find themselves in who have no income.

The Good Fellows fund is open now. You may send your contributions by mail or deliver them to the News-Star and World, 119 North Second street, Monroe. Every contribution, no matter how small, will be acknowledged in the columns of these newspapers, unless you request otherwise.

TO HOLD REVIVAL

JENA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Rev. I. A. Patton, of West Monroe, will conduct a 15-day revival meeting at the Jena Methodist Protestant church, beginning Sunday. Reverend Patton will be assisted by Rev. C. A. Calhoun. The Cook trio, of Hope, Ark., will sing in the musical program of the revival.

MARRIAGES

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16.—(Special)—James Surles, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Surles, of Lake Providence, and Miss Gertrude Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heller, of Kilgore, Texas, were married Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage in Lake Village, Ark. The couple, after a honeymoon trip, will reside on the new Transylvania plantation, south of Lake Providence.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Albert Surles, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Surles, and Miss Drusilla Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Belle Phillips, of Lake Providence, were united in marriage in a ceremony performed by Rev. George Nelson, pastor of the Baptist church here, in the Baptist parsonage. After a short honeymoon the couple will reside here, where Mr. Surles is engaged in the radio business.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16.—(Special)—Russell Lutrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lutrick, and Miss Flora Bunyard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bunyard, were united in marriage here.

Rev. George A. Nelson, pastor of the Baptist church, conducted the service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Dinger, in Bernard street, at 1 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Lutrick will make their home in Lake Providence.

SHED BURNS

A frame storage shed owned by D. Solomon and located at the rear of 106 Sixth street was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Firemen said the flames started from a trash fire.

HYPOLITE LABAUM DIES LAST NIGHT

Descendant Of Ouachita Post Commandant Expires At Hospital

Hypolite LaBaum, 64, native of Monroe and a direct descendant of Commandant de la Baum who succeeded Don Juan Filhiol in charge of the Ouachita post in the early years of the history of the parish, died at 10:15 o'clock last night at a local hospital. His health had not been good for some years.

He was at one time connected with the Monroe fire department.

Surviving relatives are two daughters, Mrs. Milton Coverdale and Mrs. Frank Cline, both of Monroe.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Coverdale residence, 716 St. John street. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. Interment will be made in the Riverview Burial park.

Pallbearers will be J. M. Myatt, Jack Hayes, Tom Dupree, H. E. Roberts, Robert Cowden and O. J. Horn.

gave his residence as London, and Julius Shaier of New York.

The quartet has recently been touring Europe, generally receiving praise from musical critics.

They had already appeared in two or three auditions organized by local lovers of chamber music.

Acquaintances of the musicians said the latter were much "chagrined" at the skirmish with the blackshirts, so much so they didn't even wish to have it reported to the police.

They said the assault upon the quartet was evidently the result of a "misunderstanding."

So far as could be learned no protest had been lodged at the American consulate.

ments to qualify for the five cent insurance reduction.

The towns which will benefit from the classes and which are to send representatives to attend the drills here next year include Rayville, Winnsboro, Jonesboro, Lake Providence, Oak Grove, Delhi, Tallulah, Mangham, Ferriday, Vidalia, Gilbert, Columbia, Farmerville, Bastrop, Oak Ridge and Mer Rouge.

Monroe will be the center from which the classes will be conducted. Ladder and hose drill and other activities are included. The classes will be held for ten day periods and those attending must receive at least 200 points based upon classification by the drill master. The successful entrants will in turn be qualified to act as drill masters and instruct the members of their respective fire departments.

BLOW TO CHINESE THOUGHT AVERTED

Authorities Ordered To Put Down Activities For Independence

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Chinese sources said today a "death blow" has been given the movement to establish a separate government in north China, independent of Nanking.

Gen. Han Fu-Chu, governor of Shantung province, these sources stated, ordered provincial authorities to put down any activities for independence.

In Hopei province, however, supporters of autonomy continued their work and appealed to civic organization for support.

National government leaders in Nanking were represented as feeling the move for autonomy is premature and that it could not be successful unless backed by Japanese troops.

Tension in Shanghai, which has been high since a Japanese marine was slain on the street a week ago, was reduced today by the withdrawal of patrols of armed Japanese marines from the Hongkew area, where the killing took place.

Consequently, the evacuation of Chinese from native sections to the security of the international settlement almost stopped. Thousands had fled their homes.

A force of Chinese troops, a dispatch from Peiping said, is on the march in Hopei province while Japanese troops are concentrating near the great wall. Japanese and Chinese leaders are conferring in Peiping.

HOME SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BY FIRE IN WEST MONROE

The residence of W. B. Hancock, 113 Plum street, West Monroe, was slightly damaged yesterday afternoon by fire which firemen of that city said started from a hot water heater.

The fire burned through a wall to a clothes closet and damaged clothing.

ALL BUT THE AUTO ITSELF IS MADE TO DISAPPEAR!

Talk about your streamlined automobiles, America still has to go some to equal the radical innovations that appeared on some of the European cars at the Paris automobile show. Here, for instance, is a Peugeot not only with a body that flares off at an acute angle, but with a top that can be concealed within the rear end, and headlights that are hidden behind the radiator grill.

OBITUARY

H. S. BROWN

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 6.—(Special)—Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the family residence for H. S. Brown, 72, with Rev. R. V. Fulton officiating.

He died at 11:55 a.m. Thursday, after a lingering illness.

He is survived by his wife and six children, Walter, Henry and Gordon Brown, Mrs. J. E. Sims, Mrs. J. Edwards and Miss Genie Brown.

Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery, five miles south of Arcadia.

REPORTS ROBBERY

Robert Lee Smith, negro, living at Eleventh and Grammont streets, reported that he was held up by two white men yesterday evening, and robbed of $13 in cash.

Twenty-six per cent of 1934 used car sales were 1929 models.

season. It also provided food for the families where children might otherwise have been without nourishment during the Christmas season.

This year the need will be greater than before, because many of the families who were on relief a year ago are not so favorably situated this year. They must be cared for.

On the other hand, a larger number of persons are being employed than last year, because conditions are better. These will want to contribute to the Good Fellows fund this year, remembering their experiences during the depression, and having a deeper appreciation than ever before of the position those find themselves in who have no income.

The Good Fellows fund is open now. You may send your contributions by mail or deliver them to the News-Star and World, 119 North Second street, Monroe. Every contribution, no matter how small, will be acknowledged in the columns of these newspapers, unless you request otherwise.

TO HOLD REVIVAL

JENA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Rev. I. A. Patton, of West Monroe, will conduct a 15-day revival meeting at the Jena Methodist Protestant church, beginning Sunday. Reverend Patton will be assisted by Rev. C. A. Calhoun. The Cook trio, of Hope, Ark., will sing in the musical program of the revival.

MARRIAGES

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16.—(Special)—James Surles, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Surles, of Lake Providence, and Miss Gertrude Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heller, of Kilgore, Texas, were married Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage in Lake Village, Ark. The couple, after a honeymoon trip, will reside on the new Transylvania plantation, south of Lake Providence.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Albert Surles, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Surles, and Miss Drusilla Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Belle Phillips, of Lake Providence, were united in marriage in a ceremony performed by Rev. George Nelson, pastor of the Baptist church here, in the Baptist parsonage. After a short honeymoon the couple will reside here, where Mr. Surles is engaged in the radio business.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 16.—(Special)—Russell Lutrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lutrick, and Miss Flora Bunyard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bunyard, were united in marriage here.

Rev. George A. Nelson, pastor of the Baptist church, conducted the service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Dinger, in Bernard street, at 1 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Lutrick will make their home in Lake Providence.

SHED BURNS

A frame storage shed owned by D. Solomon and located at the rear of 106 Sixth street was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Firemen said the flames started from a trash fire.

HYPOLITE LABAUM DIES LAST NIGHT

Descendant Of Ouachita Post Commandant Expires At Hospital

Hypolite LaBaum, 64, native of Monroe and a direct descendant of Commandant de la Baum who succeeded Don Juan Filhiol in charge of the Ouachita post in the early years of the history of the parish, died at 10:15 o'clock last night at a local hospital. His health had not been good for some years.

He was at one time connected with the Monroe fire department.

Surviving relatives are two daughters, Mrs. Milton Coverdale and Mrs. Frank Cline, both of Monroe.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Coverdale residence, 716 St. John street. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. Interment will be made in the Riverview Burial park.

Pallbearers will be J. M. Myatt, Jack Hayes, Tom Dupree, H. E. Roberts, Robert Cowden and O. J. Horn.

The quartet has recently been touring Europe, generally receiving praise from musical critics.

They had already appeared in two or three auditions organized by local lovers of chamber music.

Acquaintances of the musicians said the latter were much "chagrined" at the skirmish with the blackshirts, so much so they didn't even wish to have it reported to the police.

They said the assault upon the quartet was evidently the result of a "misunderstanding."

...GERS' VICTORY ...S FEATURED BY ...FATHERREE'S RUN

Big Jess Races 95 Yards For First Score Early In Battle

By Kenneth Gregory
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

SANFORD FIELD, ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Louisiana State university's football powerhouse, featuring a 95-yard touchdown run by lanky Jess Fatherree, trampled Georgia, 13 to 0 today as the Bulldogs repelled three goal-line thrusts in a spectacular battle before about 20,000 fans.

The convincing triumph of the Tigers from Baton Rouge, with thousands of Louisiana enthusiasts, headed by Governor O. K. Allen, in the stands, virtually clinched the Southeastern conference championship for the Bernie Moore-coached gridders.

Louisiana outplayed Georgia's Bulldogs nearly the whole route, checked the only threat by the men of Harry Mehre at the five-yard line early in the opening period and accumulated its winning points on Fatherree's brilliant run and a fourth-quarter scoring sprint of 22 yards by Bill Crass, the pile-driving star, in the final minutes.

The well-earned triumph of Louisiana, the second over Georgia in two meetings, left only Tulane's Green Wave between the Tigers and a clean-cut claim to the conference crown.

Fine line-plunging by Crass, who tore through Georgia's line for many nice gains; the punting and passing of Abe Mickal, the running of Fatherree and the great line play of the Purple and Gold line, featuring superb work by Gaynell Tinsley, were the highlights of Louisiana's victory.

Early in the first period, Georgia made its lone threat as Quarterback Charlie Treadaway took one of Mickal's punts and raced 44 yards to L. S. U.'s 26-yard line. Two short passes, John Bond to Otis Maffett, carried to the five, where the Tigers held.

On the second play Mickal dropped back in punt formation, faked a kick as Fatherree cut back behind him in the end zone and took the ball from Abe's hands to gallop the length of the field, behind perfect blocking, for a touchdown. He actually travelled 105 yards. Mickal place-kicked the extra point.

With about a minute and a half to play, Crass sliced through Georgia's left tackle from the 22-yard line, cut back to the right and fell across the goal line as he was tackled. Crass missed the extra point.

Louisiana missed a scoring opportunity midway of the second period when George Bowman, substitute fullback, grabbed a punt by Bond, knifed his way through Georgia's defense and was away for a touchdown when he was knocked down by one of his teammates on the Bulldogs' 34. Georgia checked this thrust, but the Louisianan's came right back to drive to the Bulldogs' 12, featuring a 15-yard run by Crass, as the half ended.

At the start of the third period, aided by brilliant runs by Fatherree, Crass and Bowman, Louisiana drove from its own 29-yard line 63 yards to Georgia's eight, but the Bulldogs recovered a fumble by Bowman on their own nine.

Here, Bond dropped back to the back line of the end zone to kick, fumbled the pass from center and tried to pass. His toss was intercepted by Marvin Stewart, L. S. U. center, who was downed on the Georgia 10.

Again the Bulldogs displayed a spectacular goal-line stand and on fourth down the Tigers attempted a field goal. Lawrie, holding the ball for Crass, fumbled and Georgia recovered on its own 21. Bond kicked to L. S. U.'s 32 as the third frame ended.

A short punt at the start of the

OUACHITA CANDY COMPANY EXECUTES EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE FOR AMERICA'S FOREMOST LIQUEURS AND CORDIALS

After many months of testing and analyzing various liqueurs and cordials with an eye to giving the people of Monroe the finest product obtainable the Ouachita Candy Company has closed an exclusive franchise whereby they bring to Monroe one of America's finest lines of cordials and after dinner liqueurs.

This line is considered the most extensive domestic line produced in this country today and comprises well over one hundred items that are constantly in demand.

Among the leading items in this line are Sunkist Rock & Rye and Sunkist Sloe Gin, which are conceded to be the finest obtainable and have met with instant approval throughout Monroe and surrounding territory.

Mr. W. E. Selbold, director of sales for the Mar Salle Chicago Company of Chicago, manufacturers of these fine cordials and liqueurs, is here to assist the Ouachita Candy Company in the distribution of his products.

The producing and selling of cordials and liqueurs has been Mr. Selbold's life's work. And in his own words, "he is among us to show us why we should prefer his products."

A great many of these numbers are packed in attractive Christmas packages and it is the Ouachita Candy Company's thought that the people throughout Monroe will welcome the giving of presents packed in this manner.

Two Sophomores Lead Tulane In 20-13 Win Over Kentucky

Indians Get Down To Work Monday For Arkansas Tilt

Northeast Center Team Impressive In Victory Over Southeastern

Returning from their successful invasion of Hammond, where they scored an impressive 16-6 victory over Southeastern Louisiana college, the Indians of Northeast Center rested yesterday and today but tomorrow they will buckle down to hard work again in preparation for their tilt with Arkansas college, of Batesville, at Brown field next Friday night.

The squad came out of the Southeastern game in good shape and unless injuries crop up during practice work this week, the Indians should be in top shape for the Arkansans. Arkansas college hasn't been doing so well of late, but Coach Jim Malone expects the Batesville crew to provide a good test for his lads and he's guarding against over-confidence.

It is probable that Coach Malone will hold Boley Lemak, spark plug of the Indians' offense and a crack defensive man with it, out of the Arkansas college game in an effort to have him in top shape for the battle with Lon Morris on Thanksgiving day. Lemak suffered a dislocated shoulder in the Ouachita game three weeks ago and although he played a part of the Southeastern game, the injury still bothers him.

Lemak provided the punch that put the Indians on top of Coach Swanson's Lions Friday night and enabled them to go on to beat Southeastern in impressive fashion.

Northeast Center was trailing at the half by a three points. Lemak had been kept out of the game because of the injury. However, at the start of the second half Coach Malone sent in his line cracking halfback and things began to pick up immediately. With Lemak and Frankie Bono sharing the ball carrying duties, the Indians marched straight down the field to a touchdown and took a lead which they never relinquished. The off-tackle plays which weren't working in the first half began to click with Lemak toting the leather, and the Monroe eleven didn't remain behind long. Lemak later had a hand in scoring the second and final Indian touchdown. However, that didn't make much difference, for the stellar back already had touched off the spark that meant the difference between victory and defeat, and the Indians were playing like champions.

The Indians completely outplayed Southeastern in all departments. Previously unbeaten and unscored on, Northeast Center saw their goal line crossed for the first time on a perfect pass from Gastmeyer to Strobel, a pair of Lions whose play stood out all evening. In the first half, the Indians' defense was functioning just as well as it has in the past, but the offense couldn't muster enough punch to push over a touchdown. Sammy Bono's field goal had given the Indians an early lead but this was wiped out when the Lions completed their touchdown pass.

Southeastern was helpless against the Northeast Center line. Their power plays were held in check and it was only through an occasionally completed pass and a couple of penalties that they were able to chalk up their few first downs. The Lions' first down was made in the second quarter with the aid of a five yard penalty.

Southeastern showed the best team the Indians have had to face this season and it was Center's great brand of ball rather than any weakness of the Lions that brought victory for the Indians.

The squad returned on the special train immediately after the game. Northeast Center's representation at Hammond gave plenty of vocal support to the Indians and helped make the victory an even bigger success.

The special arrived here yesterday morning at 7:15 and the players were carried out to the college for a well deserved rest after a more or less sleepless night. Most of the players preferred to "visit" with other students on the long trip home and the one or two who did want to sleep found it a hopeless proposition. The jubilant crowd kept up the din almost until Monroe was reached.

Tragedy almost rode the special into Monroe. The train hit a light truck at the Girard crossing and two youths riding in the vehicle miraculously escaped death when the truck was completely demolished. However, examination at a local hospital revealed that neither suffered critical injuries.

CHOUDRANT SHADES WINNFIELD, 6 TO 0

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Choudrant Aggies defeated the Winnfield Tigers Friday, 6 to 0, in a close game. The Aggies made 15 first downs to Winnfield's three. However, it was a costly victory for Choudrant, for Frantom, guard, and Leachman, quarterback, were carried from the field in the first quarter with injuries.

The only score of the game came in the third quarter, after Choudrant had threatened repeatedly earlier. Holtzclaw, Aggie halfback, intercepted a Winnfield pass and raced 65 yards for a touchdown. Holtzclaw later intercepted another pass but the Aggies were unable to score and the game ended shortly afterward.

The Aggies played one of their best defensive games of the season. Cobb starred on offense.

GREENIES COME FROM BEHIND TO TRIM WILDCATS

Odom And Watson Provide Spark Which Enables Wave To Win

By Sam Farrington
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—Tulane's Green Wave swept to a brilliant 20-13 victory here today over the Kentucky university Wildcats behind the rifle-like passing of Troy Odom, 185-pound sophomore halfback.

The range finding Odom, ably assisted by another sophomore, Dick Watson, was on the tossing end of two of the Wave's scoring thrusts and figured materially in the third.

Kentucky's high powered scoring combination, Bobby Davis and Bert Johnson, provided Coach Ted Cox's men with a full afternoon of trouble, but they were unable to match the Wave's scintillating first year backs.

Temperatures ranging in the low 40's contributed to many fumbles and kept the 10,000 spectators under blankets.

Odom, who has not started a single game this year, entered the fray at the beginning of the second period, and quickly transformed the Wave from an apparently hopelessly outclassed eleven to a fiery crew obviously inspired by the play of the youthful Odom-Watson combination.

The first quarter was all Kentucky's. The Cats, spurred by the knife-like thrusts of Ayers and Davis' baffling end sweeps, lost no time chalking up their first touchdown. Taking the ball on their own 40-yard stripe, Ayers circled right end for 32 and Davis added 20 around the opposite end. Two more stabs and Ayers was over. Ayers missed his try from placement, after a good kick was nullified by a Kentucky holding penalty.

Tulane's first touchdown came early in the second period after Odom recovered Simpson's fumble on the Wildcats' 37. Odom then passed to Watson, who snatched the ball from the hands of three Kentucky backs and dashed five yards for the score. Watson failed to convert.

The Wave's second counter came at the end of the period after they had stopped a Cat drive on their own 16. Odom faded back and hurled a beautiful pass to "Doc" Schneidau, who was dropped on the Kentucky 26. With less than a minute of the half left, Odom again dropped back and tossed squarely into the arms of Memtsas, Tulane end, who scampered the remaining eight yards for the touchdown. Watson's placement split the uprights for the extra point.

Andrews, plunging fullback, tallied Tulane's final touchdown from the one-foot line after a quick kick and a poor punt had given the Wave the ball on Kentucky's 26. Slices off tackle and end sweeps executed by Watson, Odom and Andrews accounted for the push from the 26 to the one-foot stripe. Watson's placement was good.

Davis scored Kentucky's last touchdown after taking a short pass from Johnson on Tulane's 40 and weaving his way through a half dozen Wave tacklers. Hay added the extra point. The Cats threatened again late in the period when Robinson recovered a Tulane fumble on the Wave's 31, but Moreau, Greenie quarterback, put the game on ice for the locals by intercepting Johnson's pass behind his own goal line for a touchback.

MURRAY TEACHERS BEAT MILLSAPS, 7-6

MURRAY, Ky., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Murray State Teacher college, holding to a first quarter lead, defeated Millsaps college of Jackson, Miss., here today 7 to 6 before a homecoming crowd of 2,500 persons.

Captain Organ paved the way for the Murray touchdown in the opening period when he blocked a Millsaps punt on the 12-yard line. Cook, Murray tackle, recovered the ball on the 2-yard marker and Taylor, Murray halfback, plunged over for the touchdown. Organ place-kicked the extra point.

In the final period Millsaps using an aerial attack scored with a pass over the goal line, Jones to McDaniel. Bosarge's attempt for the extra point was wide.

Millsaps led in first downs 13 to 9 and completed 13 out of 27 forward passes for 137 yards. Murray tried seven passes but did not complete any. The victory today for Murray was their second over the Mississippi school to one for the visitors.

ALABAMA ROUTS ENGINEERS WITH 38-TO-7 VICTORY

Tide Turns On The Power To Crush Georgia Tech Before 12,000

By T. M. Davenport
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

LEGION FIELD, BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide swept over the Rambling Wreck of Georgia Tech, smothering its "razzle-dazzle" passing offensive in a drive of power today to score a 38 to 7 victory before 12,000 spectators.

The Tide launched its power attack in the first period to go out in front, and except for a second period spurt, Georgia Tech was never again close enough to scent victory.

By sheer power, smashing guards and tackles, with an occasional end run, Alabama ran up a 19 to 7 lead at the half, and even with a third period touchdown that seemed to assure victory, did not let up the drive.

The Rambling Wreck's lone touchdown in the second period with Alabama well out in front was a spectacular bit of passing that caught the Crimson backfield flatfooted.

Edwards (sub for Hays) shot a 15 yard pass to Gibson who took two or three steps and as Alabama players swarmed in, lateralled to Dutch Koneman, and the "Flying Dutchman" sold out 21 yards for a touchdown, being tackled by an ankle as he fell over the goal line.

That one play awakened the Crimson secondary and Tech never again was within scoring distance except by those long gangling passes which more than once boomeranged into the arms of an Alabama player.

Alabama lost no time in going to work to trounce the Rambling Wreck, turning on the power after an exchange of kicks gave the Crimsons the ball in midfield. Seven plays later, Angelich smashed over left guard and dodged through the Tech secondary to score.

Taking the kickoff, Alabama marched to Tech's one yard line in off tackle thrusts and smashes over guard, but the drive went for naught as Rohordanz fumbled on the goal line and Tech recovered about a foot from scoring territory. The Tide came right back, however, to end the period on Tech's 3, and two plays after the wild second quarter opened, Smith went over center to score.

Tech came back to score, then the Crimsons went to work again, Angelich fumbling on the goal line and Appleby (sub for Hays) recovering but again the Crimsons drove back, as Sims' punt was short out of bounds on his 15. Smith again scored over center, and converted from placement.

Tech's golden opportunity was gone, as the Crimsons opened up with passes to drive the secondary back and then ripped the line to score a touchdown in the third and two more in the fourth.

Koneman tried valiantly to put Tech back in the game in the fourth as he caught a punt that fell short of the safety man and ran it 35 yards to Alabama's 34 before he was pulled down.

Alabama fumbled three times inside Tech's five yard line, but each time drove back to get the touchdown.

The Tide rolled up a total of 462 yards, 355 of it in rushing, in running 22 first downs, while Tech's gains amounted to 174 yards in making 8 first downs. Tech's gains included 113 yards by passing.

FERRIDAY TO MEET WISNER ON FRIDAY

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Refreshed by a week-end of rest because of an open date last Friday, the Ferriday High school Bulldogs will get back into action next Friday when they invade the stronghold of Wisner's Bulldogs for a contest with the Franklin parish eleven, one of the leading contenders for the state high school class "B" title.

Coach Hugh Bateman believes his charges will be ready for Wisner Friday and he is also expecting the locals to give a good account of themselves in the scheduled engagement on Thanksgiving day here with the fast Waterproof High school Tigers.

MAKES LONG RUN

BASEBALL IN FINAL FAREWELL TO NAVIN

DETROIT, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Baseball said farewell today to Frank J. Navin.

Funeral services for the president of the Detroit Baseball company, who died Wednesday of a heart attack, were conducted at the Blessed Sacrament church.

Presidents of American league clubs, managers, officials from both the American and National leagues, leaders in the business and professional life of Detroit, paid silent tribute to the man who guided the Detroit Tigers to the city's first world's championship in his final year at the helm.

The fans who supported his team were there, too, thousands visited the cemetery.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Doyle, chancellor of the Catholic diocese of Detroit, delivered the eulogy at the church.

"His loss to Detroit is inestimable," Msgr. Doyle said. "He imbued this city with a new spirit."

THIRD ROUND PLAY POSTPONED A WEEK

Following are the pairings:

Bun Beasley vs. Ben Downing; Mike Winbery vs. H. L. Woods, J. S. Washburn vs. Dr. Nat Gaston, and F. F. Millsaps vs Jack Rogers.

PORKERS OUTPLAY S. M. U. BUT LOSE BY 17-TO-6 SCORE

Mustangs' Uncanny Passing Accuracy Defeats Razorback Team

By Edward L. Campbell
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 16.—Picking their scoring spots with uncanny accuracy, Southern Methodist university overcame superior statistical play to defeat the University of Arkansas, 17 to 6, here today and point their perfect season toward a Rose Bowl bid.

A homecoming day crowd of approximately 7,000 saw the inexperienced Razorbacks outgain the undefeated Mustangs on the ground and in the air. Expected to lose, they rose up in sophomoric splendor to become the only member of the Southwest conference to cross the Methodist goal line.

The game was a battle of forward passes from start to finish with Arkansas flinging most of the aerials and gaining most of the ground. On the few occasions when a ground game as called upon, Jack Robbins, Razorback quarter, proved a more able gainer than the highly touted Bobby Wilson of S. M. U. Arkansas piled up 17 first downs to seven for the Mustangs.

But it was the unerring accuracy of the Mustang passes when a touchdown was in sight that proved the margin of victory.

Bill Tipton, sure fingered S. M. U. end, scored both touchdowns for the Methodists. His first came in the closing minutes of the first half on a short pass from Wilson across the line. His second was registered early in the fourth quarter when he took Shelly Burt's 19 yard heave and dashed 10 yards to tally standing up. Orr converted on both occasions, and kicked a field goal in the fourth.

A disputed play late in the final period gave Arkansas its score. The Razorbacks got the ball on their own 39 yard line. Robbins spiralled a long high pass to Benton who lateralled to Johnson. The Arkansas back was tackled on the S. M. U. 25 yard line. A few seconds later, Robbins rifled another long heave toward the goal line. Jim Howell leaped for the ball. Bob Turner, S. M. U. back, leaped for it also. They collided in midair and the ball rolled free. Umpire Gordon Campbell ruled it interference by Turner and gave the ball to Arkansas on the S. M. U. one yard line. Fullback Rucker finally sprawled headlong over the marker, after three attempts. Seamster's kick was low.

Arkansas, trying to meet the famed Methodist aerial circus with a threering exhibition of its own, attempted 48 passes, completing 18 for a total of 242 yards with five intercepted. S. M. U., playing a defensive game almost all of the first half, completed seven out of 20 heaves for 114 yards with one intercepted.

The lineups:

Arkansas	Pos.	S. M. U.
Benton	LE	Tipton

BAYLOR CRUSHES CENTENARY 20-0 AT HOMECOMING

Seven Thousand Shreveporters See Bears Spoil Gents' Record

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Scoring once in the first and twice in the fourth, the Baylor Bears defeated Centenary college's Gentlemen 20 to 0 here today before 7,000 homecoming fans to mar the Gents' record of no defeats on their home gridiron.

The crowd was thrown into confusion soon after the first quarter opened when Carl Brizzell intercepted a Centenary pass on his own 45 and raced 28 yards to Centenary's 27. After a seven-yard loss at the line, a pass, Gernand to Ray, good for 27 yards was allowed because of interference. The Gentlemen tightened and held the Bears in check, but on the fourth down Russell flipped one to Masters on the two, who darted across the goal line for the first score. Gernand converted.

The second and the third quarters went scoreless, but as the fourth opened with the Bears in possession of the ball on Centenary's 8, Kimbriel raced around left end for the second touchdown and again Gernand converted. The Bears had advanced the ball from midfield by passes and slight line gains.

In the fourth, Russell punted to Huddleston, who was tackled on Centenary's three. The Gents failed on two pass attempts and Stone attempted to kick out but Kriel blocked the kick, rolling the ball into the end zone, where it was covered for a touchdown by Buchanan. Gernand's attempt at conversion was blocked by Binion and Hohman, leaving the score 20 to 0 in favor of the Bears.

Centenary lost its only chance to score when the Bears overpowered their line in the third to throw the Gents for continued losses, sending the ball in reverse from their own four to the 20.

The line-up:

Centenary	Pos.	Baylor
Hooper	LE	Clark
Waller	LT	Wilfong
Hohman	LG	Buchanan
Stokes	C	Cloyd

SUNFLOWER ELEVEN WINS M. V. CROWN

MOORHEAD, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Sunflower Junior college was crowned football champion of Mississippi Valley conference on Moorhead field this afternoon by swamping Lambuth college Eagles of Jackson, Tenn., 54 to 0.

"Kinney" Burnham, Sunflower quarterback, led the attack with four touchdowns, and Captain "Chuck" Thomas scored twice for Sunflower. Barnett, Lambuth center, was defensive star for the Jackson team.

Moorhead gridders completely outclassed Lambuth and the Jackson team failed to make a serious threat to score.

LOUISIANA STATE TRIUMPHS OVER GEORGIA, 13 TO 0

TIGERS' VICTORY IS FEATURED BY FATHERREE'S RUN

Big Jess Races 95 Yards For First Score Early In Battle

By Kenneth Gregory
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

SANFORD FIELD, ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Louisiana State university's football powerhouse, featuring a 95-yard touchdown run by lanky Jess Fatherree, trampled Georgia, 13 to 0 today as the Bulldogs repelled three goal-line thrusts in a spectacular battle before about 20,000 fans.

The convincing triumph of the Tigers from Baton Rouge, with thousands of Louisiana enthusiasts, headed by Governor O. K. Allen, in the stands, virtually clinched the Southeastern conference championship for the Bernie Moore-coached gridders.

Louisiana outplayed Georgia's Bulldogs nearly the whole route, checked the only threat by the men of Harry Mehre at the five-yard line early in the opening period and accumulated its winning points on Fatherree's brilliant run and a fourth-quarter scoring sprint of 22 yards by Bill Crass, the pile-driving star, in the final minutes.

The well-earned triumph of Louisiana, the second over Georgia in two meetings, left only Tulane's Green Wave between the Tigers and a clean-cut claim to the conference crown.

Fine line-plunging by Crass, who tore through Georgia's line for many nice gains; the punting and passing of Abe Mickal, the running of Fatherree and the great line play of the Purple and Gold line, featuring superb work by Gaynell Tinsley, were the highlights of Louisiana's victory.

Early in the first period, Georgia made its lone threat as Quarterback Charlie Treadaway took one of Mickal's punts and raced 44 yards to L. S. U.'s 26-yard line. Two short passes, John Bond to Otis Maffett, carried to the five, where the Tigers held.

On the second play Mickal dropped back in punt formation, faked a kick as Fatherree cut back behind him in the end zone and took the ball from Abe's hands to gallop the length of the field, behind perfect blocking, for a touchdown. He actually travelled 105 yards. Mickal place-kicked the extra point.

With about a minute and a half to play, Crass sliced through Georgia's left tackle from the 22-yard line, cut back to the right and fell across the goal line as he was tackled. Crass missed the extra point.

Louisiana missed a scoring opportunity midway of the second period when George Bowman, substitute fullback, grabbed a punt by Bond, knifed his way through Georgia's defense and was away for a touchdown when he was knocked down by one of his teammates on the Bulldogs' 34. Georgia checked this thrust, but the Louisianan's came right back to drive to the Bulldogs' 12, featuring a 15-yard run by Cross, as the half ended.

At the start of the third period, aided by brilliant runs by Fatherree, Crass and Bowman, Louisiana drove from its own 29-yard line 63 yards to Georgia's eight, but the Bulldogs recovered a fumble by Bowman on their own nine.

Here, Bond dropped back to the back line of the end zone to kick, fumbled the pass from center and tried to pass. His toss was intercepted by Marvin Stewart, L. S. U. center, who was downed on the Georgia 10.

Again the Bulldogs displayed a spectacular goal-line stand and on fourth down the Tigers attempted a field goal, Lawrie, holding the ball for Crass, fumbled and Georgia recovered on its own 21. Bond kicked to L. S. U.'s 32 as the third frame ended.

A short punt at the start of the

OUACHITA CANDY COMPANY EXECUTES EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE FOR AMERICA'S FOREMOST LIQUEURS AND CORDIALS

After many months of testing and analyzing various liqueurs and cordials with an eye to giving the people of Monroe the finest product obtainable the Ouachita Candy Company has closed an exclusive franchise whereby they bring to Monroe one of America's finest lines of cordials and after dinner liqueurs.

This line is considered the most extensive domestic line produced in this country today and comprises well over one hundred items that are constantly in demand.

Among the leading items in this line are Sunkist Rock & Rye and Sunkist Sloe Gin, which are conceded to be the finest obtainable and have met with instant approval throughout Monroe and surrounding territory.

Mr. W. E. Selbold, director of sales for the Mar Salle Chicago Company of Chicago, manufacturers of these fine cordials and liqueurs, is here to assist the Ouachita Candy Company in the distribution of his products.

The producing and selling of cordials and liqueurs has been Mr. Selbold's life's work. And in his own words, "he is among us to show us why we should prefer his products."

A great many of these numbers are packed in attractive Christmas packages and it is the Ouachita Candy Company's thought that the people throughout Monroe will welcome the giving of presents packed in this manner.

Two Sophomores Lead Tulane In 20-13 Win Over Kentucky

Indians Get Down To Work Monday For Arkansas Tilt

Northeast Center Team Impressive In Victory Over Southeastern

Returning from their successful invasion of Hammond, where they scored an impressive 16-6 victory over Southeastern Louisiana college, the Indians of Northeast Center rested yesterday and today but tomorrow they will buckle down to hard work again in preparation for their tilt with Arkansas college, of Batesville, at Brown field next Friday night.

The squad came out of the Southeastern game in good shape and unless injuries crop up during practice work this week, the Indians should be in top shape for the Arkansans. Arkansas college hasn't been doing so well of late, but Coach Jim Malone expects the Batesville crew to provide a good test for his lads and he's guarding against over-confidence.

It is probable that Coach Malone will hold Boley Lemak, spark plug of the Indians' offense and a crack defensive man with it, out of the Arkansas college game in an effort to have him in top shape for the battle with Lon Morris on Thanksgiving day. Lemak suffered a dislocated shoulder in the Ouachita game three weeks ago and although he played a part of the Southeastern game, the injury still bothers him.

Lemak provided the punch that put the Indians on top of Coach Swanson's Lions Friday night and enabled them to go on to beat Southeastern in impressive fashion.

Northeast Center was trailing at the half by a three points. Lemak had been kept out of the game because of the injury. However, at the start of the second half Coach Malone sent in his line cracking halfback and things began to pick up immediately. With Lemak and Frankie Bono sharing the ball carrying duties, the Indians marched straight down the field to a touchdown and took a lead which they never relinquished. The off-tackle plays which weren't working in the first half began to click with Lemak toting the leather, and the Monroe eleven didn't remain behind long. Lemak later had a hand in scoring the second and final Indian touchdown. However, that didn't make much difference, for the stellar back already had touched off the spark that meant the difference between victory and defeat, and the Indians were playing like champions.

The Indians completely outplayed Southeastern in all departments. Previously unbeaten and unscored on, Northeast Center saw their goal line crossed for the first time on a perfect pass from Gastmeyer to Strobel, a pair of Lions whose play stood out all evening. In the first half, the Indians' defense was functioning just as well as it has in the past, but the offense couldn't muster enough punch to push over a touchdown. Sammy Bono's field goal had given the Indians an early lead but this was wiped out when the Lions completed their touchdown pass.

Southeastern was helpless against the Northeast Center line. Their power plays were held in check and it was only through an occasionally completed pass and a couple of penalties that they were able to chalk up their few first downs. The Lions' first down was made in the second quarter with the aid of a five yard penalty.

Southeastern showed the best team the Indians have had to face this season and it was Center's great brand of ball rather than any weakness of the Lions that brought victory for the Indians.

The squad returned on the special train immediately after the game. Northeast Center's representation at Hammond gave plenty of vocal support to the Indians and helped make the victory an even bigger success.

The special arrived here yesterday morning at 7:15 and the players were carried out to the college for a well deserved rest after a more or less sleepless night. Most of the players preferred to "visit" with other students on the long trip home and the one or two who did want to sleep found it a hopeless proposition. The jubilant crowd kept up the din almost until Monroe was reached.

Tragedy almost rode the special into Monroe. The train hit a light truck at the Girard crossing and two youths riding in the vehicle miraculously escaped death when the truck was completely demolished. However, examination at a local hospital revealed that neither suffered critical injuries.

CHOUDRANT SHADES WINNFIELD, 6 TO 0

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Choudrant Aggies defeated the Winnfield Tigers Friday, 6 to 0, in a close game. The Aggies made 15 first downs to Winnfield's three. However, it was a costly victory for Choudrant, for Frantom, guard, and Leachman, quarterback, were carried from the field in the first quarter with injuries.

The only score of the game came in the third quarter, after Choudrant had threatened repeatedly earlier. Holtzclaw, Aggie halfback, intercepted a Winnfield pass and raced 65 yards for a touchdown. Holtzclaw later intercepted another pass but the Aggies were unable to score and the game ended shortly afterward.

The Aggies played one of their best defensive games of the season. Cobb starred on offense.

Odom And Watson Provide Spark Which Enables Wave To Win

By Sam Farrington
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—Tulane's Green Wave swept to a brilliant 20-13 victory here today over the Kentucky university Wildcats behind the rifle-like passing of Troy Odom, 185-pound sophomore halfback.

The range finding Odom, ably assisted by another sophomore, Dick Watson, was on the tossing end of two of the Wave's scoring thrusts and figured materially in the third.

Kentucky's high powered scoring combination, Bobby Davis and Bert Johnson, provided Coach Ted Cox's men with a full afternoon of trouble, but they were unable to match the Wave's scintillating first year backs.

Temperatures ranging in the low 40's contributed to many fumbles and kept the 10,000 spectators under blankets.

Odom, who has not started a single game this year, entered the fray at the beginning of the second period, and quick transformed the Wave from an apparently hopelessly outclassed eleven to a fiery crew obviously inspired by the play of the youthful Odom-Watson combination.

The first quarter was all Kentucky's. The Cats, spurred by the knife-like thrusts of Ayers and Davis' baffling end sweeps, lost no time chalking up their first touchdown. Taking the ball on their own 40-yard stripe, Ayers circled right end for 22 and Davis added 20 around the opposite end. Two more stabs and Ayers was over. Ayers missed his try from placement, after a good kick was nullified by a Kentucky holding penalty.

Tulane's first touchdown came early in the second period after Odom recovered Simpson's fumble on the Wildcats' 37. Odom then passed to Watson, who snatched the ball from the hands of three Kentucky backs and dashed five yards for the score. Watson failed to convert.

The Wave's second counter came at the end of the period after they had stopped a Cat drive on their own 16. Odom faded back and hurled a beautiful pass to "Doc" Schneidau, who was dropped on the Kentucky 26. With less than a minute of the half left, Odom again dropped back and tossed squarely into the arms of Memtsas, Tulane end, who scampered the remaining eight yards for the touchdown. Watson's placement split the uprights for the extra point.

Andrews, plunging fullback, tallied Tulane's final touchdown from the one-foot line after a quick kick and a poor punt had given the Wave the ball on Kentucky's 26. Slices off tackle and end sweeps executed by Watson, Odom and Andrews accounted for the push from the 26 to the one-foot stripe. Watson's placement was good.

Davis scored Kentucky's last touchdown after taking a short pass from Johnson on Tulane's 40 and weaving his way through a half dozen Wave tacklers. Hay added the extra point. The Cats threatened again late in the period when Robinson recovered a Tulane fumble on the Wave's 31, but Moreau, Greenie quarterback, put the game on ice for the locals by intercepting Johnson's pass behind his own goal line for a touchback.

MURRAY TEACHERS BEAT MILLSAPS, 7-6

MURRAY, Ky., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Murray State Teacher college, holding to a first quarter lead, defeated Millsaps college of Jackson, Miss., here today 7 to 6 before a homecoming crowd of 2,500 persons.

Captain Organ paved the way for the Murray touchdown in the opening period when he blocked a Millsaps punt on the 12-yard line. Cook, Murray tackle, recovered the ball on the 2-yard marker and Taylor, Murray halfback, plunged over for the touchdown. Organ place-kicked the extra point.

In the final period Millsaps using an aerial attack scored with a pass over the goal line, Jones to McDaniel. Bosarge's attempt for the extra point was wide.

Millsaps led in first downs 13 to 9 and completed 13 out of 27 forward passes for 137 yards. Murray tried seven passes but did not complete any. The victory today for Murray was their second over the Mississippi school to one for the visitors.

ALABAMA ROUTS ENGINEERS WITH 38-TO-7 VICTORY

Tide Turns On The Power To Crush Georgia Tech Before 12,000

By T. M. Davenport
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

LEGION FIELD, BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide swept over the Rambling Wreck of Georgia Tech, smothering its "razzle-dazzle" passing offensive in a drive of power today to score a 38 to 7 victory before 12,000 spectators.

The Tide launched its power attack in the first period to go out in front, and except for a second period spurt, Georgia Tech was never again close enough to scent victory.

By sheer power, smashing guards and tackles, with an occasional end run, Alabama ran up a 19 to 7 lead at the half, and even with a third period touchdown that seemed to assure victory, did not let up the drive.

The Rambling Wreck's lone touchdown in the second period with Alabama well out in front was a spectacular bit of passing that caught the Crimson backfield flatfooted.

Edwards (sub for Hays) shot a 15 yard pass to Gibson who took two or three steps and as Alabama players swarmed in, lateralled to Dutch Koneman, and the "Flying Dutchman" sold out 21 yards for a touchdown, being tackled by an ankle as he fell over the goal line.

That one play awakened the Crimson secondary and Tech never again was within scoring distance except by those long gangling passes which more than once boomeranged into the arms of an Alabama player.

Alabama lost no time in going to work to trounce the Rambling Wreck, turning on the power after an exchange of kicks gave the Crimsons the ball in midfield. Seven plays later, Angelich smashed over left guard and dodged through the Tech secondary to score.

Taking the kickoff, Alabama marched to Tech's one yard line in off tackle thrusts and smashes over guard, but the drive went for naught as Rohordanz fumbled on the goal line and Tech recovered about a foot from scoring territory. The Tide came right back, however, to end the period on Tech's 3, and two plays after the wild second quarter opened, Smith went over center to score.

Tech came back to score, then the Crimsons went to work again, Angelich fumbling on the goal line and Appleby (sub for Hays) recovering but again the Crimsons drove back, as Sims' punt was short out of bounds on his 15. Smith again scored over center, and converted from placement.

Tech's golden opportunity was gone, as the Crimsons opened up with passes to drive the secondary back and then ripped the line to score a touchdown in the third and two more in the fourth.

Koneman tried valiantly to put Tech back in the game in the fourth as he caught a punt that fell short of the safety man and ran it 35 yards to Alabama's 34 before he was pulled down.

Alabama fumbled three times inside Tech's five yard line, but each time drove back to get the touchdown.

The Tide rolled up a total of 462 yards, 355 of it in rushing, in running 22 first downs, while Tech's gains amounted to 174 yards in making 8 first downs. Tech's gains included 113 yards by passing.

FERRIDAY TO MEET WISNER ON FRIDAY

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Refreshed by a week-end of rest because of an open date last Friday, the Ferriday High school Bulldogs will get back into action next Friday when they invade the stronghold of Wisner's Bulldogs for a contest with the Franklin parish eleven, one of the leading contenders for the state high school class "B" title.

Coach Hugh Bateman believes his charges will be ready for Wisner Friday and he is also expecting the locals to give a good account of themselves in the scheduled engagement on Thanksgiving day here with the fast Waterproof High school Tigers.

MAKES LONG RUN

BASEBALL IN FINAL FAREWELL TO NAVIN

DETROIT, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Baseball said farewell today to Frank J. Navin.

Funeral services for the president of the Detroit Baseball company, who died Wednesday of a heart attack, were conducted at the Blessed Sacrament church.

Presidents of American league clubs, managers, officials from both the American and National leagues, leaders in the business and professional life of Detroit, paid silent tribute to the man who guided the Detroit Tigers to the city's first world's championship in his final year at the helm.

The fans who supported his team were there, too, thousands visited the cemetery.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Doyle, chancellor of the Catholic diocese of Detroit, delivered the eulogy at the church.

THIRD ROUND PLAY POSTPONED A WEEK

Following are the pairings:

Bun Beasley vs. Ben Downing; Mike Winbery vs. H. L. Woods, J. S. Washburn vs. Dr. Nat Gaston, and F. F. Millsaps vs Jack Rogers.

PORKERS OUTPLAY S. M. U. BUT LOSE BY 17-TO-6 SCORE

Mustangs' Uncanny Passing Accuracy Defeats Razorback Team

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 16.—Picking their scoring spots with uncanny accuracy, Southern Methodist university overcame superior statistical play to defeat the University of Arkansas, 17 to 6, here today and point their perfect season toward a Rose Bowl bid.

A homecoming day crowd of approximately 7,000 saw the inexperienced Razorbacks outgain the undefeated Mustangs on the ground and in the air. Expected to lose, they rose up in sophomoric splendor to become the only member of the Southwest conference to cross the Methodist goal line.

The game was a battle of forward passes from start to finish with Arkansas flinging most of the aerials and gaining most of the ground. On the few occasions when a ground game as called upon, Jack Robbins, Razorback quarter, proved a more able gainer than the highly touted Bobby Wilson of S. M. U. Arkansas piled up 17 first downs to seven for the Mustangs.

But it was the unerring accuracy of the Mustang passes when a touchdown was in sight that proved the margin of victory.

Bill Tipton, sure fingered S. M. U. end, scored both touchdowns for the Methodists. His first came in the closing minutes of the first half on a short pass from Wilson across the line. His second was registered early in the fourth quarter when he took Shelly Burt's 19 yard heave and dashed 10 yards to tally standing up. Orr converted on both occasions, and kicked a field goal in the fourth.

A disputed play late in the final period gave Arkansas its score. The Razorbacks got the ball on their own 39 yard line. Robbins spiralled a long high pass to Benton who lateralled to Johnson. The Arkansas back was tackled on the S. M. U. 25 yard line. A few seconds later, Robbins rifled another long heave toward the goal line. Jim Howell leaped for the ball. Bob Turner, S. M. U. back, leaped for it also. They collided in midair and the ball rolled free. Umpire Gordon Campbell ruled it interference by Turner and gave the ball to Arkansas on the S. M. U. one yard line. Fullback Rucker finally sprawled headlong over the marker, after three attempts. Seamster's kick was low.

Arkansas, trying to meet the famed Methodist aerial circus with a threering exhibition of its own, attempted 48 passes, completing 18 for a total of 242 yards with five intercepted. S. M. U., playing a defensive game almost all of the first half, completed seven out of 20 heaves for 114 yards with one intercepted.

BAYLOR CRUSHES CENTENARY 20-0 AT HOMECOMING

Seven Thousand Shreveporters See Bears Spoil Gents' Record

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Scoring once in the first and twice in the fourth, the Baylor Bears defeated Centenary college's Gentlemen 20 to 0 here today before 7,000 homecoming fans to mar the Gents' record of no defeats on their home gridiron.

The crowd was thrown into confusion soon after the first quarter opened when Carl Brizzell intercepted a Centenary pass on his own 45 and raced 28 yards to Centenary's 27. After a seven-yard loss at the line, a pass, Gernand to Ray, good for 27 yards was allowed because of interference. The Gentlemen tightened and held the Bears in check, but on the fourth down Russell flipped one to Masters on the two, who darted across the goal line for the first score. Gernand converted.

The second and the third quarters went scoreless, but as the fourth opened with the Bears in possession of the ball on Centenary's 8, Kimbriel raced around left end for the second touchdown and again Gernand converted. The Bears had advanced the ball from midfield by passes and slight line gains.

In the fourth, Russell punted to Huddleston, who was tackled on Centenary's three. The Gents failed on two pass attempts and Stone attempted to kick out but Kriel blocked the kick, rolling the ball into the end zone, where it was covered for a touchdown by Buchanan. Gernand's attempt at conversion was blocked by Binion and Hohman, leaving the score 20 to 0 in favor of the Bears.

Centenary lost its only chance to score when the Bears overpowered their line in the third to throw the Gents for continued losses, sending the ball in reverse from their own four to the 20.

The line-up:

SUNFLOWER ELEVEN WINS M. V. CROWN

MOORHEAD, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Sunflower Junior college was crowned football champion of Mississippi Valley conference on Moorhead field this afternoon by swamping Lambuth college Eagles of Jackson, Tenn., 54 to 0.

"Kinney" Burnham, Sunflower quarterback, led the attack with four touchdowns, and Captain "Chuck" Thomas scored twice for Sunflower. Barnett, Lambuth center, was defensive star for the Jackson team.

Moorhead gridders completely outclassed Lambuth and the Jackson team failed to make a serious threat to score.

NOTRE DAME RALLIES TO GET 6-6 TIE WITH ARMY

LONG PASS AGAIN SAVES RAMBLERS IN FINAL MINUTES

Fighting Cadet Team Battles Irish In Thrilling Encounter

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Aided by an extraordinary goal-line "break," Notre Dame put over a touchdown with barely 30 seconds to go and gained a 6 to 6 tie with the Army today in a nerve-tingling finish to one of football's most colorful intersectional battles.

West Point, fighting off a succession of Irish threats in brilliant defense of a lead gained on Monk Meyer's 41-yard touchdown pass to Ed Grove, was a victim of its own over-eagerness just when victory seemed firmly in the grasp of the Soldiers.

Under circumstances reminiscent of the dramatic climax by which Notre Dame triumphed over Ohio State two weeks ago, the Fighting Irish struck desperately through the air in their last attempt to overcome the Cadet lead. The critical and hotly disputed play came on the same type of pass—Bill Shakespeare to Wayne Millner—that decided the battle of Columbus.

It was thrown with the closing seconds ticking away rapidly and the ball in Notre Dame's possession on Army's 29. Millner was surrounded by three Cadets as he reached for the ball and missed but A. W. Palmer of Colby, the field judge, promptly called the pass complete on interference by Ed Grove, Army halfback. Palmer was promptly backed up by the umpire, W. R. Crowley of Bowdoin, and it was Notre Dame's ball, on Army's two-yard stripe, with a half-minute to go. Big Larry Danbom, Notre Dame substitute fullback, dived over the middle of the line for the touchdown everyone knew was coming.

Wally Fromhart took plenty of time in his placement attempt for the extra point but his kick, like Grove's in the first period, went wide of the uprights.

Taking the game as a whole, with Notre Dame registering 14 first downs to Army's four and displaying greater power throughout, the tie score was fair enough.

The opinion of press-box observers as well as the views of the capacity crowd of 80,000 were so sharply divided on the disputed pass by partisanship, that the argument was as much of a deadlock as was the final score. The officials agreed there was no doubt as to interference, as they saw it, and that was that.

Regardless of the controversial finish, the huge crowd, including former President Hoover among its host of notables, witnessed a thrilling renewal of this colorful intersectional rivalry with Army a 1 to 2 shot before-hand, giving the favored, greenshirted Ramblers a terrific battle all the way.

Three More Previously Unbeaten Teams Suffer Setbacks

Allen Wins Dollar When L. S. U. Tramples Georgia

Georgia Governor Is Loser; 3,500 Louisianians Invade Athens

By J. R. Triplett
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—Gov. O. K. Allen of Louisiana won a dollar bill from Georgia's governor, Eugene Talmadge today as Louisiana State's legions went marching through Georgia in a football spectacle reminiscent of their 29 to 0 conquest of Vanderbilt under Huey P Long last fall.

"Gimme my money," demanded the silver-haired Louisiana executive, as cheers greeted the last period touchdown which brought the score to 13 to 0 in favor of L. S. U. "It was a fine game, wasn't it?"

"Okeh," assented Talmadge. "You find the stakeholder."

They set off together in a crowd of 20,000 to find him.

The wager was made as the executives were en route here this morning aboard a special train for the game. Talmadge joined the Allen party in Atlanta.

"I'll gamble a dollar on the game," suggested Talmadge, "here's a Georgia dollar—one that won't shrink."

"Well, I never did much gambling, but here's a dollar on the Tigers," said Allen.

Foul weather and the absence of Senator Long, who was assassinated September 8 in the magnificent state capitol he built at Baton Rouge, were the principal points of contrast to the climax of the Long-conducted excursion of the Louisiana Tigers to Nashville, Tenn., in 1934.

Governor Allen, in keeping with the wishes of the share-our-wealth advocate who shared his in loans at $6.50 per student for the Nashville trip and was said to have got it back to the penny, arranged for Louisiana Staters who needed cash to borrow $11 each—repayable in three installments.

Including a grey-clad regiment of cadets, 165 men band and 50 co-ed pepsters who got their trip free, more than 3,500 Louisianians were brought here on five special trains for the classic.

From the station to the town square Louisiana State cadets marched afoot, led by the black and blue caped University of Georgia band. Talmadge and Allen strode between it and an 80-piece unit of the Louisiana State band whose first selection was Long's march, "Every Man a King."

Neither offered to take the baton of Burns Bennett, high-stepping drum major from Pine Bluff, Ark., as the "kingfish" was wont to do when Lew Willlams, now graduated, headed the cadet band parades. They simply hunched their shoulders against the drizzle and walked.

Georgia set up a strong resistance on the gridiron, but it wasn't strong enough.

The visitors went places in the best tradition of William Tecumseh Sherman, who, before he was called to service against the Confederacy, headed the old Louisiana war school which became Louisiana State.

Cavalry—it was there in the 95-yard first period touchdown race of Jesse Fatherree, dark haired halfback and an "A" student.

For infantry there were power drives through the line. Such passes and punters as Abe Mickal and Bill Crass, handicapped a bit by the weather, were the big guns of the offense.

All the visitors needed was fire, and they had an excellent substitute for that in the leather-lunged exultations of the students.

When Governor Talmadge joined the train in Atlanta the Louisiana governor remarked:

"We are not going to talk politics. We are going to play this game."

As the governors settled down for the trip to Athens, however, the discussion of football did not last long. The two soon branched off into politics.

As the train neared Athens the Georgia governor remarked to the governor of Louisiana:

"We agree on everything, governor, except the football game."

Among those in Allen's party were President James Monroe Smith of L. S. U. and Mrs. Smith, Adjutant General Ray Fleming, Judge Richard W. Leche, gubernatorial candidate, State Senators Harvey Peltier, and Fred Oser; the governor's two sons, O. K. Junior and Asa Benton, Major E. N. Jackson, Col. Frank Williams and others.

In addition to Governor and Mrs. Talmadge, the Georgia party included Adjutant General Lindley W. Camp and about forty members of the governor's staff.

ONLY SEVEN LEFT IN STRUGGLE FOR NATIONAL HONORS

North Carolina, Marquette And Syracuse Removed From Picture

Three more hitherto unbeaten and untied football teams—North Carolina, Marquette and Syracuse—bit the dust yesterday by an aggregate margin of 12 touchdowns and left a "big seven" to carry on for national championship honors.

While these three were suffering crushing defeats at the hands of Duke, Temple and Colgate, respectively, California in the far west, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian in the southwest, Minnesota in the middle west and Dartmouth, Princeton and New York university were protecting perfect records with comparative ease.

Although the game carried no championship label, most of the day's drama was reserved for the Yankee stadium in New York where Notre Dame came from behind in the last 30 seconds of play to tie Army, 6-6, before a crowd of 80,000. The Shakespeare-Millner passing combination clicked long enough to put the ball on the two-yard line and Larry Dansom plunged over for the score that offset Monk Meyer's 41-yard touchdown pass to Ed Grove early in the first period.

North Carolina's aspirations for a Southern conference title and a possible bid to the Rose Bowl were shattered by Duke's enterprising outfit which crushed the Tarheels, 25-0 in a shocking rout. Marquette likewise found itself badly outclassed and went down before Temple, 26-6. Syracuse, outplayed from start to finish, fell before Colgate, 27-0.

Meanwhile Dartmouth, finding a really effective passing attack for the first time, trounced Cornell, 41-7, and New York university, almost as impressive, walloped Rutgers, 48-0. Princeton, third of the east's undefeated and untied brigade, handled Lehigh lightly but won 27-0 just the same.

Minnesota, undefeated in 23 successive engagements, took Michigan's Wolverines apart, 40-0, in marching on toward what looks like a certain tie with Ohio State for Big Ten honors. Ohio State nosed out Illinois, 6-0, in a brisk engagement.

Texas Christian routed Texas, 28-0, and Southern Methodist, playing its second game in a week, topped Arkansas, 17-6, to maintain their perfect records, both in and out of the Southwest conference. Rice, beaten only by S. M. U., tripped up Texas A. & M., 17-10, in the Southwest's other conference engagement.

California, tuning up for the meeting with Stanford, shellacked Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific eleven, 39-0, while Stanford, beaten only by U. C. L. A., walloped Montana, 32-0.

Helping the east in its best intersectional record of the year were the Pitt Panthers who nosed out Nebraska's Big Six champions, 6-0.

Penn, back in top form, smashed Penn State, 33-6; Navy won easily from Columbia, 28-7; Duquesne whipped West Virginia, 19-0; Georgetown outscored Manhattan, 13-0, and Brown won its first game of the season, scoring over Boston university, 14-0.

In the south Louisiana State ploughed on toward the Southeastern conference title by stopping Georgia, 13-0. Alabama crushed Georgia Tech, 38-7, Tulane won from Kentucky, 20-13, and Vanderbilt halted Tennessee, 13-7.

Purdue finally returned to form and defeated Iowa, 12-6 in a Big Ten contest. Northwestern shelled Wisconsin into defeat, 32-13, and Indiana trounced Chicago, 24-0. Oklahoma nosed out Kansas State in a Big Six fixture, 3-0.

Southern California and Oregon State captured Pacific Coast conference games, the former stopping Washington State, 20-10, while Oregon State was beating Idaho, 13-0.

Colorado university, Rocky Mountain leader, dropped a 12-6 decision to Kansas of the Big Six. Utah, beaten by Colorado a week ago, came back to stop Colorado State, 14-0. Colorado college defeated Montana State, 14-0, and Utah State won from Brigham Young, 27-0.

PITTSBURGH NOSES OUT NEBRASKA, 6-0

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's gridiron craftsmen nailed Nebraska's offense to the ground this afternoon, chopped holes in the defense and scored a 6 to 0 triumph over the brawny Cornhuskers, champions of the Big Six conference.

Under chill November skies, Sophomore Frank Patrick, 200 pounds of power and speed, split the westerners' line for a touchdown early in the second period to the cheers of 35,000 shivering fans.

He missed the kick and the scoring was over but the Panthers, leading the fight all afternoon, further demonstrated their superiority by clicking off 12 first downs to four for Nebraska and gaining 188 yards from scrimmage to the invaders' 54.

GOPHERS TURN ON POWER TO CRUSH MICHIGAN, 40-0

Minnesota Thunders On Toward Another Big Ten Conference Title

By T. H. Peck
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Minnesota thundered on toward another Western conference title and recognition for a second year as national grid champions today, crushing Michigan 40-0 with an amazing display of straight football power.

It was the 16th straight victory for the powerful Gophers, unbeaten and untied this season. The 30,000 spectators were awed by Minnesota's seemingly endless string of stellar backs and forwards whose blocking relentlessly cut down the Wolverines.

The victory marked the first time a Minnesota eleven has won two years running from Michigan, the Gophers winning in 1934 by a 34-0 score. Today, the "giants of the north," avenging many past defeats, ripped the Michigan defense for six touchdowns, never once permitting the Maize and Blue to seriously threaten.

Three Gopher touchdowns came in the first period, two on sprints of 59 and 72 yards by 168-pound Andy Uram, who had replaced the brilliant Clarence (Tuffy) Thompson. Sheldon Beise scored two touchdowns, and Thompson and Levoir one each.

Thompson ran the opening kickoff back 88 yards, only to be stopped seven yards short of a touchdown, but although Michigan took the ball on downs, Thompson's run forecast the trouble coming for the Michigan eleven when the "Thundering Herd" hit its stride.

Uram and Beise smashed to the eight, from where the latter ripped through for the first score. Within a few minutes Uram had found great holes at left tackle, first slanting through for 59 yards for a touchdown, then scoring on a brilliant dash of 72 yards.

Levoir then joined the touchdown parade, scoring in the second period on a pass from Roscoe after a steady march had put the ball on the 29. The score came after Gmitro, reserve back, had raced 62 yards across the Michigan goal line only to have the play called back for Minnesota tripping.

It was Thompson who contributed the game's most spectacular play. Levoir took the third period kickoff then lateralled to Tuffy, who ran 95 yards to score. The final touchdown, by Beise, ended a devastating march from midfield in the final period.

Minnesota made 13 first downs and gained 432 yards by rushing. Michigan had six first downs, three by rushing, two by passes and one by penalty. The Wolves tried only six passes, finding their ace tosser, Capt. Bill Renner, was getting little protection from the hard charging Gopher forwards.

GENY STARS AS VANDY TRIUMPHS OVER TENNESSEE

Commodore Captain Leads Team To First Victory In Nine Years

By Tom Siler
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Led by the flaming spirit and sensational performance of Captain Willie Geny, the Vanderbilt Commodores today defeated the University of Tennessee, 13 to 7, for the first time in nine years, before a crowd of 15,000.

Unmindful of sloshy mud covering the field and rain that fell during part of the game, Geny paced his mates to a dazzling triumph, scoring both touchdowns himself and shining in all departments of the game.

It was the great play of Geny and his mates that started off the regime of Ray Morrison in high style, his debut against the Vols resulting in a victory that Commodore backers have craved since their 20-3 decision in 1926.

Since that time Tennessee had won six games and tied two.

After Tennessee had received the opening kickoff, Palmer punted from his own 12-yard line to Vandy's 42.

Using nothing except straight line plays, Rand Dixon and Sam Agee battered the Tennessee line, advancing the ball to the Vols' 16-yard line. On the next play Dixon shoveled a pass behind the line to long-legged Geny who raced around left end and over the goal line standing up. Rannie Throgmorton added the extra point from placement, his 14th successful boot out of 15 tries this season.

The vaunted aerial attacks of both teams were practically worthless, Dixon and Woodrow Derryberry, ace passers of the two teams, finding it well nigh impossible to grasp the slippery oval.

Vanderbilt put over its second and clinching tally early in the third quarter.

Most of the second period was spent in Vandy's territory owing to the superb punting of Tennessee's Toby Palmer but the orange offensive found itself impotent before the fast-charging and almost impregnable Commodore forwards.

The Vols put on their only effective show late in the fourth period when the fans were streaming out of the stadium.

Dixon's poor punt out of bounds on his own 21-yard-line paved the way for the touchdown. Red Harp, sub for Derryberry, carried the ball to the 16-yard line, and a pass from Harp to Ditmore, sub for Rose, was allowed when interference was ruled, placing the ball on the 21-yard line.

Lippe and Epperson, sub for Palmer, smashed the Vandy line for a first down on the 1-yard line and then Harp slid off right tackle for the touchdown. Ditmore added the point from placement.

Geny paved the way for this touchdown by blocking Derryberry's punt on the Vols' 28-yard line and Dick Plasman recovered on the 12-yard stripe. Oliver failed to gain at left tackle, and Agee ripped off four through center. Dixon tossed a one-yard pass to Oliver and then flipped a perfect dart to Geny in the end zone. Throgmorton failed to convert from placement.

After the battle supporters of Vanderbilt's black battalion streamed onto the field and tore down the goal posts, but they found they couldn't splinter the iron shafts for souvenirs.

FOOTBALL SQUAD AT MANGHAM HONORED

MANGHAM, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Mangham football boys were honored with a chicken spaghetti supper Wednesday evening at six o'clock in the high school gym. It was given by the home coming department.

The speakers for the evening were Rev. Rodger Baxter, pastor of the Baptist church; Rev. D. W. Poole, pastor of the Methodist church; Dr. C. E. McConnell, W. E. Hixon, E. E. Randall, M. D. McConnell, Coach Godfrey Fleischman and T. A. Judd.

RICE EXTENDED TO BEAT AGGIES, 17-10

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Rice Owls, who had expected to beat the downtrodden Texas Aggies as much as they pleased in their Southwest conference encounter here today, were happy to be able to leave the field triumphant by a margin of a single touchdown.

The score was 17 to 10. The Owls, gathering steam as the game wore on, were forced to come from behind twice to remain in the running for the conference title.

The approximately 15,000 fans who turned out for Rice's Homecoming game were treated to a display of brilliant offensive football. A. and M. which hasn't won a major contest all year, had promised to carry the fight to the Ricemen all the way, and the invaders almost made good on that promise. The Rice "old grads" couldn't be certain that their Homecoming was a complete success until the final gun sounded.

CITIZENS

Of Monroe And Ouachita Parish

Wouldn't you like to see a football game played each year between Neville high school and Ouachita parish high school? It would be a great game for the championship of the community and would attract a capacity crowd.

Surely there is enough real sportsmanship in Monroe and Ouachita parish to have a game like this without any hard feelings or misunderstandings. In other cities there are rivalries just as keen, yet the teams play without mishaps. We are just as good sports here. The boys would enjoy it and the entire parish and city would enjoy it.

Yes, let's have it and donate the entire proceeds to the Goodfellows fund to make some kids happy at Christmas time. Why can't the two schools be gotten together in the name of charity this year and then in the future make the game an annual affair, say on Thanksgiving day, for the community championship?

TWO HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS ARE IDLE

Both Ouachita And Neville Play Final Games On Thanksgiving

Neither the Tigers of Neville High school nor the Lions of Ouachita parish high school, Monroe's two high school football teams, has a game for the coming week, and it will not be before Thanksgiving day that the two elevens will go back into action.

The games Thanksgiving day will mark the close of the season for both the Lions and the Tigers, and they will be facing old rivals in the contests.

The Lions will be at home on that day, meeting the powerful Bolton high school Bears of Alexandria in an afternoon game at Northeast Center of L. S. U.

The Tigers go to Bastrop for their annual Turkey day skirmish. Their battle will also take place in the afternoon.

The battle here between the Lions and the Bruins should be one of the best the locals will have been in this year, as the two teams will be about evenly matched for the battle. The Tigers are doped to defeat Bastrop's Rams by a wide margin, but the Bastrop boys are capable of putting up a stiff fight and can be expected to fight even harder against their old rivals.

The Bears opened their season by defeating Tallulah's Trojans 6 to 0. Ouachita later downed the Trojans by the same score. Byrd of Shreveport eliminated the Bruins from the championship race under a 21 to 6 defeat, and also halted the Lions 31 to 0.

Workouts will continue as usual this week for both elevens, although they are not expected to be pushed to any extent. The Tigers came home yesterday with a 20 to 13 victory over the strong Lafayette Lions and Ouachita triumphed Friday night over the Rayville Hornets 24 to 6.

NOTRE DAME RALLIES TO GET 6-6 TIE WITH ARMY

Three More Previously Unbeaten Teams Suffer Setbacks

Fighting Cadet Team Battles Irish In Thrilling Encounter

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Aided by an extraordinary goal-line "break," Notre Dame put over a touchdown with barely 30 seconds to go and gained a 6 to 6 tie with the Army today in a nerve-tingling finish to one of football's most colorful intersectional battles.

West Point, fighting off a succession of Irish threats in brilliant defense of a lead gained on Monk Meyer's 41-yard touchdown pass to Ed Grove, was a victim of its own over-eagerness just when victory seemed firmly in the grasp of the Soldiers.

Under circumstances reminiscent of the dramatic climax by which Notre Dame triumphed over Ohio State two weeks ago, the Fighting Irish struck desperately through the air in their last attempt to overcome the Cadet lead. The critical and hotly disputed play came on the same type of pass—Bill Shakespeare to Wayne Millner—that decided the battle of Columbus.

It was thrown with the closing seconds ticking away rapidly and the ball in Notre Dame's possession on Army's 29. Millner was surrounded by three Cadets as he reached for the ball and missed but A. W. Palmer of Colby, the field judge, promptly called the pass complete on interference by Ed Grove. Army halfback. Palmer was promptly backed up by the umpire, W. R. Crowley of Bowdoin, and it was Notre Dame's ball, on Army's two-yard stripe, with a half-minute to go. Big Larry Danbom, Notre Dame substitute fullback, dived over the middle of the line for the touchdown everyone knew was coming.

Wally Fromhart took plenty of time in his placement attempt for the extra point but his kick, like Grove's in the first period, went wide of the uprights.

Taking the game as a whole, with Notre Dame registering 14 first downs to Army's four and displaying greater power throughout, the tie score was fair enough.

The opinion of press-box observers as well as the views of the capacity crowd of 80,000 were so sharply divided on the disputed pass by partisanship, that the argument was as much of a deadlock as was the final score. The officials agreed there was no doubt as to interference, as they saw it, and that was that.

Regardless of the controversial finish, the huge crowd, including former President Hoover among its host of notables, witnessed a thrilling renewal of this colorful intersectional rivalry with Army, a 1 to 2 shot before-hand, giving the favored, green-shirted Ramblers a terrific battle all the way.

Allen Wins Dollar When L. S. U. Tramples Georgia

Georgia Governor Is Loser; 3,500 Louisianians Invade Athens

By J. R. Triplett
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—Gov. O. K. Allen of Louisiana won a dollar bill from Georgia's governor, Eugene Talmadge today as Louisiana State's legions went marching through Georgia in a football spectacle reminiscent of their 29 to 0 conquest of Vanderbilt under Huey P Long last fall.

"Gimme my money," demanded the silver-haired Louisiana executive, as cheers greeted the last period touchdown which brought the score to 13 to 0 in favor of L. S. U. "It was a fine game, wasn't it?"

"Okeh," assented Talmadge. "You find the stakeholder."

They set off together in a crowd of 20,000 to find him.

The wager was made as the executives were en route here this morning aboard a special train for the game. Talmadge joined the Allen party in Atlanta.

"I'll gamble a dollar on the game," suggested Talmadge, "here's a Georgia dollar—one that won't shrink."

"Well, I never did much gambling, but here's a dollar on the Tigers," said Allen.

Foul weather and the absence of Senator Long, who was assassinated September 8 in the magnificent state capitol he built at Baton Rouge, were the principal points of contrast to the climax of the Long-conducted excursion of the Louisiana Tigers to Nashville, Tenn., in 1934.

Governor Allen, in keeping with the wishes of the share-our-wealth advocate who shared his in loans at $6.50 per student for the Nashville trip and was said to have got it back to the penny, arranged for Louisiana Staters who needed cash to borrow $11 each—repayable in three installments.

Including a grey-clad regiment of cadets, 165 men band and 50 co-ed pepsters who got their trip free, more than 3,500 Louisianians were brought here on five special trains for the classic.

From the station to the town square Louisiana State cadets marched afoot, led by the black and blue caped University of Georgia band. Talmadge and Allen strode between it and an 80-piece unit of the Louisiana State band whose first selection was Long's march, "Every Man a King."

Neither offered to take the baton of Burns Bennett, high-stepping drum major from Pine Bluff, Ark., as the "kingfish" was wont to do when Lew Williams, now graduated, headed the cadet band parades. They simply hunched their shoulders against the drizzle and walked.

Georgia set up a strong resistance on the gridiron, but it wasn't strong enough.

The visitors went places in the best tradition of William Tecumseh Sherman, who, before he was called to service against the Confederacy, headed the old Louisiana war school which became Louisiana State.

Cavalry—it was there in the 95-yard first period touchdown race of Jesse Fatherree, dark haired halfback and an "A" student.

For infantry there were power drives through the line. Such passes and punters as Abe Mickal and Bill Crass, handicapped a bit by the weather, were the big guns of the offense.

All the visitors needed was fire, and they had an excellent substitute for that in the leather-lunged exultations of the students.

When Governor Talmadge joined the train in Atlanta the Louisiana governor remarked:

"We are not going to talk politics. We are going to play this game."

As the governors settled down for the trip to Athens, however, the discussion of football did not last long. The two soon branched off into politics.

As the train neared Athens the Georgia governor remarked to the governor of Louisiana:

"We agree on everything, governor, except the football game."

Among those in Allen's party were President James Monroe Smith of L. S. U. and Mrs. Smith, Adjutant General Ray Fleming, Judge Richard W. Leche, gubernatorial candidate, State Senators Harvey Peltier, and Fred Oser; the governor's two sons, O. K. Junior and Asa Benton, Major E. N. Jackson, Col. Frank Williams and others.

In addition to Governor and Mrs. Talmadge, the Georgia party included Adjutant General Lindley W. Camp and about forty members of the governor's staff.

ONLY SEVEN LEFT IN STRUGGLE FOR NATIONAL HONORS

North Carolina, Marquette And Syracuse Removed From Picture

Three more hitherto unbeaten and untied football teams—North Carolina, Marquette and Syracuse—bit the dust yesterday by an aggregate margin of 12 touchdowns and left a "big seven" to carry on for national championship honors.

While these three were suffering crushing defeats at the hands of Duke, Temple and Colgate, respectively, California in the far west, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian in the southwest, Minnesota in the middle west and Dartmouth, Princeton and New York university were protecting perfect records with comparative ease.

Although the game carried no championship label, most of the day's drama was reserved for the Yankee stadium in New York where Notre Dame came from behind in the last 30 seconds of play to tie Army, 6-6, before a crowd of 80,000. The Shakespeare-Millner passing combination clicked long enough to put the ball on the two-yard line and Larry Dansom plunged over for the score that offset Monk Meyer's 41-yard touchdown pass to Ed Grove early in the first period.

North Carolina's aspirations for a Southern conference title and a possible bid to the Rose Bowl were shattered by Duke's enterprising outfit which crushed the Tarheels, 25-0 in a shocking rout. Marquette likewise found itself badly outclassed and went down before Temple, 26-6. Syracuse, outplayed from start to finish, fell before Colgate, 27-0.

Meanwhile Dartmouth, finding a really effective passing attack for the first time, trounced Cornell, 41-7, and New York university, almost as impressive, walloped Rutgers, 48-0. Princeton, third of the east's undefeated and untied brigade, handled Lehigh lightly but won 27-0 just the same.

Minnesota, undefeated in 23 successive engagements, took Michigan's Wolverines apart, 40-0, in marching on toward what looks like a certain tie with Ohio State for Big Ten honors. Ohio State nosed out Illinois, 6-0, in a brisk engagement.

Texas Christian routed Texas, 28-0, and Southern Methodist, playing its second game in a week, topped Arkansas, 17-6, to maintain their perfect records, both in and out of the Southwest conference. Rice, beaten only by S. M. U., tripped up Texas A. & M., 17-10, in the Southwest's other conference engagement.

California, tuning up for the meeting with Stanford, shellacked Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific eleven, 39-0, while Stanford, beaten only by U. C. L. A., walloped Montana, 32-0.

Helping the east in its best intersectional record of the year were the Pitt Panthers who nosed out Nebraska's Big Six champions, 6-0.

Penn, back in top form, smashed Penn State, 33-6; Navy won easily from Columbia, 28-7; Duquesne whipped West Virginia, 19-0; Georgetown outscored Manhattan, 13-0, and Brown won its first game of the season, scoring over Boston university, 14-0.

In the south Louisiana State ploughed on toward the Southeastern conference title by stopping Georgia, 13-0. Alabama crushed Georgia Tech, 38-7. Tulane won from Kentucky, 20-13, and Vanderbilt halted Tennessee, 13-7.

Purdue finally returned to form and defeated Iowa, 12-6 in a Big Ten contest. Northwestern shelled Wisconsin into defeat, 32-13, and Indiana trounced Chicago, 24-0. Oklahoma nosed out Kansas State in a Big Six fixture, 3-0.

Southern California and Oregon State captured Pacific Coast conference games, the former stopping Washington State, 20-10, while Oregon State was beating Idaho, 13-0.

Colorado university, Rocky Mountain leader, dropped a 12-6 decision to Kansas of the Big Six. Utah, beaten by Colorado a week ago, came back to stop Colorado State, 14-0. Colorado college defeated Montana State, 14-0, and Utah State won from Brigham Young, 27-0.

PITTSBURGH NOSES OUT NEBRASKA, 6-0

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's gridiron craftsmen nailed Nebraska's offense to the ground this afternoon, chopped holes in the defense and scored a 6 to 0 triumph over the brawny Cornhuskers, champions of the Big Six conference.

Under chill November skies, Sophomore Frank Patrick, 200 pounds of power and speed, split the westerners' line for a touchdown early in the second period to the cheers of 35,000 shivering fans.

He missed the kick and the scoring was over but the Panthers, leading the fight all afternoon, further demonstrated their superiority by clicking off 12 first downs to four for Nebraska and gaining 188 yards from scrimmage to the invaders' 54.

GOPHERS TURN ON POWER TO CRUSH MICHIGAN, 40-0

Minnesota Thunders On Toward Another Big Ten Conference Title

By T. H. Peck
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Minnesota thundered on toward another Western conference title and recognition for a second year as national grid champions today, crushing Michigan 40-0 with an amazing display of straight football power.

It was the 16th straight victory for the powerful Gophers, unbeaten and untied this season. The 30,000 spectators were awed by Minnesota's seemingly endless string of stellar backs and forwards whose blocking relentlessly cut down the Wolverines.

The victory marked the first time a Minnesota eleven has won two years running from Michigan, the Gophers winning in 1934 by a 34-0 score. Today, the "giants of the north," avenging many past defeats, ripped the Michigan defense for six touchdowns, never once permitting the Maize and Blue to seriously threaten.

Three Gopher touchdowns came in the first period, two on sprints of 59 and 72 yards by 168-pound Andy Uram, who had replaced the brilliant Clarence (Tuffy) Thompson. Sheldon Beise scored two touchdowns, and Thompson and Levoir one each.

Thompson ran the opening kickoff back 88 yards, only to be stopped seven yards short of a touchdown, but although Michigan took the ball on downs, Thompson's run forecast the trouble coming for the Michigan eleven when the "Thundering Herd" hit its stride.

Uram and Beise smashed to the eight, from where the latter ripped through for the first score. Within a few minutes Uram had found great holes at left tackle, first slanting through for 59 yards for a touchdown, then scoring on a brilliant dash of 72 yards.

Levoir then joined the touchdown parade, scoring in the second period on a pass from Roscoe after a steady march had put the ball on the 29. The score came after Gmitro, reserve back, had raced 62 yards across the Michigan goal line only to have the play called back for Minnesota tripping.

It was Thompson who contributed the game's most spectacular play. Levoir took the third period kickoff then lateralled to Tuffy, who ran 95 yards to score. The final touchdown, by Beise, ended a devastating march from midfield in the final period.

Minnesota made 13 first downs and gained 432 yards by rushing. Michigan had six first downs, three by rushing, two by passes and one by penalty. The Wolves tried only six passes, finding their ace tosser, Capt. Bill Renner, was getting little protection from the hard charging Gopher forwards.

GENY STARS AS VANDY TRIUMPHS OVER TENNESSEE

Commodore Captain Leads Team To First Victory In Nine Years

By Tom Siler
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Led by the flaming spirit and sensational performance of Captain Willie Geny, the Vanderbilt Commodores today defeated the University of Tennessee, 13 to 7, for the first time in nine years, before a crowd of 15,000.

Unmindful of sloshy mud covering the field and rain that fell during part of the game, Geny paced his mates to a dazzling triumph, scoring both touchdowns himself and shining in all departments of the game.

It was the great play of Geny and his mates that started off the regime of Ray Morrison in high style, his debut against the Vols resulting in a victory that Commodore backers have craved since their 20-3 decision in 1926.

Since that time Tennessee had won six games and tied two.

After Tennessee had received the opening kickoff, Palmer punted from his own 12-yard line to Vandy's 42.

Using nothing except straight line plays, Rand Dixon and Sam Agee battered the Tennessee line, advancing the ball to the Vols' 16-yard line. On the next play Dixon shoveled a pass behind the line to long-legged Geny who raced around left end and over the goal line standing up. Rannie Throgmorton added the extra point from placement, his 14th successful boot out of 15 tries this season.

The vaunted aerial attacks of both teams were practically worthless, Dixon and Woodrow Derryberry, ace passers of the two teams, finding it well nigh impossible to grasp the slippery oval.

Vanderbilt put over its second and clinching tally early in the third quarter.

The Vols put on their only effective show late in the fourth period when the fans were streaming out of the stadium.

Dixon's poor punt out of bounds on his own 21-yard-line paved the way for the touchdown. Red Harp, sub for Derryberry, carried the ball to the 16-yard line, and a pass from Harp to Ditmore, sub for Rose, was allowed when interference was ruled, placing the ball on the 21-yard line.

Lippe and Epperson, sub for Palmer, smashed the Vandy line for a first down on the 1-yard line and then Harp slid off right tackle for the touchdown. Ditmore added the point from placement.

Geny paved the way for this touchdown by blocking Derryberry's punt on the Vols' 28-yard line and Dick Plasman recovered on the 12-yard stripe. Oliver failed to gain at left tackle, and Agee ripped off four through center. Dixon tossed a one-yard pass to Oliver and then flipped a perfect dart to Geny in the end zone. Throgmorton failed to convert from placement.

After the battle supporters of Vanderbilt's black battalion streamed onto the field and tore down the goal posts, but they found they couldn't splinter the iron shafts for souvenirs.

FOOTBALL SQUAD AT MANGHAM HONORED

MANGHAM, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Mangham football boys were honored with a chicken spaghetti supper Wednesday evening at six o'clock in the high school gym. It was given by the home coming department.

The speakers for the evening were Rev. Rodger Baxter, pastor of the Baptist church; Rev. I. W. Poole, pastor of the Methodist church; Dr. C. E. McConnell, W. E. Hixon, E. E. Randall, M. D. McConnell, Coach Godfrey Fleischman and T. A. Judd.

RICE EXTENDED TO BEAT AGGIES, 17-10

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Rice Owls, who had expected to beat the downtrodden Texas Aggies as much as they pleased in their Southwest conference encounter here today, were happy to be able to leave the field triumphant by a margin of a single touchdown.

The score was 17 to 10. The Owls, gathering steam as the game wore on, were forced to come from behind twice to remain in the running for the conference title.

The approximately 15,000 fans who turned out for Rice's Homecoming game were treated to a display of brilliant offensive football. A. and M. which hasn't won a major contest all year, had promised to carry the fight to the Ricemen all the way, and the invaders almost made good on that promise. The Rice "old grads" couldn't be certain that their Homecoming was a complete success until the final gun sounded.

CITIZENS

Of Monroe And Ouachita Parish

Wouldn't you like to see a football game played each year between Neville high school and Ouachita parish high school? It would be a great game for the championship of the community and would attract a capacity crowd.

Surely there is enough real sportsmanship in Monroe and Ouachita parish to have a game like this without any hard feelings or misunderstandings. In other cities there are rivalries just as keen, yet the teams play without mishaps. We are just as good sports here. The boys would enjoy it and the entire parish and city would enjoy it.

Yes, let's have it and donate the entire proceeds to the Goodfellows fund to make some kids happy at Christmas time. Why can't the two schools be gotten together in the name of charity this year and then in the future make the game an annual affair, say on Thanksgiving day, for the community championship?

WESTENBERG-LARUE MATCH TOPS THURSDAY CARD

FRENCHMAN GIVEN CRACK AT MARVIN IN FEATURE BOUT

Bruscato Seeks Newcomers For Semi-Final; Boxing Bout Booked

Frenchie LaRue, rugged Canadian grappler, will tackle Marvin Westenberg, clever southern Californian, in the main event of the weekly wrestling card at Roosevelt stadium Thursday night, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced last night.

Both Westenberg and LaRue won their matches in straight falls at the stadium last week, and Bruscato believes they will furnish plenty of action on the coming card.

Westenberg, who claims the southern heavyweight wrestling title, gave a convincing demonstration of his ability when he defeated Al Sparks, a rough Alabaman, in last week's feature match and if he continues to show the same class, there will be few stadium fans who will dispute his claim to the sectional title.

Westenberg showed a variety of holds in beating the tough Sparks in straight falls. He was particularly effective with a body scissors but didn't rely on that alone to down his opponent. He will weigh in at around 225 pounds, giving him a slight advantage in weight over LaRue.

The Frenchman defeated Hank Metheney, the Missouri ruffian, in the other match last week and thus earned a crack at Westenberg. LaRue won the first fall and then was awarded the second when Metheney carried his fouls too far and was disqualified by Referee Butch Martin.

LaRue gave an exhibition of clean wrestling last week, but whether or not he'll stick to the straight and narrow against Westenberg remains to be seen. Frenchie can work both ways, but it's likely that he will revert to his old ways against a grappler as clever as the westerner. Although LaRue also knows plenty of holds, it is doubtful if he can match grips with Westenberg in a straight match, and Frenchie no doubt will find it advantageous to resort to a few tricks of the trade.

Bruscato announced last night that he is attempting to book two newcomers here for the semi-final match. The local promoter has said that he will bring better boys here, and he started his campaign for improvement last week.

As an added attraction for Thursday's show, there will be a bit of boxing to entertain the fans. Bruscato hasn't announced his complete card, but said he would book a couple of willing mixers for the mitt slinging act.

The promoter announced that the admission price for the big Thursday show would be 55 cents, including government tax.

OLE MISS TRIMS CENTRE, 26 TO 0

Praying Colonels No Match For Walkermen In Homecoming Game

DANVILLE, Ky., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Centre college's suicide schedule brought the Praying Colonels their sixth defeat of the season today as a vastly superior University of Mississippi football team chagrined a homecoming day crowd by trimming the locals 26 to 0.

Paced by bulky Runt Hapes, who was in on every play, Ole Miss ran rough-shod over the Colonels and piled up 17 first downs against four for Centre.

Cold rain that fell almost all day cut deeply into the expected homecoming crowd and officials of the school estimated there were only 3,500 paying customers in the stands.

Centre was unable to get anywhere with the Ole Miss line and resorted to passes time after time. Attempting 16 and completing five against five completed out of 11 tries by the visitors.

Runt Hapes personally gained more yards from scrimmage than the entire Centre team. Ploughing through the center of the Colonel's line repeatedly for big gains until replaced by Bernard in the final quarter.

Score by periods:

Mississippi	0	7	7	12—26

Mississippi scoring touchdowns: Ray Hapes (3), Bernard. Point after touchdown, Richardson (placement); Runt Hapes (placement).

AUBURN OVERWHELMS OGLETHORPE, 51 TO 0

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Oglethorpe Petrels were smothered by Alabama Poly here today as the Tigers romped at will to win 51-0.

Playing with a flock of substitutes from the beginning of the second period the Plainsmen drove straight to touchdowns almost every time they got the ball.

TROJANS RALLY TO TRIM COUGARS, 20-10

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 16.—(AP)—In the wildest exhibition of wide open pass-throwing shown by any major western football team this year, Southern California came from behind to beat Washington State 20 to 10 here today.

Forty thousand fans cheered lustily as the Trojans, after trailing 10 to 0 going into the fourth period, traveled the air lanes for three quick touchdowns to win their first major encounter of the season.

The touchdown drives were engineered by Davie Davis, 168-pound quarterback, who pitched passes with unerring accuracy.

Troy completed half of its 22 tosses for 200 yards.

Coach Orien (Babe) Hollingberry's team kept the ball in Trojan territory through the first period and then cashed in for their touchdown midway through the second.

DELHI BEARS BEAT WINNSBORO, 7 TO 2

DELHI, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Delhi Bears, licking their wounds in the last three straight gridiron encounters, took revenge on the Winnsboro Wildcats Friday, 7 to 2.

Led by King Ingram, as flashy a halfback as ever stepped in a Delhi uniform, and James Wood, Delhi's other nominee for all-state honors in the backfield, the Delhi Bears started with a bang. Taking the ball away from the Wildcats on their own forty, the Bears started a drive that carried them to Winnsboro's ten, where the ball went over and Winnsboro had to punt out. Soon the Bears on a series of off-tackle, shuffle-passes, and spinners had carried the ball deep into Wildcat territory again. Taking the boll on Wildcat 15 yard line Ingram stepped over the goal line standing up and Wood converted by placement.

Winnsboro received and began to flash a powerful running and passing attack of their own as the Bears relaxed. The Wildcats took the ball down to Delhi's 4 yard line where the ball went over with but 10 seconds remaining in the half. Wood dropped back to punt and the punt was blocked. Wood recovered for a safety against Delhi and the scoring was over.

The stars in the Delhi line were Johnson at guard who stopped the Wildcats time after time; Halbert, Tamburo, Simms, Gilliland, Leggett, and Crawford. For Winnsboro, Bradley, an end who carried the ball on many end arounds, Bankston, Holstein in the backfield were a couple of hard driving backs.

Next Thursday the Bears tackle the strong Columbia team in Columbia.

WILDCATS DEFEAT NORMAL, 12 TO 6

Touchdowns In Final Quarter Give Louisiana College Victory

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Louisiana college's Wildcats duplicated their victory at Natchitoches last month by defeating the State Normal Demons in Pineville tonight, 12 to 6. The Cats beat the Demons on their own field by the same score in the first of the two-game series.

All of the scoring was crowded into the last 16 minutes of the ball game. While the Cats outgained Normal, 258 to 136, Normal had the most first downs, 10 to 8. Mahfouz passed 14 yards to Carlton for Normal's touchdown late in the third quarter.

Following the kickoff, R. O. Rush tore through the Demon line for a 51 yard dash to Normal's 7. He went off tackle to score and as the try for point was wide the score was tied 6-6. Shortly afterwards Bun Dolan intercepted a Normal pass on Normal's 10 and Rush again scored.

TEXAS CHRISTIANS TRIM TEXAS, 28-0

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Undefeated Texas Christian university's purple-clad juggernaut, led by Sammy Baugh, an uncanny pass bomber, trounced the University of Texas, 28 to 0 here today.

Baugh riddled the Texas defense with his bullet like passes. Seven of his 15 flips were good, three ending in touchdowns.

Christian dominated the play with the exception of a few early minutes, when Texas forced its way to the three-yard marker. The invaders tightened there.

The first Frog touchdown grew out of a 25-yard pass from Baugh to Walls, who ran 20 more to score. In the second period Baugh shot a 32-yard pass to Clark, then flipped one 11 yards to Lawrence for another touchdown. He shot a pass across the goal line to the waiting Meyer for the third counter in the third period and a blocked kick and a 31-yard run by Roach concluded the scoring.

OKLAHOMA DEFEATS KANSAS STATE, 3-0

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A 13-yard placekick from a sharp angle gave the University of Oklahoma a 3 to 0 victory over Kansas State here today in a Big Six conference football game on a muddy field.

Bill Breeden, Sooner halfback, kicked the goal from the 13-yard line to send a sodden ball tumbling between the goal posts.

RUNNING ATTACK OF BLUE DEVILS ROUTS TAR HEELS

Carolina Stars Bottled Up And Rose Bowl Hopes Go Glimmering

By Eddie Brietz
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

DUKE STADIUM, DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—North Carolina's Rose Bowl aspirations were knocked higher than a kite today when a smart, well coached Duke eleven climaxed a so-so season with a stunning 25 to 0 upset before nearly 47,000 rain-soaked spectators—the largest football gallery in southern gridiron history.

Duke's surprise victory also toppled the Tar Heels from the rapidly thinning ranks of the nation's undefeated elevens after they had rolled up seven straight triumphs.

Duke's powerful running attack scored a touchdown in the second period, another in the third and two markers in the fourth. North Carolina was completely outplayed. The Tar Heels made 13 first downs to five, but could not make them count.

Obviously carefully groomed, Coach Wallace Wade's big forwards stopped North Carolina's running attack cold and completely bottled up the vaunted forward passing combination of Don Jackson, the Tar Heel's all-America candidate, and Dick Buck, his running mate.

Duke strode to two of its four touchdowns on intercepted passes from Jackson. Jule Ward of Galax, Va., and Clarence (Ace) Parker of Portsmouth, Va., galloped 47 and 30 yards for the others.

The best player on the field was this same Parker, Duke's hustling quarterback, who was here, there and everywhere, kicking, passing and running and played 57 of the minutes of the hard-hitting football game.

Duke hopped into the lead early in the second period. Duke took a North Carolina punt, gave the ball to Ward who skipped 47 yards for the first score. His try for point was short.

A break helped Duke score its next touchdown. Midway in the third period, Parker punted deep into the Carolina territory. The ball bounced out of bounds, then bounded back on the one yard line. Jackson flipped a pass toward Buck from behind the goal line, but Jack Hennemier, Duke center, snagged it on the six yard line and three plays later Ward scored. Sam Gardner added the point.

A hectic fourth quarter saw the Dukes count two more touchdowns. After North Carolina had marched down the field from its 37 yard line to the Blue Devil 14, Jackson Alexander pulled down one of Jackson's aerials, tucked the ball under his arm and blithely skipped 95 yards for a score. Parker added the point. Later in the same period, Ward snagged one of Jackson's passes on North Carolina's 32. Parker got two yards and then ran for a touchdown on the next play. Ward missed the goal.

Carolina had only two good scoring opportunities and tossed both away. In the second, the Tar Heels charged down to Duke's nine. After three passes were broken up they called on Babe Daniel for a field goal from the 20 yard line. It failed. Their most sustained drive was in the fourth before Alexander dragged down Jackson's heave and converted it into a Duke touchdown with his long run.

The starting lineups:

North Carolina	Pos.	Duke
Buck	LE	West
Trimpey	LT	Brunansky
Joyce	LG	Johnston
Daniel	C	Hennemier
Webb	RG	Cardwell
Evins	RT	Durner
Bershak	RE	Taliaferro
Snyder	QB	Hackney
Montgomery	LH	Gardner
Jackson	RH	Ward
Hutchins	FB	Parker

Duke	0	6	7	12—25

Scoring touchdowns: Alexander (2) (sub for Hackney), Ward, Parker. Point after touchdown: Gardner (placement).

Officials: Referee, W. E. Arnold (Auburn); umpire, Walter Powell (Wisconsin); headlinesman, S. D. Jackson (Emory and Henry); field judge, Wilson Collins Vanderbilt).

COLUMBIA WALLOPS GLENMORA, 32 TO 0

COLUMBIA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Columbia Crimson Tide defeated the Glenmore Wildcats, 32 to 0 on the local gridiron, with Lee and Hawkins leading the attack.

The scoring began when Columbia marched from Glenmora's forty yard line. Lee, shifty halfback, went over center for one yard and Hawkins placed kicked for the extra point.

The second quarter found Columbia in possession of the ball on their own 25 yard line. Lee again carried the ball for a touchdown, galloping 75 yards behind perfect interference. The second half began with Columbia receiving, and marching directly to Glenmora's twenty yard line. A pass from Corley to Hawkins netted Columbia another touchdown.

The fourth quarter found Columbia's entire B team playing inspired ball. Harrelson intercepted a pass and ran forty-five yards. The try was good, a pass, Traylor to May. Lee again took a pass for twenty yards and a touchdown later in the period.

The forward wall played great ball with Martin, Duke, Tichell, Kelly, and Hawkins charging mightily.

Tech Players See Tough Struggle With Wildcats

Close Battle Is Prediction Of Bulldogs Turned Reporters

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—This correspondent never knows whether he has made himself a bed of roses or one of thorns until the Monroe Morning World arrives with some grist of the gridiron at Louisiana Tech. If he refers to the Tech football players as "the finest flock of Fidoes that ever came out of the local kennels," then he is beset with bouquets. But if, before some game, he says that the "mental attitude" of the Techmen is alleged to be below par, then he is favored with glances of lofty disdain.

So Sunday morning will be one after-breakfast when this correspondent will grasp his morning newspaper with steady hands, hands that have been washed of all responsibility. The job has been turned over to the football players themselves, and they have happily agreed to do their own ballyhoo-ing, for their game with Louisiana college, to be played at Pineville, Saturday afternoon, November 23. Following are some of the correspondence donations, quoted as nearly verbatim as the law of the press allows.

Meditations By "Mohawk"

Ben (Mohawk) Phillips, Glenmora, a varsity end, observes that "neither previous scores nor scrap books mean a thing in the annual football game between Louisiana Tech and Louisiana college. Tech has speed, where Louisiana college has power. The game will be a match of speed and deception, versus brawn.

"In Rush, Whatley and Small, Louisiana college has a combination that has worked. Brister, an end, is reputed to be one of the fastest in the conference.

"An advantage that evens the teams up is the fact that the game will be Louisiana college's homecoming event, and naturally the boys will put on the 'dog.'" "But," he concludes, "neither team will be the underdog."

Ruple As A Reporter

Bill Ruple of Ruple, Tech's alternate captain and a guard, reports: "After a three-day lay-off this week, the Tech Bulldogs have been hard at work for the Louisiana college game in Pineville, November 23. Having been defeated only in Millsaps' 21-20 upset, the Techmen should go into the game as heavy favorites; but owing to Louisiana college's stellar ball playing when up against the Techmen, the game will be a toss-up.

"It has been pointed out and proved many times that the Wildcats play over their heads and upset all dope sheets. When they tangle with the Bulldogs, the Wildcats also play harder and 'click' better when they are the so-called underdogs. The Wildcats have defeated stronger teams than the Bulldogs, including Loyola university, 7-6, and they have whipped the University of Mexico, 27-7."

Coody's Correspondence

Homer L. Coody, an end, who learned to coo at Coushatta, put this in writing: "When Louisiana Tech and Louisiana college meet on the Pineville gridiron, the spectators are looking for a fast and flashy, head-to-head ball game, from every angle. There have been a few days of rest here, and a revised edition of determination to conquer old rivals. Therefore, the onlookers could hardly be disappointed for a moment when the clash comes, November 23.

"For Tech, a stone is not left unturned that might help in some way for the Bulldogs to rout the Wildcats, and show the ex-Cats and the homecoming crowd that they have no mismatch for such a big event for the home town.

"This tilt will top the S. I. A. A. card in Louisiana next week-end.

"Tech and the Rustonites really believe in their Red and Blue gridsters this season and are proving it by planning to fill a special train and follow their team to the Pineville battle ground. They want to see their team live up to their expectations and bring back the hide of the highly-touted Wildcats."

As Stated By Stamm

Henry Stamm of Bonita, a Tech tackle, makes the following comment: "After a few days rest from the gridiron, the Tech Bulldogs returned to the practice field behind the stadium Thursday, and went through light fundamentals to keep warm and limber up. All of the boys showed lots of pep the first day back.

"Coach McLane is anxious for the sun to shine so that hard practice can be resumed for the Louisiana college game.

"All of the injured are expected to be in tip-top shape for the Wildcat clash.

"Louisiana college has a team somewhat heavier than the Bulldogs. The game with the Wildcats is going to be another one of the Bulldogs' hard games of the season."

Counting to keep in step, two young men and a girl, their arms about each other's shoulders, recently marched to the brink of Japan's famous "suicide crater," Mihara, and leaped.

To the
of Ouachita Parish

As is generally known, almost the entire body of Black Bayou Lake and surrounding land is owned by Southern Carbon Company. It has been the policy of the company to keep the lake open to hunters and fishermen without restriction. However, there has been so much abuse of this privilege and law violations have been so frequent, that we find it necessary to change our policy in the interest of game preservation and protection of law-abiding sportsmen.

We, therefore, are posting the lake and surrounding land against trespassing. It is not intended thereby to bar the public from the premises, and permission will freely be given to all who desire to hunt or fish there with proper observance of our regulations. Cards may be obtained by application to employes of the company. Seining will be prohibited, and anyone caught seining the lake will be prosecuted. There must be no hunting out of season or in violation of law. No duck shooting will be permitted after 12 o'clock noon and the lake must be cleared of hunters by 2 p.m. Any person violating these rules will be considered a trespasser. These regulations will work no hardship upon true sportsmen, and, on the other hand, will, we believe, make for better fishing and hunting. Assistance in enforcing these rules is asked.

DELHI BEARS BEAT WINNSBORO, 7 TO 2

DELHI, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Delhi Bears, licking their wounds in the last three straight gridiron encounters, took revenge on the Winnsboro Wildcats Friday, 7 to 2.

Led by King Ingram, as flashy a halfback as ever stepped in a Delhi uniform, and James Wood, Delhi's other nominee for all-state honors in the backfield, the Delhi Bears started with a bang. Taking the ball away from the Wildcats on their own forty, the Bears started a drive that carried them to Winnsboro's ten, where the ball went over and Winnsboro had to punt out. Soon the Bears on a series of off-tackle, shuffle-passes, and spinners had carried the ball deep into Wildcat territory again. Taking the boll on Wildcat 15 yard line Ingram stepped over the goal line standing up and Wood converted by placement.

Winnsboro received and began to flash a powerful running and passing attack of their own as the Bears relaxed. The Wildcats took the ball down to Delhi's 4 yard line where the ball went over with but 10 seconds remaining in the half. Wood dropped back to punt and the punt was blocked. Wood recovered for a safety against Delhi and the scoring was over.

The stars in the Delhi line were Johnson at guard who stopped the Wildcats time after time; Halbert, Tamburo, Simms, Gilliland, Leggett, and Crawford. For Winnsboro, Bradley, an end who carried the ball on many end arounds, Bankston, Holstein in the backfield were a couple of hard driving backs.

Next Thursday the Bears tackle the strong Columbia team in Columbia.

Touchdowns In Final Quarter Give Louisiana College Victory

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Louisiana college's Wildcats duplicated their victory at Natchitoches last month by defeating the State Normal Demons in Pineville tonight, 12 to 6. The Cats beat the Demons on their own field by the same score in the first of the two-game series.

All of the scoring was crowded into the last 16 minutes of the ball game. While the Cats outgained Normal, 258 to 136, Normal had the most first downs, 10 to 8. Mahfouz passed 14 yards to Carlton for Normal's touchdown late in the third quarter.

Following the kickoff, R. O. Rush tore through the Demon line for a 51 yard dash to Normal's 7. He went off tackle to score and as the try for point was wide the score was tied 6-6. Shortly afterwards Bun Dolan intercepted a Normal pass on Normal's 10 and Rush again scored.

TEXAS CHRISTIANS TRIM TEXAS, 28-0

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Undefeated Texas Christian university's purple-clad juggernaut, led by Sammy Baugh, an uncanny pass bomber, trounced the University of Texas, 28 to 0 here today.

Baugh riddled the Texas defense with his bullet like passes. Seven of his 15 flips were good, three ending in touchdowns.

Christian dominated the play with the exception of a few early minutes, when Texas forced its way to the three-yard marker. The invaders tightened there.

The first Frog touchdown grew out of a 25-yard pass from Baugh to Walls, who ran 20 more to score. In the second period Baugh shot a 32-yard pass to Clark, then flipped one 11 yards to Lawrence for another touchdown. He shot a pass across the goal line to the waiting Meyer for the third counter in the third period and a blocked kick and a 31-yard run by Roach concluded the scoring.

OKLAHOMA DEFEATS KANSAS STATE, 3-0

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A 13-yard placekick from a sharp angle gave the University of Oklahoma a 3 to 0 victory over Kansas State here today in a Big Six conference football game on a muddy field.

Bill Breeden, Sooner halfback, kicked the goal from the 13-yard line to send a sodden ball tumbling between the goal posts.

RUNNING ATTACK OF BLUE DEVILS ROUTS TAR HEELS

Carolina Stars Bottled Up And Rose Bowl Hopes Go Glimmering

By Eddie Brietz
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

DUKE STADIUM, DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—North Carolina's Rose Bowl aspirations were knocked higher than a kite today when a smart, well coached Duke eleven climaxed a so-so season with a stunning 25 to 0 upset before nearly 47,000 rain-soaked spectators—the largest football gallery in southern gridiron history.

Duke's surprise victory also toppled the Tar Heels from the rapidly thinning ranks of the nation's undefeated elevens after they had rolled up seven straight triumphs.

Duke's powerful running attack scored a touchdown in the second period, another in the third and two markers in the fourth. North Carolina was completely outplayed. The Tar Heels made 13 first downs to five, but could not make them count.

Obviously carefully groomed, Coach Wallace Wade's big forwards stopped North Carolina's running attack cold and completely bottled up the vaunted forward passing combination of Don Jackson, the Tar Heel's all-America candidate, and Dick Buck, his running mate.

Duke strode to two of its four touchdowns on intercepted passes from Jackson. Jule Ward of Galax, Va., and Clarence (Ace) Parker of Portsmouth, Va., galloped 47 and 30 yards for the others.

The best player on the field was this same Parker, Duke's hustling quarterback, who was here, there and everywhere, kicking, passing and running and played 57 of the minutes of the hard-hitting football game.

Duke hopped into the lead early in the second period. Duke took a North Carolina punt, gave the ball to Ward who skipped 47 yards for the first score. His try for point was short.

A break helped Duke score its next touchdown. Midway in the third period, Parker punted deep into the Carolina territory. The ball bounced out of bounds, then bounded back on the one yard line. Jackson flipped a pass toward Buck from behind the goal line, but Jack Hennemier, Duke center, snagged it on the six yard line and three plays later Ward scored. Sam Gardner added the point.

A hectic fourth quarter saw the Dukes count two more touchdowns. After North Carolina had marched down the field from its 37 yard line to the Blue Devil 14, Jackson Alexander pulled down one of Jackson's aerials, tucked the ball under his arm and blithely skipped 95 yards for a score. Parker added the point. Later in the same period, Ward snagged one of Jackson's passes on North Carolina's 32. Parker got two yards and then ran for a touchdown on the next play. Ward missed the goal.

Carolina had only two good scoring opportunities and tossed both away. In the second, the Tar Heels charged down to Duke's nine. After three passes were broken up they called on Babe Daniel for a field goal from the 20 yard line. It failed. Their most sustained drive was in the fourth before Alexander dragged down Jackson's heave and converted it into a Duke touchdown with his long run.

The starting lineups:

North Carolina	Pos.	Duke
Buck	LE	West
Trimpey	LT	Brunansky
Joyce	LG	Johnston
Daniel	C	Hennemier
Webb	RG	Cardwell
Evins	RT	Durner

Duke	0	6	7	12	25

Scoring touchdowns: Alexander (2) (sub for Hackney), Ward, Parker. Point after touchdown: Gardner (placement).

COLUMBIA WALLOPS GLENMORA, 32 TO 0

COLUMBIA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Columbia Crimson Tide defeated the Glenmore Wildcats, 32 to 0 on the local gridiron, with Lee and Hawkins leading the attack.

The scoring began when Columbia marched from Glenmora's forty yard line. Lee, shifty halfback, went over center for one yard and Hawkins placed kicked for the extra point.

The second quarter found Columbia in possession of the ball on their own 25 yard line. Lee again carried the ball for a touchdown, galloping 75 yards behind perfect interference. The second half began with Columbia receiving, and marching directly to Glenmora's twenty yard line. A pass from Corley to Hawkins netted Columbia another touchdown.

The fourth quarter found Columbia's entire B team playing inspired ball. Harrelson intercepted a pass and ran forty-five yards. The try was good, a pass, Traylor to May. Lee again took a pass for twenty yards and a touchdown later in the period.

The forward wall played great ball with Martin, Duke, Ticheli, Kelly, and Hawkins charging mightily.

Close Battle Is Prediction Of Bulldogs Turned Reporters

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—This correspondent never knows whether he has made himself a bed of roses or one of thorns until the Monroe Morning World arrives with some grist of the gridiron at Louisiana Tech. If he refers to the Tech football players as "the finest flock of Fidoes that ever came out of the local kennels," then he is beset with bouquets. But if, before some game, he says that the "mental attitude" of the Techmen is alleged to be below par, then he is favored with glances of lofty disdain.

So Sunday morning will be one after-breakfast when this correspondent will grasp his morning newspaper with steady hands, hands that have been washed of all responsibility. The job has been turned over to the football players themselves, and they have happily agreed to do their own ballyhoo-ing, for their game with Louisiana college, to be played at Pineville, Saturday afternoon, November 23. Following are some of the correspondence donations, quoted as nearly verbatim as the law of the press allows.

Meditations By "Mohawk"

Ben (Mohawk) Phillips, Glenmora, a varsity end, observes that "neither previous scores nor scrap books mean a thing in the annual football game between Louisiana Tech and Louisiana college. Tech has speed, where Louisiana college has power. The game will be a match of speed and deception, versus brawn.

"In Rush, Whatley and Small, Louisiana college has a combination that has worked. Brister, an end, is reputed to be one of the fastest in the conference.

"An advantage that evens the teams up is the fact that the game will be Louisiana college's homecoming event, and naturally the boys will put on the 'dog.'" "But," he concludes, "neither team will be the underdog."

Ruple As A Reporter

Bill Ruple of Ruple, Tech's alternate captain and a guard, reports: "After a three-day lay-off this week, the Tech Bulldogs have been hard at work for the Louisiana college game in Pineville, November 23. Having been defeated only in Millsaps' 21-20 upset, the Techmen should go into the game as heavy favorites; but owing to Louisiana college's stellar ball playing when up against the Techmen, the game will be a toss-up.

"It has been pointed out and proved many times that the Wildcats play over their heads and upset all dope sheets. When they tangle with the Bulldogs, the Wildcats also play harder and 'click' better when they are the so-called underdogs. The Wildcats have defeated stronger teams than the Bulldogs, including Loyola university, 7-6, and they have whipped the University of Mexico, 27-7."

Coody's Correspondence

Homer L. Coody, an end, who learned to coo at Coushatta, put this in writing: "When Louisiana Tech and Louisiana college meet on the Pineville gridiron, the spectators are looking for a fast and flashy, head-to-head ball game, from every angle. There have been a few days of rest here, and a revised edition of determination to conquer old rivals. Therefore, the onlookers could hardly be disappointed for a moment when the clash comes, November 23.

"For Tech, a stone is not left unturned that might help in some way for the Bulldogs to rout the Wildcats, and show the ex-Cats and the homecoming crowd that they have no mismatch for such a big event for the home town.

"This tilt will top the S. I. A. A. card in Louisiana next week-end.

"Tech and the Rustonites really believe in their Red and Blue gridsters this season and are proving it by planning to fill a special train and follow their team to the Pineville battle ground. They want to see their team live up to their expectations and bring back the hide of the highly-touted Wildcats."

As Stated By Stamm

Henry Stamm of Bonita, a Tech tackle, makes the following comment: "After a few days rest from the gridiron, the Tech Bulldogs returned to the practice field behind the stadium Thursday, and went through light fundamentals to keep warm and limber up. All of the boys showed lots of pep the first day back.

"Coach McLane is anxious for the sun to shine so that hard practice can be resumed for the Louisiana college game.

"All of the injured are expected to be in tip-top shape for the Wildcat clash.

"Louisiana college has a team somewhat heavier than the Bulldogs. The game with the Wildcats is going to be another one of the Bulldogs' hard games of the season."

Counting to keep in step, two young men and a girl, their arms about each other's shoulders, recently marched to the brink of Japan's famous "suicide crater," Mihara, and leaped.

To the
of Ouachita Parish

As is generally known, almost the entire body of Black Bayou Lake and surrounding land is owned by Southern Carbon Company. It has been the policy of the company to keep the lake open to hunters and fishermen without restriction. However, there has been so much abuse of this privilege and law violations have been so frequent, that we find it necessary to change our policy in the interest of game preservation and protection of law-abiding sportsmen.

We, therefore, are posting the lake and surrounding land against trespassing. It is not intended thereby to bar the public from the premises, and permission will freely be given to all who desire to hunt or fish there with proper observance of our regulations. Cards may be obtained by application to employes of the company. Seining will be prohibited, and anyone caught seining the lake will be prosecuted. There must be no hunting out of season or in violation of law. No duck shooting will be permitted after 12 o'clock noon and the lake must be cleared of hunters by 2 p.m. Any person violating these rules will be considered a trespasser. These regulations will work no hardship upon true sportsmen, and, on the other hand, will, we believe, make for better fishing and hunting. Assistance in enforcing these rules is asked.

IMPROVEMENT IN COOLING SYSTEM

New System Maintains Lower Constant Oil Temperature In Car

Major improvements have been made in the Chevrolet cooling system to maintain lower engine temperatures and to attain important benefits in the control of engine oil temperature and of cylinder block and valve push rod expansion. The chief change is the adoption of full-length water jackets. Formerly, only the upper part of the cylinders was water jacketed. In the new engines, the water jacketing extends far below the lowermost point reached by the head of the piston nearly to the lower edge of the piston skirt at the bottom of the stroke. The rings thus come in contact only with cylinder wall surface that is constantly cooled. Since the full depth of the cylinders is surrounded by water, the cylinders warm up evenly.

The most valuable effect of full length water jacketing, however, is its automatic control of engine oil temperature. In the previous design, the engine oil would attain a temperature 125 degrees hotter than the water, by coming in contact with the uncooled lower part of the cylinders. With the new full length jackets, oil temperature runs 50 degrees cooler than formerly. Still further cooling of the oil supply to the valve rocker shaft is effected by running the supply line through the cylinder block, where it is surrounded by water, and the oil is further reduced in temperature by 10 degrees.

The new system not only maintains a lower constant oil temperature, but acts to warm up the oil supply to the valve mechanism more quickly after a cold start. Since the water in the cylinder block, held there by a thermostat, quickly heats when the engine is started, it begins to warm the copper tube carrying oil to the rocker arms almost immediately after the engine is started. The effect is to cause a more nearly even expansion of the cylinder block and the valve mechanism.

Water capacity of the entire system, formerly 11 quarts, is now 15.

Chevrolet's all-enclosed knee action units, now entering their third year, remain unchanged from their original design except for an improvement in the methods of attaching the wheelspindle to the support arm. The spindle is now pressed into the arm under 10,000 pounds pressure, and its inner end is then peened over. Suspension of the Master model with conventional springs has been improved. Riding qualities of the Standard have been improved by an entirely new design of springs and suspension. The front springs are now 36 inches long, 3 inches longer than formerly, and their deflection rate is reduced from 315 pounds per inch to 209. Rear springs are 49 inches long, or 5 inches shorter, their deflection rate being increased from 105 pounds per inch to 112. The front springs are now shackled at their rear ends.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

LATEST METHODS USED BY LUTHER

Bear System Aligns Automobiles And The Latest Methods Are Used

Fourteen years ago J. L. Luther came to Monroe from Shreveport and started in the garage business. Then the shop was meagerly equipped, but Mr. Luther preferred to give quality to the jobs he did rather than offer poor service.

Today the Luther-Reed garage at 211 North Second street is the product of a dream that Mr. Luther had when he started in the mechanical line of business. It is declared to be the finest equipped shop in this territory. He has installed the latest equipment it takes to work on automobiles the most satisfactory way. He has always tried to put quality before price and he attributes the success of his busines to this policy.

In installing the latest equipment, the Bear System of alignment was purchased three years ago. It was the first in this part of the country, and at the time Monroe was the smallest city to have acquired such a device. New York, Chicago and like cities were the only ones to have it, Mr. Luther stated. Many people did not know about this new method, but Luther-Reed pioneered this part of the mechanical field here.

The Bear System makes strict requirements for the firm that becomes one of their authorized stations such as Luther-Reed. Every thirty days books are sent out by the system on the latest types of work, and each authorized station must keep up with the new developments in the work. Special representatives of the Bear System are sent personally to check up on these garages. Those who do not meet the requirements are taken off the authorized list. This feature assures the motoring public expert service when they drive into an authorized Bear System garage.

In the past twelve months the latest equipment has been installed to align trucks. Up to that time only passenger cars could be repaired by that process.

The value of this system is that axles can be straightened without being removed from the car. Wheels can be aligned and the chassis straightened. This way is more accurate since the weight of the car is on the wheels exactly in the position the car will ride.

This company does all kinds of mechanical work even though alignment is their specialty. They keep up with every change in the motor car industry.

THE BEE-LINE SYSTEM

DOWNES ADVISES ON SAFE DRIVING

Local Agent Gives Rules For Safety On Streets And Highways

In trying to make the streets and highways safer for the motoring public Downes Brokerage, Inc., 209 Ouachita Bank building, gives the following suggestions on "safe driving."

"Driving, after the beginners stage, becomes an almost involuntary action, we respond almost subconsciously to conditions as they arise. In other words driving becomes very much of a habit.

"It is just as easy to make safe driving a habit as it is to get the habit of driving carelessly.

"Therefore, wouldn't it be a good idea to form the habit, when approaching a blind intersection, of removing the foot from the accelerator to the brake pedal (without depressing it) thereby allowing the motor to brake the car and slow it down somewhat and at the same time being ready immediately to apply braking pressure without a whole second's delay. At the same time, if the occasion to stop does not arise, your car is still moving fast enough to pick up readily without the need of shifting gears. This action if practiced regularly soon becomes a habit which will serve you well in an emergency and will not noticeably slow up your driving.

"In the same way, a good driver will use the braking power of his motor at all times by not declutching until after brake pressure has been applied. The proper time to declutch is just before the point where the brake pressure applied would stall the engine. This driving practice is an excellent one particularly on slippery roads, where application of the brakes and premature declutching result in loss of traction and consequent skidding.

"Get the habit of anticipating emergencies and of observing traffic signs and regulations and safe driving practices, it is just as easy as acquiring careless driving habits.

"The safe operation of a motor vehicle requires, among other things, due regard for all 'danger spots.' These may be classified as sharp curves, hillcrests, intersections, railroad crossings, school zones, street car stops, the through way or street stop, center line road markings, soft shoulders, thickly settled districts, etc.

"Of this type of hazard, blind curves seem to have the highest rate of violation. Passing on blind hills occurs next in order, and then careless driving at dangerous intersections and a disregard of railroad crossings.

"It is because of this disregard of rules that these 'danger spots' exist, and there are very few of them today that are not marked with adequate warning signs. We pay millions of dollars (in taxes) to mark them plainly for our own safety on the streets and highways and then we go out and disregard them as if they were not there. It's neither logical nor is it sane. So it is up to each of us to prove his sanity by heeding his own warning signs.

"There is something you can do about the automobile accident situation: 'Get the habit of safe driving'."

THEFT REPORTED

The sight of two sample cases of candy was too much for the sweet-tooth of an unidentified thief who was reported by J. E. Barringer, salesman, to have pried open the lock of his car yesterday, which was parked between Lowery's saloon and the Kersh hotel, and to have stolen the cases which, according to police, were valued at $50.

A total of 535,041 trucks was manufactured in the United States during the first eight months of 1935.

EXPERT SERVICE ON AUTO WRECKS

Radiator, Electrical And Body Work Is Featured By Garage

Boyce-Kendall garage at 111 North Third street specializes in all kinds of wrecked jobs no matter how small or large.

The concern is able to do all kinds of body repair such as straighten fenders and all parts of the body. Duco painting is used in refinishing the cars. Two extra men have been added to this department. Frank Eyres who has long been identified with automobile body work in Monroe has been placed in charge of the department. His reputation in this line assures a first class job.

"Shorty" Jones is in charge of the electrical and radiator department. Mr. Jones has had ten years' experience in th field. Electrical wiring on all makes of automobiles is also a specialty. The radiator department is known for the expert work that it turns out.

The Lee-Line system for aligning wheels and straightening axles is used by Boyce-Kendall garage. It corrects shimmy, hard steering and tire wear. It accurately aligns and straightens the axles of the car, making it no longer necessary to remove the axles from the car.

The garage has an expert brake man who relines and adjusts all makes of brakes.

A wrecker service is operated in connection with the establishment, affording direct service to Boyce-Kendall where your car can be completely refinished and overhauled without leaving the garage.

Mr. Boyce states that about $3,000 worth of equipment has been installed in order to extend a complete service to the automobile public.

Markets--Financial

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The cotton market relinquished a portion of the gains scored early this week when profit-taking and realizing sales in today's short session resulted in net losses of 5 to 13 points.

The market got off to a bad start with exceedingly poor cables from Liverpool and considerable overnight orders to sell at the opening.

The market was under considerable pressure for the first half hour or so, but buying interests cropped out again and prices held steady until the end of trading.

December closed at 11.86 after opening at 11.80, March finished at 11.67, May lost 50 cents a bale at 11.60 and July dipped 8 points to 11.52.

There was little change in the general situation as it affects cotton. Low temperatures still were reported from the northern half of the belt, the crop movement held up well and the market was still receiving some public support.

Exports today were 15,171 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady at net declines of 5 to 13 points.

INDUSTRIAL AND REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES

New System Maintains Lower Constant Oil Temperature In Car

Major improvements have been made in the Chevrolet cooling system to maintain lower engine temperatures and to attain important benefits in the control of engine oil temperature and of cylinder block and valve push rod expansion. The chief change is the adoption of full-length water jackets. Formerly, only the upper part of the cylinders was water jacketed. In the new engines, the water jacketing extends far below the lowermost point reached by the head of the piston nearly to the lower edge of the piston skirt at the bottom of the stroke. The rings thus come in contact only with cylinder wall surface that is constantly cooled. Since the full depth of the cylinders is surrounded by water, the cylinders warm up evenly.

The most valuable effect of full length water jacketing, however, is its automatic control of engine oil temperature. In the previous design, the engine oil would attain a temperature 125 degrees hotter than the water, by coming in contact with the uncooled lower part of the cylinders. With the new full length jackets, oil temperature runs 50 degrees cooler than formerly. Still further cooling of the oil supply to the valve rocker shaft is effected by running the supply line through the cylinder block, where it is surrounded by water, and the oil is further reduced in temperature by 10 degrees.

The new system not only maintains a lower constant oil temperature, but acts to warm up the oil supply to the valve mechanism more quickly after a cold start. Since the water in the cylinder block, held there by a thermostat, quickly heats when the engine is started, it begins to warm the copper tube carrying oil to the rocker arms almost immediately after the engine is started. The effect is to cause a more nearly even expansion of the cylinder block and the valve mechanism.

Water capacity of the entire system, formerly 11 quarts, is now 15.

Chevrolet's all-enclosed knee action units, now entering their third year, remain unchanged from their original design except for an improvement in the methods of attaching the wheelspindle to the support arm. The spindle is now pressed into the arm under 10,000 pounds pressure, and its inner end is then peened over. Suspension of the Master model with conventional springs has been improved. Riding qualities of the Standard have been improved by an entirely new design of springs and suspension. The front springs are now 36 inches long, 3 inches longer than formerly, and their deflection rate is reduced from 315 pounds per inch to 209. Rear springs are 49 inches long, or 5 inches shorter, their deflection rate being increased from 105 pounds per inch to 112. The front springs are now shackled at their rear ends.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Henry Burke, negro, charged with shoplifting, was arrested by officers of the sheriff's department yesterday and lodged in the parish jail. At the time of the arrest he was in possession of a cap taken from the Hunt & Whitaker store on DeSiard street, it was alleged.

LATEST METHODS USED BY LUTHER

Bear System Aligns Automobiles And The Latest Methods Are Used

Fourteen years ago J. L. Luther came to Monroe from Shreveport and started in the garage business. Then the shop was meagerly equipped, but Mr. Luther preferred to give quality to the jobs he did rather than offer poor service.

Today the Luther-Reed garage at 211 North Second street is the product of a dream that Mr. Luther had when he started in the mechanical line of business. It is declared to be the finest equipped shop in this territory. He has installed the latest equipment it takes to work on automobiles the most satisfactory way. He has always tried to put quality before price and he attributes the success of his busines to this policy.

In installing the latest equipment, the Bear System of alignment was purchased three years ago. It was the first in this part of the country, and at the time Monroe was the smallest city to have acquired such a device. New York, Chicago and like cities were the only ones to have it, Mr. Luther stated. Many people did not know about this new method, but Luther-Reed pioneered this part of the mechanical field here.

The Bear System makes strict requirements for the firm that becomes one of their authorized stations such as Luther-Reed. Every thirty days books are sent out by the system on the latest types of work, and each authorized station must keep up with the new developments in the work. Special representatives of the Bear System are sent personally to check up on these garages. Those who do not meet the requirements are taken off the authorized list. This feature assures the motoring public expert service when they drive into an authorized Bear System garage.

In the past twelve months the latest equipment has been installed to align trucks. Up to that time only passenger cars could be repaired by that process.

The value of this system is that axles can be straightened without being removed from the car. Wheels can be aligned and the chassis straightened. This way is more accurate since the weight of the car is on the wheels exactly in the position the car will ride.

This company does all kinds of mechanical work even though alignment is their specialty. They keep up with every change in the motor car industry.

THE BEE-LINE SYSTEM

DOWNES ADVISES ON SAFE DRIVING

Local Agent Gives Rules For Safety On Streets And Highways

In trying to make the streets and highways safer for the motoring public Downes Brokerage, Inc., 209 Ouachita Bank building, gives the following suggestions on "safe driving."

"Driving, after the beginners stage, becomes an almost involuntary action, we respond almost subconsciously to conditions as they arise. In other words driving becomes very much of a habit.

"It is just as easy to make safe driving a habit as it is to get the habit of driving carelessly.

"Therefore, wouldn't it be a good idea to form the habit, when approaching a blind intersection, of removing the foot from the accelerator to the brake pedal (without depressing it) thereby allowing the motor to brake the car and slow it down somewhat and at the same time being ready immediately to apply braking pressure without a whole second's delay. At the same time, if the occasion to stop does not arise, your car is still moving fast enough to pick up readily without the need of shifting gears. This action if practiced regularly soon becomes a habit which will serve you well in an emergency and will not noticeably slow up your driving.

"In the same way, a good driver will use the braking power of his motor at all times by not declutching until after brake pressure has been applied. The proper time to declutch is just before the point where the brake pressure applied would stall the engine. This driving practice is an excellent one particularly on slippery roads, where application of the brakes and premature declutching result in loss of traction and consequent skidding.

"Get the habit of anticipating emergencies and of observing traffic signs and regulations and safe driving practices, it is just as easy as acquiring careless driving habits.

"The safe operation of a motor vehicle requires, among other things, due regard for all 'danger spots.' These may be classified as sharp curves, hillcrests, intersections, railroad crossings, school zones, street car stops, the through way or street stop, center line road markings, soft shoulders, thickly settled districts, etc.

"Of this type of hazard, blind curves seem to have the highest rate of violation. Passing on blind hills occurs next in order, and then careless driving at dangerous intersections and a disregard of railroad crossings.

"It is because of this disregard of rules that these 'danger spots' exist, and there are very few of them today that are not marked with adequate warning signs. We pay millions of dollars (in taxes) to mark them plainly for our own safety on the streets and highways and then we go out and disregard them as if they were not there. It's neither logical nor is it sane. So it is up to each of us to prove his sanity by heeding his own warning signs.

"There is something you can do about the automobile accident situation: 'Get the habit of safe driving'."

THEFT REPORTED

The sight of two sample cases of candy was too much for the sweet-tooth of an unidentified thief who was reported by J. E. Barringer, salesman, to have pried open the lock of his car yesterday, which was parked between Lowery's saloon and the Kersh hotel, and to have stolen the cases which, according to police, were valued at $50.

A total of 535,041 trucks was manufactured in the United States during the first eight months of 1935.

EXPERT SERVICE ON AUTO WRECKS

Radiator, Electrical And Body Work Is Featured By Garage

Boyce-Kendall garage at 111 North Third street specializes in all kinds of wrecked jobs no matter how small or large.

The concern is able to do all kinds of body repair such as straighten fenders and all parts of the body. Duco painting is used in refinishing the cars. Two extra men have been added to this department. Frank Eyres who has long been identified with automobile body work in Monroe has been placed in charge of the department. His reputation in this line assures a first class job.

"Shorty" Jones is in charge of the electrical and radiator department. Mr. Jones has had ten years' experience in this field. Electrical wiring on all makes of automobiles is also a specialty. The radiator department is known for the expert work that it turns out.

The Lee-Line system for aligning wheels and straightening axles is used by Boyce-Kendall garage. It corrects shimmy, hard steering and tire wear. It accurately aligns and straightens the axles of the car, making it no longer necessary to remove the axles from the car.

The garage has an expert brake man who relines and adjusts all makes of brakes.

A wrecker service is operated in connection with the establishment, affording direct service to Boyce-Kendall where your car can be completely refinished and overhauled without leaving the garage.

Mr. Boyce states that about $3,000 worth of equipment has been installed in order to extend a complete service to the automobile public.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones and daughter spent a recent week-end in Jonesville.

Markets--Financial

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The cotton market relinquished a portion of the gains scored early this week when profit-taking and realizing sales in today's short session resulted in net losses of 5 to 13 points.

The market got off to a bad start with exceedingly poor cables from Liverpool and considerable overnight orders to sell at the opening.

The market was under considerable pressure for the first half hour or so, but buying interests cropped out again and prices held steady until the end of trading.

December closed at 11.86 after opening at 11.80, March finished at 11.67, May lost 50 cents a bale at 11.60 and July dipped 8 points to 11.52.

There was little change in the general situation as it affects cotton. Low temperatures still were reported from the northern half of the belt, the crop movement held up well and the market was still receiving some public support.

Exports today were 15,171 bales.

AVERAGE MIDDLING PRICE

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Recent sharp advances were followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today. Offerings were well absorbed on declines of 7 to 12 points by continued trade buying or covering. December sold off to 11.85 and closed at 11.88 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 7 to 11 points.

Cotton futures closed steady, 7-11 lower.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Steels and specialties were the bullish favorites in today's stock market, while profit-taking stemmed the advance in a few other sections of the list.

Many new four-year highs were established during the brief session and realizing sales failed to shake the majority of the leaders. The activity was the best for a Saturday since the spring of 1934. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,450,000 shares.

The ticker tape fell a bit behind floor transactions in the last few minutes of trading.

Wall Street still seemed to be under the influence of administrative assurances that the "breathing spell" for business will not be disturbed.

Commodities were rather a neutral factor so far as equities were concerned. Wheat and the other cereals moved a shade in either direction during most of the day and cotton was unable to do much. Bonds were slightly mixed and foreign exchanges on the whole, were extremely quiet.

Among share gainers of fractions to around 2 points, finishing near their best levels of the day, were Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Inland Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Associated Dry Goods, J. C. Penney, Great Western Sugar, National Acme, Omnibus corporation, Budd Wheel, Atlas Tack, Evans Products, Mack Trucks, Case, Deere, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Air Reduction and Minnesota-Moline Power.

Pittsburgh & West Virginia railroad got up 3 points. The other carriers were just about content to hold their own along with many of the utilities. The oils were slightly improved. The alcohols pointed lower, Schenley and National Distillers losing a point or so each. The S. H. Kress company declared an extra dividend of $1, but the stock was not responsive.

The distillery group drooped as holders of these issues feared that domestic companies may be faced with additional competition from Canada as the result of the new trade agreement between the United States and that country.

The main body of brokers and their customers were still bullish for the long pull but there was said to have been some lightening of positions on the theory that prices have run ahead a little too fast recently and that a sizeable setback, if only technical, may be in the offing.

The growing demand for steel stocks which pushed Bethlehem common across the 50 mark for the first time since 1931, reflected the belief of various financial analysts that the heavy industries are not far away from satisfactory profits.

The record of dividend changes for the week disclosed 31 were favorable against only one adverse. In the previous week there were 44 favorable and four unfavorable.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Steels and specialties were the bullish favorites in today's stock market, while profit-taking stemmed the advance in a few other sections of the list.

Many new four-year highs were established during the brief session and realizing sales failed to shake the majority of the leaders. The activity was the best for a Saturday since the spring of 1934. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,450,000 shares.

The ticker tape fell a bit behind floor transactions in the last few minutes of trading.

Wall Street still seemed to be under the influence of administrative assurances that the "breathing spell" for business will not be disturbed.

Commodities were rather a neutral factor so far as equities were concerned. Wheat and the other cereals moved a shade in either direction during most of the day and cotton was unable to do much. Bonds were slightly mixed and foreign exchanges on the whole, were extremely quiet.

Among share gainers of fractions to around 2 points, finishing near their best levels of the day, were Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Inland Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Associated Dry Goods, J. C. Penney, Great Western Sugar, National Acme, Omnibus corporation, Budd Wheel, Atlas Tack, Evans Products, Mack Trucks, Case, Deere, Montgomery Ward, DuPoint, Westinghouse, Air Reduction and Minnesota-Moline Power.

Pittsburgh & West Virginia railroad got up 3 points. The other carriers were just about content to hold their own along with many of the utilities. The oils were slightly improved. The alcohols pointed lower, Schenley and National Distillers losing a point or so each. The S. H. Kress company declared an extra dividend of $1, but the stock was not responsive.

The distillery group drooped as holders of these issues feared that domestic companies may be faced with additional competition from Canada as the result of the new trade agreement between the United States and that country.

The main body of brokers and their customers were still bullish for the long pull but there was said to have been some lightening of positions on the theory that prices have run ahead a little too fast recently and that a sizeable setback, if only technical, may be in the offing.

The growing demand for steel stocks which pushed Bethlehem common across the 50 mark for the first time since 1931, reflected the belief of various financial analysts that the heavy industries are not far away from satisfactory profits.

The record of dividend changes for the week disclosed 31 were favorable against only one adverse. In the previous week there were 44 favorable and four unfavorable.

LINCOLN MURDER SUSPECT IS HELD

Young Negro Believed Implicated In Slaying Of John Sims Evans

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Clarence Tanner, 27-year-old negro, is being held under heavy bond in the Lincoln parish jail here under suspicion of being an accessory, if not the principal assailant, in connection with the slaying of John Sims Evans, Lincoln parish farmer, on the night of October 21.

Sheriff A. J. Thigpen today disclosed that Tanner is being held under a technical charge of assault which was filed against him by his wife some time ago. However, suspicions were aroused against the black of being implicated in the Evans murder when various negro residents of the neighborhood came forward with statements to the effect that Tanner had been seen with a pistol shortly before the killing.

Perfect Tanner, brother of the negro now in jail, is under suspicion of being an accomplice in the crime, and as yet, has been successful in evading arrest. According to a story reputedly told by Perfect Tanner's wife, both he and Clarence Tanner came to her house around 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. Which occurred about 6 o'clock, and divided a considerable amount of money. Perfect Tanner was free on bond at the time, having been released by the parish authorities on an assault charge, which was returnable in court on Friday two weeks ago. Since he failed to appear his bond was forfeited and the officials have been searching for him. Clarence Tanner, it is said, claims that the money he and Perfect divided represented winnings from a dice game in which he and his brother participated.

It was reported that about $100 was taken from Evans after he was killed. According to the wife of Perfect Tanner, who is still at large, she and other members of her family were returning from town on the night of the murder and after passing a shallow ditch in which they thought they saw someone lying, they heard a shot fired. They didn't connect the shot with Evan's murder until after they had reached home and heard of the crime.

It was also said that Perfect Tanner's young daughter stated that when the two brothers arrived at the home of Perfect Tanner on the night of the crime Clarence Tanner was very rough with members of the family, asserting that "we have just killed a man."

CHURCH CARNIVAL WAS SUCCESS; $1,286 RAISED

The St. Matthew's Catholic church carnival, recently held in the I. Baer building on St. John street, resulted in a net profit of $1,286, according to Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, treasurer. The net receipts exceeded those of the carnival held in February by $300, and the sum realized will be used toward liquidating the indebtedness of the church.

One of the chief attractions and one which realized much money, was that of the sale of home-cooked meals which netted $300 of the entire sum raised.

Fortunate ones who were awarded valuable presents were: Sylvan Masur, a linen cedar chest; Sarah Ellen Bruno, a doll house; Barlow Inabnet, picture; Miss Evelyn Ammon, electric clock; Frank J. Roddy, crocheted bedspread; Mrs. B. Rowe, quilt.

Mrs. Burgoyne, in behalf of all the women who gave of their time and means for the success of the carnival, Saturday expressed thanks to the public who cooperated for its success.

NOTICE

The Board of Directors of the Ouachita National Bank of Monroe has called a special meeting of the stockholders of the Ouachita National Bank of Monroe to be held in the Directors' room of the Ouachita National Bank in Monroe at 130 DeSiard Street, Monroe, Louisiana at three o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, November 27, 1935, for the purpose of considering the contract between the Ouachita National Bank of Monroe and the Ouachita National Bank in Monroe entered into on January 3, 1933 and amended on September 6, 1933, and taking whatever action thereon that the stockholders may deem advisable.

PIG SETTLES PIGSKIN WAGER

Said the governor of Minnesota to the governor of Iowa just before the Minnesota-Iowa football game: "I'll bet you a pig on our pigskin team." To which the Iowa governor readily agreed. The score was Minnesota 13, Iowa 6. So here is Gov. Clyde Herrin of Iowa (left) herding "Floyd of Rosedale," brother of the famous motion picture hog, "Blue Boy," and a prize winner himself, over the velvety carpets in the office of Gov. Floyd B. Olson (right) at St. Paul, Minn., to pay the wager. (Associated Press Photo)

PRACTICE SESSIONS ARE HELD DAILY BY O.P.H.S. GLEE CLUB

The glee club of the Ouachita Parish High school is holding practice sessions each school day, under the direction of Mrs. George Moffett, in preparation for its winter and spring activity program.

Three programs have already been rendered by the club, one at a recent meeting of the Missouri Pacific Booster club, one at a meeting of the freshman and sophomore classes of the school and the remaining program at a meeting of the junior and senior classes.

This year the glee club members were selected after especially careful tests were made and the organization is expected to be one of the best developed at the school.

Officers of the club are: President, Sam Walker; vice-president, Chester DeCuir; secretary, Mary Louise Fudickar; treasurer, Frank Smith; reporter, Barbara Butler; accompanist, Bonnie Burden.

The club membership is as follows:

Sopranos: Edith Beeson, Bonnie Burden, Barbara Butler, Margaret Calloway, Dorothy Cooper, Delores Grant, Claudine Paylor, Beth Rinehart, Katheryn Rollirson, Chloe Weir and Sara Gene Young.

Altos: Dorothy Burge, Melba Busby, Violet DeCuir, Snow Drew, Alice Lorainne Eunson, Mary Louise Fudickar, Mildred Johnson, Mary Wilba McKee, Reba Harkens and Mary Elizabeth Shaughnessy.

Basses: Billy Chappell, Clarence Cooley, John Renwick, Billy Trimble, James Wallace, Duane Warrington, Billy Stanford, Sam Walker, Howard Williams and Humble Zeagler.

Tenors: Chester DeCuir, Jack Durbin, Jack Hackley, Joe Ben Jones, John T. Mason, Leon McMullen, Frank Smith, Arlo Whitlock and Rudolph Vandenberg.

SERVICE UNION MEETING IS HELD AT OAK RIDGE

The Service Union, an organization composed of young Methodists of the Monroe district, held a meeting during the past week with 136 persons present, representing churches from Monroe, West Monroe, Bastrop, Bonita, Collinston, Mer Rouge, Oak Ridge and Sterlington.

Oak Ridge members of the union, with Miss Arey Moss as leader, presented a brief program on "Peace," and Mrs. Maud Baird gave a talk on a trip through Mexico.

A discussion was held relative to the Southern Methodist Young People's conference to be held at Memphis, Tenn., December 27-31.

Refreshments were served by the Oak Ridge young people.

A meeting of the service union will be held at the Monroe First Methodist church in December.

EAST CARROLL TO HAVE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The East Carroll police jury has voted to allot a portion of the courthouse grounds for the location of an agricultural building. The exact location will be selected by a committee appointed for that purpose.

The extension department of Louisiana State university is cooperating with the police jury in carrying out the project.

It was estimated that the building will cost about $12,000. C. A. Rose, parish agricultural agent, said a state engineer is expected here soon to assist in plans for the project.

The building will be one of 25 such structures to be erected in the state.

LINCOLN MURDER SUSPECT IS HELD

Young Negro Believed Implicated In Slaying Of John Sims Evans

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Clarence Tanner, 27-year-old negro, is being held under heavy bond in the Lincoln parish jail here under suspicion of being an accessory, if not the principal assailant, in connection with the slaying of John Sims Evans, Lincoln parish farmer, on the night of October 21.

Sheriff A. J. Thigpen today disclosed that Tanner is being held under a technical charge of assault which was filed against him by his wife some time ago. However, suspicions were aroused against the black of being implicated in the Evans murder when various negro residents of the neighborhood came forward with statements to the effect that Tanner had been seen with a pistol shortly before the killing.

Perfect Tanner, brother of the negro now in jail, is under suspicion of being an accomplice in the crime, and as yet, has been successful in evading arrest. According to a story reputedly told by Perfect Tanner's wife, both he and Clarence Tanner came to her house around 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. Which occurred about 6 o'clock, and divided a considerable amount of money. Perfect Tanner was free on bond at the time, having been released by the parish authorities on an assault charge, which was returnable in court on Friday two weeks ago. Since he failed to appear his bond was forfeited and the officials have been searching for him. Clarence Tanner, it is said, claims that the money he and Perfect divided represented winnings from a dice game in which he and his brother participated.

It was reported that about $100 was taken from Evans after he was killed. According to the wife of Perfect Tanner, who is still at large, she and other members of her family were returning from town on the night of the murder and after passing a shallow ditch in which they thought they saw someone lying, they heard a shot fired. They didn't connect the shot with Evan's murder until after they had reached home and heard of the crime.

It was also said that Perfect Tanner's young daughter stated that when the two brothers arrived at the home of Perfect Tanner on the night of the crime Clarence Tanner was very rough with members of the family, asserting that "we have just killed a man."

CHURCH CARNIVAL WAS SUCCESS; $1,286 RAISED

The St. Matthew's Catholic church carnival, recently held in the I. Baer building on St. John street, resulted in a net profit of $1,286, according to Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, treasurer. The net receipts exceeded those of the carnival held in February by $300, and the sum realized will be used toward liquidating the indebtedness of the church.

One of the chief attractions and one which realized much money, was that of the sale of home-cooked meals which netted $300 of the entire sum raised.

Fortunate ones who were awarded valuable presents were: Sylvan Masur, a linen cedar chest; Sarah Ellen Bruno, a doll house; Barlow Inabnet, picture; Miss Evelyn Ammon, electric clock; Frank J. Roddy, crocheted bedspread; Mrs. B. Rowe, quilt.

Mrs. Burgoyne, in behalf of all the women who gave of their time and means for the success of the carnival, Saturday expressed thanks to the public who cooperated for its success.

Old-Fashioned Thanksgiving Appears In Store For Monroe

Winter Now Stepping On Heels Of Autumn

Joel Nichols To Marry November 28; Furs Used Prematurely By Women; Doctors, Wives Off To Convention

By Eve Bradford

The season speeds up. November waxes and wanes and the Master Potter of the Universe sits high above us resting and contemplating His handiwork. Summer has vanished and autumn and its beauty that human hearts always respond to is passing. The flaming billows of red, yellow, bronze and green will soon be a thing of the past. The fields are frosted with silver of mornings and the harvest moon that rode in splendor high in the heavens is commencing to look rather cold and unfriendly. The stars that always seem brighter when the magic of the holidays fall upon the earth, will make up for the frigid looks the moon gives us when the harvest is over.

We have a weakness for the holiday season and especially for Thanksgiving. It gives us an opportunity to give thanks for the mistakes that enable us to learn a priceless lesson, to give thanks for the disappointments that clear the vision, for all the shortcomings that help us to understand the weakness of our neighbors, for our imperfections that give us the keen delight of striving toward perfection.

Don't you love the atmosphere of the holiday season, the expansive mood, the hurly-burly, the arriving guests and the pungent, spicy odor of luscious fruit cakes fresh from the oven. Every sign points to a regular old-fashioned Thanksgiving this year, with a fashionable wedding thrown in for good measure.

Joel Nichols steps altarward on Thanksgiving day, you know.

The rafters will be ringing at Lakeside Country club next Saturday night, when Junior leaguers will entertain the public with a carnival. Proceeds will go to the free baby clinic, so of course you will be there stepping high, wide and handsome.

Eskimos in the land of the long night wear furs to keep out the Arctic chill but smartly gowned women of fashion in the land of eternal sunshine wear furs for their sleek, shiny beauty and chic style. At least Emily Miller does. She went to the football game in Baton Rouge and, like everyone else who packed away their new winter duds so that they might appear in sartorial splendor, found the weather too warm for comfort. Determined that the weather man could not cheat her of the pleasure of wearing that handsome new beaver coat, she strolled back and forth in the air cooled lounge of the Heidelberg. The coat swung nonchalantly from her arm when she left for New Orleans and encountered even warmer weather. But fur coats come into their own sooner or later—it turned cold the day after she got home.

We found the weather uncomfortably warm in New Orleans last week, and especially so at a cocktail party, where the bankers of Louisiana, their wives and bankers from other cities were packed in like the proverbial sardines.

It is seldom a man defies the conventions but one courageous male appeared in immaculate white linens while his wife was wrapped in elegant furs.

We looked around at the many beautiful women but decided that Ruth Washburn Gladney of Bastrop was the loveliest of all. She wore a dark blue velvet cocktail model with crimson roses at her throat and small close fitting blue velvet hat. Ruth lives in Bastrop but Monroe will always claim her for its own.

Louise Kellogg is looking sartorially perfect these cool days in an ice-blue wool model with grey fox fur and flattering little hat of blue with fetching rose veil. She is entertaining a tall, slender, good looking guest, Bessie Lee Atkins of Bolivar, Tenn. We saw her the other day and admired the stunning full length, kid caracul coat she was wearing.

Anna Lou Sandridge has been tucked in bed for several months, under doctor's orders. She is being missed socially, but friends manage to drop in every day to help her while the hours away.

All those who hunger and thirst after the musically unusual are bound to welcome the hour of music at Grace church on the eighth of December when the Musical Coterie gives its annual outpouring of melody. Dressed in crimson vestments with candles pricking the twilight dimness, this group of artists will render numbers from Bach and Handel as you have never heard them before.

If you drop in casually at the David Garretts these cool days of early winter, you are almost certain to find friends encircling the fireplace in the living room, with Lessie, graciousness personified, offering her own special brand of hospitality. Lessie is considered by many to be the best informed woman in Monroe on subjects of world-wide interest. Of literary trend of mind and possessing an alert mind, keen sense of humor and a very liberal understanding and outlook on life, she is the ideal companion. The roots of Lessie's family have for generations been tied in the very soil and traditions of this section of the south, so naturally she is the true type of southern woman.

The Garrett home reflects Lessie's distinctive personality and her love for the treasures handed down to her. On the mantle is a hurricane lamp with flaming taper, dating back to colonial days. Also there is an exquisite miniature of her great, great grandfather, a very arrogant looking gentleman with powdered hair and the formal dress of 1780. The picture was painted in 1780. On a table nearby is a Bible brought to Louisiana in 1859 by Lessie's grandmother. It records the marriage of Lessie's great, great grandmother in 1790.

Daisy Grey packed some good looking clothes away in her wardrobe trunk when she dashed off to St. Louis with her doctor husband to attend the medical association meeting. Dr. Grey will address an assemblage at a dinner at the Jefferson hotel for past presidents of the association, national and otherwise. Virginia Guerriero and Lib Shlenker also spent last week shopping for clothes and will glorify their own corner when they attend the convention in St. Louis with their learned husbands. Virginia is taking her first vacation since the blessed event in the Guerriero household and is enjoying an anticipatory thrill.

Miss Zeagler Engaged

Brides continue to hold the spotlight, regardless of the glamorous holiday season, now so close at hand. Christmas bells jingling in the distance fail to drown the music of wedding bells that peal forth merrily and will continue to do so until first of the year, according to dame gossip.

An announcement that claims interest in this city, where Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cook and their lovely young granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Zeagler, formerly resided, follows:

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Zeagler of Columbia, S. C., formerly of Monroe, La., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Cook, to Mr. Albert Franklin Stem, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stem of State Island, N. Y.

Miss Zeagler is a graduate of the Louisiana State university, class of 1934, and is a member of the Delta Zeta sorority, and for the past year she has been attending the Washington School for Secretaries, Washington, D. C. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Cook of Baton Rouge.

Mr. Stem is a graduate of Brooklyn Polytechnic institute, and is a member of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity and has done graduate work at Columbia university.

Miss Zeagler, with her mother, will arrive in Baton Rouge in a few days to make plans for the wedding, which will be celebrated during the holidays.

The lovely young bride-elect was one of the prettiest and most charming members of college society and announcement of her engagement is of wide interest in this section of the state. Her family is an old and prominent one and the wedding will be one of the most interesting events of the winter.

Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Love of DeRidder announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Helen Marr, to Mr. Herbert Quimby Martin of Bastrop. The wedding will be solemnized on the eighteenth of December.

Miss Love is a graduate of Baylor college, Belton, Texas, and the Juilliard School of Music, New York city. For several years she has taught piano, voice and expression in Bastrop.

Mr. Martin is the son of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Owens of Bonita. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilom fraternity. His preparatory education was received at Northwestern college, Watertown, Wis. At present he is employed as chief chemist by a Bastrop mill.

Monroe Girls Honored

Two lovely Monroe girls, Sara Elizabeth Moffett and Miss Helena Hayward, students at L. S. U., recently elected to membership in the "Purple Jackets," were appointed sponsors for the L. S. U.-Georgia football game in Athens, Ga., Saturday. They were the much feted guests of the cadet corps leaving Baton Rouge on the special train in company with Governor Allen and other notables.

Miss Moffett and Miss Hayward were colorful figures in the parade staged in New Orleans and in Mobile, Ala., en route to Athens. They were also guests of honor at the ball following the game Saturday night.

Spring Styles Shown

MIAMI, Fla., Nov 16.—(AP)—Imagine a chiffon bathing suit in Spanish red—backed with crepe, of course—and you'll get an idea of one of the possible new color-material combinations to be seen at smart winter resorts this season. Designers have sounded a dressier note.

Almost every bathing ensemble boasts, two or three colors. Plover's egg blue, plumberry, Spanish (brick red, verging on orange), dusty pink and dark dubonnet are top colors this season. Plumberry used with dusty pink and turquoise forms one fashionable combination. Others are Spanish and green; dusty pink with two shades of blue.

Flower printed silks, with backgrounds of brown, black or navy blue appear in the dressmaker type of suit. And there is the planetary design with constellations and zodiac signs against black or midnight blue. The more tailored models will use silk jersey, and cotton suits in large floral designs will be popular.

At an early showing of beachwear, the maillot, or skirtless suit, appeared in greater numbers than ever before. But almost every maillot this season has its detachable skirt—a brief, flared affair no longer than the trunks, which can be donned for beach lounging before and after swimming.

The flat, boyish figure is definitely in the past. All the brassiere suits have the uplift effect. Two-piece suits generally have two-tone tops, the trimming color being repeated in binding on the trunks.

Novelty necklines feature the 1935 swim suits, too. Some are scalloped, some are heart-shaped, others have draw-strings and bow in front, the strings turning into back straps.

The practical beach pajama will be seen again, but the skirt is threatening to over-shadow it.

Woman Flier Interests Uncle Sam In Plan To Mark Airway Trails

This is the way roofs are being marked in seven states with the aid of WPA funds to help private fliers find their way around the country. Mrs. Phoebe Omlie (upper right), Memphis flier, is the moving spirit behind a national airway marking program. She has engaged three women fliers to help her.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Roofs of buildings at intervals of 15 square miles will be blazoned next spring with black and orange signs to direct fliers on their way to the nearest town and airport.

Owners of buildings are volunteering roof space for the signs. Labor and paint will be paid from WPA funds under a plan made in the bureau of air commerce. Seven states, so far, have approved the project, and it is expected all 48 states will have crews at work by early spring.

Behind the project lies a story. The idea actually began years ago when Phoebe Omlie was a young, unknown girl flier hopping out of Memphis. Now she is a member of the national advisory committee on aeronautics and liaison officer between the committee and the bureau of air commerce.

From the start she has insisted, "It isn't how fast you fly, but how safely that will build the aviation industry." She, herself, kept quietly to the ground while other fliers hurtled through stunts. But she took happily to the air when safety tests came along. As proof of her convictions, she won cross-country derbies in three successive years.

As further proof that flying could be safe, she flew the mail from Little Rock to Memphis in 1927 when the Mississippi floods tore out railroad tracks. On each return trip, her loaded plane carried bags of food for stranded people. Each night she went over the engine of the plane which was to carry her back the next day across the raging Mississippi.

All the while she fretted over the unmarked airways of the country, and the plight of the private flier who often found himself over strange and unmarked territory when storms shut him. Maybe he could follow a river or railroad to a town. Maybe he had enough gas to keep him safe until he found an airport. But sometimes such situations led to crashes and death.

"The commercial flier knows his way too well," says Mrs. Omlie, "to get into such trouble except in rare instances. But if the aviation industry is to grow as large as the automobile industry the private flier must be encouraged. One of the surest and quickest ways is to mark the country so he can't get lost."

A year ago Mrs. Omlie, on assignment from the bureau of air commerce, began gathering figures to prove a national air-marking program possible and not too expensive. She studied paints, wage scales under WPA and the most traveled air lanes. She decided signs should be readable from 2,500 feet in the air, and that the minimum sign should be seven feet high. She prefers them 25 feet high. She sounded out mayors and chambers of commerce. They liked the plan. Her determination had engendered aid from other government officials, and the project was approved by the WPA board.

She was free to hire three fliers who could travel to all state WPA centers to set up the projects. She smiled quietly and decided to prove another idea of hers: that women fliers can work as well as men. So she hired Louise McPhetridge Thaden of Little Rock, Helen McCloskey of Pittsburgh and Nancy Harkness of Boston. All three have transport pilot licenses.

The young women not only must prove to each state WPA board that the plan will work in their state, but they must stay on deck long enough to set up costs and wage scales for the state.

"They must be doing all right," Mrs. Omlie smiles over her staff. "The other day another government department headed by men wanted to borrow them. I told them 'hands off, but I volunteered to get them three other women fliers."

Recall Gaby Deslys

By Adelaide Kerr

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Waistlength mantilla veils and bird hats, scarfs and muffs, evoking shades of Gaby Deslys, are the latest 1936 millinery notes shown in Agnes new collection.

The most voluminous veils Paris has shown since the war, falling in a cloud like a bridal veil to the waist, top many of the designer's winter models. Some are worn thrown back from the forehead over the shoulders, while others are a filmy black net circle or a square yard of colored tulle falling over the face and shoulders.

The hats they trim are small—a black felt toque pinched up on top in a ridge like a Spanish senorita's comb with the veil falling like a mantilla, or a small velvet toque swathed in a midst of black tulle spattered with black chenille dots.

The bird hats and muffs, bringing memories of the gay nineteen hundreds, made everyone stare on the opening day. Some of the chapeaux had two bright birds fastened right in front, their wings sweeping backward, as though they had just poised in flight. Others were birdbreast toques mounting to a peaked ridge or finished with birds of paradise or aigrettes swooping back or down under the chin. With them went flat feather muffs, sometimes having two birds with outspread wings splashed right in front, and bird scarfs with a boa of breast feathers encircling the throat and wings poised on one side. Rich blue violet, henna brown and green were favorite plumage colors. Black and blue were the most popular hat hues.

To keep step with the military millinery vogue the designer launched Napoleonic felts with gold cockades and "marshal" tricorns finished with aigrette spikes.

The entire collection stressed height, either in crowns or in trims.

'Reading For Fun'

By Mary Graham Bonner

Children's Book week (November 17 to 23)—A period devoted each year to focusing attention on reading for young people, has chosen a wise and understanding slogan for this season. It is "Reading for Fun," and reading certainly should be conducive to enjoyment if it is to lead to permanent companionship, happiness and solace.

A book that is instructive need not be a dull reading chore. Exploration, science, engineering—any number of subjects have benefited people because they inspired followers.

"Racing the Seas," by Ahto Walter and Tom Olsen, is factual, succinct, and older boys with a love of actual adventure without false flourishes will welcome it. "Bob Flame," by Dorr G. Yeager, which has to do with a national park ranger, is equally good in its own field. "Boss of the Ragged O," by Norma Bicknell Mansfield, is a treat for girls who have grit and spirit and like to read about it in others. "Lubber's Luck" by Edith Ballinger Price, is a vivid sea tale, while Edouard A. Stackpole's "Madagascar Jack," is a story of a Nantucket whaler, replete with good material.

"Coot Club," by Arthur Ransome, is one of those delightful books where the boys and girls act and play and talk as they really would in real life, and Mr. Ransome's followers know his stories do not lack excitement. "River Children," by Mary Brewster Hollister, is a story of plucky Chinese children, and "Lona of Hollybush Creek," by Genevieve Fox, is the story of a group of Kentucky hill children, natural and persuasive.

"Lost Corner," by Charlie May Simon, is a story of Arkansas mountain children, written with great warmth—the sort of book children will take to their hearts.

"Street Fair," by Marjorie Fischer, has to do with the adventures of two American children in Paris who weary of museums and who happen, by chance, on amazing but entirely credible experiences. A goodly array of books, with subject matter to appeal to all young people.

Mrs. Naught Introduced

Friends were introduced to Mrs. Adrian Naught, a recent acquisition to Monroe society, during the coffee hour in the home of Mrs. Nathan Gaston, Thursday morning.

Mrs. Naught, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pierce of New Orleans, was a charming figure among the group of guests in Mrs. Gaston's living room, gay with flowers and radiant with firelight glow. Luscious tid-bits were served, including hot biscuits with grilled bacon. Mrs. Gaston was assisted in the courtesies by Mrs. Sydney Moore.

Invited to meet this Mrs. Naught were Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. J. B. Vaughan, Mrs. Mike Winnberry, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Ralph King, Mrs. W. A. Walker, Mrs. Henry Guerriero, Mrs. Jean McRoberts, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mrs. Sydney Moore, Miss Elizabeth Carr, Miss Natalae Strickland and Miss Sue Graves.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cherry will leave Friday for Evansville, Ind., to visit relatives.

GOLDEN WEDDING

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Culver of Pine Bluff, Ark., was observed November 5 at the home of their grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Culver Johnson, of that city.

All decorations and appointments of the home featured the golden color motif. Gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds in tall floor baskets brightened the living room, where the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Culver and their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Culver, Jr., of Monroe, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Culver Johnson, John and Siegfried Johnson.

Mrs. Oliver wore her wedding dress of 50 years ago—a beautiful old fashioned gown of pink satin made in the period style, with tight pleated basque, long, graceful flowing skirt, finished with narrow pleating and a lace frill at the throat. Her jewelry was a wide wedding ring and her engagement ring set with three large pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of peach and yellow roses.

In the dining room, also colorful with a wealth of flowers, the table was laid with a lace cloth over yellow satin and centered with a large wedding cake, decorated in yellow and bearing the anniversary dates 1885-1935. At one end of the table was a miniature wedding scene and at the other end the tea service over which Dr. Lillian G. Higginbotham, a lifelong friend, presided. Garlands of gold-tinted ivy and glowing yellow candles completed the appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Culver, both natives of Leavenworth, Kansas have lived in Pine Bluff, Ark., since 1890, and are among the city's most valued and esteemed citizens.

One son, Edward Culver, and one grandchild, Natalie Culver, of National City, Calif., were unable to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Culver have received numerous anniversary greetings, gifts and flowers from absent friends, and during the receiving hours large numbers called to greet them personally on the happy occasion.

Old-Fashioned Thanksgiving Appears In Store For Monroe

By Eve Bradford

The season speeds up. November waxes and wanes and the Master Potter of the Universe sits high above us resting and contemplating His handiwork. Summer has vanished and autumn and its beauty that human hearts always respond to is passing. The flaming billows of red, yellow, bronze and green will soon be a thing of the past. The fields are frosted with silver of mornings and the harvest moon that rode in splendor high in the heavens is commencing to look rather cold and unfriendly. The stars that always seem brighter when the magic of the holidays fall upon the earth, will make up for the frigid looks the moon gives us when the harvest is over.

We have a weakness for the holiday season and especially for Thanksgiving. It gives us an opportunity to give thanks for the mistakes that enable us to learn a priceless lesson, to give thanks for the disappointments that clear the vision, for all the shortcomings that help us to understand the weakness of our neighbors, for our imperfections that give us the keen delight of striving toward perfection.

Don't you love the atmosphere of the holiday season, the expansive mood, the hurly-burly, the arriving guests and the pungent, spicy odor of luscious fruit cakes fresh from the oven. Every sign points to a regular old-fashioned Thanksgiving this year, with a fashionable wedding thrown in for good measure.

Joel Nichols steps altarward on Thanksgiving day, you know.

The rafters will be ringing at Lakeside Country club next Saturday night, when Junior leaguers will entertain the public with a carnival. Proceeds will go to the free baby clinic, so of course you will be there stepping high, wide and handsome.

Eskimos in the land of the long night wear furs to keep out the Arctic chill but smartly gowned women of fashion in the land of eternal sunshine wear furs for their sleek, shiny beauty and chic style. At least Emily Miller does. She went to the football game in Baton Rouge and, like everyone else who packed away their new winter duds so that they might appear in sartorial splendor, found the weather too warm for comfort. Determined that the weather man could not cheat her of the pleasure of wearing that handsome new beaver coat, she strolled back and forth in the air cooled lounge of the Heidelberg. The coat swung nonchalantly from her arm when she left for New Orleans and encountered even warmer weather. But fur coats come into their own sooner or later—it turned cold the day after she got home.

We found the weather uncomfortably warm in New Orleans last week, and especially so at a cocktail party, where the bankers of Louisiana, their wives and bankers from other cities were packed in like the proverbial sardines.

It is seldom a man defies the conventions, but one courageous male appeared in immaculate white linens while his wife was wrapped in elegant furs.

We looked around at the many beautiful women but decided that Ruth Washburn Gladney of Bastrop was the loveliest of all. She wore a dark blue velvet cocktail model with crimson roses at her throat and small close fitting blue velvet hat. Ruth lives in Bastrop but Monroe will always claim her for its own.

Louise Kellogg is looking sartorially perfect these cool days in an ice-blue wool model with grey fox fur and flattering little hat of blue with fetching rose veil. She is entertaining a tall, slender, good looking guest, Bessie Lee Atkins of Bolivar, Tenn. We saw her the other day and admired the stunning full length, kid caracul coat she was wearing.

Anna Lou Sandridge has been tucked in bed for several months, under doctor's orders. She is being missed socially, but friends manage to drop in every day to help her while the hours away.

All those who hunger and thirst after the musically unusual are bound to welcome the hour of music at Grace church on the eighth of December when the Musical Coterie gives its annual outpouring of melody. Dressed in crimson vestments with candles pricking the twilight dimness, this group of artists will render numbers from Bach and Handel as you have never heard them before.

If you drop in casually at the David Garretts these cool days of early winter, you are almost certain to find friends encircling the fireplace in the living room, with Lessie, graciousness personified, offering her own special brand of hospitality. Lessie is considered by many to be the best informed woman in Monroe on subjects of world-wide interest. Of literary trend of mind and possessing an alert mind, keen sense of humor and a very liberal understanding and outlook on life, she is the ideal companion. The roots of Lessie's family have for generations been tied in the very soil and traditions of this section of the south, so naturally she is the true type of southern woman.

The Garrett home reflects Lessie's distinctive personality and her love for the treasures handed down to her. On the mantle is a hurricane lamp with flaming taper, dating back to colonial days. Also there is an exquisite miniature of her great, great grandfather, a very arrogant looking gentleman with powdered hair and the formal dress of 1780. The picture was painted in 1780. On a table nearby is a Bible brought to Louisiana in 1859 by Lessie's grandmother. It records the marriage of Lessie's great, great grandmother in 1790.

Daisy Grey packed some good looking clothes away in her wardrobe trunk when she dashed off to St. Louis with her doctor husband to attend the medical association meeting. Dr. Grey will address an assemblage at a dinner at the Jefferson hotel for past presidents of the association, national and otherwise. Virginia Guerriero and Lib Shlenker also spent last week shopping for clothes and will glorify their own corner when they attend the convention in St. Louis with their learned husbands. Virginia is taking her first vacation since the blessed event in the Guerriero household and is enjoying an anticipatory thrill.

But she took happily to the air when safety tests came along. As proof of her convictions, she won cross-country derbies in three successive years.

As further proof that flying could be safe, she flew the mail from Little Rock to Memphis in 1927 when the Mississippi floods tore out railroad tracks. On each return trip, her loaded plane carried bags of food for stranded people. Each night she went over the engine of the plane which was to carry her back the next day across the raging Mississippi.

All the while she fretted over the unmarked airways of the country, and the plight of the private flier who often found himself over strange and unmarked territory when storms shut him. Maybe he could follow a river or railroad to a town. Maybe he had enough gas to keep him safe until he found an airport. But sometimes such situations led to crashes and death.

"The commercial flier knows his way too well," says Mrs. Omlie, "to get into such trouble except in rare instances. But if the aviation industry is to grow as large as the automobile industry the private flier must be encouraged. One of the surest and quickest ways is to mark the country so he can't get lost."

A year ago Mrs. Omlie, on assignment from the bureau of air commerce, began gathering figures to prove a national air-marking program possible and not too expensive. She studied paints, wage scales under WPA and the most traveled air lanes. She decided signs should be readable from 2,500 feet in the air, and that the minimum sign should be seven feet high. She sounded out mayors and chambers of commerce. They liked the plan. Her determination had engendered aid from other government officials, and the project was approved by the WPA board.

She was free to hire three fliers who could travel to all state WPA centers to set up the projects. She smiled quietly and decided to prove another idea of hers: that women fliers can work as well as men. So she hired Louise McPhetridge Thaden of Little Rock, Helen McCloskey of Pittsburgh and Nancy Harkness of Boston. All three have transport pilot licenses.

The young women not only must prove to each state WPA board that the plan will work in their state, but they must stay on deck long enough to set up costs and wage scales for the state.

"They must be doing all right," Mrs. Omlie smiles over her staff. "The other day another government department headed by men wanted to borrow them. I told them 'hands off, but I volunteered to get them three other women fliers."

Recall Gaby Deslys

By Adelaide Kerr

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Waistlength mantilla veils and bird hats, scarfs and muffs, evoking shades of Gaby Deslys, are the latest 1936 millinery notes shown in Agnes new collection.

The most voluminous veils Paris has shown since the war, falling in a cloud like a bridal veil to the waist, top many of the designer's winter models. Some are worn thrown back from the forehead over the shoulders, while others are a filmy black net circle or a square yard of colored tulle falling over the face and shoulders.

The hats they trim are small—a black felt toque pinched up on top in a ridge like a Spanish senorita's comb with the veil falling like a mantilla, or a small velvet toque swathed in a midst of black tulle spattered with black chenille dots.

The bird hats and muffs, bringing memories of the gay nineteen hundreds, made everyone stare on the opening day. Some of the chapeaux had two bright birds fastened right in front, their wings sweeping backward, as though they had just poised in flight. Others were birdbreast toques mounting to a peaked ridge or finished with birds of paradise or aigrettes swooping back or down under the chin. With them went flat feather muffs, sometimes having two birds with outspread wings splashed right in front, and bird scarfs with a boa of breast feathers encircling the throat and wings poised on one side. Rich blue violet, henna brown and green were favorite plumage colors. Black and blue were the most popular hat hues.

To keep step with the military millinery vogue the designer launched Napoleonic felts with gold cockades and "marshal" tricorns finished with aigrette spikes.

The entire collection stressed height, either in crowns or in trims.

'Reading For Fun'

By Mary Graham Bonner

Children's Book week (November 17 to 23)—A period devoted each year to focusing attention on reading for young people, has chosen a wise and understanding slogan for this season. It is "Reading for Fun," and reading certainly should be conducive to enjoyment if it is to lead to permanent companionship, happiness and solace.

A book that is instructive need not be a dull reading chore. Exploration, science, engineering—any number of subjects have benefited people because they inspired followers.

"Racing the Seas," by Ahto Walter and Tom Olsen, is factual, succinct, and older boys with a love of actual adventure without false flourishes will welcome it. "Bob Flame," by Dorr G. Yeager, which has to do with a national park ranger, is equally good in its own field. "Boss of the Ragged O," by Norma Bicknell Mansfield, is a treat for girls who have grit and spirit and like to read about it in others. "Lubber's Luck" by Edith Ballinger Price, is a vivid sea tale, while Edouard A. Stackpole's "Madagascar Jack," is a story of a Nantucket whaler, replete with good material.

"Coot Club," by Arthur Ransome, is one of those delightful books where the boys and girls act and play and talk as they really would in real life, and Mr. Ransome's followers know his stories do not lack excitement. "River Children," by Mary Brewster Hollister, is a story of plucky Chinese children, and "Lona of Hollybush Creek," by Genevieve Fox, is the story of a group of Kentucky hill children, natural and persuasive.

"Lost Corner," by Charlie May Simon, is a story of Arkansas mountain children, written with great warmth—the sort of book children will take to their hearts.

"Street Fair," by Marjorie Fischer, has to do with the adventures of two American children in Paris who weary of museums and who happen, by chance, on amazing but entirely credible experiences. A goodly array of books, with subject matter to appeal to all young people.

Mrs. Naught Introduced

Friends were introduced to Mrs. Adrian Naught, a recent acquisition to Monroe society, during the coffee hour in the home of Mrs. Nathan Gaston, Thursday morning.

Mrs. Naught, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pierce of New Orleans, was a charming figure among the group of guests in Mrs. Gaston's living room, gay with flowers and radiant with firelight glow. Luscious tid-bits were served, including hot biscuits with grilled bacon. Mrs. Gaston was assisted in the courtesies by Mrs. Sydney Moore.

Invited to meet this Mrs. Naught were Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. J. B. Vaughan, Mrs. Mike Winnberry, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. Ralph King, Mrs. W. A. Walker, Mrs. Henry Guerriero, Mrs. Jean McRoberts, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mrs. Sydney Moore, Miss Elizabeth Carr, Miss Natalae Strickland and Miss Sue Graves.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cherry will leave Friday for Evansville, Ind., to visit relatives.

GOLDEN WEDDING

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Culver of Pine Bluff, Ark., was observed November 5 at the home of their grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Culver Johnson, of that city.

All decorations and appointments of the home featured the golden color motif. Gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds in tall floor baskets brightened the living room, where the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Culver and their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Culver, Jr., of Monroe, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Culver Johnson, John and Siegfried Johnson.

Mrs. Oliver wore her wedding dress of 50 years ago—a beautiful old fashioned gown of pink satin made in the period style, with tight pleated basque, long, graceful flowing skirt, finished with narrow pleating and a lace frill at the throat. Her jewelry was a wide wedding ring and her engagement ring set with three large pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of peach and yellow roses.

In the dining room, also colorful with a wealth of flowers, the table was laid with a lace cloth over yellow satin and centered with a large wedding cake, decorated in yellow and bearing the anniversary dates 1885-1935. At one end of the table was a miniature wedding scene and at the other end the tea service over which Dr. Lillian G. Higginbotham, a lifelong friend, presided. Garlands of gold-tinted ivy and glowing yellow candles completed the appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Culver, both natives of Leavenworth, Kansas have lived in Pine Bluff, Ark., since 1890, and are among the city's most valued and esteemed citizens.

One son, Edward Culver, and one grandchild, Natalie Culver, of National City, Calif., were unable to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Culver have received numerous anniversary greetings, gifts and flowers from absent friends, and during the receiving hours large numbers called to greet them personally on the happy occasion.

Carnival Is Planned For November 23 By Junior Leaguers

Monroe Club Women Leading Active Lives

Charity Event To Be Held At Lakeside; Many Interesting Features Arranged; Groups Are Busy In This City

The approaching holiday season brings its customary rush of activities, bu', willy-nilly, the Junior leaguers must have their fun, and so they plan a carnival.

The spacious confines of Lakeside Country club will be transformed on the night of the twenty-third of November. All the dignity associated with society's rendezvous will vanish into thin air and the atmosphere will be surcharged with the cry of the hot-dog vender, the side show barker and the blare of the orchestra. "Mister, can you spare a d me," will be the plea of pretty girls on the dance floor, garbed in the bizarre costumes of the typical "forty-niner."

Booths will outline the wide porches, each one presided over by members of the Junior league. Mrs. Thomas Frazer, Mrs. DeWitt Milam and Mrs. Hunter Thatcher in charge of the grocery booth, have solicited sufficient products to assure a profitable evening and an increase of funds for the league. In the toilette accessory booth, presided over by Mrs. Milling Bernstein and Miss Lela Germany, vill be found smart gadgets and articles donated by the merchants of this city. Mrs. S. A. Collins and Mrs. John Snellings will have charge of the products contributed by a packing company. Enormous hams, for instance, and pounds and pounds of bacon. Mrs. Peyton Parker will have charge of the baked goods and Mrs. Joseph Dawkins, the cigarettes. Mrs. Allan Sholars and Mrs. Satchie Cooper will be in charge of the candy booth, Mrs. Ralph King, the coffee table, and Mrs. Merrill Bush and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill will sell sandwiches. Mrs. Flood Madison and Mrs. Paul Matthews will superintend the fortune telling booth and the picture show for children. The entertainment provided for children will be one of the distinct features of this year's carnival. In addition to the picture show, a toy and doll booth will be a great attraction.

Miss Sue Graves, Mrs. Samuel Jones and Mrs. Walter Kellogg will be in full charge of the dance floor and have selected a galaxy of beautiful girls to act as dancing partners for the male contingent.

The event, although strictly informal, promises to attract the entire fashionable world of the city. The doors will be open at six thirty and the public is invited to take advantage of an entire evening of carefree pleasure. There will be no admission charge and the amount of money spent is purely a personal matter. Every cent spent will be for sweet charity's sake. So your conscience can b your guide.

Mrs. Harold Mouk, general chairman, is most enthusiastic over the interest manifested by all members of the league in this project. The merchants have rallied to their cause, and, as a result, booth after booth will be filled with bargains. The Junior league stands for service, and, if the children in their free clinic are not properly cared for, there is no reason for existence, according to Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis, local president of the league.

Sketch Club Elects

Mrs. Dorothy Mengis Grant will guide the destinies of the Sketch club through the coming year in the capacity of president. Other officers elected at a recent meeting are: Vice president, Miss Elvier Gillette; secretary, Miss Louise Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Anthony Thebo; and reporter, Mr. Joseph Craig.

The year ahead is big with promise for members of the Sketch club. The recognition accorded one of the members in the recent contest sponsored by the Louisiana Federated Women's clubs is an incentive for greater achievement. Mr. Herbert Levy's painting in water colors, "The Alley," was selected by the judges for first place.

The Monroe Sketch club does not need any defense of its record of the past few years. Those of us who have followed its work know that it occupies a special niche in the life of local art. Excellent work is being done not only by Mr. Levy but by Mrs. Anthony Thebo, who was awarded second place in the state contest for her charming, colorful, still life painting, "Petunias."

Mrs. H. M. James is another outstanding member of the Sketch club whose vivid technique renders her paintings picturesque and decorative. A dazzling flash of color is noted in the work done in Taos, N. M., last year.

Several honors have been conferred upon Mrs. James, notably membership in the Southern State Art league in 1933 and membership in the Art Association of New Orleans in 1934. She was invited to exhibit her work in a nation-wide exhibition at Palm Beach last spring. She is also listed in Who's Who in Art, published by American Federation of Art in Washington.

Mrs. Dorothy Mengis Grant is accomplishing some noteworthy work, a testified by membership in the Southern States Art league this year. Mrs. Grant selects unusual themes for her subjects, and, as a result, her work is most refreshing and decorative.

Another member of the Sketch club deserving of special mention is Miss Elvier Gillette, painter and sculptress. Mrs. George Lowery is also forging ahead, as well as Mrs. F. C. Holden, Mrs. G. W. Smith, Mrs. C. C. Campbell, Mrs. S. L. Allen, Mr. Joseph Craig, Miss Louise Moore, Mrs. W. F. Hyde, Miss Bernyce Cason, Miss Ruth Wilder, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mrs. Thomas Monk and Mrs. H. C. Mayo.

Sketch club members have made an admirable record since organizing. They have their own clubhouse and are now making plans for extensive improvements. Enthusiasm is running high and work will commence at once toward beautifying the clubhouse grounds and refinishing and decorating the interior. Regular painting classes will be held at the clubhouse during the coming winter.

Book Club Meets

The presence of Miss Margaret Hudson at the meeting of the Twentieth Century Book club with Mrs. C. E. Gibson in her suite at the Alvis hotel rendered the afternoon's program unusually charming.

Miss Hudson, read Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh's review of "Poor Splendid Wings," with dramatic fervor. It was enjoyed to the fullest by members of the club.

Mrs. J. B. Vaughan, with customary graciousness, gave a paper on "Trend in American Art."

Mrs. Gibson served her guests a delectable sea food course during the social hour, rendered exceedingly pleasant by the presence of several guests.

Present were: Mmes. T. O. Brown, W. B. Clarke, M. S. McGuire, S. J. Meek, Sidney Stroud, W. C. Oliver, Sr., Henry Whitfield, Judson Smith, S. McReynolds, S. M. Collins, Louis Hullum, Flood Madison, M. M. Munholland, W. M. Washburn, F. A. Coon, J. B. Vaughan, Arthur Dryburgh, Groves Harrison of Clarks and D. F. Alexander of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Margaret Hudson.

Club Entertained

Unusually pleasant was Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh's entertainment of her Friday Afternoon Bridge club at her home, where tables were grouped in the reception suite.

The pleasures of the afternoon were completed by the serving of a delicious fruit salad course, sandwiches and coffee to Mrs. L. P. Milner, Mrs. A. L. Harrington, Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Theodore Terzia, Mrs. W. W. Cooper, Mrs. Murray Hudson, Mrs. F. G. Hudson, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. Allan Sholars, Mrs. R. C. White and Mrs. Francis Faulk.

Study Club Meets

Gathered around the hearth in Mrs. David Garrett's comfortable living room, rendered rather festive with clusters of beautiful crimson Radiance roses in the background, members of the Study club spent a delightful afternoon.

The topic for the afternoon's program, "German Empire to 1914," was presented in a capable and interesting manner by Mrs. Elmer Richards.

The social hour permitted the hostess to serve a deletable variety of toasted sandwiches, delicious spicecakes, salted almonds and preserved ginger.

Members present were Mrs. J. Drew, Mrs. Fillmore Meadows, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Neil McHenry, Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, Mrs. H. H. Land, Mrs. Lewis Slator, Mrs. Nelson Abel, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Elmer Richards and Miss Carrie D. Drew.

About Convention

November finds the vast army of club women in this state working in perfect harmony and throwing their forces back of the splendid educational movement that is being stressed this year.

The annual state convention of Louisiana Federation of Women's Club in Natchitoches was noteworthy in every respect. The program revolved around the theme, "Education For Living," with the general trend, "We begin our education for living when we finish school."

The high point of interest was reached when Mrs. Ann Steese Richardson, for 25 years editor of the citizenship bureau of the Woman's Home Company, and Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs addressed the convention.

Mrs. Richardson sounded a warning note when she pointed to the somewhat shaken faith of the American people in their commerce and advertisers. As a first step to overthrow our American government, there are planted communists in America to cause unrest and general disbelief, and the first step is to undermine American business. Mrs. Richardson asked the club women to be loyal to their home merchants and trade at home.

Drawing a contrast between life in America and life in Europe, Mrs. Richardson warned the assembly to stand by the constitution of the United States of America, which has certain fundamentals which will never fail, and has given to them free speech, freedom of the press and freedom to worship God as their conscience dictates.

Mrs. Lawson brought a message of particular interest to club women and told of her main objective as president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Realizing the need of training American young men and young women for statesmanship, Mrs. Lawson will work toward the establishment of a university where American youth will be trained for service to their government as they are trained for military service at Annapolis and West Point—not too many at a time, for this would cause a congested condition from the point of service.

"Education for Living Through Club Activities of My District," was the topic for discussion by Mrs. Nedra Pilsbury Bywater, president of the first district; Mrs. A. L. Miller, president of the second district; Mrs. Sidney Pelletier, third district; Mrs. F. A. Leaming, fourth district; Miss Lillie Mae Long, fifth district; Mrs. Conrad LeCoq, sixth district; Mrs. W. S. Streator, seventh district, and Mrs. W. M. Knott, eighth district.

The importance of library work was cleverly presented at a breakfast under the direction of Miss Eassie M. Culver, with Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson the principal speaker.

The far-reaching influence of library work, especially among the rural citizens, was stressed by Mrs. W. M. Knott, who presented a group in a panel discussion.

Social features of the convention included a garden party in the home of Mrs. Samuel Levy, a dinner at Hotel Nakatosh honoring Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Agate, a reception at Social hall, Louisiana State Normal college and a convention at Hotel Nakatosh.

Prizes Awarded

Contests in the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, which are employed to stimulate interest in club publicity, reading, art, poetry, drama, short story writing and insurance, terminated at the convention in session at Natchitoches, with the exception of insurance essays, which was deferred, according to Mrs. Turner K. Butler, of Ponchatoula, chairman, because of unforeseen circumstances.

The importance and place of publicity in the life of clubs was clearly defined by Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston, chairman of press and publicity, at the convention luncheon, when a miniature figure was placed in a show case symbolizing the club when its meetings are reported through the press. At this time awards were made for the best publicity scrap books, with judging based on completeness, arrangement, and attractiveness. The DeSoto department club of Mansfield was winner of the prize. Honorable mention went to the Woman's club of Abbeville and the Cosmos club of Ruston.

Miss Essae Martha Culver presented reading certificates at the book breakfast to the following: Abbeville, Mrs. W. H. Hall, Mrs. F. W. Kerksieck, Mrs. J. E. LeBlanc, Mrs. W. B. McMillan; Lafayette, Mrs. B. H. Agate; DeRidder, Mrs. M. E. Crawford, Mrs. John D. Frazar, Mrs. Edgar Houston, Mrs. A. R. Lecompte, Mrs. R. L. Love, Jennings, Dr. Helen Flint, Mrs. J. T. Heinen, Mrs. N. Humphreys, Mrs. Laura S. Remage, Mrs. W. F. Tietje; Welsh, Mrs. W. D. Jones, Ruth Martin, Mrs. A. R. McBurney, Mrs. T. C. Simmons, Mrs. M. B. Van Nesse; Lake Arthur, Mrs. W. C. Heinen, Mrs. C. B. Leonard, Mrs. W. M. Buchanan, Mrs. L. V. Laurents; eighth district, Mrs. Jack Carmichael, Mrs. Daugs, Mrs. R. B. Jackson, Miss Nell Jordan, Mrs. W. M. Knott, Mrs. Sara Lucius, Mrs. Kyle McCullough, Mrs. J. H. McNeely, Sr., Mrs. John V. Nash, Mrs. Olin D. Moore, Mrs. D. M. Norris, Miss Nettie Lee Pate, Mrs. W. N. Price, Miss Ruth Reagan, Miss Sibyl Reser, Mrs. J. B. Vandegear, Mrs. Van Dines, Mrs. O. E. Williams, Mrs. C. C. Woods, Mrs. Samuel Levy.

Mrs. D. H. Christman of Shreveport, state chairman of art announced the following winners in the art contest: First prize in water colors, Herbert S. Levy, Monroe, "The Alley"; second prize in oil, Mrs. A. J. Thebo, Monroe, "Hunting Scene"; honorable mention, Miss Emily Johnson, Many, an oil, "New Orleans Lunch Quarters." The awards were based on the most original and outstanding work done without the aid of a teacher.

In the penny art fund contest, the Enterprize club of Lake Charles was accorded first place for the outstanding report on art activities for the year and received an etching by C. Joe Young from the American Association of Etchers entitled "Winter Stillness." Second prize to the Pierian club of Ruston for art in civic beautification. It was an etching. "Three Whifflers" by Churchill Ettinger, given by the American Association of Etchers.

Miss Catherine Winters of Natchitoches presented the prize winning drama, "The Return of Jacques," written by Miss Evelyn Soule Ford at the Louisiana State Normal college for the Davis players, a student drama club, under the direction of Miss Annette Wood, at the evening session of the state convention on Friday. Second place in the contest was won by Mrs. Hearne Harper with the play, "A Cup of Wine for Napoleon." Third place was given to Mrs. Elizabeth G. Stretor for "Pirate Sails on the Quelque Shoue."

Awards in the districts went to Miss Evelyn Soule Ford, Mrs. Grace F. Agate, Mrs. Harper Hearne and Mrs. Elizabeth G. Streator.

Mrs. Patrick J. White of Shreveport, state chairman of poetry announced the names of winners in her contest as follows: Mrs. S. A. Jones, Poetry Society of Shreveport; Mrs. Elizabeth G. Streator, Lake Charles; Miss Paralee Parrish, Poetry Society, Shreveport. Honorable mention was given Kathleen Kelly Wooley, Poetry So-

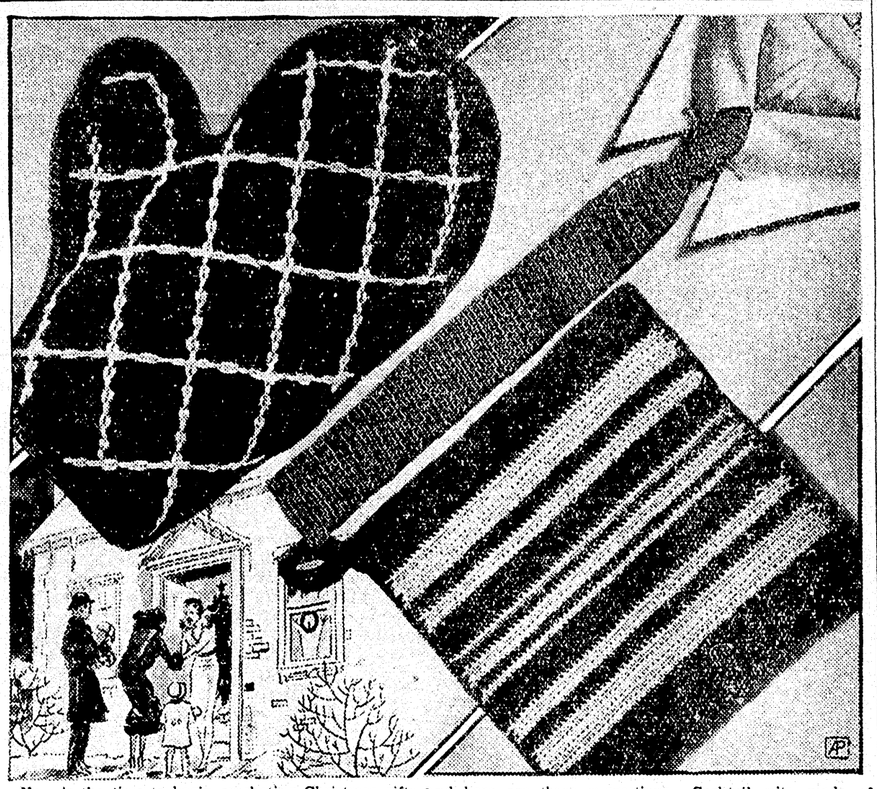
Solving Gift Puzzle With Crochet Hook



Now is the time to begin crocheting Christmas gifts and here are three suggestions. Cocktail mits, made of cotton crochet cord with white lattice design to keep the hands warm and dry when agitating the cocktail shaker. A mesh necktie of mercerized crochet cotton, worked very tightly so it won't stretch, and with a boilfast color so it won't fade. A hot dish holder that's decorative enough for dining room use, made of strong, washable cotton crochet cord. They are all quick, easy and economical to make.

The height of fashion--in the height of the season--at savings is the story behind

Fur Coats

It's a rare occurrence when anyone can offer the smartest of fashions in the height of the season at savings but that is just what we are doing with Fur coats. We bought our coats early. We thought them wonderful then . . . BUT the price went up and these Fur coats are now greater values than ever . . . and we now offer you an additional saving of from $10 to $25 on a coat. Carnival Is Planned For November 23 By Junior Leaguers

Monroe Club Women Leading Active Lives

Charity Event To Be Held At Lakeside; Many Interesting Features Arranged; Groups Are Busy In This City

The approaching holiday season brings its customary rush of activities, but, willy-nilly, the Junior leaguers must have their fun, and so they plan a carnival.

The spacious confines of Lakeside Country club will be transformed on the night of the twenty-third of November. All the dignity associated with society's rendezvous will vanish into thin air and the atmosphere will be surcharged with the cry of the hot-dog vender, the side show barker and the blare of the orchestra. "Mister, can you spare a dime," will be the plea of pretty girls on the dance floor, garbed in the bizarre costumes of the typical "forty-niner."

Booths will outline the wide porches, each one presided over by members of the Junior league. Mrs. Thomas Frazer, Mrs. DeWitt Milam and Mrs. Hunter Thatcher in charge of the grocery booth, have solicited sufficient products to assure a profitable evening and an increase of funds for the league. In the toilette accessory booth, presided over by Mrs. Milling Bernstein and Miss Lela Germany, will be found smart gadgets and articles donated by the merchants of this city. Mrs. S. A. Collins and Mrs. John Snellings will have charge of the products contributed by a packing company. Enormous hams, for instance, and pounds and pounds of bacon. Mrs. Peyton Parker will have charge of the baked goods and Mrs. Joseph Dawkins, the cigarettes. Mrs. Allan Sholars and Mrs. Satchie Cooper will be in charge of the candy booth, Mrs. Ralph King, the coffee table, and Mrs. Merrill Bush and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill will sell sandwiches. Mrs. Flood Madison and Mrs. Paul Matthews will superintend the fortune telling booth and the picture show for children. The entertainment provided for children will be one of the distinct features of this year's carnival. In addition to the picture show, a toy and doll booth will be a great attraction.

Miss Sue Graves, Mrs. Samuel Jones and Mrs. Walter Kellogg will be in full charge of the dance floor and have selected a galaxy of beautiful girls to act as dancing partners for the male contingent.

The event, although strictly informal, promises to attract the entire fashionable world of the city. The doors will be open at six thirty and the public is invited to take advantage of an entire evening of carefree pleasure. There will be no admission charge and the amount of money spent is purely a personal matter. Every cent spent will be for sweet charity's sake. So your conscience can be your guide.

Mrs. Harold Mouk, general chairman, is most enthusiastic over the interest manifested by all members of the league in this project. The merchants have rallied to their cause, and, as a result, booth after booth will be filled with bargains. The Junior league stands for service, and, if the children in their free clinic are not properly cared for, there is no reason for existence, according to Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis, local president of the league.

Sketch Club Elects

Mrs. Dorothy Mengis Grant will guide the destinies of the Sketch club through the coming year in the capacity of president. Other officers elected at a recent meeting are: Vice president, Miss Elvier Gillette; secretary, Miss Louise Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Anthony Thebo; and reporter, Mr. Joseph Craig.

The year ahead is big with promise for members of the Sketch club. The recognition accorded one of the members in the recent contest sponsored by the Louisiana Federated Women's clubs is an incentive for greater achievement. Mr. Herbert Levy's painting in water colors, "The Alley," was selected by the judges for first place.

The Monroe Sketch club does not need any defense of its record of the past few years. Those of us who have followed its work know that it occupies a special niche in the life of local art. Excellent work is being done not only by Mr. Levy but by Mrs. Anthony Thebo, who was awarded second place in the state contest for her charming, colorful, still life painting, "Petunias."

Mrs. H. M. James is another outstanding member of the Sketch club whose vivid technique renders her paintings picturesque and decorative. A dazzling flash of color is noted in the work done in Taos, N. M., last year.

Several honors have been conferred upon Mrs. James, notably membership in the Southern State Art league in 1933 and membership in the Art Association of New Orleans in 1934. She was invited to exhibit her work in a nation-wide exhibition at Palm Beach last spring. She is also listed in Who's Who in Art, published by American Federation of Art in Washington.

Mrs. Dorothy Mengis Grant is accomplishing some noteworthy work, as testified by membership in the Southern States Art league this year. Mrs. Grant selects unusual themes for her subjects, and, as a result, her work is most refreshing and decorative.

Another member of the Sketch club deserving of special mention is Miss Elvier Gillette, painter and sculptress. Mrs. George Lowery is also forging ahead, as well as Mrs. F. C. Holden, Mrs. G. W. Smith, Mrs. C. C. Campbell, Mrs. S. L. Allen, Mr. Joseph Craig, Miss Louise Moore, Mrs. W. F. Hyde, Miss Bernyce Cason, Miss Ruth Wilder, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mrs. Thomas Monk and Mrs. H. C. Mayo.

Sketch club members have made an admirable record since organizing. They have their own clubhouse and are now making plans for extensive improvements. Enthusiasm is running high and work will commence at once toward beautifying the clubhouse grounds and refinishing and decorating the interior. Regular painting classes will be held at the clubhouse during the coming winter.

Book Club Meets

The presence of Miss Margaret Hudson at the meeting of the Twentieth Century Book club with Mrs. C. E. Gibson in her suite at the Alvis hotel rendered the afternoon's program unusually charming.

Miss Hudson, read Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh's review of "Poor Splendid Wings," with dramatic fervor. It was enjoyed to the fullest by members of the club.

Mrs. J. B. Vaughan, with customary graciousness, gave a paper on "Trend in American Art."

Mrs. Gibson served her guests a delectable sea food course during the social hour, rendered exceedingly pleasant by the presence of several guests.

Present were: Mmes. T. O. Brown, W. B. Clarke, M. S. McGuire, S. J. Meek, Sidney Stroud, W. C. Oliver, Sr., Henry Whitfield, Judson Smith, S. McReynolds, S. M. Collins, Louis Hullum, Flood Madison, M. M. Munholland, W. M. Washburn, F. A. Coon, J. B. Vaughan, Arthur Dryburgh, Groves Harrison of Clarks and D. F. Alexander of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Margaret Hudson.

Club Entertained

Unusually pleasant was Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh's entertainment of her Friday Afternoon Bridge club at her home, where tables were grouped in the reception suite.

The pleasures of the afternoon were completed by the serving of a delicious fruit salad course, sandwiches and coffee to Mrs. L. P. Milner, Mrs. A. L. Harrington, Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Theodore Terzia, Mrs. W. W. Cooper, Mrs. Murray Hudson, Mrs. F. G. Hudson, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. Allan Sholars, Mrs. R. C. White and Mrs. Francis Faulk.

Study Club Meets

Gathered around the hearth in Mrs. David Garrett's comfortable living room, rendered rather festive with clusters of beautiful crimson Radiance roses in the background, members of the Study club spent a delightful afternoon.

The topic for the afternoon's program, "German Empire to 1914," was presented in a capable and interesting manner by Mrs. Elmer Richards.

The social hour permitted the hostess to serve a delectable variety of toasted sandwiches, delicious spicecakes, salted almonds and preserved ginger.

Members present were Mrs. J. Drew, Mrs. Fillmore Meadows, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. Neil McHenry, Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, Mrs. H. H. Land, Mrs. Lewis Slator, Mrs. Nelson Abel, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Elmer Richards and Miss Carrie D. Drew.

About Convention

November finds the vast army of club women in this state working in perfect harmony and throwing their forces back of the splendid educational movement that is being stressed this year.

The annual state convention of Louisiana Federation of Women's Club in Natchitoches was noteworthy in every respect. The program revolved around the theme, "Education For Living," with the general trend, "We begin our education for living when we finish school."

The high point of interest was reached when Mrs. Ann Steese Richardson, for 25 years editor of the citizenship bureau of the Woman's Home Company, and Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs addressed the convention.

Mrs. Richardson sounded a warning note when she pointed to the somewhat shaken faith of the American people in their commerce and advertisers. As a first step to overthrow our American government, there are planted communisis in America to cause unrest and general disbelief, and the first step is to undermine American business. Mrs. Richardson asked the club women to be loyal to their home merchants and trade at home.

Drawing a contrast between life in America and life in Europe, Mrs. Richardson warned the assembly to stand by the constitution of the United States of America, which has certain fundamentals which will never fail, and has given to them free speech, freedom of the press and freedom to worship God as their conscience dictates.

Mrs. Lawson brought a message of particular interest to club women and told of her main objective as president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Realizing the need of training American young men and young women for statesmanship, Mrs. Lawson will work toward the establishment of a university where American youth will be trained for service to their government as they are trained for military service at Annapolis and West Point—not too many at a time, for this would cause a congested condition from the point of service.

"Education for Living Through Club Activities of My District," was the topic for discussion by Mrs. Nedra Pilsbury Bywater, president of the first district; Mrs. A. L. Miller, president of the second district; Mrs. Sidney Pelletier, third district; Mrs. F. A. Leaming, fourth district; Miss Lillie Mae Long, fifth district; Mrs. Conrad LeCoq, sixth district; Mrs. W. S. Streator, seventh district, and Mrs. W. M. Knott, eighth district.

The importance of library work was cleverly presented at a breakfast under the direction of Miss Eassie M. Culver, with Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson the principal speaker.

The far-reaching influence of library work, especially among the rural citizens, was stressed by Mrs. W. M. Knott, who presented a group in a panel discussion.

Social features of the convention included a garden party in the home of Mrs. Samuel Levy, a dinner at Hotel Nakatosh honoring Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Agate, a reception at Social hall, Louisiana State Normal college and a convention at Hotel Nakatosh.

Prizes Awarded

Contests in the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, which are employed to stimulate interest in club publicity, reading, art, poetry, drama, short story writing and insurance, terminated at the convention in session at Natchitoches, with the exception of insurance essays, which was deferred, according to Mrs. Turner K. Butler, of Ponchatoula, chairman, because of unforeseen circumstances.

The importance and place of publicity in the life of clubs was clearly defined by Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston, chairman of press and publicity, at the convention luncheon, when a miniature figure was placed in a show case symbolizing the club when its meetings are reported through the press. At this time awards were made for the best publicity scrap books, with judging based on completeness, arrangement, and attractiveness. The DeSoto department club of Mansfield was winner of the prize. Honorable mention went to the Woman's club of Abbeville and the Cosmos club of Ruston.

Miss Essae Martha Culver presented reading certificates at the book breakfast to the following: Abbeville, Mrs. W. H. Hall, Mrs. F. W. Kerksieck, Mrs. J. E. LeBlanc, Mrs. W. B. McMillan; Lafayette, Mrs. B. H. Agate; DeRidder, Mrs. M. E. Crawford, Mrs. John D. Frazar, Mrs. Edgar Houston, Mrs. A. R. Lecompte, Mrs. R. L. Love, Jennings, Dr. Helen Flint, Mrs. J. T. Heinen, Mrs. N. Humphreys, Mrs. Laura S. Remage, Mrs. W. F. Tietje; Welsh, Mrs. W. D. Jones, Ruth Martin, Mrs. A. R. McBurney, Mrs. T. C. Simmons, Mrs. M. B. Van Nesse; Lake Arthur, Mrs. W. C. Heinen, Mrs. C. B. Leonard, Mrs. W. M. Buchanan, Mrs. L. V. Laurents; eighth district, Mrs. Jack Carmichael, Mrs. Daugs, Mrs. R. B. Jackson, Miss Nell Jordan, Mrs. W. M. Knott, Mrs. Sara Lucius, Mrs. Kyle McCullough, Mrs. J. H. McNeely, Sr., Mrs. John V. Nash, Mrs. Olin D. Moore, Mrs. D. M. Norris, Miss Nettie Lee Pate, Mrs. W. N. Price, Miss Ruth Reagan, Miss Sibyl Reser, Mrs. J. B. Vandegear, Mrs. Van Dines, Mrs. O. E. Williams, Mrs. C. C. Woods, Mrs. Samuel Levy.

Mrs. D. H. Christman of Shreveport, state chairman of art announced the following winners in the art contest: First prize in water colors, Herbert S. Levy, Monroe, "The Alley"; second prize in oil, Mrs. A. J. Thebo, Monroe, "Hunting Scene"; honorable mention, Miss Emily Johnson, Many, an oil, "New Orleans Lunch Quarters." The awards were based on the most original and outstanding work done without the aid of a teacher.

In the penny art fund contest, the Enterprize club of Lake Charles was accorded first place for the outstanding report on art activities for the year and received an etching by C. Joe Young from the American Association of Etchers entitled "Winter Stillness." Second prize to the Pierian club of Ruston for art in civic beautification. It was an etching, "Three Whifflers" by Churchill Ettinger, given by the American Association of Etchers.

Miss Catherine Winters of Natchitoches presented the prize winning drama, "The Return of Jacques," written by Miss Evelyn Soule Ford at the Louisiana State Normal college for the Davis players, a student drama club, under the direction of Miss Annette Wood, at the evening session of the state convention on Friday. Second place in the contest was won by Mrs. Hearne Harper with the play, "A Cup of Wine for Napoleon." Third place was given to Mrs. Elizabeth G. Stretor for "Pirate Sails on the Quelque Shoue."

Awards in the districts went to Miss Evelyn Soule Ford, Mrs. Grace F. Agate, Mrs. Harper Hearne and Mrs. Elizabeth G. Streator.

Mrs. Patrick J. White of Shreveport, state chairman of poetry announced the names of winners in her contest as follows: Mrs. S. A. Jones, Poetry Society of Shreveport; Mrs. Elizabeth G. Streator, Lake Charles; Miss Paralee Parrish, Poetry Society, Shreveport. Honorable mention was given Kathleen Kelly Wooley, Poetry So-

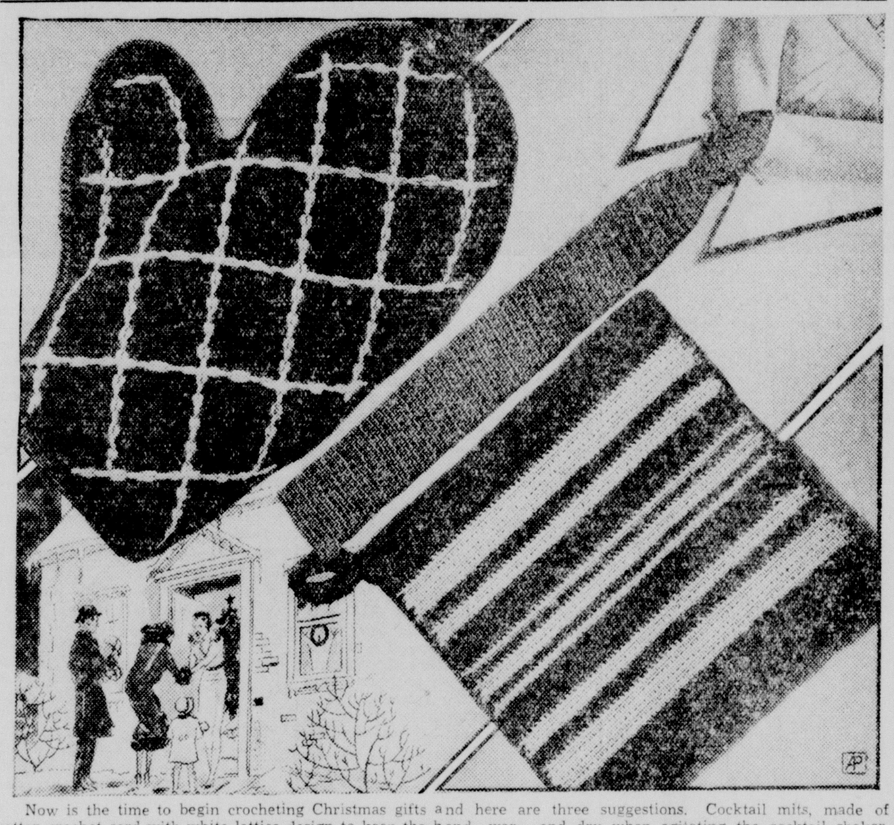
Solving Gift Puzzle With Crochet Hook



Now is the time to begin crocheting Christmas gifts and here are three suggestions. Cocktail mits, made of cotton crochet cord with white lattice design to keep the hands warm and dry when agitating the cocktail shaker. A mesh necktie of mercerized crochet cotton, worked very tightly so it won't stretch, and with a boilfast color so it won't fade. A hot dish holder that's decorative enough for dining room use, made of strong, washable cotton crochet cord. They are all quick, easy and economical to make.

Mrs. Couch's Message

The following message has been is- sued by Mrs. Carl L. Couch of Mon- roe, fifth district P.-T. A. director:

"Enthusiasm for the Parent-Teacher association is based on an under- standing of its objects.

"The objects of the local Parent- Teacher association are identical to the objects of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers:

"First, to promote child welfare in home, school, church and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adaquate laws for the care and protection of children.

"Second, to bring into closer rela- tion the home and school, that par- ents and teachers may cooperate in- telligently in the training of the child; to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the high- est advantages in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education.

"With 1,727,603 members, each real- izing his individual responsibility to a big child welfare program for our nation and each striving to prepare himself to meet this responsibility, nothing is impossible.

"May we more and more catch the vision and the spirit of the great Teacher, Who by word and deed taught us that the greatest joy in life is to be found in self-less service. And with this spirit may we dedicate our services to the great movement, remembering that 'every day thou- sands of little children come into a place of a hundred cross-roads. They know not which way to go. They come and place their hands in ours and ask us to show them the way. We must hold them close, love them and lead them straight.'

"That is our mission."

Neville P.-T. A.

An address on credits necessary for graduation by Charles E. Kenney, principal of Neville High school, fea- tured the regular meeting Monday of the Neville P.-T. A. unit of the Lou- isiana Congress of Parents and Teach- ers.

The speaker stressed the importance of parents' and teachers' assisting children in selecting and preparing for the course they will take at col- lege. "A high percentage of pupils settle the question in high school as to what they are going to do, and its our duty," Mr. Kenney said, "to start them building toward objectives as soon as we can."

Mr. Stewart, who is working with the state supervisor of music, told of what is being done in the organiza- tion of school bands and orchestras.

Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, vice-president, presided over the meeting.

Mitchell P.-T. A.

Dr. C. A. Kenney, principal of Nev- ille High school, was the chief speak- er at the regular meeting Wednesday of the W. R. Mitchell Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana Congress of Parents and Teachers. Dr. Ken- ney's subject was "Geography as Basis of World Citizenship," and his ad- dress was instructive.

The program was under the di- rection of Mrs. C. H. Tait of the sec- ond grade. Songs were rendered by the fourth grade.

Mrs. Peter Brooks reported high- lights of the fifth district parent- teacher meeting, held recently in West Monroe. The Mitchell association had the second largest number of mem- bers present at the session.

A standard study course is to be featured by the Mitchell association in the future. The association now has a paid membership of over 50.

The second grade won the prize for having the most mothers present at the meeting.

Winnsboro P.-T. A.

WINNSBORO, La., Nov. 16.—(Spe- cial)—An interesting program, ar- ranged by Mrs. C. C. McCarty as pro- gram chairman, was rendered at a regular meeting of the Winnsboro Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. Allen L. Price, president of the organization, opened the meeting with the reading of a selected poem. Group singing was then led by Miss Modene Henry.

Miss Marjorie Funderburk of the senior class of the Winnsboro High school gave a talk on international relations, outlining disturbing na- tional conditions.

Newer methods of teaching the "Three R's" were discussed by W. B. Glover, principal of the high school. He compared methods in schools of former years with schools of today.

Mrs. C. R. Adams discussed "Better Textbooks," displaying some old text- books for comparison with those now in use. She pointed out that modern textbooks are more attractive and made of better materials. The pre- sentation of the subject matter also is superior in the new textbooks, she said. A poster diagram was used by Mrs. Adams to illustrate the influ- ence of good reading upon a child.

During a brief business session Miss Grayson, chairman of child welfare activities, announced that a recent clothing sale conducted by the P.-T. A. was successful.

Miss Killians' classroom, of which Mrs. C. R. Adams is the room repre- sentative in the P.-T. A., won the monthly prize, a picture, for having the largest number of mothers pres- ent at the meeting.

Members of the Study group and members taking correspondence courses A and B will meet with Mrs. E. Faye Walter on Wednesday, No- vember 20, at 3 p.m.

Club Making Plans

Members of the Fine Arts club are now engaged in plans for bringing guest artists to this city during the state convention of Federated Music clubs, to be held the first week in April.

Adding considerable lustre to the holiday season will be the reception and art exhibit sponsored by the Fine Arts club on the night of December the ninth at the American Legion home. A musical program by several talented members will be a distinct feature of the evening.

There is no other club in Monroe that can boast of such breadth of tal- ent as the Fine Arts club. Its mem- bers are well versed in the art of music, dancing, painting, the drama, and, in fact, everything of a cultural nature. Each year they entertain the public with an open program before disbanding for the summer, and at this time attention is focused on the exceptional talents of the members.

Present at the November meeting were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Coon, Mrs Raymond Spence, Miss Ladell Duke, Mrs. F. C. Holden, Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Mrs. J. Monroe, Mrs. Ruth Rasbury, Mrs. Thelma Oseland Mrs. J. P. Royce, Miss Lila Scogin, Miss Stella Vinson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Walmsley, Sr., Mr. Wayne Wamsley, Jr., Mrs. H. M. James, Mr. Leon Hammond, Mrs. Ben Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hennen and Mrs. H. H. Douglas.

Baptists Class Dines

A beautifully appointed dinner in the home of Mrs. C. C. Colvert brought members of the Judson class of the First Baptist church together in a most delightful manner, Thurs- day night.

The table had for central ornamen- tation a bowl of glorious, yellow chrysanthemums, flanked with tall yellow tapers in crystal candelabra.

Following the serving of dinner, plans for future activities were dis- cussed over the coffee cups, with Mrs. Herbert Breard, president, presiding.

Mrs. Norman Coon's beautiful piano number from the classics added to the evening's pleasures.

Fine Arts Club Meets

A most enjoyable program marked the November meeting of the Fine Arts club in the home of Mrs. J. Norman Coon, with Mrs. Raymond Spence and Mrs. Leon Hammonds as- sisting in the courtesies of the eve- ning. Mrs. Spence, president, pre- sided with Mrs. Darwin Nichols, sec- retary, recording the minutes.

Miss Ozell Puckett was admitted into the club at this time. Miss Puckett, a dramatic reader of con- siderable ability, is a distinct acquisi- tion to the club and cultural life of the city.

The program chairman, Mrs. Alfred Hennen, with characteristic wit and grace spoke most interestingly on current events in the world of music before introducing the performers of the evening.

Mrs. Joseph Monroe sang beautiful- ly two of Grieg's loveliest numbers, "A Water Lily" and "I Love Thee." Mrs. Monroe was accompanied by Mrs. Thelma Oseland. Miss Lila Scog- gin's piano selection, "March Grotes- que," by Sinding, was brilliantly ren- dered. The club ensemble, Mrs. F. C. Holden, cello, Mr. Wayne Wamsley, violin, Mr. Alfred Hennen, flute, Mr. Wayne Wamsley, Jr., violin, and Mr. Leon Hammonds, piano, gave two splendid numbers, "Iris," by Jules Reynard, and "Spring Flowers," by J. Dellinger Wood.

At the conclusion of the program a delicious plate luncheon was served the members, numbering Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wamsley, Mr. Wayne Wams- ley, Jr., Mrs. F. C. Holden, Mr. Leon Hammonds, Miss Stella Vinson, Mrs. Raymond Spence, Mrs. J. P. Royce, Mrs. Reece McCook, Miss Lila Scog- gin, Miss Ozell Puckett, Mrs. Ruth Rasbury, Mrs. Ben Stern, Mrs. Thelma Oseland, Mrs. Joseph Monroe, Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hennen, Miss Ladelle Duke, Mrs. H. H. Douglas, Mrs. H. M. James and Mrs. Coon.

District Head Chief Speaker At Choudrant P.-T. A. Meeting

Organization Address Is Made By Mrs. Couch

Unit Exceeds Membership Quota; Eleventh Grade Wins Attendance Prize; Program For Year Is Outlined

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—A general discussion of P.-T. A. organization by Mrs. C. L. Couch of Monroe, fifth district P.-T. A. director, featured the first regular meeting Thursday of the Choudrant High school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Couch stressed the importance of study groups in her talk.

Reports were received from all committees and by-laws were read and adopted. Room representatives and members of the faculty were presented to the P.-T. A.

The membership quota for the unit was set at 100, but the membership committee reported that there were now 123 members on the rolls of the unit.

The eleventh grade won the prize for having the largest number of parents at the meeting, which was well attended.

A social hour was enjoyed following the disposal of business. Refreshments were served.

The unit has adopted a program for the year. Its theme is "Education for Seven-Point Lives—Health, Home, Learning, Character, Citizenship, Vocation, Leisure." The program, including Thursrday's meeting, is as follows:

November—"Since Mother Has Joined P.-T. A.," Mary Grace Wampole; discussion of P.-T. A., Mrs. Couch.

December—Dr. Allen will discuss the importance of making corrections he has already recommended. Mrs. Jones will discuss foods for convalescents. Round-table discussion of dental and tonsil clinics for school children unable to have work done, led by Mrs. J. C. McCann; round-table discussion of plans for a Christmas program for school and community, led by Mrs. W. L. Walpole.

January — Family reception, Mrs. Fred Taylor; importance of home and life, Miss Sallie Robinson of Ruston; hobbies in the home, Miss C. Bethea; well-balanced lunches, Miss Helen Graham of Ruston; value of home gardening, N. L. Moncrief of Ruston.

February — Working together for child development, Mrs. G. A. Land; realizing the hopes of the founders, Mrs. O. H. Futrell; pageant by member of the P.-T. A.

March—Our public schools, Mrs. C. L. Madden; federal emergency aid, C. E. Kenney; know your school campaign, sponsored by Mrs. Mabel Pipes.

April—Committee report, Mrs. J. A. O'Neal; round-table discussion of school boy and organization, led by Rev. J. L. Spencer; character education, Dr. Smith; short playlet by school children, sponsored by committee.

May—Importance of recreation and childhood, youth and adult, Miss Lucyle Godwin of Monroe; what communities do for the wise use of leisure time, Louise Hogan; round-table discussion of plans for the summer, H. L. Willis; vocational and economic effectiveness, C. L. Mondart.

Barkdull Faulk P.-T. A.

Plans for a membership campaign were evolved at a meeting November 13 of the executive committee and room mothers and their assistants of the Barkdull Faulk school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana Congress of Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana Congress of Parents and Teachers. The meeting was held at the school.

A school-wide contest was decided on. It was started at once and will continue until December 8. It is the hope of those in charge to bring the membership of the unit up to its full quota.

Mrs. Couch's Message

The following message has been issued by Mrs. Carl L. Couch of Monroe, fifth district P.-T. A. director:

"Enthusiasm for the Parent-Teacher association is based on an understanding of its objects.

"The objects of the local Parent-Teacher association are identical to the objects of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers:

"First, to promote child welfare in home, school, church and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adaquate laws for the care and protection of children.

"Second, to bring into closer relation the home and school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child; to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education.

"With 1,727,603 members, each realizing his individual responsibility to a big child welfare program for our nation and each striving to prepare himself to meet this responsibility, nothing is impossible.

"May we more and more catch the vision and the spirit of the great Teacher, Who by word and deed taught us that the greatest joy in life is to be found in self-less service. And with this spirit may we dedicate our services to the great movement, remembering that 'every day thousands of little children come into a place of a hundred cross-roads. They know not which way to go. They come and place their hands in ours and ask us to show them the way. We must hold them close, love them and lead them straight.'

"That is our mission."

Neville P.-T. A.

An address on credits necessary for graduation by Charles E. Kenney, principal of Neville High school, featured the regular meeting Monday of the Neville P.-T. A. unit of the Louisiana Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The speaker stressed the importance of parents' and teachers' assisting children in selecting and preparing for the course they will take at college. "A high percentage of pupils settle the question in high school as to what they are going to do, and its our duty," Mr. Kenney said, "to start them building toward objectives as soon as we can."

Mr. Stewart, who is working with the state supervisor of music, told of what is being done in the organization of school bands and orchestras.

Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, vice-president, presided over the meeting.

Mitchell P.-T. A.

Dr. C. A. Kenney, principal of Neville High school, was the chief speaker at the regular meeting Wednesday of the W. R. Mitchell Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana Congress of Parents and Teachers. Dr. Kenney's subject was "Geography as Basis of World Citizenship," and his address was instructive.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. C. H. Tait of the second grade. Songs were rendered by the fourth grade.

Mrs. Peter Brooks reported highlights of the fifth district parent-teacher meeting, held recently in West Monroe. The Mitchell association had the second largest number of members present at the session.

A standard study course is to be featured by the Mitchell association in the future. The association now has a paid membership of over 50.

The second grade won the prize for having the most mothers present at the meeting.

P.-T. A. Section Meeting

A section meeting presided over by Mrs. Lawrence A. Mailhes, past state president of the organization, will be conducted by the Louisiana Congress of Parents and Teachers November 22 at the annual convention in Alexandria November 21-23 of the Louisiana Teachers' association, according to Mrs. A. L. Ladner, state chairman of publicity for the P.-T. A.

The principal speaker on the program will me Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith of Austin, Texas, third vice-president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and director of national extension work. Mrs. Smith is widely known as an educator and an able speaker. Mrs. Albert L. Smith, state P.-T. A. president, wil deliver an address on "Cooperation Via Information."

A large representation of state, district and unit officials is expected at the meeting.

Olla-Standard P.-T. A.

OLLA, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Various matters concerning the welfare of Olla-Standard High school were discussed at the November meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at the school. Miss Eunice Holliday, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president.

A report from the committee on better lighting of the school was heard. Plans were discussed for making changes in the wiring of the building in order that electric lights might be used in all of the classrooms on dark days.

A proposal that a vase be offered the grade having the largest number of mothers present at each meeting was adopted.

Care of the shrubbery on the school campus was discussed but no action was taken.

The third week in November is to be observed as Book week at the school, with emphasis to be placed on the proper care of books and the selection of good reading.

Ferriday P.-T. A.

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Forty-five members of the Ferriday Parent-Teacher association attended a regular meeting of the body and several visitors from Clayton were present.

The program began with the Lord's prayer rendered in unison. Reverend Bozeman then gave a talk on religion in the schools.

A model spelling lesson was demonstrated by Mrs. Rogillio and a group of small students.

Mrs. Sawyer then conducted an old-time spelling lesson in contrast to the modern lesson.

The program was concluded with a talk on modern school books by Mrs. Porter, who contrasted old books with those of the present day.

Simsboro P.-T. A.

SIMSBORO, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Simsboro Parent-Teacher association held a regular meeting with the president, Mrs. Lloyd Mullen, presiding and giving a report on the Fifth District P.-T. A. meeting at Monroe.

R. E. Oxford delivered a talk on "The Knowledge of Geography as a Constructive Force Bringing Understanding and Respect for Others." Mr. Oxford said that "while different peoples have developed at different rates and in different directions, there is no people that does not excel all others in one or more fields."

A chain luncheon plan, submitted by Miss Comeaux, was discussed.

Miss Margaret Burt rendered a piano solo, "Massa Dear." Katy Oxford, a sixth grade student, gave a reading, "The Price."

The next meeting will be held December 11.

CROCHETED GAUNTLET CUFFS ADD WINTER SWAGGER NOTE

These smart crocheted gauntlet cuffs may be pulled on over any glove. They are crocheted of mercerized knitting and crochet cotton and fashioned tightly around the wrist so they will not slip. They are very swagger for tweeds and, incidentally, keep the cold wind from creeping up the coat sleeves.

FINE CAKES

For Every Occasion

Made from the world's most famous recipes and decorated by professionals who have mastered the art.

YOUR BAKER

CAN SUPPLY YOUR NEEDS IN CAKES, PIES, PASTRIES AND BREADS

Neither the butcher nor the candlestick maker can vie with the baker in his adherence to scientific principles in the promulgation of his art (the word is used advisedly). For your modern baker is as much a slave to the chemical laboratories as he is to the dictums of his boss or the appetite of the public.

Use your baker . . . his products are health building and time saving.

Thanksgiving, birthdays, receptions, private parties, Christmas and New Years will put extra demands on the housewife . . . your baker will be only too glad to relieve her from the baking task—and save her money besides.

CHAPTER I

After a long drowse, America decides to wake up. A lanky giant, carefree under the sun . . . as long and brown as the great rivers that loop across its plains—and as unexpectedly powerful, too, then its course is obstructed. . . the giant yawns, stretches looks out over the continent-wide panorama of busy life, and begins sweeping the vermin that have been pestering it into the sea.

What is the giant like, and what are the vermin, and how is it all happening? To answer calls for a moving picture camera with a thousand lens; a camera that can look into every aspect of American life, the good and the bad, the spectacular and the humdrum, picking up a myraid unconnected pictures and displaying them in a pattern which falls together at the last, like a jigsaw puzzle when it is completed.

Pictures of America! America being heedless and selfish, America coming to its senses and girding for a fight, America welding brain and muscle into one gigantic job of house-cleaning—the world's greatest nation, displaying its raw strength and its reckless vitality and its salty, saving humor in a triumphant struggle to show that Uncle Sam is still the homely and admirable chap he was in his youth. . . .

A good-looking girl, with maize-yellow hair and eyes that haven't looked at the world long enough to know how seamy its underside can be, looks up from her table in a night club . . . she's thrilled to death to be there and she thinks she's being just a little bit wicked, in a perfectly nice way . . . she looks up from her table and smiles at the sandy-haired chap who is beaming down at her, and she says, "How do you do, Mr. Harkins?"

A clerk in an airy Washington office yanks a green drawer out of a ceiling high filing cabinet, rifles through it with practiced fingers, and draws out a card. On the card there is a man's picture, along with ten inky smudges and half a dozen lines of type; and pinned to it is a smaller card, colored red, with the word "Wanted!" on it in big black letters.

A big automobile stops in a lane by the veranda of a western ranch house, and a hard-faced man sticks his head out of the front window; and a broad-shouldered youth gets up from the veranda steps and says, "Okay, Joey," and puts himself and his suitcase into the car, and it spins off to the northeast over the rolling treeless hills where the famous bad men of the old west used to have their hide-outs . . .

A sallow, worried-looking man sits at a desk in a Chicago doctor's office. The telephone jangles; he answers, says "Yeah . . . yeah . . . I'll be right over," and takes a last, furtive look around the place before he locks up and goes out. . . .

A man in a Chicago apartment writes down a phone number on the varnished woodwork over a closet door. . . . An ambitious youngster fresh out of college sells a big sedan to a well-dressed stranger, and goes home congratulating himself and trying to figure how soon he'll have enough money to get married. . . A politician grins as his visitor shuts the office door behind him,and puts a fat sheaf of bonds into his safe. . . . A tired police detective drinks a glass of beer and says to his friend, "Y'see, Bill, it's like this—the big lug's got an in down at city hall."

And four very tough-looking gentlemen walk into a small-town bank in the middle west, swing gun muzzles menacingly, and walk out presently with a small fortune in cash and securities. . . .

So what? So it's all part of the panorama, and it all makes sense, if you string it together right. It makes sense because some people are foolish and some people are downright bad and some other people are both wise and good; and out of it all you can get a new slant on your America; and perhaps a new pride in it, and a new understanding of what is going on in it.

We'll start with the girl in the night club.

Jean Dunn smiled at Bobby Wallace and sat down at their table in the Golden Feather night club, saying to herself, "That man is kind of good-looking, and he's been watching me ever since I came in. I wonder who he is?"

Sandy was a good dancer. He asked, "I didn't bother you, did I, earlier, staring at you?"

Blissfully ignorant of this, Bobby Wallace—who was not the good-looking man she referred to—took his seat opposite her and picked up the conversation which the general stir incident to the end of the last dance had interrupted.

"Listen, Jean, I mean it," he said. "You don't want to slave in a city office all your life. Wouldn't it be more fun—I mean, even if we didn't have such an awful lot, just at first—aw, Jean, honey, say you'll marry me!"

He leaned toward her, and his honest, snub-nosed face was very earnest. Jean put the good-looking stranger out of her head and reached across to pat Bobby's hand.

"Bobby, I like you a lot," she said. "You're just a peach. But can't you see my side of it? We're both of us so young. There's so much to do, and so much to see, before we get respectable and settle down. I'm spoiled, I guess, but I don't want to be just a housewife just yet. I want—oh Bobby, I want to play. I've only been away from home for six months. I like being on my own. I like being independent. Don't you see I want to enjoy it a while?"

Bobby sighed.

"You were in college for four years, he protested.

"Yes, and if you call that being independent, you're crazy," she retorted. "I mean being out on my own, earning my own living and all. Don't you see?"

"But we could get the neatest little apartment," said Bobby, as if that answered her objections. "Regular little parlor-bedroom-and-bath arrangement, and you wouldn't be tied down, than you are now. You'd be more your own boss. You wouldn't have to trot down to an old office every morning. And pretty soon we could buy one of those new sport roadsters, and go—"

"Pretty soon!" said Jean. "Bobby, dear, I don't want to hurt your feelings, but I'm just not one of these nice home bodies that can start out on a shoestring. It's not as if"—she paused, trying to pick her words tactfully—"Bobby, if you were on a regular salary it might be different. But you know yourself that selling autos is awfully, awfully irregular. One month we'd be flush and the next one we'd be living on salmon and crackers. The strain'd be too much . . . I guess I'm pretty selfish," she finished apologetically.

"No, no," said Bobby hastily. Then he said, "You mean—if I—suppose if I had a ntst egg laid away—say a couple thousand dollars—would you look at things differently?"

She smiled at him, and Bobby reflected irritably that no girl with long droopy eyelashes ought to smile at a man in that way unless she wants to be kissed.

"You make me sound like a cheap little gold-digger, Bobby," she said.

"But would you?" he persisted.

"Bobby," she said, "I like you better than any man I know or ever have known. I'd marry you tomorrow, only I'm not ready to marry anybody yet. And then—please don't be hurt, Bobby—I do think that if we did get married, we ought to be better prepared financially.

"Then," pursued Bobby, "if I can lay away two thousand dollars, will you marry me?"

She smiled at him with the fondness of a friendship that extended back to childhood; and she reflected that it would take Bobby, the newly launched auto salesman, a very long time to lay away any part of two thousand dollars.

"You do it, and then come and see me," she said, laughing. "Listen, the music's starting again. Let's dance."

Chapter II

As Bobby pushed the chair back, they realized that two men had come up to their table. One of them was Art Lanning, the proprietor of the Golden Feather night club. He wore a dinner jacket, had dazzlingly sleek black hair brushed back from a pale forehead, and he seemed just a little bit too affable and suave to be entirely reliable; but then, Jean told herself, he must be all right, for hadn't her own boss introduced him to her?

Lanning's companion, she realized with a little, startled thrill, was the good-looking young man who had been so noticeably watching her from his table on the other side of the room. He was tall, and broad-shouldered, and although he wore his tuxedo as if he were used to it, he seemed to have an outdoors air about him, as if he belonged on the western plains somewhere instead of in this stuffy, overcrowded night club. Perhaps it was his hair that did it. It was sandy, and it refused to lie down in the well-trained manner of Lanning's; instead, a long forelock drooped down over his forehead, making him look like a cowboy who had got used to the city but who, nevertheless, intended to go back to the range some day.

Lanning was smiling his stereotyped smile—the smile of the man who is everybody's friend but who watches all the angles, just the same. He put his hands on the table and leaned his big bulk over them.

"You don't mind if I introduce an old friend of mine, do you?" he said. "This is Sandy Harkins—Sandy from the hair and Harkins from the family. Sandy, this charming young lady is Miss Jean Dunn, and the lucky man with her is Bobby Wallace."

Bobby got up and stuck out his hand. Harkins extended a large, well-manicured hand and gave him a firm grip and a friendly smile. Then he turned back to Jean, to whom he had bowed while Bobby was getting out of his chair, and said, "We're not butting in, are we?"

They murmured polite denials.

"Well," said Sandy, "you know how it is. Here I am, a stranger in this town, sitting here wishing I could just have one dance before I leave, and not knowing a soul to dance with. And then my friend Art comes up, and I see him say hello to you folks as he passes your table, and so I get up my nerve and I think, 'Now maybe if Art takes me over and introduces me to those people, I could get that one dance—just once dance."

He grinned disarmingly, as if to say, "Shucks, I'm just a friendly guy from the country, and nobody gets mad at me." Then he turned to Bobby and said, "Would you object if I asked your young lady for just one little dance?"

His voice sounded vaguely southern, or western, or something, Jean thought. It was lazy and pleasant, and it made you like him. Even Bobby seemed to be taken with him.

"Not at all," said Bobby, grinning back at him.

Sandy Harkins turned to her again.

"Lady, I need a dance awful bad," he said. "I'll bring you back safe and sound to your boy friend as soon as the music stops."

"Then," said Jean, "we'd better start, because this number's going to be over in another minute."

She got up, slipped into his arm, and they glided away as smoothly as possible, considering the crowded state of the dance floor. He was a good dancer, she discovered, moving with the effortless grace of the born athlete; for a moment he was silent, as he maneuvered her through the crowd. Presently he looked down and grinned.

"I didn't bother you, did I, earlier, staring at you?" he asked.

"Were you staring? I didn't notice."

"No? Baby, don't tell papa lies. Anyhow, I didn't mean to bother you, and I hoped you wouldn't be mad. But how could I help looking at the prettiest girl in the place?"

This was pretty obvious, thought Jean; still, she admitted, it was rather pleasant. She made some flippant reply, and he went on talking in an easy, lazy drawl. She learned that he was in this city of Dover temporarily, that he had no idea how soon he would leave, that he was in some sort of business—she wasn't quite clear just what—that kept him traveling about a great deal, and that he had no hesitation whatever in declaring that she, Jean Dunn, was tops. She grew gay and flippant in response to his mood, and before long she discovered that she was enjoying this dance very much indeed; so much so that she felt a genuine pang of regret when the music finally stopped.

"Would you just faint and fall in it if I should call you up some day?" he asked, as they started back to the table.

"No," she said slowly, "but you don't know my phone number."

"Don't worry about that, baby. What it takes to find out phone numbers grows on me. Would you hang up on me?"

She ought to tell him not to call; she knew that as well as she knew her own name. But what was the harm? A telephone call, after all—and besides, he was nice-looking, and he had an amusing way of talking. She found herself saying, "Try it and see."

They got back to the table, and Harkins and Lanning left them, after a few moments of inconsequential talk. Bobby followed them with his eyes as they walked away.

"Seems like a nice chap, doesn't he?" he asked.

BOBBY WALLACE

Good old Bobby! thought Jean. He's probably jealous as can be, inside, but he's too nice to show it. And she had a sudden revulsion of feeling, in which she looked on Bobby with real tenderness, and told herself that she would marry him as soon as—well, as soon as—well, some day; and in the meanwhile, if Mr. Harkins did call her up she would just tell him that she couldn't see him. . . .

"Well, look who's out seeing the sights," said a man's voice. Startled, she looked up. Bobby had sprung to his feet, and was eagerly shaking hands with a quiet-looking, dark-haired man in a neat gray lounge suit; and as the man turned to her she recognized him and said, "Why Larry Glenn—where'd you come from?"

Larry Glenn shook hands with her and helped himself to a vacant chair at an adjoining table, which he drew up between her and Bobby. He sat down, leaned his elbows on the table and smiled first at her and then at Bobby.

"I guess I'm getting old," he said. "The children seem to be growing up."

Seeing him was almost like going back home. She had not seen him since she and Bobby had been in high school. At one time he had been the unwitting object of her first schoolgirl crush; she had been a high school freshman then, and he had been a person of glamour and romance—the college football star, back in the home town to coach the high school football team. He had been a friend of her father's, and he had often dined in their home—and had looked down on her with an amused and friendly tolerance. Then he had became a lawyer, and later she had heard that he had some obscure but interesting kind of job with the government. And here he was again, older and soberer now, with friendly eyes and a firm chin and an older-brother air toward both of them that somehow made them both feel that if they ever got in any kind of trouble they could go at once to Larry Glenn and be got out of it.

"What're you kids doing up here in Dover anyway?" He was asking.

"Kids!" said Bobby indignantly. "That's swell. We've been out of college exactly one year."

"Bobby's selling autos ,and I'm a swelegant stenographer," said Jean.

"She's a bug on earning her own living now, but some day she's going to marry me," said Bobby, ignoring the face she made at him.

Larry Glenn looked from one to the other.

"Well," he said, " I heard a couple of years ago that things were drifting that way—"

"They're not!" said Jean. Then she checked herself and said, "Well—not just now, anyhow."

"They're drifting that way," said Bobby, "but not fast enough."

"There's lots of time," said Larry. He looked at them fondly in silence, then turned to Jean.

"I got a letter from your dad telling me you were up here," he said. "I promised I'd look you up. No"—hastily—"not to keep an eye on you. Just to say hello, and maybe take you out to dinner once in a great while, if Bobby doesn't object too much."

"I don't object at all, to you," said Bobby. "It's handsome strangers like this Harkins guy that get me worried."

"That," sighed Glenn, "seems to indicate that I'm hopelessly unromantic and aged. And who is this Harkins guy, anyway?"

"Pretty soon!" said Jean. "Bobby, dear, I don't want to hurt your feelings, but I'm just not one of these nice home bodies that can start out on a shoestring. It's not as if"—she paused, trying to pick her words tactfully—"Bobby, if you were on a regular salary it might be different. But you know yourself that selling autos is awfully, awfully irregular. One month we'd be flush and the next one we'd be living on salmon and crackers. The strain'd be too much . . . . I guess I'm pretty selfish," she finished apologetically.

"No, no," said Bobby hastily. Then he said, "You mean—if I—suppose if I had a nest egg laid away—say a couple thousand dollars—would you look at things differently?"

She smiled at him, and Bobby reflected irritably that no girl with long droopy eyelashes ought to smile at a man in that way unless she wants to be kissed.

"You make me sound like a cheap little gold-digger, Bobby," she said.

"But would you?" he persisted.

"Bobby," she said, "I like you better than any man I know or ever have known. I'd marry you tomorrow, only I'm not ready to marry anybody yet. And then—please don't be hurt, Bobby—I do think that if we did get married, we ought to be better prepared financially.

"Then," pursued Bobby, "if I can lay away two thousand dollars, will you marry me?"

She smiled at him with the fondness of a friendship that extended back to childhood; and she reflected that it would take Bobby, the newly launched auto salesman, a very long time to lay away any part of two thousand dollars.

"You do it, and then come and see me," she said, laughing. "Listen, the music's starting again. Let's dance."

Chapter II

As Bobby pushed the chair back, they realized that two men had come up to their table. One of them was Art Lanning, the proprietor of the Golden Feather night club. He wore a dinner jacket, had dazzlingly sleek black hair brushed back from a pale forehead, and he seemed just a little bit too affable and suave to be entirely reliable; but then, Jean told herself, he must be all right, for hadn't her own boss introduced him to her?

Lanning's companion, she realized with a little, startled thrill, was the good-looking young man who had been so noticeably watching her from his table on the other side of the room. He was tall, and broad-shouldered, and although he wore his tuxedo as if he were used to it, he seemed to have an outdoors air about him, as if he belonged on the western plains somewhere instead of in this stuffy, overcrowded night club. Perhaps it was his hair that did it. It was sandy, and it refused to lie down in the well-trained manner of Lanning's; instead, a long forelock drooped down over his forehead, making him look like a cowboy who had got used to the city but who, nevertheless, intended to go back to the range some day.

Lanning was smiling his stereotyped smile—the smile of the man who is everybody's friend but who watches all the angles, just the same. He put his hands on the table and leaned his big bulk over them.

"You don't mind if I introduce an old friend of mine, do you?" he said. "This is Sandy Harkins—Sandy from the hair and Harkins from the family. Sandy, this charming young lady is Miss Jean Dunn, and the lucky man with her is Bobby Wallace."

Bobby got up and stuck out his hand. Harkins extended a large, well-manicured hand and gave him a firm grip and a friendly smile. Then he turned back to Jean, to whom he had bowed while Bobby was getting out of his chair, and said, "We're not butting in, are we?"

They murmured polite denials.

"Well," said Sandy, "you know how it is. Here I am, a stranger in this town, sitting here wishing I could just have one dance before I leave, and not knowing a soul to dance with. And then my friend Art comes up, and I see him say hello to you folks as he passes your table, and so I get up my nerve and I think, 'Now maybe if Art takes me over and introduces me to those people, I could get that one dance—just once dance.'"

He grinned disarmingly, as if to say, "Shucks, I'm just a friendly guy from the country, and nobody gets mad at me." Then he turned to Bobby and said, "Would you object if I asked your young lady for just one little dance?"

His voice sounded vaguely southern, or western, or something, Jean thought. It was lazy and pleasant, and it made you like him. Even Bobby seemed to be taken with him.

"Not at all," said Bobby, grinning back at him.

Sandy Harkins turned to her again. "Lady, I need a dance awful bad," he said. "I'll bring you back safe and sound to your boy friend as soon as the music stops."

"Then," said Jean, "we'd better start, because this number's going to be over in another minute."

She got up, slipped into his arm, and they glided away as smoothly as possible, considering the crowded state of the dance floor. He was a good dancer, she discovered, moving with the effortless grace of the born athlete; for a moment he was silent, as he maneuvered her through the crowd. Presently he looked down and grinned.

"I didn't bother you, did I, earlier, staring at you?" he asked.

"Were you staring? I didn't notice."

"No? Baby, don't tell papa lies. Anyhow, I didn't mean to bother you, and I hoped you wouldn't be mad. But how could I help looking at the prettiest girl in the place?"

This was pretty obvious, thought Jean; still, she admitted, it was rather pleasant. She made some flippant reply, and he went on talking in an easy, lazy drawl. She learned that he was in this city of Dover temporarily, that he had no idea how soon he would leave, that he was in some sort of business—she wasn't quite clear just what—that kept him traveling about a great deal, and that he had no hesitation whatever in declaring that she, Jean Dunn, was tops. She grew gay and flippant in response to his mood, and before long she discovered that she was enjoying this dance very much indeed; so much so that she felt a genuine pang of regret when the music finally stopped.

"Would you just faint and fall in it if I should call you up some day?" he asked, as they started back to the table.

"No," she said slowly, "but you don't know my phone number."

"Don't worry about that, baby. What it takes to find out phone numbers grows on me. Would you hang up on me?"

She ought to tell him not to call; she knew that as well as she knew her own name. But what was the harm? A telephone call, after all—and besides, he was nice-looking, and he had an amusing way of talking. She found herself saying, "Try it and see."

They got back to the table, and Harkins and Lanning left them, after a few moments of inconsequential talk. Bobby followed them with his eyes as they walked away.

"Seems like a nice chap, doesn't he?" he asked.

BOBBY WALLACE

Good old Bobby! thought Jean. He's probably jealous as can be, inside, but he's too nice to show it. And she had a sudden revulsion of feeling, in which she looked on Bobby with real tenderness, and told herself that she would marry him as soon as—well, as soon as—well, some day; and in the meanwhile, if Mr. Harkins did call her up she would just tell him that she couldn't see him. . . .

"Well, look who's out seeing the sights," said a man's voice. Startled, she looked up. Bobby had sprung to his feet, and was eagerly shaking hands with a quiet-looking, dark-haired man in a neat gray lounge suit; and as the man turned to her she recognized him and said, "Why Larry Glenn—where'd you come from?"

Larry Glenn shook hands with her and helped himself to a vacant chair at an adjoining table, which he drew up between her and Bobby. He sat down, leaned his elbows on the table and smiled first at her and then at Bobby.

"I guess I'm getting old," he said. "The children seem to be growing up."

Seeing him was almost like going back home. She had not seen him since she and Bobby had been in high school. At one time he had been the unwitting object of her first schoolgirl crush; she had been a high school freshman then, and he had been a person of glamour and romance—the college football star, back in the home town to coach the high school football team. He had been a friend of her father's, and he had often dined in their home—and had looked down on her with an amused and friendly tolerance. Then he had became a lawyer, and later she had heard that he had some obscure but interesting kind of job with the government. And here he was again, older and soberer now, with friendly eyes and a firm chin and an older-brother air toward both of them that somehow made them both feel that if they ever got in any kind of trouble they could go at once to Larry Glenn and be got out of it.

"What're you kids doing up here in Dover anyway?" He was asking.

"Kids!" said Bobby indignantly. "That's swell. We've been out of college exactly one year."

"Bobby's selling autos and I'm a swelegant stenographer," said Jean.

"She's a bug on earning her own living now, but some day she's going to marry me," said Bobby, ignoring the face she made at him.

Larry Glenn looked from one to the other.

"Well," he said, "I heard a couple of years ago that things were drifting that way—"

"They're not!" said Jean. Then she checked herself and said, "Well—not just now, anyhow."

"They're drifting that way," said Bobby, "but not fast enough."

"There's lots of time," said Larry. He looked at them fondly in silence, then turned to Jean.

"I got a letter from your dad telling me you were up here," he said. "I promised I'd look you up. No"—hastily—"not to keep an eye on you. Just to say hello, and maybe take you out to dinner once in a great while, if Bobby doesn't object too much."

"I don't object at all, to you," said Bobby. "It's handsome strangers like this Harkins guy that get me worried."

"That," sighed Glenn, "seems to indicate that I'm hopelessly unromantic and aged. And who is this Harkins guy, anyway?"

Will Rogers' Last Picture At Paramount Theater Today

Humorist Is At His Best In New Film

'In Old Kentucky' Is Sunny Romance Of Blue Grass Country

WILL ROGERS' last—and greatest—picture, "In Old Kentucky," plays today at the Paramount theater.

Adapted from the play whose humor, sunny romance and tingling horse race drama have made it a favorite of three generations of Americans, "In Old Kentucky" stars Rogers in a role that presents his rich down-to-earth character in its most lovable light.

Sam Hellman, famous humorist, and Gladys Lehman adapted the play to the screen in a modernized form, but preserved all of its drama and its rich comedy of character and incident.

In the picture, Rogers enacts a shrewd and genial trainer of horses, whose homely philosophy and keen wit sets right all the troubles of the impulsive people about him.

Russell Hardie and Dorothy Wilson play the romantic youngsters of "In Old Kentucky." She is the daughter of old Charles Sellon who is feuding with Charles Richman. Although his daughter fights to win Hardie for herself, it is Rogers' shrewd aid that finally brings the boy to Miss Wilson.

Rogers' able assistant in the picture is Bill Robinson, the tap dancing genius, who teaches the comedian enough of his foot artistry to win a handsome widow, and thus provides one of the comedy punches of the picture.

Although "In Old Kentucky" is full of humor and drama in the feud situations and the wrangle with the crazy rain-maker, it reserves its great thrill for the pounding climax in which racing thoroughbreds pound down the stretch carrying romance and drama in their saddle.

Louise Henry, Alan Dinehart, Esther Dale and Etienne Girardot are the principal supporting players in "In Old Kentucky," which was directed by George Marshall.

Warner Oland, Charles Locher and Irene Hervey in a scene from the latest of the Chan series, "Charlie Chan in Shanghai," the mystery thriller coming to the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. Here are thrills and perils the like of which even Chan never faced before.

A stirring film triumph that marks the climax of a glorious career! Will Rogers, as he is seen in his last and greatest picture, "In Old Kentucky," the attraction at the Paramount theater today and Monday. Dorothy Wilson, Russell Hardie, Charles Sellon, Louise Henry, Alan Dinehart and the dancing comedian, Bill Robinson, are also in the notable cast.

Robert Young, Barbara Stanwyck and Cliff Edwards find that life in an auto trailer has its drawbacks. The three are featured in the comedy drama, "Red Salute," the attraction at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday. It all happens in Mexico when two fugitive young lovers go over the border and then find out they can't get back.

Lew Ayres Is Starred At Capitol

'Silk Hat Kid' Is Fast Moving Dramatic Action Picture

FAST-MOVING dramatic action along with a thrilling and dangerous romance makes "Silk Hat Kid," which starts its engagement today on the screen of the Capitol theater, one of the most powerful and most daring films ever to be presented.

A new Lew Ayres in a role that ideally fits his personality and ability is revealed in his portrayal of a fast-thinking, two-fisted bodyguard. Paul Kelly, owner of a cafe located in the perilous slums of a big city, hires Ayres to protect him from chiseling racketeers. Ayres meets and falls in love with Mae Clarke, Kelly's girl friend, and an intense rivalry results. Both men come to hate each other bitterly and gunplay appears to be the only way out. But at this point the film takes on such thrilling drama that it promises to keep theater audiences highly entertained throughout.

The romance of pert and pretty Mae Clarke and Lew Ayres is so refreshing and stimulating that it has been well received by theater goers everywhere.

William Harrigan has the role of peacemaker and beloved Brother of the neighborhood. To his portrayal he brings the virility and spiritual strength it requires.

Others in the well-balanced cast are Ralf Harolde, Billy Lee, John Qualen, Warren Hymer, Vince Barnett and William Benedict.

"Silk Hat Kid" was produced by Joseph Engel for Fox Film, while the direction was in the hands of H. Bruce Humberstone.

Screen Life In Hollywood

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD.—They were talking about fights and fighters, Hollywood's "one-blow" contests" and the like, when Richard Arlen took the floor to testify. He told about the early experience that convinced him movie actors, despite the powder puff and the make-up, can hold their own.

"Before I came to Hollywood," he said, "I shared the opinion that one 'regular guy'—meaning any fellow not an actor, could lick a dozen movie heroes every morning before breakfast.

"Only a few men use make-up in pictures now, but a few years ago they did, and we could never figure on how a man who powdered his nose could fight. I hadn't been in Hollywood long before I bumped shoulders in a crowd with a fellow I recognized as an extra I'd worked with the day before. One of us said something and I was about to reduce the surplus of movie extras by annihilating this one when something hit me. It might have been a ten-ton truck, but people tell me it was that extra's fist. I was out for five minutes."

Arlen Can Qualify

Arlen, often himself the hero of two-fisted roles, has boxed since boyhood and thinks he can qualify on the fighting qualities of his fellow-actors. He thinks there would be more front-page Hollywood fist-fights if actors did not sidestep them, no matter how strong the justification, because of the unfavorable publicity angle. It's the same way, he parallels, with professional boxers, some of whom have to "take" a lot in public because if they gave vent to their feelings as most men would they would be considered brutal.

And Dick named a few actors he thinks are good:

"George O'Brien probably is the best boxer in pictures. He is one of the finest, quietest, most admired men I know. But he also is a cat in the ring and he hits like bad news.

Gable All Right, Too

"James Cagney is more than fair with the gloves and in a bare-fisted encounter, the kind that faces every man occasionally, he is a terror. Jack Holt is not the person to push around if you want to keep your nose in the right, place, either.

"Clark Gable, Lee Tracy and Pat O'Brien all can go in the ring, and I know a lot more who can do all right by themselves in a fight."

And then Arlen had to go back to work—incidentally, with both fists. He was playing the two-fisted minister in "The Calling of Dan Matthews."

In the old Gevangenport prison of the Hague, Netherlands, prisoners condemned to starvation were tantalized by food aromas conducted from the kitchen into the "hunger chamber" through air passages.

Here they are again in a new guise! Wheeler and Woolsey, genial dispensers of sorrow and emissaries of joy, cavort gayly in their new laugh film, "The Nitwits," coming to the Capitol theater Tuesday and Wednesday, melodically assisted by the personable Betty Grable. Now the boys are legitimate amateur detectives in this RKO-Radio picture, solving an extortion plot.

SHEPPARD ELECTED DIRECTOR OF U. S. COMMERCE GROUP

CLARKS, La., Nov. 6.—(Special)—At a meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce held in Kansas City last week, C. C. Sheppard of Clarks was unanimously elected a director, to serve the southwestern area. This area is composed of the following states: Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Mr. Sheppard was absent from Clarks at the time of his election, and was unaware of this honor bestowed upon him until informed by his secretary of the telegram received from Harper Sibley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Sheppard formally extended his acceptance to Mr. Sibley at New Orleans on Thursday.

As president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company, Mr. Sheppard has made his home in Clarks for the last eight years. During this time he has been elected to many positions of national honor in the industry that he represents. He served as president of the Southern Pine association for three years, as president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association for two years, and during the NRA was a member of the executive committee of the lumber code authority.

An extra added attraction of considerable importance has been booked at the Capitol theater for Thursday and Friday in the announcement of the showing of "Wings Over Ethiopia," a feature length picture that takes the patrons behind the scenes in the country that is making new world history. Above is a scene taken in the empire that has defied Italy and promises to set the world afire. To complete the program the Capitol has booked the musical romance, "The Old Homestead," featuring Mary Carlisle, Lawrence Gray, Dorothy Lee, Eddie Nugent, Lillian Miles and "Fuzzy" Knight.

AUTO TAG SALES WILL BEGIN EARLY

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—E. A. Conway, secretary of state, announced that 1936 automobile license plates would be placed on sale November 18, 12 days earlier than the usual sale date.

He said the date was advanced at the request of Tulane university supporters, as the plates this year are in that school's colors, olive and blue. The 1935 plates are purple and gold, the Louisiana State university colors.

The sale will allow use of the plates for the Tulane-L. S. U. game on November 30.

Fred Hanna, manager of the Monroe license bureau, said yesterday that he had not yet received any of the new license plates, but that he had been instructed to stand ready to start sales on November 25.

Will Rogers' Last Picture At Paramount Theater Today

Humorist Is At His Best In New Film

'In Old Kentucky' Is Sunny Romance Of Blue Grass Country

WILL ROGERS' last—and greatest—picture, "In Old Kentucky," plays today at the Paramount theater.

Adapted from the play whose humor, sunny romance and tingling horse race drama have made it a favorite of three generations of Americans, "In Old Kentucky" stars Rogers in a role that presents his rich down-to-earth character in its most lovable light.

Sam Hellman, famous humorist, and Gladys Lehman adapted the play to the screen in a modernized form, but preserved all of its drama and its rich comedy of character and incident.

In the picture, Rogers enacts a shrewd and genial trainer of horses, whose homely philosophy and keen wit sets right all the troubles of the impulsive people about him.

Russell Hardie and Dorothy Wilson play the romantic youngsters of "In Old Kentucky." She is the daughter of old Charles Sellon who is feuding with Charles Richman. Although his daughter fights to win Hardie for herself, it is Rogers' shrewd aid that finally brings the boy to Miss Wilson.

Rogers' able assistant in the picture is Bill Robinson, the tap dancing genius, who teaches the comedian enough of his foot artistry to win a handsome widow, and thus provides one of the comedy punches of the picture.

Although "In Old Kentucky" is full of humor and drama in the feud situations and the wrangle with the crazy rain-maker, it reserves its great thrill for the pounding climax in which racing thoroughbreds pound down the stretch carrying romance and drama in their saddle.

Louise Henry, Alan Dinehart, Esther Dale and Etienne Girardot are the principal supporting players in "In Old Kentucky," which was directed by George Marshall.

Warner Oland, Charles Locher and Irene Hervey in a scene from the latest of the Chan series, "Charlie Chan in Shanghai," the mystery thriller coming to the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. Here are thrills and perils the like of which even Chan never faced before.

A stirring film triumph that marks the climax of a glorious career! Will Rogers, as he is seen in his last and greatest picture, "In Old Kentucky," the attraction at the Paramount theater today and Monday. Dorothy Wilson, Russell Hardie, Charles Sellon, Louise Henry, Alan Dinehart and the dancing comedian, Bill Robinson, are also in the notable cast.

Robert Young, Barbara Stanwyck and Cliff Edwards find that life in an auto trailer has its drawbacks. The three are featured in the comedy drama, "Red Salute," the attraction at the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday. It all happens in Mexico when two fugitive young lovers go over the border and then find out they can't get back.

Lew Ayres Is Starred At Capitol

'Silk Hat Kid' Is Fast Moving Dramatic Action Picture

FAST-MOVING dramatic action along with a thrilling and dangerous romance makes "Silk Hat Kid," which starts its engagement today on the screen of the Capitol theater, one of the most powerful and most daring films ever to be presented.

A new Lew Ayres in a role that ideally fits his personality and ability is revealed in his portrayal of a fast-thinking, two-fisted bodyguard. Paul Kelly, owner of a cafe located in the perilous slums of a big city, hires Ayres to protect him from chiseling racketeers. Ayres meets and falls in love with Mae Clarke, Kelly's girl friend, and an intense rivalry results. Both men come to hate each other bitterly and gunplay appears to be the only way out. But at this point the film takes on such thrilling drama that it promises to keep theater audiences highly entertained throughout.

The romance of pert and pretty Mae Clarke and Lew Ayres is so refreshing and stimulating that it has been well received by theater goers everywhere.

William Harrigan has the role of peacemaker and beloved Brother of the neighborhood. To his portrayal he brings the virility and spiritual strength it requires.

Others in the well-balanced cast are Ralf Harolde, Billy Lee, John Qualen, Warren Hymer, Vince Barnett and William Benedict.

"Silk Hat Kid" was produced by Joseph Engel for Fox Film, while the direction was in the hands of H. Bruce Humberstone.

Screen Life In Hollywood

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—They were talking about fights and fighters, Hollywood's "one-blow" contests" and the like, when Richard Arlen took the floor to testify. He told about the early experience that convinced him movie actors, despite the powder puff and the make-up, can hold their own.

"Before I came to Hollywood," he said, "I shared the opinion that one 'regular guy'—meaning any fellow not an actor, could lick a dozen movie heroes every morning before breakfast.

"Only a few men use make-up in pictures now, but a few years ago they did, and we could never figure on how a man who powdered his nose could fight. I hadn't been in Hollywood long before I bumped shoulders in a crowd with a fellow I recognized as an extra I'd worked with the day before. One of us said something and I was about to reduce the surplus of movie extras by annihilating this one when something hit me. It might have been a ten-ton truck, but people tell me it was that extra's fist. I was out for five minutes."

Arlen Can Qualify

Arlen, often himself the hero of two-fisted roles, has boxed since boyhood and thinks he can qualify on the fighting qualities of his fellow-actors. He thinks there would be more front-page Hollywood fist-fights if actors did not sidestep them, no matter how strong the justification, because of the unfavorable publicity angle. It's the same way, he parallels, with professional boxers, some of whom have to "take" a lot in public because if they gave vent to their feelings as most men would they would be considered brutal.

And Dick named a few actors he thinks are good:

"George O'Brien probably is the best boxer in pictures. He is one of the finest, quietest, most admired men I know. But he also is a cat in the ring and he hits like bad news.

Gable All Right, Too

"James Cagney is more than fair with the gloves and in a bare-fisted encounter, the kind that faces every man occasionally, he is a terror. Jack Holt is not the person to push around if you want to keep your nose in the right, place, either.

"Clark Gable, Lee Tracy and Pat O'Brien all can go in the ring, and I know a lot more who can do all right by themselves in a fight."

And then Arlen had to go back to work—incidentally, with both fists. He was playing the two-fisted minister in "The Calling of Dan Matthews."

In the old Gevangenport prison of the Hague, Netherlands, prisoners condemned to starvation were tantalized by food aromas conducted from the kitchen into the "hunger chamber" through air passages.

Here they are again in a new guise! Wheeler and Woolsey, genial dispensers of sorrow and emissaries of joy, cavort gayly in their new laugh film, "The Nitwits," coming to the Capitol theater Tuesday and Wednesday, melodically assisted by the personable Betty Grable. Now the boys are legitimate amateur detectives in this RKO-Radio picture, solving an extortion plot.

SHEPPARD ELECTED DIRECTOR OF U. S. COMMERCE GROUP

CLARKS, La., Nov. 6.—(Special)—At a meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce held in Kansas City last week, C. C. Sheppard of Clarks was unanimously elected a director, to serve the southwestern area. This area is composed of the following states: Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Mr. Sheppard was absent from Clarks at the time of his election, and was unaware of this honor bestowed upon him until informed by his secretary of the telegram received from Harper Sibley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Sheppard formally extended his acceptance to Mr. Sibley at New Orleans on Thursday.

As president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company, Mr. Sheppard has made his home in Clarks for the last eight years. During this time he has been elected to many positions of national honor in the industry that he represents. He served as president of the Southern Pine association for three years, as president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association for two years, and during the NRA was a member of the executive committee of the lumber code authority.

TO DELIVER TALK

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Miss Mary Sue Wigley will deliver a lecture at the municipal auditorium here on Tuesday, November 20. Her subject will be "Forward Planning." The East Carroll civic and garden clubs and the Chamber of Commerce of Lake Providence are responsible for the visit of Miss Wigley.

TO VISIT UNIT

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Mrs. L. L. McCormick of Destrahan, department president of the legion auxiliary, will visit the Lake Providence unit Monday, November 18. Mrs. McCormick will be introduced to the members during a business session. An entertainment is planned for the evening.

An extra added attraction of considerable importance has been booked at the Capitol theater for Thursday and Friday in the announcement of the showing of "Wings Over Ethiopia," a feature length picture that takes the patrons behind the scenes in the country that is making new world history. Above is a scene taken in the empire that has defied Italy and promises to set the world afire. To complete the program the Capitol has booked the musical romance, "The Old Homestead," featuring Mary Carlisle, Lawrence Gray, Dorothy Lee, Eddie Nugent, Lillian Miles and "Fuzzy" Knight.

SOCIAL AGENCIES GROUP LAYS PLANS FOR TOY PROGRAM

Workings of the 4-H demonstration clubs of Ouachita parish were explained to members of the Council of Social Agencies at their monthly meeting Friday noon at the First Presbyterian church by Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, Ouachita parish home demonstration agent. This work has been in progress here since 1914 and substantial results have been accomplished.

The meeting was given over to a discussion of the Christmas toy shop that is being sponsored by the social agencies group and reports were returned by various committee chairmen.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, who with Miss Lucyle Godwin has acted as general chairman, stated that she could not give sufficient time to the project, which will be taken over by Miss Godwin instead.

Mrs. Marion Crandall, chairman of the toy-making committee, reported progress made, while Miss Elizabeth Langford, chairman of the house-to-house canvass for toys to be repaired, also reported.

Other reports were made by Mrs. W. C. Holstein, chairman of the "school toy party"; Capt. G. W. Whitaker, chairman of church toy activities; Mrs. Fagan Cox, chairman of requisitions; Mrs. F. B. Neely, chairman of doll-dressing; Mrs. J. C. Theus, chairman of material; Miss Katie McGee, chairman of publicity.

Various P.-T. A. groups will have charge of the dressing of the dolls and the general public was asked to cooperate to make a complete success of the project so that no underprivileged child will be missed at Christmas.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the First Christian church in December.

(Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

CHRISTMAS SEALS TO BE SENT OUT

One Million Will Be Mailed To Residents Of City And Parish

One million Christmas seals, the sale of which is calculated to bring money to be used to stamp out tuberculosis, are now being placed in envelopes daily in the offices of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association in the old Central Savings Bank building.

On Thanksgiving day, they will be mailed to every resident of the city and parish, according to present plans.

In addition to the seal sale made by mail, local business houses will be canvassed by personal solicitation, while school children will do their part by purchasing seals, but they will not conduct sales of the stickers.

The method of mailing out the seals, tried out for the past two years, has proved so highly successful that it will be continued in future years, it is said.

Special impetus will be given to seal selling this year as ground has been broken for a large, modern tuberculosis sanatorium at Pine Top, near West Monroe, which will be completed in a few months time and will serve as a refuge for those afflicted with the white plague. It will be open to both white and negro patients, provision being made for two separate institutions.

WEINER ROAST IS HELD BY BUDDY CLUB MEMBERS

The Buddy club, sponsored by the Monroe Rotary club, held a weiner roast Friday at 6:30 o'clock at which practically all members were present.

Yesterday the boys were entertained at the Capitol theater.

The Buddy club was organized last July by the Rotarians of Monroe for the purpose of assisting under-privileged boys between the ages of 8 and 12 years, and to direct their interests in the line of sports and other healthful activities.

The club has organized two football teams, and members are also attending gymnastic exercises. Last summer the members spent a week at camp Ki-Ro-Li, under the auspices of local Rotarians.

Club members, upon reaching the required age limit are recommended for membership in the Boy Scouts and their outfits purchased by the Rotary club.

PAVING AT SICARD NEARLY FINISHED

December 1 Will See Work Finished If Weather Is Favorable

Work of paving in connection with the overpass over the Missouri Pacific railroad near Sicard will be completed by December 1, if weather proves favorable, it was stated Saturday.

On Friday the work of paving the approach to the overpass on the west was initiated.

Paving on Louisville avenue is also progressing well, Saturday the men being engaged in paving street intersections as far as North Eighth street, the street work having been completed as far as that street and extending from the new traffic bridge across the river.

It is expected to start this week on the paving in the vicinity of the Louisville avenue crossing of the old Little Rock and Monroe branch of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Musty Records Of Parish Yield Ancient Love Story

By Anthony Gibbon

Among the musty records of the Ouachita parish courthouse tucked away in files that are all but forgotten, may be found many curious and faded documents whose discolored pages reveal some poignant and pathetic incidents in the lives of the early settlers of Ouachita.

Written in French and Spanish, often in a caligraphy which time has almost effaced, so faint are the characters penned by hands which have long since crumpled into dust, the recorded acts of the hardy pioneers may be traced, and an occasional flash, as it were from the past, lights up for a brief moment some particular incident which intrigues the present day investigator who takes the trouble to delve into this storehouse of the past.

Such an incident is disclosed in a collection of documents recently translated from the Spanish, consisting of a marriage license granted to one Pedro Olivo, by Lieutenant Vicente Fernandez Tejeiro, who succeeded to the command of the Ouachita post after the retirement of Don Juan Filhiol, about the year 1800.

The story which the documents reveal is the romance of Pedro Olivo and Julia Itien who, loving each other with all the simple passion of the early pioneers and finding their nuptials frowned upon by their parents, decided to marry without the consent of the latter.

Two years after the wedding had been performed in Ouachita parish by the commandant, Don Juan Filhiol, the lovers, desirous of securing the blessing of the church on their union, petitioned the local curate, Rev. Juan Brady, described as a member of the Carmelite religious order, "wearing shoes," to secure a dispensation from the illustrious bishop of the province who then resided in New Orleans.

Under date of October 20th, 1800, Father Brady wrote to Commandant Tejeiro, transmitting at the same time a copy of the letter from the bishop at New Orleans, in which the latter declares that from the facts furnished him, it appeared that Pedro Olivo and Julia Itien were married clandestinely and without the consent of their parents, but he states that because of the good dispositions of Pedro and Julia, and the fact that if the said marriage had not been performed, Julia apparently would have been "lost," he was willing to grant a dispensation, imposing a penace upon the recalcitrant lovers, requiring them to make a general confession and two particular confessions to verify, and that they must fast for three days.

The good bishop goes on to protest at the apparent ignorance of Don Juan Filhiol in performing marriages without due regard to the "sacred dispositions" and the orders of the king, and it further appears that Filhiol had been guilty of this practice, he apparently marrying whomsoever of his followers so desired, without benefit of clergy.

The letter from the bishop which carries the weight of a decree, is transmitted to Commandant Tejeiro who at once swears in two witnesses, Nicolas Leal and Simon Vaquero, as well as an interpreter, Tomas Lesada, all of whom are abjured to fill their roles faithfully and true. Leal and Vaquero, being unable to write, attest to their names by marking a cross.

With the witnesses present, Commandant Tejeiro summons the father, also Pedro Olivo, and, through the interpreter (the father being French and not understanding Spanish) demands his reason for withholding his consent to his son's marriage. The commandant acquaints him with the contents of the bishop's letter, and Pedro, who still refuses to grant his consent, is therefore given six days in which to change his mind.

At the end of that time, the commandant again summons his witnesses and Pedro. Three times is the latter asked to give his consent, but refuses, stating that although he does not object to the marriage he will not give his consent, and declares also that he was offended that the young couple ran away to be married by Don Juan Filhiol without his knowledge.

Commandant Tejeiro, however, acts as Cupid's deputy, and puts Pedro, Sr., to flight, by decreeing that the latter's objections are, to say the least, frivolous, and can bear no weight with him, and that therefore he advises Father Brady to perform the marriage ceremony in "facie eclesia."

One may suppose that from that moment, love's course ran smoothly for Pedro Olivo and Julia Itien.

20,000 STRAWBERRY PLANTS GIVEN OUT

Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, parish home demonstration agent, announced yesterday that she is distributing 20,000 strawberry plants throughout Ouachita parish to club members conducting the orchard project.

The plants, known as improved Klondykes, must be set out at once in order to bear fruit in the spring, Mrs. McQuiller declared.

Those who receive the plants are advised to set them out in ridges three and a half feet apart and from ten to twelve inches high, for best results.

Mrs. McQuiller also recommends that 100 pounds of fertilizer of 4-12-4 to the thousand plants should be applied.

Strawberries have been grown successfully in Ouachita parish in the past and it is hoped that the new crop from the Klondyke plants will result in a bumper harvest next spring.

SOCIAL AGENCIES GROUP LAYS PLANS FOR TOY PROGRAM

Workings of the 4-H demonstration clubs of Ouachita parish were explained to members of the Council of Social Agencies at their monthly meeting Friday noon at the First Presbyterian church by Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, Ouachita parish home demonstration agent. This work has been in progress here since 1914 and substantial results have been accomplished.

The meeting was given over to a discussion of the Christmas toy shop that is being sponsored by the social agencies group and reports were returned by various committee chairmen.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, who with Miss Lucyle Godwin has acted as general chairman, stated that she could not give sufficient time to the project, which will be taken over by Miss Godwin instead.

Mrs. Marion Crandall, chairman of the toy-making committee, reported progress made, while Miss Elizabeth Langford, chairman of the house-to-house canvass for toys to be repaired, also reported.

Other reports were made by Mrs. W. C. Holstein, chairman of the "school toy party"; Capt. G. W. Whitaker, chairman of church toy activities; Mrs. Fagan Cox, chairman of requisitions; Mrs. F. B. Neely, chairman of doll-dressing; Mrs. J. C. Theus, chairman of material; Miss Katie McGee, chairman of publicity.

Various P.-T. A. groups will have charge of the dressing of the dolls and the general public was asked to cooperate to make a complete success of the project so that no underprivileged child will be missed at Christmas.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the First Christian church in December.

CHRISTMAS SEALS TO BE SENT OUT

One Million Will Be Mailed To Residents Of City And Parish

One million Christmas seals, the sale of which is calculated to bring money to be used to stamp out tuberculosis, are now being placed in envelopes daily in the offices of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association in the old Central Savings Bank building.

On Thanksgiving day, they will be mailed to every resident of the city and parish, according to present plans.

In addition to the seal sale made by mail, local business houses will be canvassed by personal solicitation, while school children will do their part by purchasing seals, but they will not conduct sales of the stickers.

The method of mailing out the seals, tried out for the past two years, has proved so highly successful that it will be continued in future years, it is said.

Special impetus will be given to seal selling this year as ground has been broken for a large, modern tuberculosis sanatorium at Pine Top, near West Monroe, which will be completed in a few months time and will serve as a refuge for those afflicted with the white plague. It will be open to both white and negro patients, provision being made for two separate institutions.

TRAPPED BY LIONS

HE EXPECTED TO SAVE NEITHER HER NOR HIMSELF FROM THAT SAVAGE PACK, BUT HIS FIGHTING SPIRIT IMPELLED HIM TO BATTLE.

WHEN, TO SPARE HERSELF THE SIGHT OF TARZAN'S DEATH, SIGREDA RAN TO FACE THE RAGING LIONS, THE APE-MAN RACED AFTER HER.

ONE LION SWIFTER THAN THE REST WAS ALMOST UPON THE VIKING MAID. TARZAN SWERVED ASIDE AND FACED THE CHARGING BEAST.

WHEN THE JUNGLE LORD STEPPED LIGHTLY AWAY AND LEAPED SUDDENLY UPON THE CARNIVORE'S BACK AS IT RUSHED PAST.

AS THE BRUTE FELL, TARZAN LEAPED CLEAR, HASTENED TO SIGREDA AND LIFTED HER IN HIS ARMS WHILE THE OTHER BEASTS RACED AT HER.

WHIRLING NOW, HE RAN TOWARD THE FAR END OF THE ARENA, HANDICAPPED BY HIS HUMAN BURDEN.

THE CANNIBALS HOWLED WITH GLEE AT THE THRILLING SPECTACLE, KNOWING THAT THERE WAS NO ESCAPE FROM THE PIT OF DEATH.

BUT THE APE-MAN'S KEEN EYES ALIGHTED UPON THE OPEN CAGES, FROM WHICH THE LIONS HAD BEEN RELEASED TO KILL HIM.

WITH A SUPREME BURST OF ENERGY HE DASHED TO A CAGE AND THRUST SIGREDA INSIDE.

THEN, AS A SHARP CLAW SCRAPED HIS BACK, THE APE-MAN DARTED INTO ANOTHER CAGE AND CLOSED THE DOOR.

H. FOSTER

NOW THE FUGITIVES WERE CAPTIVES OF THE LIONS! EVENTUALLY, TARZAN KNEW, HE MUST FIGHT THE WHOLE PACK, TO CONQUER---OR TO DIE!

I'LL TAKE YOUR CASE BUDDY.

JACK NOT KNOWING THAT HIS OPPONENT WAS MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMP OF THE NAVY SAILED IN. IT WAS A VICIOUS BATTLE BUT THE RAW NOVICE FROM BINGHAMTON WON.

IT SHORE IS A PLEASURE MR. PALOOKA··· BUT REMEMBER YER COVERED.

AN' I'M VERY GLAD T'MEET YOUSE.

I SHORE DO ADMIRE YER FIGHTIN'. IT REALLY MUST BE WONDERFUL T'HEV EV'RYBUDDY TALKIN' ABOUT YE.

OH I NEVER THINK A THAT.

WAL, THEY'LL BE TALKIN' ABOUT ME TOO. PUBLIC ENEMY NUMBER 34··· PRETTY SWELL EH? ALL I NEED'S PUBLICITY.

MY ARMS IS GITTIN' TIRED.

OH I'M SORRY. YE'LL HAFTA EXCUSE MY ROUGH WAYS. I'LL PUT YE ON YER HONOR. IF I LET YE PUT 'EM DOWN YE PROMISE YE WONT PULL NO TRICKS?

THAT AINT FAIR··· NOTHIN' DOIN'.

WELL Y'SEE I'D LIKE T'PUT THIS GUN AWAY. IT MIGHT GO OFF··· I'D CERTAINLY HATE T'HAVE YE GIT HURT.

IF YOUSE TAKE THAT GUN OFF ME I'M GONNA SOCK YA!

YE CAN'T··· I PUT YE ON YER HONOR. I TRUSTS YE. ALRIGHT MR. PALOOKA, PUT 'EM DOWN.

I CERT'NY DON'T THINK THIS IS FAIR OF YOUSE.

FOLLEY ME. WE'RE GOIN' T'MY HIDEAWAY IN TH' CANYON. I'M A HOLDIN' YE AS A HOSTAGE. B'SIDES I'M LONESOME A HIDIN' OUT.

I'D THINK IT WAS VERY LONESOME··· WHY DON'T YOUSE GO STRAIGHT ??

WHEN A FELLER'S AMBITIOUS FER A CAREER, ONE'S AS GOOD AS ANOTHER. I AIM T'BE TH' OUTSTANDIN' BAD MAN IN THE SOUTHWEST.

I GUESS IT AINT NO USE T'ARGUE WITH YOUSE.

WILL YE HAVE A DRINK O' FIREWATER?

NO THAN' KYOUSE·· I NEVER DRINK LIKKER.

IT'S REALLY SASSPARILLER, BUT DON'T NEVER LET ON T'NOBODY. YE'D MAKE ME LOOK KINDA SOFT.

THAN' KYOUSE. GOLLY YOU'RE A STRANGE FELLER FER A BAD MAN, MR. BENNY THE KID.

FER GRACIOUS SAKES····

TWEET TWEET

UGH!

THIS HERE'S MY VALET AN' ALL AROUND MAN FRID'Y. RUSSLE SOME GRUB JOHNNY. WE GOT A GUEST.

WELL I'LL BE DARNED!

UGH!

BETTY LOU WAS KIDNAPPED BY TWO OF TAGGART'S MEN, IN AN EFFORT TO LEARN FROM HER THE LOCATION OF THE SECRET HANGAR WHERE THE STRATOSSHIP IS STORED- BUT IT SEEMS AS THOUGH THEY CANNOT LEARN ANYTHING FROM BETTY LOU.

GET RID OF HER-- QUICK!-- SHE AIN'T WORTH ANYTHING TO US-- DEAD-

OKAY, HOLD TH' PLANE LEVEL FOR A FEW MINUTES-- UNTIL I CAN OPEN TH' DOOR AN' HEAVE HER OUT-

WELL-- HERE SHE GOES... ONE.... TWO...

HEY!... HOLD TH' PLANE LEVEL! I ALMOST WENT OUT WITH THIS DAME!

MEANWHILE- TOMMY IS TRAILING THE PLANE- AND-

THEY'VE OPENED THE DOOR OF THE SHIP--- GREAT GUNS!

THEY'RE GOING TO THROW BETTY LOU OUT!--- I'LL START SHOOTING RIGHT NOW!

WHAT'S DELAYIN' YOU? HURRY UP AN' HEAVE HER OUT-- I GOT TH' SHIP ON AN EVEN KEEL NOW-

AS SPIDER DRAGGED HER TO THE OPEN DOOR- BETTY SCREAMED AND THEN-

DICK TRACY

by CHESTER GOULD

ALL RIGHT, BOYS-NOW THAT WE'RE ALL HERE, I WANT TO TELL YOU THAT EVERYTHING IS GOING GREAT.

THIS GUY TRACY'S WATCHING US, BUT HE'S GOT NOTHING ON US AND HE WON'T GET ANYTHING ON US. AND BESIDES THAT WE'VE GOT A SCHEME WORKED OUT TO RUN HIM OUT OF TOWN!

LOOK AT THIS NEWSPAPER STORY!

DAILY PAPER

CITY COUNCIL REFUSES APPROPRIATION FOR FIELD HOUSE

POLICE CHIEF TRACY SAYS HE WILL ERECT PLAYGROUND FOR KIDS OUT OF OWN POCKET.

PROPOSED PLAYGROUND.

Declares he will do the with his pay, to build a ... for the child ... chief of ... toda...

TRACY'S FED THE POPULACE SOME ROT TO THE EFFECT THAT THE ONLY WAY TO PREVENT CRIME IS TO HAVE A PLAYGROUND FOR THE KIDS. WELL, THE CITY COUNCIL CAN'T SEE IT AND WON'T GIVE HIM MONEY FOR THE PLAYGROUND.

AND THE REASON THE COUNCIL WON'T GIVE HIM THE MONEY IS THAT HE'S ARRESTED A NUMBER OF THE ALDERMEN AND BIG SHOTS FOR SPEEDING - AND THEM BOYS DON'T LIKE HIM.

BUT "CUT", IF THE DICK DIGS DOWN IN HIS OWN POCKET AND BUILDS A PLAYGROUND.. THAT'LL MAKE HIM A BIGGER HERO THAN EVER, WON'T IT?

AH... BUT WAIT- YOU HAVEN'T HEARD ALL THE DETAILS. LOOK AT THIS PARAGRAPH FURTHER DOWN IN THE ARTICLE!

the detective says he will seek a private loan to construct the playground and field house

YOU SEE? THE DICK'S GOT TO BORROW THE DOUGH!

SO WHAT? EXPLAIN YOURSELF, "CUT"!

GENTLEMEN.. A VERY DEAR FRIEND OF MINE, A RESPECTED CITIZEN OF THIS TOWN, WHO IS IN THE REAL ESTATE LOAN BUSINESS, IS GOING TO MR. TRACY AND LOAN HIM THAT MONEY.

YOU MEAN THIS BIRD WILL TRICK THE FLATFOOT INTO SIGNING NOTES.. NOTES THAT WILL BE MADE OUT TO YOU FOR THE AMOUNT OF THE DOUGH?

EXACTLY!

IT WON'T WORK, "CUT".

TRACY MOVIT KEY

SH-SH.. MY LOAN SHARK FRIEND IS DUE HERE ANY MINUTE.. SH- I BELIEVE I HEAR HIM NOW...

MEANWHILE...

TRACY, I'M JUST AS SORRY THE COUNCIL TURNED YOU DOWN ON YOUR PLAYGROUND PROJECT AS YOU ARE.... BUT I TOLD YOU THEY WOULD. YOU WENT AT THINGS TOO STRONG IN THIS TOWN. YOU GOT ALL THE BIG SHOTS MAD AT YOU.

MR. MAYOR, YOU MADE ME HEAD OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT- AND AS SUCH I'M PLAYING NO FAVORITES. THE CITY COUNCIL CAN TAKE A LONG RUN FOR THEMSELVES AS FAR AS I'M CONCERNED. THAT PLAYGROUND IS GOING TO BE BUILT!

CAPTAIN EASY

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

by ROY CRANE

LIKE ROLLICKING SCHOOL BOYS ON A HOLIDAY VACATION, THE MEN OF NIKKATEENA RODE OFF TO WAR.

WHEE!

DEAD

VALOR RECEIVES ITS REWARD

GENERALS DECORATE EACH OTHER WITH MEDALS; PROFITEERS GROW RICH; AND THE FLOWER OF NIKKATEENA'S MANHOOD FALL LIKE AUTUMN LEAVES IN A GUST OF WIND.

THEN, IN THE MIDST OF BATTLE, COMES A CRUSHING BLOW.

NO MORE GUNPOWDER! DER HEYLOFF MUNITIONS VORKS HASS BEEN DESTROYED!

MINE HIMMEL! VE CAN'T FIGHT MITOUT GUN-POWDER.

VE'RE DOOMED

HOW LONG CAN YOU HOLD OUT, GENERAL?

MAYBE A VEEK. DEN VE MUST SURRENDER.

SURRENDER, NOTHING! GIVE ME TILL NIGHT, SUH, AND WOOPSYDASIA'LL BE BEGGING FOR PEACE.

ARE YOU CRAZY?

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE!

NOTHING, SUH, IS IMPOSSIBLE! I'LL LOAD THESE BOMBS ON MY PLANE—

AND AWAY I GO! BLAZES! IF I'D ONLY THOUGHT O' THIS PLAN BEFORE, THE BLASTED WAR'D BEEN OVER WEEKS AGO.
